Irritation of the Scalp.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1864. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracting the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his much called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. tu12

A QUEER FINANCIAL SCHEME.

In the annual city appropriation bill this year no provision was made for the payment of the city debt falling due on the first day of October, amounting to five thousand dollars. Possibly the omission was made for the purpose of keeping the per centage or rate of taxation down. However that may be, the bonds must be paid when they fall due, and some plan must be devised to raise money, for there is none in the treasury which can properly be used for the purpose. And now it is said that the proposition will be made to the city councils to sell a sufficient number of shares of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad to raise the money to pay the bonds.

Let us see. The city owns 3440 shares in the railroad. It hired the money to pay for them, and still owes every dollar of it. The dividends on the shares pay the interest on the bonds. If the shares are sold the interest must still be paid, and the money to pay it must be annually raised by taxation. Virtually we shall be paying six per cent for money, when the rate of interest does not exceed four. The city debt will not be reduced by the operation, for we shall have five thousand dollars less of assets, and the city must ultimately be taxed to pay the bonds.

Again, it looks to us that this new way of paying old debts is likely to lead us into further trouble. If the property of the city, held on faith to pay the debt incurred to buy it, may be sold to pay other debts, what shall hinder future city councils from selling it to pay current expenses? What is the use of a tax, when such a convenient mode of paying the city expenses is at hand? It is to be hoped that the councils will consider this subject well before they decide to adopt such a doubtful measure.

The subjecl will probably be brought up next Thursday night.

FOG, OR SMOKE?

Tuesday morning saw the city enveloped in a peculiar mist or smoke, which between five and six o'clock gave a decided green color to the sky, and when illuminated by the rays of the sun at a later hour presented a golden appearance. Colors were transformed everywhere. The grass appeared of a beautiful blue tint. Foliage everywhere was tipped with new and gorgeous colors. Gas jets, brought into requisition, resembled electric lights; and though the atmosphere seemed in a measure clear, and objects could be seen long distances away, darkness within doors was decidedly visible. Occasionally during the day there would be a brief "lighting up," when things would begin to assume their ordinary appearance, only to be followed again by the yellow overhead and the prismatic hues all around.

Breakfasts were prepared by the aid of artificial light, and persons came down from their chambers surprised at the lateness of the hour. The customary morning racket of the milk wagons and ice carts appeared to be more subdued than usual, and the day's beginning seemed to have been postponed on account of the weather. Many children were late at school, who had clean records before; and believers in Mother Shipton, as they gazed at the brassy heavens which obscured the sun, feared the earth had run foul of a comet's tail, or some other unpleasant object. Lights were kept burning in many stores and dwellings throughout the day; and the street lamps were lighted in the evening, though the moon was nearly at its full, and could be seen in the sky looking like a slice off the end of a boiled carrot.

What caused this phenomenon? It was not one of those dog-day fogs which are ushered in with a voluntary of Daboll music from Whalesback, and which soon after breakfast gently disappear, only to make the scenes on the coast more lovely, because suddenly brought forth to view; for though there was an unusual degree of humidity in the air, it did not condense into a mist sufficient to obscure objects miles away. Old Indian ocean cruisers were reminded of the appearance of the heavens there just before a cyclone. The most rational explanation of the matter is, that it was caused by a cloud of smoke from large forest fires, floating high in the air and supplemented by the moisture in the atmosphere; it extended as far west as Albany, N. Y., and perhaps beyond. This is the explanation given by the signal service officers, who report immense fires in the west and northwest, many hundreds of miles from here.

She was once a somewhat famous ship for her sailing qualities, and was reputed to get along fast in a light wind, while at the same time able to use up a stiff breeze to such advantage as to astonish many a bigger vessel; and even now it is said that the craft which "picks her up for a mud-scow" is liable to get very much surprised. She is at present used as a training-ship.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING.

The semi-annual meeting of the New Hampshire Medical society was held at the Wentworth, Newcastle, Tuesday afternoon, the M. D.'s with their ladies and invited guests at three o'clock sitting down to a dinner gotten up in the style for which the Wentworth is famous.

Dr. Charles A. Tufts of Dover, anniversary chairman, presided, and after an hour's attention to the feast introduced Dr. Henry B. Fowler of Bristol, president of the society, who made a most amusing speech of welcome and congratulation, which convulsed the company with laughter, and drew forth repeated bursts of applause.

He was followed by Dr. John H. Mackie of New Bedford, Mass.; Dr. A. H. Crosby of Concord, vice president of the society; Dr. Eastman of Hampstead, who prefaced his remarks by saying he could not make a speech, and then made an excellent one, complimentary to the wives and daughters, present and prospective, of the gentlemen of the party; Dr. Cook of Concord, of the committee of arrangements, whose remarks were of peculiar interest, and warmly received; Dr. Adams of Kittery, Me., Col. Whitehouse of Rochester, Medical Inspector Cleborne, U. S. N., Dr. J. F. Hall of Portsmouth, Dr. Putney of Halifax, N. S., Dr. S. C. Whittier of Portsmouth, and others.

A vote of thanks was passed to Col. Hilton of the Wentworth for the manner in which his part of the arrangements had been carried out, and it was resolved to hold the next annual meeting at the same place. The affair wound up with a reception and dance in the evening.

Among the invited guests we noticed Col. Charles S. Whitehouse of Rochester, Dr. Davis of Concord, secretary of the New Hampshire Dental association, Hon. T. E. O. Marvin of Portsmouth, and other prominent gentlemen.

AROUND HOME.

The moonlight excursion per steamer Acushnet was postponed Tuesday evening on account of the weather, and will come off on Friday evening.

Rockingham Lodge, I. O. G. T., are to have a moonlight excursion to Foss' beach this evening, starting from their hall at 7:30 o'clock.

The schooner Hattie Lewis, Coleman master, was at Portsmouth bridge Tuesday afternoon, brick-laden and bound for Manchester, Mass.

It is about time the painting of the dials of the North clock was completed, and the hands put up. It is two weeks since the job was begun.

A barn in Newington belonging to Mr. James Wm. Hoyt was struck by lightning during the shower of Monday night, and burned to the ground, with most of its contents, consisting of hay and farming implements. Loss $2000; no insurance.

Monday forenoon, as Dr. Andrew Seavey of Dover, a veterinary surgeon, was driving across the tracks at Vaughan street, the horse was startled by the sudden escape of steam from an engine that was taking in water at the tank, and started to run, but fell in front of the White Hart hotel, overturning the carriage and throwing out Dr. Seavey and his son, neither of whom was hurt, though the carriage was considerably damaged.

Mr. Edward C. Bean on Monday put a bullet into the palm of his left hand, while cleaning a loaded pistol.

Mr. Jerry Carleton, employed in getting out stone for the new church, was badly hurt on Monday through the parting of a lift, which let the boom of a derrick fall, the boom striking him a glancing blow in its descent.

Despite the uncomfortable state of the weather on Tuesday evening, a numerous and highly intelligent audience welcomed Mr. Samuel W. Foss at the Middle street chapel of the North church. The lecture abounded in original ideas, was well delivered and attentively listened to, and at its close received the commendation of liberal applause. In the audience were residents from the neighboring towns of Newington, Eliot, etc., and a liberal number of the friends of education in the city. The lecturer has every reason to be satisfied with his reception in his own town. He was presented to the audience by Mr. Edward C. Stimson, master of the Jones school.

About twenty young fellows, equipped with harmonicas, tin wash-boilers and pans, cornets, fish horns and other musical instruments, on Monday night assembled in front of the house of a newly-married acquaintance at the south end, to give him a serenade; but they found him and his bride wide awake, so they could not have the happiness of disturbing their slumbers, and as the shower came on just then, and several of the neighbors were known to possess bull-dogs and double-barrelled shot-guns, an adjournment was taken to the modest pop-beer saloon of "Duke" Peverly on Newcastle street. Here, sheltered beneath the hospitable awning, the party indulged in some "singing" and instrumental music during the progress of the shower, until suddenly a huge ball of fire was seen to leave the branches of a tree near by and pass close over the top of the railing in the direction of the water, making a tremendous crash. The young men concluded that if all that fuss was to be made about their music it had better be given up, and adjourned the serenade permanently and with remarkable promptness.

Mr. Editor: In the CHRONICLE of the 6th inst. you say: "Among the noted merchant ships built on this river by the late Wm. L. Hanscom before his appointment in the United States navy, were the Elizabeth Hamilton and Nightingale." Without detracting from the acknowledged merits of that eminent mechanic and ship builder, I wish to state what I know to be the fact in reference to the "Nightingale," that she was built from the design of the late Naval Constructor Isaiah Hanscom, (brother of Wm. L. Hanscom,) who made all the plans and specifications by which this famous ship was constructed.

Unknown Alaska.

When the late Mr. Seward purchased Alaska from the Czar he was not aware of the fact that he was getting with his countless fur-seals, fisheries, mines and icecergs one of the greatest rivers in the world, and now almost demonstrated to be of greater volume than the Mississippi Such is the Yukon. The vast region it waters, remain almost as much a terra incognita as the Congo. In fact, while the latter has been once explored—by Stanley—from the point where Livingstone turned back down to the Atlantic ocean, and by Livingstone from its extreme sources to where Stanley's exploration began, no traveller has ever yet seen the upper waters of Yukon, or has been able to enlighten the world as to its length, or its source, or the region it drains. Here, then, is an opening for enterprise and ambition, more fruitful of promise than anything as yet unrevealed in Africa or the Arctic sea, and probably less dangerous. That the country contains mines of gold and silver, we may readily conjecture from the fact that such mines exist on all sides of it. The river is navigable for hundreds of miles. It is free of ice from June to September. Its banks are flanked below with Indian villages. Its waters are filled with fish for the support of human life, and its woods with game. The mountains in which it rises are unknown to white men, but, as they are generally believed to be stored with that sort of treasure which led to the rapid settlement of California and to the expansion of commerce on the south and central Pacific, there is the strongest sort of temptation on the part of thousands to see them, test them and dig them up, if the treasure can be found. The government has many vessels lying idle and uselessly rotting for the want of action. Why not fit one of them up for a two or three years' cruise on this great inexplored river of the north? The discovery of gold mines there would lead instantly to a large migration from all parts of the world, and in a few years contribute millions to the commerce of the southern Pacific states and territories.—San Francisco News-Letter.

—The greatest political dinner that ever took place in Montreal, was conducted on temperance principles, no wine being included in the ticket, which was thus reduced from the usual four or five dollars to two. Those who wished for wine could pay for it it themselves, but few did so. The dinner was in honor of Edward Blake, of Toronto, leader of the Dominion liberal party, which is now in opposition. It was a subject of general remark that the "no wine dinner" brought out a much greater number of subscribers, and these of a higher moral character, than the wine dinners did.

—Gen. Niles of Michigan has a valuable relic in a pair of drumsticks with a wonderful history. They were found by the side of a dead English drummer after the battle of Saratoga in 1777. They were handed to a continental drummer, who used them during the remainder of the revolutionary war. A son of the American drummer used them in the war of 1812, and was with Gen. Jackson at New Orleans. A grandson used the sticks in the Mexican war, and a great-grandson carried them at the head of the famous iron brigade in the grand review at Washington, when "Johnnie came marching home," at the close of the rebellion.

—"London milliners make their flowers so natural that even the nose is deceived, as well as the eye, for they perfume each flower with its particular perfume." But these flowers are made by French women in Paris.

Dr. Holman's absorption system of cure has produced a positive revolution in medical practice. It is successful beyond the most sanguine hopes of its originator. No remedy known to the profession can boast of such a record of triumph as Dr. Holman's Pad; and in the Absorptive Plaster (body and foot) is found an adjunct equally meritorious, and likely to become even more popular, because it is something that everybody needs, and is sold at a price that the humblest can afford to pay.

—At the Casino, a young swell, meeting a friend who had lately inherited a large fortune, said: "You are not playing any this year, you, who were such a gambler last summer?" "Oh! last summer it was my uncle's money, and now it's my own!"

Father Scully!

Of Cambridge, wishes all Catholic children to attend the parochial schools. If their parents give them Sulphur Bitters they will have rosy cheeks and be strong and healthy. See another column.

—It a popular mistake to call a thin, flaky, semi-transparent mineral "isinglass." Isinglass is fish glue, and has nothing to do with the mineral, which is mica.

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

—It is said that if a lamp chimney be cut with a diamond on the convex side it will never crack with the heat, as the incision affords room for expansion, and the glass after cooling returns to its original shape, with only a scratch visible where the cut was made.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one word of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

People who hurry cityward from the mountain and inland resorts, especially at the beginning of September, miss the most charming month of the year in the country. Such people know nothing of the brilliant hues of the autumn tinted foliage, or the delightfully cool and invigorating weather which comes with the early fall.

Cyrus Gundy, who recently died at West Union, Iowa, was a citizen of New Hampton twenty years ago. He leaves a widow and two children.

Mrs. Sally Tilton of New Hampton is 101 years old, and is now probably the oldest person in the state. Mrs. Hannah Cox of Holderness having recently died.

The legal fraternity of the state was augmented Aug. 30th by the admission to the bar of the following: Arthur O. Fuller, Exeter; D. Arthur Taggart, Goffstown; Harry G. Sargent, Concord; Oliver A. Dodge, Dover; Charles E. Cochran, Manchester; Harry M. Davis, Bristol; A. Birney Tasker, Sandwich; Carl E. Knight, New London; Walter D. Hardy, Franklin; Oliver S. Currier, Dover; Edwin H. Shannon, Gilmanton; Jesse B. Traviss, Nashua.

A Vigilant Sentinel.

An up-town youth a short time ago agreed to sleep in the residence of a well-known gentleman on Albany avenue in order to protect the building while the family were out of town. He slept in the house every night while they were away, surrounded with bowie knives, pistols of various patterns and carrying all sized balls, shot guns, a Remington rifle, a Winchester he had borrowed for the occasion, an old army sword, a hatchet, a sickle and a scythe, with a box of ammunition, and he made up his mind that if any robber came around there he would get blown so fine that his nearest relatives would never be able to recognize him. The family came home about three days earlier than they intended, without telegraphing, and arrived at the house near midnight. They tried to awaken the sentinel, but though they could hear him snore, it was impossible to disturb his slumbers, so having a night key they went inside, got supper, ate it, unpacked their baggage, went to bed and slept until morning. Great was the surprise of the youth in the morning to find that the family had returned. In fact he knew nothing about it until he started to go up-town.—Kingston (N. Y.) Freeman.

—"Malaria?" said the Old Orchard landlady: "well, no, we haven't got it; folks hain't asked for it, but we'll get it for your family."

A 15c box of "Rough on Rats" will keep a house free from flies, mosquitoes, rats and mice, the entire season. Druggists.

You are sick; well, there is just one remedy that will cure you beyond a possibility of doubt. If it's liver or kidney trouble, consumption, dyspepsia, debility, Wells' Health Renewer is your hope. One dollar. Druggists. Depot Thacher's.

It has been ascertained that Marvin, the polygamist now in jail at Richmond, Va., formerly served a three years sentence in state prison at Auburn, N. Y.

Is it Possible

that a remedy made of such common, simple plants as hops, buchu, mandrake, dandelion, etc., make so many and such marvelous and wonderful cures as Hop Bitters do? It must be, for when old and young, rich and poor, pastor and doctor, lawyer and editor, all testify to having been cured by them, we must believe and doubt no longer. See other column.—Pat.

Jacob Latus, a wealthy silk manufacturer of Patterson, N. J., drew $800 from the Chemical bank of New York on the 3d inst., to pay his workmen, and has not since been seen. Foul play is suspected.

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

Mr. Francis Murphy, the American temperance lecturer, was heartily welcomed at a meeting in London on Saturday, the 3d inst.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I never see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

The President.

The president left Washington at 6:30 this morning and reached Long Branch at 1.20 P. M. He seemed to bear the journey well, though the heat was very oppressive. After his arrival he was for several hours restless, showed signs of great fatigue, and complained that his back had a bruised feeling. His pulse rose to 124, and his temperature to 101.6. At this hour (10.30) he is sleeping, and his fever is abating. His surgeons regard his symptoms as the necessary result of the journey, and expect a favorable change within the next two days. The fever is in part attributed to the excitement he felt at the prospect of coming. He earnestly desired to leave the White House, and his weary eyes welcomed the sight of the sea. The developments of the next sixty hours are awaited with solicitude.

The midnight despatch from Long Branch reported a more hopeful feeling then prevailing than had obtained earlier in the evening, though no noticeable change in the President's condition had been made known from the Francklyn cottage.

The morning bulletin on the 7th was encouraging. At the noon examination the President's pulse was 114, temperature nearly normal, respiration eighteen. Dr. Boynton reported his pulse firmer than the previous day; Gen. Swaim said he had more than held his own, and that he expressed himself as enjoying the sea air exceedingly. The day was the hottest known at Long Branch for years.

At 12:15 o'clock A. M., on the 7th.

The President is more comfortable this evening than during the day, pulse has gone down to 108. Bliss says, and he hopes to-morrow night to give a better bulletin.

Prayers for the President.

The hand of an assassin has brought the President of the United States to the very gate of death. The people of the country with one mind are shocked at the crime, sympathize much with the sufferer and earnestly hope for his recovery. The Christian sentiment of the community asks that the prayers of the people throughout the land shall be offered to the Father of Mercies that the life of our chief magistrate may be spared. In conformity with this desire, I do hereby designate Friday, the 9th day of September instant, as a day of humiliation and prayer for the recovery of the President of the United States; and I recommend that all the people of this state, between tha hours of ten in the forenoon and twelve at noon of the same day, do refrain from their usual secular pursuits, and, if convenient, repair to their several places of religious worship and offer up their petitions to Almighty God that he will restore the President to the enjoyment of health and strength, to be a stay and comfort to his family and a just and prosperous ruler over our beloved country.

The Yorktown Detail.

In conformity with a joint resolution of the legislature, Gov. Bell has detailed as his escort to the Yorktown centennial the following companies of infantry of the New Hampshire National Guard: Co. A, Strafford Guards of Dover, First Regiment, Capt. Geo. H. Demerritt; Co. F, Nashua City Guards, Second Regiment, Capt. Jason E. Tolles; and Co. K, Belknap Rifles of Laconia, Third Regiment, Capt. Edmund Tetley. The detail for the field and staff is Lieut.-Col. Elbridge S. Copp of Nashua; Adjutant R. P. Staniels of Concord; Quartermaster, Ervin H. Smith of Peterboro'; Surgeon, Henry E. Newell of Manchester; Assistant Surgeon, George Cook of Concord; Chaplain, Henry Powers of Manchester; Sergeant Major, W. W. Hemmenway; Quartermaster Sergeant, Geo. B. Leavitt of Laconia; Hospital Steward, James W. Wilson; and Drum Major, Alonzo W. Glines of Concord. The Third Regiment band of Concord will accompany the battalion. Gov. Bell will be accompanied by his staff.

News and Notes.

Wednesday, the 7th inst., was the hottest day of the year in Boston, the mercury going up to ninety-eight degrees above zero.

Immense forest fires are reported as raging in Michigan. There had been no rain for six weeks, up to the 6th inst., and farm houses, barns and crops to the value of over $100,000 had been burned in the Saginaw valley; fires in the woods existed all around East Saginaw, within a distance of thirty miles. Richmondville, Smilax county, was reported on the 6th to have been destroyed the previous night, with the loss of eight lives, and many other persons seriously injured; and several other villages were reported burned.

A terrible calamity has occurred on the line of Lyons & Mediterranean railway, near Charleton, France. A train from Corbeils, bound for Lyons, meeting with an obstacle, jumped the rails, and while thus thrown across the track the express train from Lyons ran into it. Thirty-three persons were killed, and as many others were wounded.

Michael Fitzgerald, eighty-six years old, of Holyoke, was struck by a Boston & Albany express train while walking on the track in West Springfield, Mass., Sept. 5th, and instantly killed.

Two children at Kingston, N. Y., who saw Zazel shot from a mortar at a circus, went home to imitate the feat. The elder brother placed the younger one, only four years old, on a second story window sill against the closed blinds. The older brother then pointed a chair at him, and exploded a fire cracker. The boy on the window sill then threw himself backward at the explosion, and fell a distance of twenty feet, receiving fatal injuries.

Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, the novelist, distinguished herself by plunging into the water at Long Branch, N. J., on the 2d inst., and pulling out Lars Anderson, a young man from Cincinnati who in diving from a bridge into the water struck some object, and failed to come to the surface.

The Cleveland board of trade has presented a gold medal to John Miller, a modest hero of that city, a diver by occupation, who has saved from drowning at least seventy-five persons. Mr. Miller formerly led a dissipated life, but since his reformation four years ago he has won the respect and admiration of thousands by his sturdy morality, and his unselfish and dauntless courage.

The great exhibition of the New England Mechanics & Manufacturers' Institute, in Boston, will continue open during the months of September and October.

John, alias "Wax" McCormick, an a'leged noted New York stage thief, has been arrested in Providence, R. I. Last May he robbed a lady passenger in a Broadway stage of diamond earrings worth $7,000, and another woman of $1,600 in money. The stones were recovered in Providence, without the setting. A young woman was arrested with him, but was not held.

Frederick Richards, who in 1875 robbed his employer, Louis Eunice of Crane, N. Y., of $3,000, and eloped to Germany, with a rich widow, leaving his wife and family, has been arrested at Long Branch.

Comptroller Semler has written a letter to the Brooklyn board of education, announcing that the defalcation amounts to $200,000.

Miss Margaret Sophia Bright, the daughter of John Bright, the great English liberal, was married to Dr. Theodore Cash after the Quaker fashion. A lady friend made a prayer, after which the bridegroom, taking the bride by the hand, repeated these words: "Friends, in the fear of the Lord and the presence of this assembly I take this my friend, Margaret Sophia Bright, to be my wife, promising through Divine assistance to be unto her a loving and faithful husband until it shall please the Lord by death to separate us." Similar words were repeated by the bride, after which Mr. W. Robinson of Scarborough delivered a brief but impressive address to the newly married couple. The marriage certificate, which was artistically engrossed on vellum, was signed by about forty of those present.

Peter Nelson and Lafayette Greenleaf, two men who were lost from the fishing schooner Grace L. Fears on the 10th ult., while tending their trawls in a fog on the banks, were picked up by a French brig after being seven days away from their vessel, and afterward transferred to steamer Irene Morton, which landed them at Savannah, Ga., Aug. 29th.

The schooner Quickstep arrived at Rockport, Mass., on the 3d inst., with thirty-five sword-fish. During the trip a fish that had been fastened to by a dory containing two men turned on the boat, driving his sword through its side, the sword breaking off close to the fish's head and sticking in the wood, keeping the boat from leaking. Manuel Joseph, one of the crew of the schooner Pamet, had a somewhat similar experience. He was out in a dory a mile from the vessel, and harpooned a fish which went down under the boat, and a moment later Joseph was surprised to see a sword thrust through the dory's bottom, the hole made being so large that the man had to tear off his shirt to stop it up; assistance soon arrived, and the fish was secured.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet. Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the capsule's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. td13

THE DARK DAY.

Portsmouth did not have a monopoly of darkness and odd appearances on the 6th inst., by any means, the obscuration in many places being much more decided than here. In Rye many fowls did not leave their roosts until noon; in Milford the frogs croaked and the crickets chirped all through the day, the same as usual at early twilight, and the schools were not held in the afternoon, it being too dark for studying; in Manchester the darkness was greater at noon than at early dawn, and chickens went to roost. The peculiar resemblance of gas lights to the electric light, which was noticed in this city, was also remarked at almost every place from which reports concerning the phenomenon have come. The general impression seems to be that the darkness was due to immense clouds of smoke floating at a great distance from the earth's surface; enormous forest fires have for some time been raging in Canada, and many smaller—but still very large — bush fires were under way in various parts of New England and northern New York on the 6th, and the day or two previous; the smoke from these fires, aided by the mist, would be sufficient to account for the strange occurrence. If this is not the correct solution of the mystery, it is at least as satisfactory a one as we are likely to get; corroborative evidence that it is correct is found in the fact that late at night on the 6th the smell of bush fires was plainly distinguishable on our streets for many hours.

THE LIFE-SAVING CREW.

The crew of the life-saving station at Straw's point, Rye beach, went on duty Sept. 1st. Capt. Rufus W. Philbrick, who has been in charge of the station since its establishment, is the keeper this season, the surf-men being as follows: No. 1, Clarence H. Matthews; No. 2, George O. Remick; No. 3, Samuel F. Marden; No. 4, Fred A. Philbrick; No. 5, Albert L. Remick; No. 6, Edward N. Downs. Four of the surf-men were in last season's crew; all the members belong in Rye, and all are experienced boatmen. Surf-man No. 7 is not yet appointed, the seventh man not going on duty until December 1st.

THE TWO ORPHANS.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, a rare dramatic treat is announced in the production of "The Two Orphans," with the world-famed artiste Miss Pauline Markham as Louise, supported by the 5th Avenue company, new scenery, and powerful effects. The above named company appeared throughout New England last winter, and the following, from the Norwich Bulletin, is one of the many complimentary notices it received:

The production of The Two Orphans last evening by the 5th Avenue Comedy company was noticeable for the strong cast presented, and the enjoyment of the audience as indicated by the abundance of hearty applause, due to the ever-excellence of the performance in many and various directions, rather than individual ability. It was not that any part exceeded the other as a bit of artistic work, though the simplicity and sweetness of Louise, (Miss Pauline Markham,) the grace and dash of the chevalier, (Mr. Geo. J. Maddox,) the broad humor of Picard, (Mr. F. C. Wells,) the bright sparkling ways of Henriette, (Miss Emma Hendricks,) were the features of the play; but the charm of the evening lay in the harmonious intention of the whole company. Hardly a line of the clear and pointed dialogue was allowed to pass without good use of its advantages, and every situation was well played and executed; the company played into each others, hands most effectively and in a manner more common to the French than to the English stage, and their mutual understanding raised the performance to a stardard which would make a far less meritorious play most interesting.

AROUND HOME.

In response to the proclamation of the governor of this state designating Friday next as a day of prayer for the recovery of the President, services will be held at the church of the South Parish at the usual hour of morning worship, 10:30. The services will be short, and all are invited to attend.

Lieut. C. W. Harrold, Third United States Artillery, is spending a portion of his furlough in this city, stopping at the Kearsarge.

Shortly before noon on Wednesday, the 7th inst., the United States tug Leyden towed the training-ship Portsmouth from the navy yard to the lower harbor, where she anchored.

Ninety degrees above zero was what the thermometer at the navy yard said at three o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday of this week. At the same hour the "wet bulb" gave the humidity as eighty-one.

The City Guards will leave for Concord on Monday next, for a four days' muster.

A draft of twenty-five men for the U. S. S. Lancaster arrived in this city from Boston on the 7th inst. They were at once transported on board.

There were about seventy-five boarders remaining at the Appledore house on the 7th inst., the number at the Oceanic not being so large. The highest temperature at the Shoals during the day was eighty-three degrees above zero. In this city it was over ninety.

In response to the Governor's proclamation calling upon the people of the state to unite in prayer on Friday, the 9th inst., for the recovery of the President, a union service will be held in the North church at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon on that day, in which all are invited to join. Several clergymen of the city will be present and take part in the exercises.

Oliver Sleeper, twelve years old, was killed at Lynn, Mass., Monday night of this week, by a train on the Eastern railroad.

Albert Hadley Alley, of Lynn, Mass., aged thirty five years, and single, was instantly killed on the Eastern railroad track near the Pleasant street crossing in that city at 2:40 o'clock in the morning on the 7th inst. The train that struck Alley was a special, with western people bound to Poland Springs, in Maine. The engineer says that the victim was lying on the track when struck.

On Wednesday evening of next week, at Music hall, the famous "Ideal Uncle Tom's Cabin Co." of Anthony & Ellis will present the new version of that old yet favorite play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with Miss Minnie Foster as Topsy, a large company, the Memphis University Students, (colored,) blood-hounds and trick donkey, and beautiful scenic effects. The story with its pathetic scenes and humorous incidents ever proves attractive, and whether by the comicalities of Topsy, the faithful devotion of Uncle Tom, the graces of Eva, or the cruelty of Legree, every hearer finds something to charm. Miss Minnie Foster, in Topsy, it is said portrays the character in a most realistic manner, and her songs, dances and banjo solos never fail to please.

We have received from Capt. John L. Amazeen, of Jacksonville, Fla., papers giving the particulars of the death of Richard L. Fitzgerald at Savannah, Ga., on the night of Aug. 27th. The steamer of which he was engineer being jammed by the hurricane against a long iron spike in one of the piles of the wharf at which the steamer was lying, Mr. Fitzgerald was on the wharf with an axe cutting out the spike, when a vessel that had broken adrift ran into the steamer, and in attempting to jump on board from the wharf he miscalculated the distance, fell overboard, and did not rise again. His body was recovered, and buried in Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 30th. He leaves a widow, a Jacksonville lady, to whom he had been married about a year. In mentioning his funeral the Jacksonville Union says: "Mr. Fitzgerald had resided in this city for about ten years, and made many warm friends, not only here but all along the river, and the sad news of his untimely death was received with profound sorrow throughout the entire city."

The funeral services of the late Capt. W. L. Hanscom, Naval Constructor, U. S. N., were held at his late residence in Malden, Mass., on the 5th inst., a large number of friends and neighbors, and members of the masonic order, being present. The floral decorations were very beautiful and comprised a large anchor, a cross, a crescent of shaded leaves, one of flowers, two large bunches of wheat crossed and fastened with pansies, a beautiful sickle of tea roses, pansies and wheat. The services were conducted by Rev. Wm. H. Ryder, pastor of the Universalist church of Malden. The remains were taken to Mt. Auburn cemetery.

Mr. Samuel Johnson of Kittery, while at work haying a few days ago on the old place of Leonard C. Cook at the head of York river, it is said came across a nest of bumble-bees as big as a half-bushel. This is the story as told to us; we presume it was the nest that was as big as a half-bushel, as bumble-bees do not grow so large. It is further alleged that the bumble bees bit him, scratched him, ran him half a mile, and, according to one authority, swore at him; but this last assertion is not well authenticated.

Mr. Oliver Jones, of East Eliot, has recently brought from Vermont 150 nice sheep, bought on speculation, one merino buck weighing 150 lb., live weight. Mr. Jones intends buying 400 or 500 more. Speaking of this, one of the best farmers in York county suggested to us that one great reason why sheep raising does not pay better in this vicinity may be found in the fact that the butchers during the season drive out into the country and buy the best lambs the farmers have, for slaughtering; whereas in Vermont and New York the farmers will not part with the best lambs in their flocks, but reserve them for breeding. Thus the flocks in this section soon deteriorate in quality, while in Vermont they constantly improve until even the cullings will bring good prices.

The thirty-fourth annual stock, fruit and mechanical show and fair of the York County Agricultural society will take place at Saco and Biddeford on the 27th, 28th and 29th of the present month. The fair will be held in the city hall, Saco, and the stock show at the Biddeford riding park. There will be horse trots each day, and very liberal purses have been offered.

—A Leadville man in one week was attacked and scratched by a catamount, hurt by an explosion, had a boulder roll down on him and stave in two ribs, and was kicked by a mule. And a local editor remarked that he had "been somewhat annoyed by circumstances, lately."

Books, Magazines, Etc.

James R. Osgood & Co., Boston, will publish in december "The Horse in Motion, shown in a series of views by instantaneous photography, with a study on animal mechanics, founded on the revelations of the camera, in which the theory of quadrupedal, locomotion is demonstrated. With anatomical illustrations in chromo, after drawings by William Hahn. By J. D. B. Stillman, M. D., A. M. With a preface by Leland Stanford." One vol., royal quarto; fully illustrated. Price $10.

This work is the outcome of a series of experiments with the camera undertaken by the direction and at the expense of Leland Stanford, the War Governor of California, and now president of the Central Pacific railroad. These experiments were commenced some years since with a single camera, to get an instantaneous view of a famous trotter in rapid motion, they were afterwards continued with an increasing number until twenty-four cameras were employed, giving as many views of the horse in a single stride at intervals of one foot. These experiments were extended to other quadrupeds, such as oxen, deer, dogs, etc.

The numerous photographs of horses in all their paces and all possible positions were placed in the hands of a gentleman selected for the work, to make them intelligible. Every facility was furnished him that unlimited wealth could command; valuable horses were sacrificed for anatomical purposes when required, and the aid of the best artistic talent was secured to delineate the new and important facts brought to light.

The volume is illustrated by nine chromo plates and more than one hundred heliotypes and photolithographs, and more than one thousand figures. The author has been enabled to demonstrate the theory of quadrupedal locomotion, which is as simple as it is beautiful, and which makes the most extraordinary movements as harmonious as a musical note.

"A Selection of Spiritual Songs for Sunday Schools," arranged by Rev. Charles L. Robinson, D. D., published by the Century Co. of New York.

This little volume, in flexible red cloth with red edges, contains the hymns selected for Dr. Robinson's "Spiritual Songs for Sunday Schools," and it sells for the low price of twenty cents. The edition with the tunes sells at fifty cents, and since its issue thousands of copies have been disposed of. The present edition, prepared for use of younger scholars and for those who desire a hymn book only, contains an index of the first lines of the two hundred and seventy-three hymns in the book. All the book stores have it.

For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

William Howe, foreman for Greiff & Co., agents in New York for a Paterson, N. J., silk mill, has been arrested for systematically stealing silk handkerchiefs from his employers. His stealings amount to $10,000. John E. Dennis, foreman of another silk mill, has been arrested on a similar charge.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 9, 1881.

The President.

Immediately after signing the evening bulletin on the 7th, Drs. Reyburn, Barnes and Woodward withdrew from the corps of attending surgeons. This was in accordance with the wish of the President, as expressed to Mrs. Garfield, he having very strongly intimated that he thought so many doctors unnecessary. Dr. Bliss will remain in charge, and Drs. Agnew and Hamilton will alternate, two doctors being all the time on duty. Dr. Bliss states that there was no cause for the withdrawal or retirement of the surgeons beyond the fact that it was the desire or whim of a very sick man, and as the President had entertained the idea that a fewer number of physicians could manage his case as well the number heretofore engaged on it, it was desired by Mrs. Garfield that his wishes be complied with.

The following was Mr. Blaine's despatch to Minister Lowell, at eleven o'clock P. M. on the 7th:

The President has not gained in the last twenty-four hours. His fever increased considerably during the afternoon, his temperature reaching 101. He takes food without nausea, but without appetite, and has not improved in strength. The day is said to be as hot as was ever known at Long Branch. Cooler weather is reported from the west, and lower temperature, with relief to the President, is hoped for to-morrow.

At the 12:30 P. M. examination on the 8th the pulse was 94, respiration 17, temperature normal. Dr. Bliss during the afternoon said the President is convalescent; and Dr. Hamilton, who was present, did not object to the statement.

News and Notes.

An express train on the Chicago & Alton railroad was stopped near Independence, Mo., by a gang of masked and armed robbers, on the night of the 7th inst. The thieves got about $30,000 out of the express car, and stole all the money and jewels of the passengers. The robbers numbered twelve or sixteen, and carried heavy rifles. The train was stopped by a red lantern, waved in the regulation manner.

A terrible drought is reported in the northern part of Illinois. Wells are giving out, and animals are driven miles to rivers to get drink. At La Salle the Illinois river is down to within three inches of the lowest record. Rain has not fallen for eighty days, more than enough to lay the dust.

The democratic state committee of New York met at the St. James hotel in New York city, Sept. 7th. The Tammany members were admitted, the state convention was called for Oct. 11th at Albany, resolutions of sympathy with the President were passed, and the committee adjourned, all inside of eleven minutes! The committee did not propose to allow any chance for objectionable discussions.

The evidence for the prosecution in the case of Walter and James Malley, on trial at New Haven, Conn., for the murder of Jennie E. Cramer, as introduced up to the 8th inst. tends to show that the girl was virtuous up to within a brief period—not exceeding three days—of her tragic death; and that the Malleys, who appear to have had unlimited command of money and been allowed by their parents to do pretty much as they pleased, employed the prostitute Blanche Douglass, drugs, actual violence, and poison, to debauch the unfortunate girl and then conceal their crime. The evidence for the defence may put a different face on the matter, but the low immorality of the Malley cousins seems proved beyond a question.

The Guion line steamer Wyoming, from Liverpool the 3d inst. for New York, brings 550 Mormons for Great Salt Lake, from Great Britain, Switzerland and Germany, the two latter countries contributing over 200. Including the foregoing, more than 2,000 Mormons have left Liverpool this summer. Another contingent will come before the season closes.

A despatch from Thomas, Arizona, of Sept. 6th, says reports continue to arrive of the killing of packers and prospectors in all directions by the Apaches. Over twenty bodies of white men have been found, besides those previously mentioned as murdered.

In Jamaica, L. I., Sept. 7th, a tavern keeper named John Kemmell split his wife's head open with an axe, set his tavern on fire, and then hanged himself. The fire was put out before the tavern was destroyed.

As the returns continue to come in from the country districts in Michigan, the magnitude of the disaster from fire increases. The town of Bad Axe is nearly wiped out, and the towns of Sandinske, Anderson, Richmondville, Charleston, Tyre and Deckevalle wholly destroyed; many other villages suffered terribly, and accounts of further losses are constantly coming in. In Watertown township two families were destroyed; at Carsonville a man, his wife, grandmother and two children were burned; the mail carrier from Morlette to Bad Axe is missing, as are many other persons; thousands of farms are blackened and deserted; the whole country around Saginaw and Bay City is in flames, and many townships have been wholly abandoned. Telegraphic communication with most of the burned district is cut off, and it is feared that the full reports will show a terrible loss of life.

The packing house of the Lake Superior Powder company, at Marquette, Mich., exploded Sept. 6th. Eleven men were blown to atoms, and small pieces of their bodies were found in all directions. Nothing of the buildings remained, and no one was left to tell the cause of the accident.

At Sawyer City, four miles from Bradford, Pa., Sept. 6th, an oil-well torpedo exploded in a man's hand, killing him and three other men, and fatally injuring two more. The derrick and engine house over the well were blown to atoms, and the men were all frightfully mangled.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. ta12

THE BOSTON FAIR.

We have made a short visit to the fair of the New England Manufacturers & Mechanics' Institute at Boston. The exhibition is held in a fine brick building, easily reached from down town by horse cars from Tremont street. The display of mechanical articles is well worth seeing. The engine which furnishes power was built by the Swampscot Machine Co., of South Newmarket; and the Cocheco company of Dover make a fine show of their prints. The carriages exhibited are of a degree of excellence which attracts every visitor; of these, those from the manufactory of E. L. Chapman of Cambridge are particularly noticeable. An old chaise, alleged to have been used by the Webster family when its members migrated from Massachusetts to this state, draws heavily upon the credulity of spectators. It might as well tell that tale as any other. Inside the building, everything wears a similar appearance to the mechanical department of the centennial exhibition at Philadelphia several years since. A large restaurant is found in an airy and pleasant location, where an abominable dinner can be had at a very low price. We suppose the Eastern railroad will ere long get up some excursions for visitors to this fair, which as a display of what the mechanical enterprise of New England is accomplishing is certainly a too good exhibition for any one to omit seeing. The price of admission is twenty-five cents, and but five minutes time is required to reach the building from the Tremont house.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

John H. Locke was selected as temporary chairman.

Miss Hill was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Whittem. The latter, at her request, was transferred to the position made vacant by the transfer of Miss Hill.

The resignation of E. E. Dennett as teacher of the school at Gravelly Ridge was accepted.

Charles W. Gardner was appointed to tender the courtesies of the board to the Teachers' Institute, should it decide to hold its next annual meeting in this city.

The matter of the increase of the pay of the writing master was laid on the table until the next meeting.

ST. JOHN BROWN.

In a criticism of the lecture upon "Originality," recently delivered by Mr. S. W. Foss, the Times editor says:

We would advise Mr. Foss, in future presentations of this lecture, to leave out the unoriginal canonization of John Brown, for he must be thinker enough to perceive that if saintship is conceded to him, others who have taken in hand the righting by murder of what they regard as the wrongs of society and of governments must be assigned a place beside him. The present is a very inopportune time in our country to move the canonization of such men—original and natural though they be.

The foregoing paragraph has the same leaden wail to it that the northern dirt-eaters were accustomed to sound two decades ago. Wresting the remark from the bad grammar which clothes it, it will read thus: "Be careful, young man, how you extol John Brown, or the people whom you address will accuse you of canonizing murderers!" We have an idea that the people are not like the Times editor, twenty years behind the age, but have come up with the glorious old martyr, John Brown. x.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Sept. 8th, Mayor Sise in the chair:

The records of last meeting were read and approved.

Sundry bills were ordered to be paid.

Judgment was announced against the city in the case of the new highway petitioned for by Henry R. Stoddard and others.

Heirs of George Raynes, by the trustee of the estate, Wm. H. Rollins, notified the city that the award of damages made by the county commissioners on account of new highway was refused, and that damages would be assessed by a jury at the next term of the supreme court. The city solicitor was instructed to defend the city's interest in the matter.

In regard to the widening of Short street, it was stated that Ephraim C. Spinney, owning land on one side of the dock near Mason's mill, complained that the widening would injure his property in the dock, and that he had not been notified of the proposed widening. He had petitioned for an injunction, the hearing to be held at Dover Sept. 30th. The mayor stated that the city owned the dock, and it had been let to Mason at a nominal rate; and he thought the city had a right to fill the dock. The city solicitor appeared, and stated that Mr. Spinney did not object to the building of the street, and would not object to the city filling in the dock if they would give him the land which he considered would belong to him when made. After some desultory discussion it was voted to proceed with the building of the street as laid out by the county commissioners. The mayor said that Mr. Hatch had stated that in his opinion Mr. Spinney had no right and title whatever in the dock. Ald. Martin claimed that the city, owns the wharf at the head of the dock, owns the dock also right down.

Sundry bills from the departments were ordered paid; also the bills of M. J. & W. A. Vaughan for $204.58, for repairing the Cabot street schoolhouse, and of Anderson & Junkins, $162.67, for repairing Hanover street schoolhouse; also balance of salary, $55.35, due Wm. R. Foster for services as city solicitor.

Notice were read from two parties who refuse to accept the award of damages made by the county commissioners in regard to the new street, viz., the Raynes estate and Miss Lucy Ann Noble. Placed on file.

David Flynn asked leave to put one step on the sidewalk at his house, and to put a cellar grating in the sidewalk. He was granted leave to withdraw, as to the step; his request for a grating was referred to the committee on sidewalks, with power.

Wm. G. Snow was appointed special policeman near the south millbridge, and James A. Snow on Hanover street.

A. F. Howard, collector of customs, notified the city that the United States would put up four ornamental gas-posts at the corners of the custom house, and light and clean the same, if the city would pay for the gas. Voted that the city furnish gas as desired.

Wm. W. Cotton stated that he had been assessed for several years on four houses on Atkinson street, whereas he had never owned but three. He had paid the tax thus illegally assessed for several years; this year the assessors had made abatement, and he asked the refunding of the excessive tax of other years. Voted that the tax illegally assessed be refunded.

The amendment to ordinance No. 34, relative to naphtha lights, was passed, and sent to the common council for concurrence.

On motion of Ald. Martin, it was voted that the city solicitor be empowered to associate Mr. Hatch with himself as counsel in the road cases, the mayor having stated that Mr. Hatch had said he was familiar with the business, and would be happy to do anything in his power for the interests of the city, the mayor inferred without compensation.

Adjourned for one week.

AROUND HOME.

Don't forget the moonlight excursion out on the ocean this evening per steamer Acushnet—the last of the season; band of music, perfect order, tickets reasonable. See adv't.

The U. S. S. Lancaster went from the navy yard to the lower harbor on Thursday last, using her own steam. She was in charge of Pilot John A. Amazeen, Jr., and was taken down in good style. After coming to anchor down below the boats' crews were exercised. The ships sails on Saturday for New York, where she will be inspected by the naval board.

Workmen were engaged at gilding the figures on the dials of the North church clock, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Time.

The U. S. S. Omaha will be broken out of rotten row at the navy yard this morning, and put under the sheers preparatory to removing the machinery and other material. The Guard will be put back in her old position in ordinary.

Boatswain Joseph McDonald has been relieved from duty at the Boston navy yard and ordered to the Lancaster, in place of Henry P. Grace, who is ordered to the Chelsea hospital on account of sickness.

The old sheers at the navy yard are soon to be taken down, they being unfit for further service.

John Tilton, formerly of Exeter, was recently killed in Texas by a railroad accident, the locomotive of which he was driver running into a washout. He was formerly in the employ of the Boston & Maine railroad, but left at the time of the great strike some years ago. He was buried with masonic honors.

In another column will be found a request from Mayor Sise for the closing of places of business between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock to-day, the time set apart by Gov. Bell for special prayer by the people for the President's recovery. Union services will be held in the Congregational churches this forenoon, commencing at 10:30 o'clock; none will be held in other churches.

The steamer Startled Fawn, Franklin master, made an excursion from Newburyport to this city with a good-sized party on the 7th inst. The excursionists found the sea air cool and comfortable, though on shore the heat was intense, ranging from ninety-four to 102 degrees above zero, the latter being the record at West Newbury, Mass., where the day was the hottest for twenty years. At Newburyport the "official" thermometer indicated ninety-seven; at Boston the signal service instrument said 101.5—the highest recorded since the station was established there in 1870.

The Swampscot Machine Co., of South Newmarket, pays a dividend of two per cent Sept. 20th.

McDonough Craven, Cadet Midshipman, U. S. N., left this city last Thursday for New York, to proceed by steamer on Saturday to Panama, where he will report for duty on board the Pensacola, flag-ship of the Pacific squadron.

Mr. George F. Mosher of Dover, late editor of the Morning Star, left that city on the 8th inst. for Nice, France, to take the United States consulship there. His wife and two daughters accompanied him.

CHARLES WESLEY TUTTLE.

The New England Historic and Genealogical Society, at their regular meeting in Boston on Wednesday, the 7th inst., took appropriate notice of the recent decease of one of their most distinguished members, Charles Wesley Tuttle, formerly of Newburyport, but of later years a lawyer and United States commissioner at Boston. Mr. Tuttle was well known in Portsmouth; his lecture upon New Hampshire under the provincial government, last winter, at the chapel of the South Parish in this city, was highly appreciated by our citizens.

Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury, of Boston, being called upon, paid a just tribute to the memory of the deceased. Mr. Tuttle, he said, was an ardent seeker after the truth in history. He overtasked his strength by the multitude of his labors. When he had a subject in hand he concentrated all his efforts upon it, thinking no labor too arduous for him, and shrinking from no burden his friends put upon him. He spared no pains to be accurate. In the early history of New Hampshire, the Mason controversy, the grants to Gorges and Mason, he was specially learned. He had applied himself to the preparation of a life of Capt. Mason; and during the progress of the work, discovering how interesting and important a character was Francis Champernoune, he had collected materials for the life of that personage also. At the time of his death the Massachusetts Historical Society had intrusted to his hands, as editor, the manuscript of an old history written by somebody at Portsmouth, the speaker did not know by whom. Dr. Belknap had access to it, but as yet it has never seen the light. No one was better fitted to this task than our deceased brother. Mr. Tuttle accomplished a great deal, but he has been cut off just as he was prepared to render invaluable service. In conclusion, Mr. Woodbury alluded feelingly to the personal traits of the subject of his remarks, whom he loved as a friend, and whose memory he would ever affectionately cherish.

Frank W. Hackett, Esq., of this city, was also called upon. Mr. Hackett said that all who are interested in the early history of the Piscataqua have cause to lament the recent decease of John Scribner Jenness and Charles Wesley Tuttle. The latter, perhaps because he was a descendant from Lieut. John Tuttle, (a prominent settler of Dover,) had applied himself with peculiar ardor to the study of the history of the first settlement of New Hampshire. Mr. Tuttle was painstaking and accurate. He never came to a conclusion without first exhausting every accessible source of information. The results of his enquiries, therefore, are to be fully relied upon. Mr. Hackett alluded to Mr. Tuttle's amiability, and the faculty he had of gaining the affection of those with whom he came in contact. He encouraged others in their historical researches. His memory deserves some enduring memorial of his work and of his character, at the hands of the society.

Prof. Rogers, aeronaut, of Lynn, Mass., made a balloon ascension from the Point of Pines on the afternoon of the 7th inst. The machine went up all right, but when descending collapsed at a height of 150 feet from the ground, and came down with a thud on Long beach, Lynn. Mr. Rogers was badly injured by the fall, but how badly cannot yet be stated. The ascent doubts were expressed as to the fitness of the balloon to go up.

—Smith—"I once possessed a splendid dog, which could always distinguish between a vagabond and a respectable person." Jones—"Well, what became of him?" Smith—"Oh, I was obliged to give him away. He bit me."

Father Scully!

Of Cambridge, wishes all Catholic children to attend the parochial schools. If their parents give them Sulphur Bitters they will have rosy cheeks and be strong and healthy. See another column.

—Professor Bell claims that he has succeeded in inventing a machine that will "locate a bullet in the human body." He needn't think that's anything new. Almost every boy in New York and New England totes such an instrument.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

SATURDAY, SEPT. 10, 1881.

The President.

The official bulletin at noon on the 8th gave the President's temperature as 99.1, pulse 100, respiration 18. The bulletin further said: "He has taken a liberal amount of food, both solid and fluid, with apparent relish. By special request of the President, it has been made our duty to say in this public manner to Surgeon-General J. K. Barnes, Surgeon J. J. Woodward and Dr. Robert Reyburn, that in dispensing with their services as his medical attendants he was actuated only by a wish to relieve them of labor and responsibility, which in his improved condition he could no longer properly impose upon them. Both the President and Mrs. Garfield desire to express to these gentleman personally and in the same public manner, their high appreciation of the great skill and discretion which they have so constantly exercised as associate counsel in the management of his case up to the present time." The bulletin was signed by Drs. Bliss and Hamilton. Mr. Blaine sent the following despatch to Minister Lowell in the evening:

The President's rest was much broken during the first half of last night, but today his condition has been more favorable. He had less fever this afternoon than for several days past, has better pulse and improved appetite. His surgeons are much encouraged. His comfort has been promoted by a decided change in the weather. Thermometer at this hour (10:30) seventy-five degrees, Fahrenheit; yesterday it was ninety-five.

The symptoms up to 1:30 P. M. on the 9th continued favorable; at that time the pulse was down to 98, temperature 98.4, respiration seventeen.

Appalling Calamity.

A despatch of the 8th inst. from Detroit, Mich., shows that the first reports from the burned districts in that state but faintly indicated the magnitude of the disaster. From Sanilac, Huron, Tuscola and Macedonian counties the reports are terrible; over 500 lives are reported lost in Sanilac, and as many as 100 in Huron. Thousands of families are homeless, famishing and naked. Twenty-three dead bodies were found along the roads in Moore, Argyle and Waterton townships, and within fifteen miles of Minden over 200 persons are known to have perished from the fire. In a well near Charleston a family of seven persons, named Redmond, were found, all dead; Henry Cole and a family named Susula were burned in the same town. In Paris a Mrs. Diebert and her three children, in Waterton a family named Denison, and in Richmondville two families named Thornton and Lee, were destroyed. In Argyle township three men, five women and ten children were burned to death, and others fatally injured.

On the 8th an appeal was issued to the United States for aid, signed by Mayor Carleton of Port Huron, Senator Conger, and other prominent men. It says: "We have reports already of over 200 persons burned to death, and it is probable that twice this number have perished. We also have reports from twenty or more townships in which scarcely a house, barn or supplies of any kind are left, and thousands of people are destitute and helpless. Contributions of money, clothing, bedding, provisions and other supplies are solicited." Large subscriptions were made in Detroit on the 8th, and provisions and clothing are being sent forward with all speed to the points where most urgently needed.

News and Notes.

A despatch from San Francisco, Cal., dated Sept. 8th, says: "The count of the city election is not yet complete. It is certain, however, that the republicans have made nearly a clean sweep. The possible exceptions are tax collector and one supervisor. The republican mayor, auditor and sheriff will have about 3,000 majority; other majorities will range from those figures down to close margins."

Franklin Reed, the "straight" democratic candidate for Congress in the second district of Maine, has withdrawn from the canvass in favor of Gilbert, the greenback nominee.

Charles Fairbanks, eighteen years old, son of Mrs. Fairbanks, station agent at Richmond, Mass., for several years, was killed Wednesday morning, the 7th inst., by being thrown from a car and run over.

Further particulars of the train robbery near Independence, Mo., on the night of the 7th inst., show that the outrage was skillfully planned and daringly carried out, the robbers exhibiting a reckless disregard as to whether they killed people or not, though they did not kill anybody. It is believed the notorious ruffian Jesse James was the leader in the affair. The sum stolen from the express company was only about $500, but the amount stolen from the passengers was large. Gov. Crittenden of Missouri issued a proclamation calling upon the people to rise en masse and exterminate the train robbers, and strong parties of vigilantes started in pursuit of them within a few hours of the commission of the crime. The chief of police of Kansas City went out with his entire force as soon as the alarm was given, and it was reported on the 8th that he had caught six of the ruffians.

Adam Head of Copake, N. Y., got drunk at the Great Barrington circus on the 3d inst., and lay down on the Housatonic railroad track near Sheffield, Mass. His body was found cut asunder next morning by a freight train.

The case of George H. Hardy for rape on Edith Hardy, a thirteen-year-old girl of North Adams, Mass., came up in the district court on Thursday, and resulted in his discharge. Unimpeachable testimony was presented, showing the previous bad character of the girl.

Rev. C. C. Marston of Clinton, Wis., Prof. Roney of Saginaw, Mich., Mr. Gates of Boston, and a large number of other cabin passengers, have sent a protest to the owners of the Anchor line of steamers against the cruel whipping of a steward's boy on the steamship Circassian, which arrived at New York on the 7th inst., from Glasgow.

Ex-Mayor Shelton of New Haven, Conn., is under arrest on the charge of aiding to procure an abortion on a young girl, whom it is alleged he seduced; he says it is a blackmailing attempt, and will so be shown in court. Mrs. Alfonso Richardson is under arrest, charged with conspiring with Mr. Shelton to procure the abortion. The girl, Mary Hartenstein, is nineteen years old, and worked in Mr. Shelton's fish-hook factory.

Cocoanut growing is becoming an important industry in Florida. Charles Maloney has a plantation of several thousand trees on Stock Island, J. V. Harris of Key West has about 7,000 trees, E. O. Lock about 10,000, and Lieut. Gov. Bethel is having an extensive grove of cocoanut trees planted.

The weather bureau at Washington on Friday announced that a hurricane had appeared off the Carolina coast. It was moving northward, and was expected to cause easterly gales and heavy rains on the New England coast to-day.

—The best abused man in the government is Mr. Blaine. Occupying the most delicate and difficult situation ever held by a secretary of state, he has not committed a single blunder; has been a model of discretion, reticence and tact; has escaped the interviewers; has patiently and silently borne the most wanton, unjust and unprovoked abuse, and has earned the confidence of the whole American people.—Albany Journal.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

WHAT SHE SHOULD DO.

A Few Suggestions of Importance on a Subject of Interest to the Ladies.

And Certain Facts which Should be Known by all Women.

[New York Home Journal.]

A short time since an article appeared in the columns of this paper, being the synopsis of a lecture delivered by a prominent woman before a well-known New England society. This article dealt so directly with the needs of women, and contained so many hints which were valuable, that it naturally attracted no little attention, and has, we learn, been a subject of comment in social circles in nearly every part of the land. Realizing that no subject can be of more vital importance, as well as interest to all readers, than the condition of the women of America, we have collected and prepared with considerable care, additional facts bearing upon the same subject.

The ladies of this country have been more observed and talked about than those of any other land, and Europeans always notice their characteristics—usually with admiration. Sarah Bernhardt declared she did not see how any one could resist falling in love with "those pretty American ladies." She might have added, that even her fair-faced French sisters would find it difficult to equal, much less excel, American women in quickness of perception and brilliancy of intellect. The minds and manners of American women are all that can be desired; but it is a lamentable fact that their physical frames are far inferior in comparison with their social and mental characteristics. The women of England are noted for their florid health; those of Germany for their strong constitutions, and the ladies of France for their exuberance of spirits; but American women possess no one of these qualities in any prominence, and all of them only in a slight degree. The reason of this must be plain to every careful observer. Sedentary ways, devotion to fashion—but above all and more than all, carelessness and indifference to daily habits and duties, have rendered the women of this land far less strong and healthy than it is either their duty or privilege to be. Their irregular and indifferent manner of living brings about the most serious results, and is both directly and indirectly of untold injury to the race. The cause, therefore, being manifestly under the control of the women themselves, the power to remove it must naturally be under their control also. American women can prolong at an charmed lives as though they lived in Europe or any foreign land, if they only desire and determine to do so.

The primary cause of suffering from disease is impure blood. The performance of the natural functions of womanhood and motherhood is not a disease, nor should it be treated as such, and to maintain health the organs which make and purify the blood must be preserved in, or restored to, their normal condition. These organs are the kidneys and liver.

It is the office of the kidneys to take from the blood the poisonous matter which has been collected from all parts of the body and pass it off from the system. If they are impaired in their action, they cannot do this work, the poison accumulates, all the organs in the body, which are sustained by the blood, are weakened and give way and finally the kidneys and contiguous organs become the source of great pain, and, without prompt relief, death is certain.

It is the office of the liver to extract other impurities from the blood, and utilize a portion of them for digestion. If the liver is disordered, all forms of dyspepsia occur, the bowels cannot expel the waste matter, and the most distressing inconvenience follows. This is especially true in the case of women. And if the bowels are thus inactive and overloaded, the neighboring organs, which are particularly dependent for their right action upon the state of the liver, bowels and kidneys, become displaced, and the consequences which ensue are too well known to require restatement in a purgative article of this kind. The secret, however, of preventing these manifold disorders, is to keep the kidneys and liver in perfect working condition. This is reason; this is science, and it appeals with force to the suffering women of America.

When the body is in a healthy condition, then comes beauty of complexion, elasticity of step, hope in lieu of disposition, and comfort and happiness in the duties and responsibilities of a family. There is, therefore, every incentive to secure and preserve buoyant health.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, the remedy described in the letters to which reference has already been made, is receiving, as it certainly merits, the most careful attention and the trial of the women of the land. It is a pure and simple vegetable remedy, which is now doing more to bring health and strength to the American women than any one thing which has ever been discovered. It acts directly upon the liver, kidneys and adjacent organs, soothes any inflammation, allays all pain, and places those organs in a condition to bring health to the body and happiness to the life. The manufacturers of this great remedy, as we learn from the lecture, have the written thanks of thousands of women—many of them of great prominence—but those letters are very properly regarded as too sacred for publication. No true woman is pleased to have her physical troubles flaunted in the eyes of the world.

The unquestionable value of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure is all the more manifest from the fact that heretofore no adequate remedy for the ills of women has ever been discovered; nor have the medical profession ever been able to assist women in her troubles as she deserves. This is, perhaps, largely due to the presence of so much bigotry and intolerance in that profession. The history of medicine is a history which illustrates to the fullest the blighting effect of bigotry and intolerance. Harvey, who discovered the circulation of the blood, was driven out of England. Jenner, the father of vaccination, was opposed and scoffed at. Thompson, the founder of the Thompsonian theory, was the victim of a hateful conspiracy. Morgan, in Massachusetts, who introduced the use of ether in surgical operations, was charged with witchcraft, and yet the discoveries of these men are to-day recognized as of infinite benefit to the race. It is the solemn duty of every physician, in the land to take advantage of every opportunity which is within his reach, not to promote the interests of this or that school, but to heal the sufferings of their fellow-men. All have witnessed death-bed scenes, and felt that if skill were equal to disease, death might have been postponed many years—that science (if one were made of all the agencies she has revealed) was equal to a cure.

How many a time in the experience of all has this been illustrated! A cold is contracted, it refuses to yield to a fixed form of treatment, the physician may not be candid enough to call in the aid of other schools, or of independent agencies, and the dear one dies because the doctor will not exhaust every expedient known to the world for relief; he knows the advantage of his competitors and employs outside agencies, he is visited with expulsion from the society of his fellows, and forsooth, becomes what they choose to call a "quack." When they have exhausted all the agencies approved by their schools they "trifle the responsibility" of the death of their patient by advising a trip to Colorado or Florida, or a voyage to Europe! Such treatment may be in accordance with the "code of ethics," but in the view of the unprejudiced public it is downright cruelty, if it may not be even more strongly characterized.

There is no reason, however, why the women in this land should not possess the best of health and spirits. The character of the country, the activity of her surroundings and the opportunities afforded for recovering lost health and retaining the same are such as to make those of years other lands in the face of the globe. By a careful observance of the plain and simple laws of health, by a judicious care over daily habits and duties, and by a regulation of the ills with the remedy above named, which has become so prominent and valuable, there is no reason why all the desirable things we have mentioned may not be secured in the highest degree. It is therefore a matter of importance that all women give this subject the attention which it deserves and the care which they are able to bestow, in notices that their efforts are certain to bring them perfect health and long and happy lives.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy," which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. tsi2

THE EMERY REUNION.

The third annual gathering of the Emery family took place at Dover point on Thursday, the 8th inst., about one hundred and fifty persons being present, the ladies and gentlemen being in about equal numbers. The president, Rev. S. H. Emery of Taunton, Mass., called the meeting to order, and resolutions of sympathy with the President were passed. Papers on topics associated with the history of the Emery family were read by Rev. E. J. Emery of Swansey, and Edwin Emery of New Bedford, Mass.; dinner was spread at two o'clock, the Divine blessing being invoked by Rev. S. E. Emery of Newburyport, Mass.; and speeches were made by Rev. Rufus Emery, Rev. S. H. Emery, Hon. Mr. Soule of New York city, Mayor Murphy of Dover, Senator Rollins, and representatives of the family from Gorham, Me., and Washington, D. C. Rev. S. H. Emery declined election to the presidency, and Rev. Rufus Emery was chosen to the position. Thomas C. Amory, Esq., of Boston, was re-elected secretary. The time and place of the next gathering were left to the executive committee. Anthony Emery, from whom it is said the New England members of the family descended, was one of the early comers to the Piscataqua, and settled on Dover point, on the spot where the late party had their big tent pitched. Among those present Thursday was Peter Emery of this city, eighty-seven years of age.

WHO BUILT THE "NIGHTINGALE?"

Mr. Editor: Allow me to correct an error that has appeared in your paper as regards the building of the ship "Nightingale." This ship was built at Hanscom's point in Eliot, in 1851, by Capt. Samuel I. Hanscom, (not by either William L. or Isaiah Hanscom,) William not arriving home from San Francisco until the ship was all rigged, and lying at Pray's wharf, and Isaiah at the time being at work on the naval dry-dock. Capt. Hanscom was the father of Naval Constructor John Hanscom and of Justin Hanscom of this city. The vessel was named the "Nightingale" in honor of Jenny Lind, whom it was proposed she should take to the London world's fair. The model was made and the vessel laid down by Mr. John Rogers of Kittery, from whom your correspondent has gleaned the above. P.

A VISITOR'S COMMENTS.

The following we extract from a recent letter from Cape Ann to the Washington Sunday Herald. The statement in regard to Exeter's citizens leads us to believe that the venerable representative to the General Court and author of the bill to enforce the liquor law must have been absent when "W. M. W." visited the ancient seat of academic and free-day-school learning at the head of the Swamscot:

The weather on the 5th of August was the first warm weather of the summer, and in Portsmouth the next day we found the mercury at the Rockingham ninety-two degrees in the shade. Portsmouth, like the "Marine Corps," is always Portsmouth. In colonial times the seat of royal governors and a naval military station, it still wears the marks of its former glory—in its noble mansions of the last century, "not in decay," and the numerous traditions of old manners, magnificence of attire of the higher classes, superb equipages, and all the trappings of a miniature court. In all these points it bore a close resemblance to Annapolis. The old historic houses of Portsmouth are generally built of wood, owing to a prejudice against brick as tending to dampness. The stranger is impressed by the excellent condition of these houses—standing for the most part "four square to all the winds that blow," with no irregular outlines or other evidence of yielding to the tooth of time. An old friend and roommate at Exeter, Alexander H. Ladd, is the fortunate owner of the most elegant and elaborately constructed of these old houses. It was built in 1760 by his ancestor, Col. Mason, and has been carefully preserved in its original condition. The entrance is through a hall thirty by twenty-five feet, with elaborately carved cornice and a grand staircase eight feet in width ascending the third story. The drawing-room in the rear contains an exquisitely carved mantelpiece in pear-tree wood by Grinling Gibbons, of the time of James II, and several Chippendale chairs and other rare furniture coeval with the house itself. The grounds comprise several acres in the midst of the city, and contain, among other ornaments, a noble horse-chestnut planted in 1780 by Gen. Whipple, of the Revolution, for many years a resident of the house.

The Rockingham, the leading hotel of Portsmouth, was the residence of Woodbury Langdon, erected in 1785. A modern addition renders it twice the original size. Mr. Langdon's dining-room, a superb apartment in extent and style, is still preserved as he left it. Frank Jones, late in Congress, is the owner of the Rockingham and the Wentworth, at the mouth of the Piscataqua, the popular seaside hotel of New England. He is said to have cleared $200,000 in malt this year. As a brewer he is without a rival in this section.

The Wentworth being crowded, we reluctantly turned our steps landward to Exeter, fourteen miles distant, to revisit the scenes of boyhood. Since 1838, the date of my last visit, this old town has doubled its population, and the students of the academy increased from eghty to two hundred and forty. The Robinson Female Seminary, endowed with $250,000, is a free day-school for all girls of Exeter, to whom it affords an education of the first class. Many families have removed to the town, to enable their daughters to enjoy this advantage. The town has done its part by constructing asphalt sidewalks in every street to enable the young ladies to go and come from school dry-shod. Thus everybody is benefited. The streets and grounds are adorned with beautiful and majestic elms and maples—so as wholly to obscure the views we used to have of the adjacent country. An old landmark, the house of the late Col. Nath. Gilman, still stands, and in a better condition than it was fifty years ago—having been renovated by his son after his return from Canton. It is now the residence of Governor Bell. The house of George Sullivan, the eloquent orator and counselor, is occupied by James Lawrence, a brother of the late A. H. Lawrence, of Washington. In my early days Exeter was renowned for distinguished men—the venerable and learned Jeremiah Smith, John Taylor Gilman, Sullivan, Peabody, and others—and for its refined and intellectual society. Now, although twice as populous, it has not a single citizen, Governor Bell and Dr. Perry excepted, who stands above the common mass. Dr. Perry, by the way, is in his ninety-third year, and is still in the enjoyment of the sana mens in sano corpore. For more than sixty years he was the most eminent surgeon in a circuit of thirty miles.

AROUND HOME.

In accordance with the proclamation of Gov. Bell, a service of prayer for the recovery of President Garfield was held in the North church on Friday forenoon, commencing at 10:30 o'clock; the church was comfortably filled, and all the clergymen in the city (except the pastors of the Catholic and Episcopal churches) were present and took part, as did also Rev. Dr. Lamson, formerly pastor of the Middle street church. The places of business in the city were generally closed between the hours of ten o'clock and noon, as requested by the mayor. Special services were held in the Episcopal church at the same hour.

Several barrels of herring were taken from the weirs at the mouth of the harbor on Friday.

Prof. Oscar Faulhaber of Exeter has been engaged to give instruction in French and German at Greenland academy, devoting one day in each week for that purpose. This institution is fast gaining in prosperity under its present able management.

The sloop belonging to the contractors for the removal of Gangway rock went on the marine railway at Kittery on Friday, for examination as to what harm she sustained by the collision with the U. S. S. Lancaster on the 4th inst., and for repairs if needed. The wreck of the "band-stand," which was knocked over by the Lancaster at the same time, has been hauled up on Stover's wharf at Kittery. It is said the contractors claim $5000 from the government as damages.

The steam launch Gypsey, belonging to the Wentworth hotel, came up from Little Harbor on the 7th inst., and was moored at the wharf at the Raynes shipyard, where she was hauled up last winter and will be the coming one.

Major Urch has within a few days added fifteen new kinds of fish to the stock in his aquarium, and it is now more attractive than at any previous time this season. Among the new arrivals are a huge monk-fish, or "fishing frog," and a large shark, taken in the weirs at Gerrish's island. The proprietor proposes to make further additions to the contents of the tanks as opportunity offers, and to make the aquarium a most interesting, instructive and popular place of resort during the autumn months.

The new drinking fountain which was procured by the city some weeks ago, and which at the time was reported to be the one that was to be put up on the east side of Market square, agreeably to the vote of the board of aldermen, has been placed in front of the post-office, relieving from further duty the one which has for some years been there. The new fountain is much shorter than the old one, and is fitted with a nice stone drinking-trough for horses; the trough is much larger than seems necessary, and both trough and fountain are set too low by at least a foot.

The cut-off at the "ox-bow" in the Exeter river will not be ready for the passage of vessels this year. Sixteen thousand cubic yards of material will have to be removed before the dredging machine can be put to work in the canal, and only about four thousand yards have yet been taken out.

The steamship Bolivia arrived at New York on Thursday last from London, with Miss A. C. Morgan, Mlle. Gangloff and Miss Hackett of this city among the passengers. The travellers reached home on Friday forenoon.

The hands of the North church clock were put in place on Friday forenoon, to the great satisfaction of the hundreds of people who for two weeks or more had been inconvenienced by the absence of the hands and figures from the clock's face.

Transfers of real estate in this vicinity have been recorded in the office of the register of deeds as follows: Hampton—Francis P. Blake to Orlando L. Blake, land and buildings for $150; Newcastle—Ellen M. Teague of East Boston, Mass., to Ephraim Green of Newcastle, land in Newcastle for $1; Portsmouth—Thomas Kennedy and Elizabeth J. Kennedy to the Kennedy & Miller Manufacturing company, land and buildings for $1 and other valuable considerations; John W. Stavers of Taunton, Mass., to Joann J. Conn, land and buildings for $2500 and taxes for 1881.

Atwood Gammon of Dover, N. H., who was arrested some time ago at Old Orchard beach on a charge of keeping liquor for sale, was discharged, as on the trial it was proved that the place where the liquor was found was kept by one King Hanscom.

Edith May Hart, the three-years-old daughter of John Hart of South Hampton, fell into a bucket of hot water recently, and was so badly scalded that death ensued in two or three days.

It will be remembered that about the 4th of July the papers published a report of the mysterious death of one Patrick Fullerton, a member of a gang of gipsies that some time previously had been driven out of this city by the police, and had encamped at Dover point. The statement made was that in a drunken row among the vagabonds, on or about the 4th, one of them struck Fullerton on the head with a club; that immediately afterward the gipsies broke camp and went toward Newmarket, where the injured man was left, and where he died and was buried. On the 6th inst., by direction of State Attorney Tappan, the body was exhumed and an examination made, when a bad fracture of the skull was disclosed, the injuries being such as would inevitably cause death in a day or two after being inflicted. The case is to be further sifted, and the murderer will be very likely brought to punishment.

An analysis of the mineral spring discovered on land at Rye owned by G. H. Jenness, Esq., shows that it is almost identical with the Columbian springs at Saratoga, which latter have become quite noted. Mr. Jenness is having plans drawn for a handsome pagoda to be placed over the spring, and will also probably have a driveway built thereto. —Journal.

—A Leadville journalist has shot so many men that he is now spoken of as "the local leaditor."

—It is said that "Worth gets his beautiful combinations of colors from studying the plumage of birds." If Worth is responsible for some of the color-combinations we have seen this summer, we suspect he has included the state-prison bird among his subjects of study.—Boston Transcript.

—A Wethersfield doctor, who was recently called by a patient suffering severely with "malaria," gave him a bottle of medicine composed principally of old gilt-edged whiskey. After tasting of it and smacking his lips with a gusto which seemed to indicate that it went to the right spot, he said: "Doctor, I like that medicine first-rate. How much will you charge for a barrel of it, or enough to take me through the fall?"

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. John D. Wells has accepted a call to become pastor of the Unitarian society at Laconia. Mr. Wells was ordained in 1860, was once in Quincy, Miss., and on account of ill health went to California and took charge of the society in Los Angeles in 1877. He went to Laconia for his health, the past summer, and during July preached there, and was so much liked that he was invited to settle. He is an able minister, and an acquisition to the state.

The Exeter Gazette of the 8th inst. says: "During the past week the greater part of the mountain region has been enveloped in smoke, which has daily thickened and in some places was so dense as to drive away the visitors. The scene of the conflagration is in the neighborhood of Warren summit and Warren village, where an extensive area is in flames. The smoke of the fire has affected the atmosphere here in Exeter so much as to shut out the sun completely from view. At the mountain in some places it is not possible to see more than two or three hundred feet away."

The mutual insurance company of Dunbarton has called a meeting on the 20th inst., to see if it will discontinue business. The recent increase in the number of fires is reported as the incentive to the present action.

A day or two since we related the story of a pencil peddler calling at the office of Converse & Hobbs on Cocheco street, getting into a wordy quarrel, and soon after firing his pistol at one of the men employed there. The fellow was probably a lunatic, for he went off over to Rollinsford and yesterday turned up at the house of Andrew Rollins, and wanted some cider. The man was there refused the drink, whereupon he pulled his revolver and fired but in such a clumsy way that the ball went through his own hand. He then went off to the house of Thomas Rollins, where he called again, his hand bleeding freely, and he had got the blood all over his face and his clothing. This was the means of disclosing that he had wounded himself when he fired at the house of Andrew Rollins. He was a fearful looking sight, but asked for cider again, which was refused, and then he fired another shot and departed. He has not been seen since; and who he is or where he went, nobody knows. He must be a crazy man, and possibly has made away with his life somewhere on the road.—Dover Democrat, 7th.

—"I think I'm losing flesh this hot weather," was what the butcher said when he opened his store in the morning and found that a side of beef had been stolen during the night.

—She was dashing and flirty, and when she said her father was a broker and was connected with one of the leading railroads of the country, all the men at the watering-places were after her. They didn't discover until the end of the season that her paternal relative broke the trains.

that a remedy made of such common, simple plants as hops, buchu, mandrake, dandelion, etc., make so many and such marvelous and wonderful cures as Hop Bitters do? It must be, for when old and young, rich and poor, pastor and doctor, lawyer and editor, all testify to having been cured by them, we must believe and doubt no longer. See other column.—Post.

—There was an Italian who was addicted to cards, but who never had any luck, and who apostrophized Fortune thus: "Ah, treacherous goddess! Thou canst make me lose, but thou canst not make me pay."

The great popular remedy of the day, for coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung difficulties, is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price, 35 cts. Trial size, 10 cts.

—At nearly all the summer resorts there has been a great scarcity of young men, and the long, lorn maidens cannot understand that the fellows are saving their money to pay for hacks and opera tickets in the winter.

Many clergymen who were obliged to withdraw from the pulpit on account of "clergymen's sore throat," have recovered by using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and are preaching again.

—The New Bedford Standard says a man died in that city a short time since—his death occurred Thursday, a post mortem examination was held Friday, the funeral took place Saturday, and the heart-stricken widow, with four little children clinging to her, was married Sunday evening.

Bed-Bugs, Roaches,

Brain and Nerve.

—A contemporary has been asked: "Can a man belong to a brass band and be a Christian?" It replies: "We see no impediment in the way. But if he is a member of a brass band, and is given to practising on a cornet or trombone at home, it is a very difficult thing for the man living next door to be a Christian."

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

Our New York Fashion Letter.

MATERIALS—MILLINERY—DESIGNS.

Of course you have been thinking of what we are to wear this fall and winter, and I am happy to give you such early information that you will know quite as soon as the average New Yorker. This is in consequence of my having been allowed to look over Lord & Taylor's sample books.

Among satins, the prevalence of plush, chiefly in stripes or squares, but sometimes too in large floral figures, is very noticeable; moire or watered satins, too, are extremely fashionable. In truth you can hardly misplace a moire design, for they come in stripes extending all over the surface in large or smaller ripplings, or united with plush or brocaded stripes. Not only are these rich fabrics combined with plain satins or velvet for dressy toilettes, but they serve as touches on fine woollen costumes, for which purpose variety is given by plush combined with metal threads that lie embedded at narrow intervals.

New plaided or striped woolens are also brought out in great variety, to be combined with plain wools in all the fashionable colors, bronze, garnet, wine, dark blue or brown. These plaided or striped wools are prominent among fall importations, and are novel, not only by reason of the new colors harmonizing with the handsome plain wools, but by new arrangements of bars and columns.

Cheviot, too, is very fashionable. It has a loose twill, and in small indistinct checks or stripes will be made in simply-shaped costumes without combination. But more dressy cheviot is wrought with plush or moire satin stripes, while to complete the outfit a clouded cheviot in colors to match is provided. These costumes will be very stylish, yet not more so than cheviots that have broad stripes taking up a part of the breadth. These latter are intended for the (plisse) plaited effects that are amongst newest ideas. The stripes are laid in plaits, so that one color appears on the outside, while the other shows from beneath in glimpses only. The transitions in color are subdued so that they can be worn by persons of quiet taste. Brighter woolens are woven in alternations of one plain, broad stripe and one of floral design, and these are disposed in plisse style, either the floral stripe appearing on the outside with the plain color peeping from below, or vice versa. Of course there is plain material to match

THE NEW BONNET.

Felt is conspicuous in millinery, and is in black, white and all new colors. As to shapes, one may choose among the poke family, quaint in outline with high crown, or selection can be made among the smaller cottage and capote bonnets. In pokes there is considerable diversity, since some crowns are more conspicuously pointed than others, and there are notable differences in size. But most of them are quite large. Hats are often very large, having broad, square crowns, with wide brims turned up on the left side. Yet again we see Derbys and turbans. Plush or velvet are the materials used, and are laid plainly on the pokes, and usually on the small bonnets as well. For trimming, we have plush, satin, velvet and ribbon, while by way of finish, it is feathers, feathers, feathers. Ostrich plumes of such length that they must be artificially prolonged, sweep around the huge hats, but on bonnets a cluster of tips is preferred. Colors in ostrich feathers are frequently a very jumble—two or three mixed in a hap-hazard way—but sometimes they are one color, or shaded from dark to light. Feathers are in bands; breasts with heads, or entire birds from a large dove to a humming bird, are seen, but are not as fashionable as bands. Cock's plumage is also on new hats, but is dyed in bronze, garnet, olive and other new shades.

NEW DESIGNS.

For the checked cheviots, that should be plain in outline with "tailor finish," there is nothing more suitable than the Sutherland costume, having a short skirt trimmed with a deep, gathered flounce, overskirt with full back drapery and apron front, and tucked basque confined by a belt. Stout people would do better to select a plain cheviot or some one of the new wools, either finished with stripes or touches of other material, and for them a plain fitting corsage is rather a judicious choice. Here we find the Baronne polonaise, arranged over a short walking-skirt trimmed with deep plaitings; the fronts are cut in one piece, falling over a shawl-shaped point at the left, and draped high at the sides. The "Richmond" is a new, tight-fitting jacket, cut away below the waist, turned back in revers above, and fastened by a single large button at the waist. The Etelka is a dressy mantelet in circle shape, with shirring at the neck and in a plastron behind.

LUCY CARTER.

I Wished I Was Dead!

After suffering several years with the leucorrhœa, and no doubt I would have been, only a lady induced me to try Sulphur Bitters. Now I am well. Three bottles cured me.—Mrs. C., Newport, R. I.

—A New Bedford whale ship lately brought home a jaw bone of a sperm whale, which is now on exhibition in the oil city. The jaw is sixteen feet long, and contains forty-six teeth.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

—When a rural-resort landlord thinks a city man pats on too many airs, he merely says, as he hands him the key to his room at night, "Be careful to turn out the gas; don't blow it out."

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I nevare see before." all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

MONDAY, SEPT. 12, 1881.

The President.

The 9th was one of the best days the President has had since he was shot. Secretary Blaine's despatch to Minister Lowell, at ten o'clock in the evening, was as follows:

The medical reports are all favorable to-day, morning, noon and night. The President has not for many weeks done so well for so many consecutive hours. He has had very little fever. His respiration has been normal, and his pulse has not exceeded 100. He slept without opiate, and gained strength without stimulant. His nights are not so restful as could be desired, but in the twenty-four hours he gets sufficient sleep. The weather, though not excessively warm, continues sultry and opressive. Much is hoped from the clear, bracing air which may be expected here at this season.

The President continued to gain on Saturday, or at least did not lose. It was the best Saturday he had since the assault. The day was hot and sultry, but he did not suffer greatly. Secretary Windom was admitted to see him, but remained only a moment.

General instructions will be issued to all the ships ordered to take part in the Yorktown centennial celebration, to rendezvous in Hampton roads Sept. 25th.

News and Notes.

Creed Chapman, Sam (or Matt) Chapman and John Burgher, all residing near Independence, Mo., were arrested on the 9th inst. for complicity in the recent train robbery. A brother of the Chapmans "gave them away" to the officers, and it was expected that the entire gang, except possibly the leader, Jesse James, would be in custody in a short time. The arrested men were conclusively proved to have been concerned in the robbery, by articles found on them.

A train was thrown from the track at Anchorage, Ky., on the 8th inst., by a cow. Seven men, at least, were killed, and it was feared two or three more bodies would be found under the wreck. Four other persons were seriously injured, and all on the train received some hurts.

Two Indians and three white men were hanged at Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 9th, for murder; 15,000 persons viewed the executions.

At White Mill, Va., Thursday, the wife of Robert Williams left him after a quarrel, leaving two daughters at home. She had a warrent issued for his arrest, on its being served he was found in his yard with his head chopped off by an axe. The daughters had fled after killing him.

On the 9th inst., at Cairo, Egypt, 4000 soldiers surrounded the residence of the khedive, and demanded the dismissal of all the ministers, a demand with which the khedive was forced to comply. Cherif Pasha was appointed president of the new council, after which the mutineers cheered the khedive, and then withdrew.

In a riot at Roscrea, Tipperary, Ireland, last week, between the soldiers and the people, several persons were injured on both sides. Several arrests have been made. A herdsman in the employ of Captain O'Callaghan, of Tulla, County Clare, who was shot a fortnight ago, has died from his wound. The bitter vindictiveness of the persons concerned in the murder is shown by the posting of notices cautioning the people against attending the funeral.

Wm. G. Morse of Buckfield, Me., hung himself in his barn last Thursday evening. No cause assigned.

At Camden, N. J., Sept. 8th, Rev. Jacob Mulford, an ex-lawyer and well known temperance advocate, and until a few weeks ago pastor of the Methodist church in Greenland, N. J., committed suicide at his home. He was relieved of his pastoral charge about three weeks ago for appearing in his pulpit intoxicated.

Dr. George W. Bookwalter of Ansonia, Ohio, was arrested on the 8th inst. at Union City, Ind., with about $550 in counterfeit $2.50 and $5 gold pieces in his possession. The coins are well calculated to deceive.

The steamer Parisian of the Allan line, running from Londonderry, Ireland, to Quebec, made the fastest time on record on her last trip. She left Londonderry on the evening of Sept. 24, and arrived at Rimouski, in the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, at ten o'clock A. M. on Friday, making the total time a little less than six and one-half days.

A large bear was seen near the top of the mountain in Ripton, Vt., recently. It had previously entered the pasture of Herley Maxham, where it killed a 200-pound calf and partly ate him.

Dr. Coxe, a veterinary surgeon of Lee, Mass., was convicted of stealing whips from the Congregational church sheds, recently.

Springfield, Mass., has $1,085,900 of untaxable property, almost all of which consists of churches and the enclosed land upon which they stand and by which they are surrounded.

Stephen Symonds Foster, who died in Worcester, Mass., Sept. 6th, was born in Canterbury, N. H., Nov. 17th, 1809. He was one of the early and earnest opponents of the slave power, and fought shoulder to shoulder with Wm. Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and such men. He married Abby Kelly, a kindred spirit, who was as earnest in her hatred of wrong, and as fearless in denouncing it, as her husband.

The families of Loves and Stills, conspicuous in the Indian Territory, have long been divided by a deadly feud. Lately, a Love and a Still became matrimonially engaged, and it was agreed, on all hands, that the wedding should be the occasion of making a lasting peace. The gathering was large, and at first greatly given to smiles, kindly words, and handshaking; but it was soon observed that nearly every male guest carried a pistol, and before night, weapons came into general use. Two men were killed and several wounded.

Robert W. Creigton, of Lynn, Mass., recently coughed up a buckshot weighing half an ounce, which he has carried in his lungs since the battle of Chancellorsville, May 3d, 1863.

George Nelson and John Graves, who were lost from the fishing schooner Henry Wilson on the 23d ult. while out in a dory on the Grand bank during a fog, arrived home in Gloucester, Mass., on the 8th inst., having been picked up by a French fishing brig after two days' exposure without food or water.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients, both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. 1s19

TROUBLE IN KITTERY.

Much excitement was caused in the vicinity of Spruce creek, Kittery, Saturday, by an attempt at murder on Friday evening, followed by the would-be murderer attempting suicide. The details as reported are as follows:

About a year ago a tramp calling himself Thomas Wheeler, apparently a foreigner, applied for work to Frank Cate, living near Spruce creek, and was employed by him. Some months ago Mr. Cate died, but Wheeler continued at work, for the widow until a few days since, when some dispute arose, and the man was discharged and paid off, and started for Boston on Thursday. On Friday evening, while Mrs. Cate and her daughter were in the house conversing with a neighbor, Wheeler was seen approaching, and Mrs. Cate went to the door to meet him, when after a few words he drew a revolver and fired at her, frightening her so that she jumped to the ground, a distance of several feet, striking in such a way as to break her left leg in two places. The ruffian then walked a short distance from the house, and shot himself over the heart, it is feared not fatally. The woman was carried into the house; Wheeler soon followed and seated himself on a lounge, and on learning that Mrs. Cate was not dead expressed great regret, and threw a chair at her. He was quickly arrested, and locked up all night in the town almshouse; on Saturday afternoon he was taken before Justice Dennett, who held him to answer at the term of the superior court at Alfred, where he will lie in jail until his trial comes off. He is about thirty-five years old, refuses to give any account of himself, and is a repulsive looking fellow. It is alleged that the cause for the murderous assault on Mrs. Cate was her repulse of improper proposals made to her by Wheeler.

THE "NIGHTINGALE" AGAIN.

Ed. Chronicle and Gazette: There are a few inaccuracies in a late communication in your paper, which I would like to correct. Mr. Samuel Hanscom, Jr., of Eliot, was master-builder of the ship at his yard in Eliot, opposite the Rollins place in Newington. There is no "Hanscom's point" in Eliot. John Rogers of Kittery is an excellent florist. John Rogers of Eliot makes models, but didn't make the model of this ship. It was designed entirely under the direction of the late Commodore Isaiah Hanscom, who tho' engaged elsewhere, actually superintended the construction of this ship. Our respected former townsman, John F. Hanscom, is as yet but an assistant naval constructor, not a full constructor; but he inherits traits which will ere long, we trust, fully justify his receiving that title which your correspondent prematurely gives him. We all had a pride in this ship, but Mr. Hanscom, the builder, by reason of the failure of the persons who contracted for her, met with a severe pecuniary loss. If there is any credit as to the model or sailing qualities of this famous ship, it is due to the memory of the late Isaiah Hanscom. BOILING ROCK.

FRANK JONES IN SEACH OF HEALTH.

Mr. Jones, after leaving England, visited Brussels, Cologne, Frankfort and other continental cities, and then went to Carlsbad, a Bohemian town, within seventy miles of Prague. The town was named for Charles the 4th, who in the fourteenth century discovered the curative power of the springs, the chief ingredients of which are sulphate of soda, carbonate of soda, and common salt; the five principal springs have a temperature of from 132 to 165 degrees Farenheit, and the waters are regarded as efficacious in kidney and liver disorders, and a variety of complaints. Mr. Jones having been thoroughly examined by one of the leading local physicians was assured that he would be much benefitted by the waters at Carlsbad. There are sometimes ten thousand visitors at the springs. The town is situated in a valley, and lies about a mile and a half along a small stream. It has been famous for centuries as a place of resort for invalids. Goethe was accustomed to go there to avail himself of the remedial character of the hot springs. Mr. Jones, we are informed, has much improved, and when heard from three weeks since had great faith that a six weeks' sojourn at Carlsbad would in a great degree result in the restoration of his health. The season at Carlsbad usually terminates about the latter part of August. The daily flow of the waters of the springs at this resort is two millions of gallons. The town is well built, has excellent accomodations for guests, and is free from abuses heretofore common at other of the German spas. We trust that Mr. Jones will receive the benefit he hopes to derive by his stay at these springs.

A CREDITABLE RECORD.

No modern reform has had a more marked career of uninterrupted success and progress than has attended the growth of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in this state.

Organized here in 1872, it has steadily gained in numbers and influence until now its power is felt in the most remote portions of the state as well as in our own midst, where cats, dogs and even the most insignificent animals are protected by the benificent laws which are so vigorously enforced by the energetic society.

The statute laws of New Hampshire for the protection of dumb animals from neglect and abuse are far in advance of the enactments of any other state, in their practical adaptability to the purpose for which they were framed, and reflect credit upon the wisdom and humanity of the legislators who passed them, and the intelligence of the authors of the bills. During the last session of the legislature four acts were passed relating to malicious injuries and cruelty to animals. An attempt made at the instance of a number of sporting men, to repeal the law against pigeon shooting (for sport) was frustrated by the vigilance of a lady member of the society, who suspected such a bill would be presented. The same lady was also nearly successful in her efforts to secure passage for a bill prohibiting the use in New Hampshire of barbed wire fences. The society holds that the frequent cases of injury to, and death of cattle and horses by coming in contact with the sharp-pointed spears with which the fences are armed at all points, proves their dangerous and cruel character.

The steady perseverance with which the S. P. C. A. has pushed its reform is worthy of commendation. It has merited and won the countenance and support of the better class of the people throughout the state. Long may the organization continue to prosper.

THE BICYCLERS.

There was an attendance of 4,000 visitors at the opening day of the New England Fair at Worcester, Mass., Tuesday of last week. Over 200 bicyclers assembled from various parts of New England in answer to invitations sent out by the Worcester clubs, and made a short parade through the streets to the fair grounds, where the procession divided into two divisions under command of Capt. Hodges of the Boston Bicycle club and Capt. Hazlett of the Rockingham club, and performed some interesting manœuvres in the way of battalion drill. The Worcester Spy says:

Between the mile and the half-mile races there was introduced some excellent fancy riding by master Girard of Portsmouth. The little fellow rides a 36-inch wheel and has been riding a little over two months, but he showed much skill and natural talent, doing many of the most difficult tricks with perfect ease. He was brought on by Director Hazlett, who takes great pleasure in showing the skill of the little prodigy whom he has been teaching this summer. A member of the Massachusetts Bicycle club, who is one of the finest fancy riders in the state, was so pleased with the skill of the little rider that he presented him with a valuable gold medal which he had recently won at a contest for superior excellence in fancy riding, remarking: "I have been practising fancy riding daily for nearly three years, and now that I find I can be taught by a boy after two months' practice I think he deserves to wear it instead of myself."

AROUND HOME.

Chief Engineer Albert Aston, U. S. N., of late on duty in charge of stores at this navy yard, died at the Rockingham house on Saturday evening at eight o'clock, after a brief illness. It was not thought that he was very seriously sick until Saturday morning. He entered the service on the 21st of February, 1861.

The Anthony & Ellis' Ideal company, which will present "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Music hall on Wednesday evening next, has an established reputation, won by the great success of past seasons. In very many of the large cities last season people were turned away from the doors. This season the enterprising managers offer fresh attractions, making the presentation more magnificent than ever. The company is a fine one, and Miss Minnie Foster, as Topsy, with songs, dances and banjo solos, is a great attraction. The Memphis University students add reality to the plantation scenes, and the Siberian bloodhounds, and the trained donkey Dixie, are features which have proved very popular. The prices are popular also, as can be learned from the advertisement.

Co. C, 1st Regt. N. H. N. G., Capt. James E. Ford commanding, starts for Concord this morning to go into camp for four days. They will turn out with about fifty muskets.

The schooner Emily A. Staples, Coleman master, last week took on board at Boston a cargo valued at $210,000, the principal items being three rifled cannon weighing together seventy-five tons, to be transported to the government testing grounds at Sandy Hook. The schooner will bring back to Boston a cargo of fire clay from Woodbridge, N. J.

A handsome tablet to mark the grave of the late Capt. Henry Libby was last week sent from this city to New York by Mr. John S. Treat, to be shipped from New York to Singapore.

We shall publish the Laws of New Hampshire, passed June session, 1881, in a supplement of the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE on Wednesday next.

The Boston Globe of Sunday says: "A runaway horse at Salmon Falls, Mass., struck the rear end of an express train yesterday, and the carriage was thrown about 100 feet and totally wrecked. The horse was uninjured, and the occupants, a man and his wife, escaped with only a few scratches. The parties were from Portsmouth."

An order from the post-office department, received on Saturday, discontinues the post-office at Newington. The contract for carrying the mail has been cancelled. The postmaster, Mr. Frink, resigned some time since. Of late most of the mail matter for Newington has come to the Portsmouth post-office.

Jarrett's "Fun on the Bristol" is announced to be given in this city Sept. 15th; Joe Murphy's "Kerry Gow" combination will be here on the 19th.

The schooner Hattie Lewis, Garland master, was in the lower harbor on Saturday waiting for a slant o' wind to run down to New Meadow, Me., ten miles this side of the Kennebec river, with a load of bricks.

A petition was in circulation on Saturday for signatures, addressed to the board of mayor and aldermen, and praying that honorable body "to cause the fountain and trough, recently placed in front of the post-office, to be removed to a less conspicuous place, as we consider it unsightly and inconvenient, and that it does not answer the purpose of a respectable fountain."

Mr. Franklin C. Hoyt of this city is now in Farmington, where he has a "sit" in the office of the Farmington News.

The folly of a protracted law suit was never better illustrated than in the case of Pickering vs. DeRochemont, which has just been dropped from the Rockingham docket, where it has regularly appeared for over thirty years. The continuance of the case has cost all parties concerned many times over the amount involved, and now the lack of means alone, of both parties, stops the case. The suit was brought by Pickering to recover a certain sum alleged to have been received and never accounted for by DeRochemont while guardian of Pickering's wife.—Exeter News-Letter.

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. J. M. Johns has accepted a call to the Universalist church at Claremont.

David R. Marshall of Keene, aged about sixty years, dropped dead while at work Friday, from heart disease. He leaves a widow and daughter.

The general association of Congregational churches of New Hampshire will hold its annual meeting with the Franklin Street church, Manchester, Sept. 13th, 14th and 15th.

A young man from Canada named Neddo was fatally injured by being caught in the machinery in the pulp mill of the Forest Fibre company at Berlin Falls, Friday morning, and died.

The supreme court at Nashua on Friday sentenced Thomas Callaghan and Dominick Moran, partners in breaking and entering the house of Frank Hutchinson in Manchester, to state prison for ten years each. They also entered Robert McMasten's house in Nashua.

In the supreme court at Dover, Friday, Judge Allen presiding, the grand jury reported forty-three indictments, as follows: Liquor selling, twenty-one; assault, eight; adultery, four; larceny, four; breaking and entering, two; embezzlement, rape, arson and disorderly conduct, one each.

At Pike's mills, Dover, on the 10th inst., a house and barn owned by the Cocheco Manufacturing company were struck by lightning, and burned; loss covered by $2000 insurance. W. H. Pike, the occupant, lost $500.

EXETER MACHINE WORKS.

The Exeter Machine Works, that has just paid a semi-annual dividend of 3 1-2 per cent, is fairly overrun with work. Within a week they have shipped a forty horse-power engine to Hon. John B. Alley, of Lynn, Mass., a seventy-five horse-power engine to D. G. & R. Annis, of Londonderry, a sixty horse-power engine to Sommers & Co., of St. Joseph, Missouri, and a ten horse-power engine to the state alms-house at Tewkesbury, Mass. The fifty horse-power "Exeter engine" now running the model shoe factory at the New England Manufacturers and Mechanics Institute fair in Boston has been sold to C. H. Tilton of Ashland, Mass., the superintendent of the factory at the fair. Seven additional orders have been received within the week, among which are three duplicates of the engine now running at the fair. Orders for engines to the number of one a week are being refused, on account of shortness of time in which they are required to be built. Orders for boilers, blowers and house-heating apparatus now exceed the capacity of the works. A $7000 contract for steam heating, plumbing and gas fitting Tilton's block, at Littleton, has just been awarded this company. In a few days another small addition will be commenced to the main shop.—News-Letter.

"Rough on Rats."
The thing desired found at last. Ask druggist for Rough on Rats. It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bedbugs; 15 cts. boxes.

Skinny Men.

—An auctioneer in a country town being puzzled how to describe a picture in the catalogue asked an amateur if he knew by whom it was painted. "No doubt about its being a Van Daube," replied he. And as a Van Daube it was entered in the catalogue, and subsequently offered for sale by the innocent auctioneer.

The great popular remedy of the day, for coughs, colds, asthma, and all lung difficulties, is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price, 35 cts. Trial size, 10 cts.

—There was once a Sir James Weir Hogg, who made a fortune in India, and whose wife, holding a distinguished position in London fashionable circles, gave splendid parties. It is said that a young blood meeting one of the Misses Hogg at a ball, and not knowing her name, asked her if she was going to a certain party at the "Piggery." Her naive reply was: "Oh, I am one of the litter."

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

—One of the "society" papers avers that when Mr. Tilden was a young lawyer he had to take cognizance of some divorce cases, and learned enough to deter him from entering into the married state.

Father Scully!
Of Cambridge, wishes all Catholic children to attend the parochial schools. If their parents give them Sulphur Bitters they will have rosy cheeks and be strong and healthy. See another column.

—Ordinarily we know from what country most people come by the language they use; but in the case of the swearer it is different. He uses the language of the country to which he is going.

Man's Ingratitude.
This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

On Sept 1st, at the residence of Capt. Daniel Campbell, in New Boston, a grand reunion of the Campbell family was held. Two brothers and two sisters, whose united ages amount to 292 years, met beneath the old foot-tree after an absence of forty-five years. Is It Possible that a remedy made of such common, simple plants as hops, buchu, mandrake, dandelion, etc., make so many and such marvelous and wonderful cures as Hop Bitters do? It must be, for when old and young, rich and poor, pastor and doctor, lawyer and editor, all testify to having been cured by them, we must believe and doubt no longer. See other column.—Post.

Helena Frederick Argus, eight years old, attempted to rescue a younger child from the wheels of an ice-cart in Providence, R. I., Saturday morning. She succeeded, but herself fell, and the wheel crushed her head, killing her.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion! I nevare see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This results to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

The President.

On Saturday night the President had a decidedly unfavorable turn, and great uneasiness was caused. It was reported that an abscess had developed itself in the lower lobe of the right lung, and though the doctors would not admit this they did not deny it. Mr. Blaine at 10:30 o'clock Sunday evening sent the following despatch to Minister Lowell:

The President had an increase of fever last night, and was very restless until five o'clock A. M. During the day he has been somewhat better, but his pulse, temperature and respiration have been higher for the entire twenty-four hours, than on any preceding day since he reached Long Branch. His other symptoms are not reassuring, and his general condition gives rise to anxiety.

On Monday the President appeared to improve, and "had a bright day." The postmaster-general had an interview with him. At 2:30 P. M. Mr. Blaine telegraphed Minister Lowell that "The President slept well last night, and his condition to-day is more comfortable and more favorable." The lung trouble was less threatening than on the previous day.

Enthusiastic but Indiscreet.

In Washington, Sunday afternoon, Sergt. Mason of battery D, second artillery, when relieving the guard at the jail shot at Guiteau through the window of his cell, and came near killing him; the ball grazed his head, and was embedded in the cell wall. Mason was promptly arrested, taken to the arsenal, and incarcerated.

News and Notes.

In New York, Sunday evening, Andrew Washbacher, a fruit pedlar, became enraged at some boys who had stolen pears. He seized one, John Kelley, who struck him in the face and ran off. Washbacher fired at him twice with a navy revolver; he missed Kelley, but shot his own daughter, aged eight years, through the heart. The other shot struck Frederick Theberry, Washbacher's business partner, and inflicted a fatal wound. Washbacher was arrested.

A gang of tramps, numbering seventy-five, on Sunday morning boarded a freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad and threatened violence if not allowed to ride. A special train and posse were despatched from Harrisburg, Pa., and twenty-one were arrested and taken to Harrisburg in the evening. They are supposed to be the gang who have been robbing and burning in Lancaster county.

Frank T. Pease, the young man who killed his wife on the 30th of August at their boarding place in Edinboro' street, Boston, and then shot himself four times, was discharged from the city hospital on Saturday. He was immediately arraigned on a charge of murder, and fully committed to await the action of the grand jury.

The charge of immorality against Rev. Stephen G. Abbott of Stamford, Mass., which was published on the 6th inst. in the Boston and Springfield papers, is denounced as an atrocious slander. A reward of $500 is offered for the conviction of the person who originated the story.

A cave has been discovered in the woods at Rayham, Mass., which has evidently been used by somebody for the purpose of counterfeiting. The ground has been excavated, and the entrance to the cave covered with a piece of canvas on which pine needles were struck in order to simulate nature. The cave contained tools, moulds, metals, and other paraphernalia used in the manufacture of base money. The entrance was on the side of a little hill. The cave is nine feet by seven, and 6 1-2 feet high. There is a stove in one corner, the pipe coming out above the ground among the bushes. There were inside the cave a kerosene lamp, vise, tools and wrench, a kettle with lead or hard metal in it, and a tin can with plaster of paris; also a stick of soft metal.

Michael Lowe was killed on the Stonington railroad near Westerly, R. I., Friday night, and Michael Coyle on the Providence & Worcester road near Woonsocket, Saturday night. Both were intoxicated.

Two heavily armed and masked men entered the little town of Bates City, Mo., on the Chicago & Alton railroad about seven miles east of Blue Cut, the scene of the late train robbery, and drawing pistols and firing, began an indiscriminate pillage of the place. People offered no resistance, and the robbers seem to have taken what they wanted.

The cotton teamsters of New Orleans last week went on a strike. On Saturday one of the strikers was shot dead by a policeman. Serious trouble was feared on Monday, and the militia were ordered to hold themselves in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

The commision which investigated the charges of Congressman Page against Supt. Dodge of the United States mint at San Francisco has reported, completely exonerating him from all the charges, and say they were without any foundation.

A despatch from Rome says that a tragedy similar to the murder of Mr. Gold on the Brighton express train in June, has occurred on a train from Paris to Turin. A man entered a first class coupe, occupied by another gentleman who was alone, and after wounding him seriously, threw him out of the carriage window. From a card found in his trunk the victim is believed to be Herr Niemack, the German consul at Leghorn.

The New Orleans lightning passenger train coming north was wrecked Friday night at Sonora, on the Louisville & Nashville railroad. The locomotive jumped the track at a switch which had been maliciously misplaced by persons not yet detected. The baggage car, two coaches and two Pullman sleepers were piled on the locomotive. John Slade, engineer, was killed instantly, and Oscar Lilly, fireman, mortally wounded. No passengers were hurt.

Steamer Columbia foundered on Lake Michigan, Sunday. Fifteen persons were drowned, including the captain, engineer and two ladies.

A land-slip in Switzerland, Sunday evening, killed 200 people and destroyed thirty houses.

The New York Silk Manufacturing company, with a factory at Marion, N. J., has failed; liabilities, $150,000. Three hundred operatives are thrown out of employment.

The Pepperell and Laconia Manufacturing companies of Biddeford have re-elected their old boards of officers, with a single exception. John A. Blanchard is chosen a director of each company in place of Samuel Gould, deceased.

A prominent hotel keeper at Old Orchard said that his receipts for the season up to one day recently were $10,000 more than those of last year up to the same date. This shows that the season, though short, was not an unprofitable one.

George Donnell of Newburyport, Mass., who died last week at the age of nearly one hundred years, was buried on Friday. He leaves a brother at York, aged seventy-five years, and a sister at Augusta, aged eighty, but the infirmities of age prevented their being present at the obsequies. All the surviving children of the deceased, four daughters and three sons, were present, (one of the daughters having come on from Little Rock, Arkansas, to attend,) as were also a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren; none of the great-great-grandchildren attended.

Important.

Irritation of the Scalp.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Parker's Cocoaine advertised in Barnum's Kalendar advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

Fortune's Favors to an Irish Lad.

The wheel of fortune turned most favorably for a poor Irish lad, James O'Gorman, who came to Philadelphia two years ago in search of a fortune. He had seen the advertisement of The Louisiana State Lottery in the newspapers, and he thought occurred to him that he had better give it a trial. Accordingly, on the 5th of July he sent $1 to M. A. Dauphin, No. 319 Broadway, New York City, for the drawing of the 12th inst. In a few days he received the ticket No. 24,547. He received a telegram at No. 20 N. Delaware st., where he is a bookkeeper, that the ticket had drawn $5,000, and, as he held half of it, that he was entitled to $2,500. Such a pile of money was indeed a fortune to him. He obtained it this week.—Phila. Sunday Mercury, July 24th.

Amos Davis of Kingston, twenty-four years of age, was instantly killed on Saturday while gunning on the Powow river. The President's Wound !

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 25th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1862. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients back in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. tu12

A RISKY EXPERIENCE.

A fourteen-years-old State street boy had quite an exciting experience with a bicycle, Friday afternoon. It was his first attempt to ride one of the machines, but he found he could readily propel the vehicle, so he accepted a challenge from a friend of his own age, but of greater experience on the wheel, to ride to Newcastle. The ride across the bridges and through Newcastle was accomplished without any particular difficulty; but when they arrived at the Wentworth, on the home strech, in descending the steep hill leading to the Little Harbor bridge our hero's wheel became unmanageable, and acquired terrific velocity. As there was no brake on the machine the youthful rider could not check its speed, and as the bridge at the foot of the hill lies at an angle to the course of the road, collision with the railing was unavoidable, and at it he went, striking it with such force that a stout joist of the railing was broken short off and flung into the water below, accompanied by the boy's straw hat. Of course the rider was unhorsed, and fell, with his steed uppermost, upon the bridge. Fortunately the upper main rail of the bridge withstood the shock, and the rebound of the elastic wheel sent horse and rider twenty feet from the broken timber, flat upon the roadway, where they lay in a confused heap until the acrobatic wheelman arose to search for his hat, which he soon recovered from the river. Remounting his restive steed he and his companion were soon out of sight of the Wentworth on their way home, where they arrived without further adventure.

BIG COAL FREIGHTS.

The schooner Chas. H. Trickey on Wednesday last arrived at Saco, Me., with 360 tons of coal from Baltimore at $2.50 per ton.

The schooner B. Frank Nealley arrived at Dorchester, Mass., on Wednesday, with a cargo of coal from Baltimore at $2.25 per ton.

The new vessel, T. B. Garland, arrived at Weymouth, Mass., on Wednesday, with 367 tons of coal from New York, at $1.50 per ton.

The above are tremendous rates, and our people can find no fault with our coal dealers because of a rise in prices. It was inevitable with such water rates. Why, the same freights from Baltimore last year at this time which cost $1.60 per ton now cost $2.25 per ton, and the same freight from New York which then cost $1 now costs $1.50. The rise is perfectly astounding, and difficult to account for.

AROUND HOME.

It will be seen in our advertising columns that Mr. C. Everett, an experienced and competent carriage builder who for several years was in business at the corner of State and Warren streets, has returned to Portsmouth and taken the shop on Fleet street opposite National block, where he has resumed carriage work. Mr. Everett is a skillful mechanic, as any of our readers having carriages of any kind needing repairs or renewals can easily prove by giving him their work.

A freight brakeman on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, while walking on top of a very high hay car a few nights ago, came in contact with telegraph or telephone wires near Sawyers' station, Dover, and was thrown down, but fortunately escaped injury. On Saturday gangs of men were engaged in raising both telegraph and telephone wires at the point named, thus obviating the possibility of any such accident in the future.

The schooner Addie & Hattie, of this port, on a recent trip took a sword-fish measuring fifteen feet in length from the end of the sword to the tip of the flukes. On the same trip she took two little fellows, weighing only sixty pounds each, and but four and one-half feet long over all. A third baby sword-fish was seen, but no attempt was made to capture it.

The steam tug Popham, of Bath, Me., from the Kennebec river for Boston with scows in tow, came into this port for a harbor on Saturday.

The schooner Grace Choate, Robinson master, came in at a late hour on Sunday night from the Bay of Fundy, bringing in two hundred barrels of mackerel. She gave away about a hundred and fifty barrels in the bay, having no storage room for them.

See notice of sale at auction this day by Morse & Ilsley, of the John Downing estate on Christian Shore. The house is a two-story one and has a large lot of land connected with it. The sale is to be positive.

A remarkable display of the aurora borealis came off Monday night. About eight o'clock (possibly before) a belt of light not more than eight or ten degrees in width, very bright and with sharply-defined edges, stretched in a nearly straight line across the heavens directly overhead, starting from the horizon at a point a little north of west, and ending close down to the horizon a little south of east. At the same time the northern sky was tinged with red from the horizon to the zenith. The show broke up and faded out by nine o'clock.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Music hall tomorrow evening, put on the stage in magnificent style. Tickets 25, 35 and 50 cents, at Preston's.

Prof. D. P. Penhallow, who was for four years in Japan in the service of the imperial government, and had therefore special advantages for studying the manner and customs of the people, has prepared a lecture on Japan, to be illustrated with the stereopticon, the views being from photographs taken from actual life. The lecture will present many interesting facts pertaining to the earliest-known inhabitants, or Ainos, their early settlement in Japan and final expulsion from the southern portions of the country by the Japanese—their manners, customs, mythology, religion, language, manufactures, method of fire-making, etc. Special interest centres in the subject of this lecture from the fact that the Aino are but little known, and are among the most interesting of all the semi-savage races.

"Fun on the Bristol" drew another large house last night, and it is safe to say that as a mirth-provoking piece it is unsurpassed by anything now being offered in the theatrical world. The music is of that bright and sparkling character which puts every one in the best of humor to enjoy the fun, which throughout the play goes fast and furious. The contrast between the widow O'Brien and her charming daughter is irresistably taking. If you want to laugh as you have never laughed before, if you want to spend a most enjoyable evening, go and see "Fun on the Bristol."—Montreal Herald.

At Music hall Thursday evening, Sept. 15th.

The steamer Appledore ceased running between the Shoals and this city on Monday. The Shoals hotels and the Wentworth at Newcastle are closed.

The storm-signal was displayed on Sunday for the first time in more than three months. And we didn't have any storm then, ashore, though there was a lively one going on not far off the coast, as was shown by the way the scud came in from sea, and the heavy surf that rolled in along the beaches.

Messrs. O. & C. Laighton of the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals, have contracted with Mr. J. H. Brougton for lumber to build another private cottage on that island. Work is to be speedily commenced, the house to be ready for occupancy next season.—Times.

The daily supply of Vienna yeast cakes, due in this city by the three o'clock train from Boston, Monday afternoon, did not arrive until seven o'clock, which caused the agent to receive a large and select assortment of reversed blessings from a swarm of disappointed housekeepers; but with the aid of two assistants he had the yeast in every store in town where it is sold, within an hour and ten minutes after its arrival at the station; and this evening and hereafter no such trouble is likely to occur. It was the first time this season that the article failed to arrive in time; and this time it was due to the state of the weather, which interferes with the manufacture.

THE "NIGHTINGALE"--FINIS.

Mr. Editor: While I am willing to acknowledge that I made two mistakes in my last communication, still they were not ones of vital importance. Mr. Rogers should have been credited to Eliot, not Kittery; and "Hanscom's point" should have been "Hanscom's ship-yard." Mr. John Rogers of Eliot made the model of the ship, and all that he knows of Commodore Isaiah Hanscom in the matter is that he came up to Eliot several evenings and helped lay down the outer body of the ship. Parties whom I have seen who are at least as well—if not better—posted as "Boiling Rock," and who worked upon the vessel, corroborate my statements.

Yours Finally, P.

[Our several correspondents have succeeded in convincing us that nobody knows who built the Nightingale, or anything else about her. We do not believe any such vessel ever existed, and must decline to allow room for any further discussion of a myth.—Ed. Chronicle.]

The Lynn Bee says that $600 was realized at the offering-meeting on Friday evening in aid of the "Glad Tidings Tabernacle fund," and many promised to double the amount of their donations at the next offering-meeting. Edward McLaughlin, chorister of the "Glad Tidings Tent," was presented the same evening with a life-sized crayon portrait of A. A. Waite. Brockton is the next place in which the "chalk talker" will pitch his tent.—Newburyport Herald.

Naval Affairs.

The Washington Star thus contradicts a story set afloat concerning an alleged scene on board the Tallapoosa: "Lieut. Commander Kellogg has not been relieved from the command of the U. S. S. Tallapoosa, as stated in this morning's papers. There appears to be little or no foundation for the story of the alleged 'scene' yesterday between Secretary Hunt and Commander Kellogg. The secretary was courteous in manner and tone to him, and merely inquired if he had not seen his order prohibiting ladies from being on United States vessels. Commander Kellogg replied that he had, but did not suppose that it referred to a transport like the old Tallapoosa, but to vessels of war in commission. That ended the conversation. There was no feeling on one side or the other."

A Good Order.

The following excellent order has been issued by the superintendent of the Maine Central railroad: "In loading cattle you will be particular to see that the following instructions are strictly observed: There must be no larger number of cattle loaded in one car than can be so loaded as not to be crowded. The shipment of calves and their mothers among other cattle must not be permitted. If loaded in the same car with other cattle, shipper must pen off the calves, together with their mothers, from the other cattle. Calves and their mothers must not be separated. Calves shipped with their mothers must not be muzzled. All cars in which cows and young calves are loaded must be bedded by the shipper with straw or hay."

A Little Mistake.

A queer story, one which the Italians have characterized as being "well founded," if not true, reaches us from St. Petersburg. Lady Dufferin went to court to be presented to the Czarina. On arriving at the winter palace she was shown into an ante-room, as she thought, where an aged lady, whom she took to be a mistress of the ceremonies, was seated on an ottoman. The lady motioned her to a place beside her, and entered into conversation, but in a frigid Russian style. The handsome Irishwoman with the Hamilton blood in her veins has a little pride of her own, and thinking the Muscovite waiting-woman was rather patronizing to the wife of an ambassador, assumed a "stand-off" air on her side. The ceremonious dame became more ceremonious and almost haughty. At length she asked:

"Have you seen my daughter lately?"

"Pardon me, madame," said Lady Dufferin, "I fancy we do not move in the same circle. Pray, who may your daughter be?"

The answer led up to a tableau.

"The Duchess of Edinburgh," said the stately old female, who was none other than the Empress of Russia herself.

Curiosities of the Earth.

At the city of Medina, in Italy, and about four miles around it, wherever the earth is dug, when the workmen arrive at a distance of sixty-three feet they come to a bed of chalk, which they bore with an auger five feet deep. They then withdraw from the pit before the auger is removed, and upon its extraction the water bursts through the aperture with great violence, and quickly fills the newly-made well, which continues full, and is affected neither by rains nor drought. But what is the most remarkable in the operation is the layer of earth as we descend. At the depth of fourteen feet are found the ruins of an ancient city, paved streets, houses, floors and different pieces of mason work. Under this is found a soft, oozy earth, made up of vegetables, and at twenty-six feet large trees, with the walnuts still sticking to the stem, and the leaves and branches in a perfect state of preservation. At twenty-eight feet deep a soft chalk is found, mixed with a vast quantity of shells, and the bed is two feet thick. Under this vegetables are found again.

The statement going the rounds of the press that since the death of Mrs. Hannah Cox of Holderness, Mrs. Sally Tilton of New Hampton, aged 101 years, is the oldest person in the state, is incorrect. Miss Polly Hatch, at present an occupant of the Aid and Relief Hospital in this city, is 105 years old.—Manchester Mirror.

How to get Sick.

Expose yourself day and night, eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know

Ash-Tonic.

A perfected purifyer of the system In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—At the time of the wreck of the steamer City of Richmond, a little girl passenger was greatly alarmed at the accident and cried bitterly. When placed in the boat to be taken ashore she said to her mother, "I don't want to go in this; I want to walk on the sidewalk."

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swaynes Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer, its just like a man though, isn't it?

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effect.

Second.

Third.

Fourth.

Fifth.

Because over 1000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

THE NIGHT EDITOR.

Perpetually breathing the hot, sultry air,
And writing up "Personals," a column or so,
Of folks who had gone, and others to go,
To the summer resorts, to the mountains and hills,
To the breezy old sea, or cool woodland rills.
And he wrote that "Miss Gush had gone with some party
To summer at New port and hear the waves roar;"
"Mr. Snob to the mountains, to take a short rest;
Mr. Snub has decided to take in the West;"
"Messrs. Fairfax McDougal and Patrick McGhee
Are going to Long Branch to bathe in the sea,"
Etc., etc. He wrote a lot more;
Then this editor laid down his pencil and swore,
"I sit here and sweat, get no thanks for my pains,
While these people, possessed of more money than brains
Go off to these places to stay and keep cool,
While I stay at home; I'm a regular fool.
I've got lots of passes, but here I must stay,
For the paper will dwindle if I go away."
Then he looked at the ceiling, then frowned at the floor,
And made "centre shot" in the old cuspidore;
Then jumped to his feet and excitedly said:
"I'm going; the paper may go to Old Ned.
He surely can't kick if I take a vacation."
And without preparation, sans collar, sans sock,
He took his vacation. (He walked 'round one block.)

New Hampshire Items.

The druggists in Manchester have agreed to close their stores on Sundays from ten o'clock A. M. to four P. M.

Rains have fallen in northern Virginia from the mountains to the coast, ending the protracted drought, but insufficint to replenish the streams and start the mills.

At St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12th, there was a twenty-mile race for the championship of the world, between Miss Cook of California and Mrs. Robinson of London. Mrs. Robinson fainted at the end of the fourth mile. Miss Cook rode two miles further, and was declared the winner.

The Preventive and Antidotal Power of Dr. Holman's Ague and Liver Pad.—As a preventive of any disease that attacks the vitals, the pad is worth many times its weight in gold. It is impossible to compute the value of a discovery which, without dosing, may be absolutely relied upon to prevent the most dangerous maladies. Nothing is truer than the old saying, that "Prevention is better than cure."

Michael Quinn, who was sent to jail for an assault on Wm. H. Weeden in Berkeley, R. I., died Sunday morning, it is alleged of injuries inflicted by Weeden and his son, in resisting the assault. The Weedens have been arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Delicate Ladies! Who have that tired and all gone feeling, and don't like to be disturbed, will continue to be troubled with this complaint until they renew their impure blood. Sulphur Bitters will cause new and rich blood to course through every artery and vein in the human system. See another column.

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

American Ladies. The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I nevare see before." all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 14, 1881.

Declined, Without Thanks.

The number of persons who affect to believe that newspaper managers in what is termed "the country" are able to get on without brains, seems to be on the increase. The publisher of a daily paper outside of the large cities receives every day by mail the most ridiculous propositions to occupy his advertising columns without payment of money. Books of no sort of value are offered in exchange for an advertisement worth five dollars. Exhibitions in which "the public have an interest" are regarded as proper subjects for extended notices, couched in the most extravagant language—the "copy" being kindly furnished by the managers of the show. All kinds of wares, patented articles and nameless commodities, are offered in the way of trade for advertising; but a few lines of the circular serves to show what is coming, and the waste-basket teems with this kind of paper-stock.

Occasionally we see that some contemporary has permitted himself to be sold by some one of these men of assurance, who appreciate advertising, but not the necessity of paying for it; but their "efforts" are rarely seen in a paper whose circulation is worth anything to the advertiser, because the average newspaper manager in these days, in order to successfully conduct his business, must necessarily possess far more gumption than the sponge who seeks to occupy his advertising columns is apt to give him credit for; and yet this nuisance appears to be steadily on the increase.

The Maine Election.

A special election for representative in Congress, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Congressman Frye, (elected United States senator,) was held in the second district of Maine on Monday. Ex-Gov. Dingley was the republican candidate, his opponents being Judge Gilbert, greenbacker, and Mr. Eustis, prohibitionist. The democrats had a candidate, Mr. Reed, in the field up to a week before the election, when he was withdrawn by the democratic managers, in favor of Gilbert; but the aforesaid managers were not able to hand over the goods, the returns showing that many of the democrats abstained from voting, while many who did vote threw their ballots for Dingley. The district gives a republican majority of over 5000, against 1476 on the governor vote last year.

Gen. Burnside Dead.

Gen. A. E. Burnside died suddenly at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning, at his residence in Bristol, R. I. He had been slightly unwell for two or three days, but was in the city the previous evening. The immediate cause of Gen. Burnside's death was spasms of the heart. A telephone message from the general's house summoned Senator Anthony and Dr. Millar from Providence, but before the telephone connection was broken a message came that the general was dead. Gov. Littlefield, Senator Anthony, Representatives Chase and Aldrich, and other personal friends, immediately started for Bristol.

The President.

The reports from Long Branch on the 13th were more encouraging than for many days. The President slept finely on the previous night, and all the symptoms continued favorable up to noon. At about eleven o'clock he sent for the surgeons, who hurried to him, only to find that he wished to be placed in a reclining chair, which wish was complied with, and he sat up for a short time, with no ill effects.

News and Notes.

The reform club of Groveland, Mass., will have a grand anniversary celebration at Balch's grove in that town on the 21st inst., at which all the reform clubs in Essex county, Mass., will be represented, and several of those in Maine and New Hampshire. Speakers are announced to be present from Portsmouth and Dover, N. H., and Lowell, Lawrence, Lynn, Boston and Haverhill, Mass. Good music will be provided.

Those who are desirous of cultivating their voices will be pleased to learn that Mr. John O'Neill of Boston, who stands very high as a teacher of ability, judgment and thorough musical education, will receive private pupils this fall. He has engaged pleasant rooms at 146 Tremont street, and began Sept. 5th. Those who know the good work already achieved by Mr. O'Neill will consider this a rare opportunity to avail themselves of this gentleman's conscientious direction and advice.

A St. Louis despatch states that the train robbers at Glendale expected to get $160,000 telegraphed for in cipher by the Armours, $125,000 of which was to pay the purchase money of the property known as Cook's pasture, purchased by Charles Merriam of Boston of James W. Cook and Bernard Donnelly of Kansas City. This money, however, was paid over on Wednesday, the 7th inst., when the deed was filed, and went through from St Louis on Tuesday night. If the robbers were expecting such a haul, they were just one train behind.

John Foley of the New York Herald fell Monday morning while playing lawn tennis at John Russell Young's cottage at Long Branch, and received severe injuries about the head.

At Concord, Mass., Monday, James A. McQuilkin, a pretended physician, who resides in Cambridge, was found guilty of fraudulently obtaining $46 for a worthless bottle of medicine from Mrs. Wheeler of Acton, nearly eighty years old, and was fined $100 and costs.

Forty armed and disguised men broke into a house belonging to three brothers named Mahoney, near Knockagre, Ireland, Sept. 11th. The band left the Mahoneys for dead, having shot and wounded them. The cause of the outrage is attributed to trade jealousy.

The Loo Choo difficulty between China and Japan is becoming serious. China asserts sovereignty over the islands, and the Chinese and Japanese press both assert the right of their respective countries to their possession. It is now stated that armaments made by China are in view of a possible contest with Japan. Additions to the Chinese fleet are daily expected from England. Arms and ammunition continue to arrive, and the coast defences are being strengthened.

Terrible typhoons are reported as having recently occurred in China. Many ships suffered grevious damage and loss of life. Another severe earthquake has occurred at Manila.

The best authorities say it is utterly impossible to tell anything about the probable result of the approaching Ohio election. There is no enthusiasm for either the republican or the democratic ticket, and it will create little surprise if Foster be elected by 20,000, or Bookwalter by 30,000, majority. It seems to be one of the most offish of all the off years. —Post.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performing all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. 1s9

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be presented at Music hall this evening, by Anthony & Ellis' Ideal company. Each season the enterprising managers and new attractions, and seek to improve what was already nearly perfect. Topsy, the girl that growed, is given by Miss Minnie Foster, whose songs, dances and banjo solos are nightly greeted with immense applause. Little Lottie Burke as Eva gives a fine piece of child acting, and Mr. T. H. Dorne as Uncle Tom portrays the faithful old slave to the life. The closing tableau, "The Rock of Ages, or Eva in Heaven," is said to be touching and beautiful. The popular low prices which have made this management so successful are still in vogue, and with seats at 25, 35 and 50 cents no one will be obliged to stay at home.

FUN ON THE BRISTOL.

On Thursday evening, at Music hall, Jarrett & Rice's "Fun on the Bristol" party will give an entertainment. The piece is one of those called by the profession "of the Tourists class," but we consider it more amusing than the Tourists. The Boston Post says of it:

The amount of fun which the ten or dozen actors and actresses of Jarrett & Rice's party create in about two hours and a-half, in the presentation of the musical comedy, "Fun on the Bristol, or, a Night on the Sound," is something enormous. The piece is in three acts, and there is a straight story, although it is slight and unimportant. One cares very little about the plot when shaking his sides with laughter over the pranks and oddities of the ten or a dozen people aforesaid. The piece fairly bristles with comical situations and business, and in its musical parts draw upon the whole range of music, from "Lucia" to Harrigan & Hart's latest song. It is as impossible to describe the performance as it is to "draw a diagram of a joke," and a good idea of of it can only be had from witnessing it.

AROUND HOME.

The north mill pond was very powerful Monday afternoon, and Tuesday.

Sword-fishing has been one of the features of sport for yachting parties this season, and several of the government vessels cruising in the waters where these fish abound have found a source of recreation in securing some of them. These fish extend over a large area of the ocean, and have been abundant and correspondingly cheap this fall.

On Monday afternoon Matthew Johnson, a lad ten years of age, son of Peter Johnson, fell into the dock off Commercial wharf, but was quickly drawn from the water by persons near at hand. The little fellow didn't care much about his ducking, but manifested great anxiety for his hat.

The British schooner Minnie Currie, Crowell master, sailed on Tuesday for Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, to load firewood for C. E. Walker & Co. of this city. The Minnie Currie brought in a cargo of railroad sleepers, salt fish and wood, from the British provinces; the sleepers were consigned to the Eastern railroad, the wood was bought by C. E. Walker & Co., and the fish, which was of excellent quality, was sold by the master in lots at four cents a pound.

Among the odds and ends of an antique furniture store in this city there is an old barber's chair, made by lengthening out the legs and constructing a head-rest to a substantial mahogany arm-chair that doubtless graced the parlor of one of the merchant princes of Portsmouth a century ago. The chair of itself is a desirable relic of a long-gone generation. But the one specially-interesting fact, well authenticated, in the history of the old piece of furniture, is that New England's greatest statesman, Daniel Webster, used to sit in it regularly every few days during his residence in Portsmouth, to be shaved. The chair is still in a good state of preservation, and its owner does not seem to attach any particular importance to the fact that the Sage of Marshfield has often reposed between its sturdy arms.

This is the last day on which four per cent can be saved on the payment of taxes. See advertisement.

The store of Frank E. Dearborn, on Market street, is being enlarged by an addition in the rear corresponding with that recently made to Mr. John P. Sweetser's premises. In excavating for the foundations an excellent quality of building gravel was struck, and all which it was necessary to remove was gladly hauled off without charge by persons needing it.

While the steamer Naumkeag was towing a schooner down river on Tuesday a collision of the two vessels took place, the steamer's smokestack and steam pipe being damaged thereby. The tug made a berth at Pier wharf to repair. One of her crew was slightly scalded by the escaping steam.

Herbert C. Taft, station agent at Greenland, has resigned his position, to take effect next Saturday. Mr. Taft goes to Waltham, Mass., to fill the same position he has occupied at Greenland.

Shows are coming along quite liberally, for the commencement of the season. At Music hall on Monday next the "Kerry Gow" will be presented by Joseph Murphy and his company. Of this entertainment the Worcester (Mass.) Spy says: "'Kerry Gow,' as presented by Joseph Murphy's combination, is one of the brightest, prettiest, and most interesting, if not the brightest, prettiest, and most interesting, of the Irish plays of the present day. The action is excellent, the dialogue as bright and crisp as a new banknote, and situations just varied enough to keep the audience constantly interested. It is not only purely an Irish drama, but it is a pure Irish drama. Mr. Murphy's reputation here was made several seasons ago, but he seems to improve on more extended acquaintance. His support throughout last night was good."

The two children of Mr. Joseph J. Leavitt, proprietor of the Hampton Beach hotel, were baptised at the beach on Sunday last by Rev. M. Angelo Dougherty of West Newbury, Mass.

Phillips academy at Exeter opens its fall term with 183 students, ninety-two being new comers. New Hampshire has fifty-one; Massachusetts, thirty-eight; New York, twenty-four; Maine, sixteen; Pennsylvania, nine; Ohio, six; Connecticut, five; Vermont, four; California, four; New Jersey, three; Illinois, three; Delaware, Texas, Indiana and Minnesota, two each; Rhode Island, Alabama, Louisiana, Iowa, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Missouri, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina and District of Columbia, one each. The Chinese have all withdrawn.

Mr. John Hutchins of York recently cut on the Moody place in that town two very fine spars for the schooner Mary Willey.

Mr. Samuel Dixon of Eliot is purchasing potatoes in Eliot, York and Kittery, and shipping them to market by rail from Kittery depot.

On Wednesday of last week Joseph Goodwin, of Lebanon, was thrown from a carriage in North Berwick, receiving injuries from which he died Saturday.

Several schooner loads of wood are being shipped from Marshall's wharf at York harbor to Boston and elsewhere. The price paid for wood is $8 a cord, delivered on the wharf.

The "land fever" has had quite a run in York lately. Messrs. Edward S. & George A. Marshall have bought of Joseph G. Swett the point of land opposite the Marshall house, containing about twelve acres; they will construct a road through the tract, and lay it off into building lots. A wealthy lady of Boston has bought a half-acre of land at the harbor, paying therefor $1000, for building on; and several Boston gentlemen have bought of David Sewall two acres farther up the river, for $300, also intending to build. Mr. Evans, lessee of the Thompson house at Union Bluff this season, has bought three acres of the "Hutchins lot," near "roaring rock," and will put up a large hotel before another season opens. All these transactions have taken place within a week.

Capt. "Sim" Nickerson of Newburyport, Mass., who for several seasons past has had charge of the boats of the Marshall house at York harbor, and sailed the yacht Ceylon in connection with that hotel, early in the season this year slightly scratched his hand with a fishhook while out with a party. The hand soon swelled and became very painful, and about a week after receiving the hurt Capt. Nickerson went to the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston for treatment, and was not able to return before the season closed; one finger had to be taken off, and we do not know as he is yet discharged from the hospital. He was a great favorite with the guests of the Marshall house, and shortly before the end of the season a liberal purse was raised by them for his benefit. The yacht was sailed after his enforced departure by Capt. George Low of York.

The farmers in the western part of York county have generally raised satisfactory crops this season. The hay crop is a good one, and was less damaged by the weather than was feared. Of potatoes the yield is very large, the quality being very superior; but the rot is becoming unpleasantly prominent. Barley, rye and oats, have all done well; barley has yielded from thirty-five to forty bushels an acre, but ripened so late that no attempt has been made to raise the usual after-crop of turnips. E. C. Spinney, of Kittery, is credited with raising the best barley in the western part of the county this year, his crop being estimated at 400 bushels. Leonard C. Cook, at "Castle hill," Kittery, also made a good showing on barley. A small quantity of wheat was sown by various persons, and generally yielded well. Chas. C. Barrell, of York, has raised large crops of the different kinds of grain this year—the largest in York, it is said. A large number of pear trees which Mr. Barrell set out two years ago have borne abundantly this year. The pear crop throughout York, Kittery and Eliot is very heavy. The apple crop of York is very fair—indeed, large, for an "off year."

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

Creating a Mercantile Marine.

The way the French have taken of creating a mercantile marine justifies itself by its success. Every ship built for French registry receives a premium from the treasury. If she be built in French dock-yards, the premium is double. Every year she sails under the French flag, she receives a subsidy proportional to her tonnage. In this way, a very moderate outlay on the part of the government has caused a rapid development in ship-building. One British builder has established a ship-yard in France in order to get the advantage of the double premium. In ten years time, French goods will be carried in French bottoms only, and the French carrying-trade will be in the hands of their own people, instead of those of the English, Norwegians and Italians. Other countries might do well to copy this bit of legislation.

Naval Affairs.

Captain K. R. Breese, U. S. N., died in Newport, R. I., on the 13th inst., of angina pectoris. He entered the service Nov. 6th, 1846, and had an excellent war record. His last command was the Pensacola, flag-ship of the Pacific squadron, from which he was ordered home on sick leave in 1880.

The Alliance arrived at Hammerfest, Norway, Sept. 12th, for coal; all well. She had been to eighty degrees north on her search for the Jeannette, and was to start for Spitzbergen again on the 16th.

Thirteen corporations in Fall River, Mass., running twenty-one mills, pay their employes by the week, and the system works well. The men say it rids them of the credit plan of buying goods, and they can get them cheaper by paying cash. The Spinners' Union asks the other companies to do likewise.

Portland, Me., is rejoicing over a reduction in the rate of taxation this year to $23.50 on $1,000, instead of $25.50, the rate of last year. This is the lowest rate since 1864. By the sale of its interest in the Portland & Rochester railroad, the city saw its way to begin to pay off its debt about a year ago, and has improved it will.

The September number of "Andrews' Bazar" surpasses any previous number. In addition to its regular contents, with this number is presented a lithographic plate representing Mrs. Garfield, the Empress of Austria, the Queen of Spain, the Princess of Wales, the Queen of Italy and the Princess Louise attired in the latest Parisian fall costumes. This costly feature is an earnest of the expressed purpose of the publishers to so perfect "Andrews' Bazar" as to make it emphatically the best paper of its class extent. We would advise our readers to examine the handsome premium offers also made in this number. Published by The Queen Publishing Company, W. R. Andrews, manager, New York, to whom ten cents can be sent for sample copy.

General B. F. Butler!

Still lives, and so do hundreds of others who have been cured of rheumatism and neuralgia, by the great blood purifier Sulphur Bitters. Send for testimonials.

—"You just take a bottle of my medicine," said a quack doctor to a consumptive, "and you'll never cough again." "Is it so fatal as that?" gasped the consumptive.

The effects after taking Adamson's Botanic Balsam are a soothing and controlling influence over any cough or cold, promoting rest, allaying the tickling sensation in the throat, and causing a healthy expectoration.

—"And you love me better than anybody else?" said she. "Yes, dearest." "And you wouldn't think any more of me if I was worth a million dollars? and if I was a rich heiress you wouldn't want to marry me any more than you do now?" "No, darling." He doesn't call this lying; he calls it courting.

He Suffered for 35 Years.

GUILFORD, CT., May 15th, 1868.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

G. H. RICHARDSON.

PADUCAH, KY., May 10th, 1867.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

F. T. GILLILAND, Late Lieut. U. S. A.

—The trouble about taking a medicine warranted to cure all diseases is that it may not know exactly what is wanted of it, and in that case it will go fooling around in the system trying to cure you of some disease that you have not got.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effect.

Second.

Third.

Fourth.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Bucolic Scoundrels.

A curious case of youthful depravity has just been unearthed in Hinsdale. On the 13th of July last Sheriff Rice of Keene went to Boston and employed Wiggin and Wood, the well-known detectives, in behalf of William B. Adams of Hinsdale, who had been the object of some strange persecutions. Adams is a wealthy farmer living about a mile and a half from Hinsdale on the Connecticut river. His troubles began in July, 1880, when he had two mowing-machine knives stolen, and a nut taken from his wagon. On the 24th of April this year his barn was burned, and the flames communicated to an adjoining wood lot of 100 acres. Mr. Adams was a sufferer financially to the extent of about $4000. Later in the season three tons of hay which he had "in cock" was taken and thrown into a neighboring brook, his potato patch was dug up, his tobacco patch demolished, fences torn up, fowls stolen and other similar depredations committed, until he was forced to put the matter into the hands of the detectives. This was about two months ago. The investigation which ensued led to the arrest on Monday night, the 12th inst., of George Blackmer, Edward Blackmer and Martin Elmer, on a warrant by Sheriff Rice and Detective Wiggin at Keene. It seems that a man named Eldredge Blackmer, and his two sons, Edward and George, had once lived on a farm owned by Adams, and quarrelled with him. Martin Elmer was in the same predicament. They had therefore sworn to be even with Adams, and committed the depredations above specified, which they have confessed. From information given by them a missing harness was found in the woods, cut up into sixty pieces; also the wheels taken from a wagon, in a brook. They also confess to breaking into a house two years ago, and one of them owns up to having stolen a watch from a sick man he was taking care of, after he was dead. From information given by him the watch has been found and identified. The young men were arraigned on the 12th, waived examination, and were held in $7000 each. They are all proud of their achievements, and boast of having Indian blood in their veins.

The most popular fatigue suit for fall wear is a box-pleated hunting jacket and looped tunic, of blue, dark green or maroon flannel serge, drawn up high on the hips over a skirt of lawn tennis striped suiting, made plain as a rule, but sometimes trimmed with a two-inch wide box-pleated ruche around the bottom. The collar, cuffs, belt, and pocket pouch are of the striped stuff.

Gents—I have been very low, and have tried everything, to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many, I concluded to give them a trial. I did, and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLER.

—Daughter of a speculative builder visiting her parents: "O, papa, what charming little houses you have been building on the river bank! I have a thousand minds to take one and settle there with the children till winter." Parent (embracing her with parental emotion:) "Don't do it—they are houses to sell, not to live in."

—An old Connecticut deacon once took to church with him a young man, educated, refined and a lover of nature. The autumnal hues were at the height of their glory, and the young man called the attention of his companion to a beautiful clump of trees. The staggering response that the old deacon gave was: "I never see trees on Sunday."

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

—"My dear," said a fond New Haven mother to her child, "Why do you not play with the little Jones boy?" "Oh, he's horrid. He says bad, naughty words, just as papa does."

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I never see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 15, 1881.

The President.

The President appeared to make a further improvement in strength on the 14th inst. He sat up in a reclining chair for an hour and a half, and his pulse and temperature did not seem to be affected.

Laconia's Indignation.

An enthusiastic mass meeting was held at Laconia on the night of the 13th inst., to express the indignation of the community over the defeat of the Lake Shore railroad charter at the recent session of the legislature. The meeting was addressed by prominent citizens, and great interest was manifested. A series of resolutions censuring the speaker of the house of representatives, the chairman of the railroad committee, and members in general "for being controlled by the railroad monopoly at the expense of the will of the people," were passed. It was further resolved that all previous party ties and affiliations be laid aside, and that only general-railroad-law men be recognized at the polls. The resolutions were unanimously adopted, with great applause. A political organization upon this issue is shortly to be formed in Laconia. It would appear that the "railroad monopoly" has got a pretty fast hold of the Laconia folks, when they are so anxious to take from the people the enormous power of "eminent domain," and hand it over to the railroad corporations.

News and Notes.

A Tucson (Arozona) dispatch of the 13th says: "News from Fort Thomas tonight is that the White Mountain Indians have gained control of the canon commanding Fort Apache. Should this be true, in spite of Gen. Willcox's active and energetic movements, the situation is undoubtedly very serious. Prospectors and mining men all say the idea of a concentrated movement among the Indians is positive, and sooner or later the Apaches will surely join the White Mountain band. The situation has assumed a serious phase. It is believed that Gov. Fremont will convene the legislature in extra session upon his arrival."

Edward Smith and David Tyler, two of the crew of the schooner F. W. Homans of Gloucester, Mass., were lost in the fog Sept. 7th, while visiting trawls on the fishing grounds. After being in the dory twenty-four hours they were picked up by the schooner Daniel Steinmann, from Antwerp for Boston, and were landed at the latter port on the 11th inst.

The body of John Davis, aged sixty-five years, employed at the Blackinton mill, was found in the river at North Adams, Mass., Sept. 13th. He had been missing since the previous Saturday.

Mrs. Hiram Copley, mother of Addie Stevens, who was killed at a railroad crossing in Westfield, Mass., several weeks ago, has brought suit against the New Haven & Northampton railroad for $5,000.

On Saturday, Sept. 10th, about midnight, armed men surprised the jail at Dardinelle, Arkansas, took out John Taylor and J. T. Bruce, charged with murder, dragged them through the streets, and hanged them to a tree. Samuel Rooney, the murderer of John Smith, was taken out of jail at Orringsville, Ky., Monday morning, the 12th, by thirty-two masked men, and hanged. The Chicago & Alton train robbers, confined at Independence, Mo., were on the 13th quietly removed to Kansas City for fear of an attempt at lynching.

The labor troubles at New Orleans are serious, and many riotous demonstrations were reported on the 13th inst. Several persons were injured, and many pistol shots were fired by the mobs in the streets. The mayor officially notified acting Gov. McEnery that he was unable to preserve the peace, and requested state aid. The governor issued a proclamation putting the city under martial law. Now will be a good chance for the democratic papers to do a little howling about "bayonet rule."

The sisters in connection with St. Thomas' church, Lawrence, Mass., have undertaken the erection and maintenance of a public hospital, and it is proposed to erect on Broadway, near St. Thomas' church, a suitable edifice of brick, to cost in the neighborhood of $5,000, and capable of future enlargement. The sisters are canvassing the city for subscriptions toward the building fund, and are meeting with a cheerful response from the citizens generally.

The great St. Leger stakes at Doncaster, Eng., were won by the American horse Iroquois on the 24th inst.

According to advices received in England on the 14th inst. a fearful typhoon has visited Shanghai, China, driving over 200 vessels of all nationalities on shore, uprooting trees, and levelling with the ground whole lines of houses. During the storm, which lasted barely an hour, over ten inches of rain fell. Hundreds of native sampans sank with their occupants. About £600,000 worth of tea stored for shipment was washed away and lost. A portion of the Sailor's Home was blown away.

New Hampshire Items.

The great west cannot boast of possessing all the enterprise, even in those lines of business in which it confessedly leads. New Hampshire can get up a stage robbery as well as Arizona or Texas, and did get up one on Tuesday, the 13th inst., when the stage from the Mountain house in Jackson, while returning from the Glen house at about three o'clock in the afternoon, was stopped by three highwaymen, and robbed. Among the passengers was a Mr. Andrews of Boston, Mass., from whom the thieves took a gold watch and $300 in money. Another account, from Glen station, says: "A gentleman named Andrews, together with his family, was robbed by highwaymen this afternoon of $300, a gold watch and jewelry, while on their way from the Glen house to the Thorn Mountain house. Later this afternoon an attempt was made on the Glen stage going up. The coach was fired into, but the driver whipped up his horses and escaped. Officers are in search of the robbers."

The jury in the case of John M. Nutter of Dover, who was run over and injured on the Boston & Maine railroad, awarded him $7,617.92 damages. The road appealed, and tried to have the verdict set aside. This was refused at the recent law term of court at Concord, and the road must now pay the award and costs.

The house and two barns of Joseph Hurlburt, of Dalton, were burned by lightning Tuesday night, the 13th inst., with a large lot of hay, grain, live stock, and most of the furniture of the house. Loss $8000; no insurance.

At the Weirs, on the 13th inst., Frank Damond fell from a hand-car and received fatal injuries.

Sam Hill, alias William Smith, charged with placing an obstruction on the railroad track near Ashland bridge, in October, 1874, was examined in Ashland on the 12th inst., and sent to Haverhill jail in default of $800 bonds, to await the November term of court.

Benjamin F. Buswell, for the past thirty years an employe of the Concord railroad as section boss and yard master, was killed at Nashua, Sept. 13th, by being run over by a freight train. Both legs were crushed, and death ensued from bleeding in about five minutes. He was fifty-five years of age, and leaves a widow and children.

A first class road is being built from Pemigewasset river to the Ellsworth timber lands, in anticipation of the speedy construction of the new Pemigewasset Valley railroad. Many thousand acres of fine timber land will be opened up. Contracts are being made with many lumbermen very early, giving promise of good business the coming winter.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients took in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. tu29

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., Mr. John Dwyer, an elderly man who lived at No. 78 Market street, was coming into town from a place owned by him near the Woodbury estate, and at the Creek went on the railroad track. When near the "know-nothing" station, not far from the shoe factory, two trains came along—the 6:40 train from this city for Boston, and the 4:40 train from Boston for this city, and it is supposed that he became confused, and in avoiding one train stepped in front of the other, by which he was struck and instantly killed. One of his legs was cut off, and the other leg and one arm nearly severed; one side of his body was also shockingly mangled. The remains were brought in to the station on the train, and conveyed to his late home in an express wagon.

FUN ON THE BRISTOL.

Jarrett & Rice's "Fun on the Bristol" company will give an entertainment at Music hall this evening. If the show is anything near as good as it was last season, all who attend will have "two hours and a half of incessant fun," as the advertisement promises. Mr. John F. Sheridan, as the "Widow O'Brien," is immense.

THE TRADE OF YORK.

A representative of our paper, accompanied by a representative of the Journal, visited York recently, and endeavored to ascertain the facts relating to the decline of the trade of that town with our city. From numerous interviews we select one held with a prominent citizen and town official. "The fact is," said he, "we once did the most of our trading with Portsmouth, but of late the thing has changed. We sell our wood at Boston and to the Eliot brick yards, and the beach visitors make a good home market for our hay and much of our early summer produce. Then we ship potatoes now by rail from Kittery in the early fall. The Dover dealers seem anxious for our custom; they advertise more liberally than your folks do, and the women folks go there for millinery and dry goods, for they are kind o' scared of the cars on Portsmouth bridge, if they drive a horse with any spirit. [Try some of this cider, sir; it wont hurt.] Then again are the plaguey tolls. Think of a man paying all the way from sixty to seventy-five cents a time to go in and out of Portsmouth, and at the same time run the risk of having your carriage broken and horse spoiled. The fact is your people must give us lower tolls, or what is better, have a free bridge where the trains of cars will not frighten horses, and your dealers must not charge us poor people of York watering-place prices when we go to Portsmouth—though we do not, some of us, go there once now-a-days where we used to go six times." The representative pondered upon the situation, and was thus again informed of what he had before been told by many others from the Scotland region of York.

AROUND HOME.

Morse & Ilsley will sell at auction today, on the premises, the grocery store, house and land of H. C. Taft at the Eastern railroad station in Greenland—one of the best chances for investment offered for some time. See advertisement.

There was a good audience at Music hall to see "Uncle Tom's Cabin" as presented by Anthony & Ellis' Ideal company last Wednesday evening, and the entertainment gave good satisfaction. The company is a good one, and deserves patronage.

Mr. Elvin Newton has returned from Rye, where he has been engaged during the summer in furnishing the hotels with fish. All the hotels are closed, but several of the private boarding-houses are still open, and have a good number of boarders. Mr. Newton is getting his salt and preparing his gear for fall fishing, and will go out to "Lunging" island, Isles of Shoals, next week, with ten men, taking out seines for mackerel and trawls for cod. They will return about the 1st of December.

The late Capt. Kidder Randolph Breese, U. S. N., who died at Newport, R. I., Sept. 13th, after an honorable service of thirty-five years in the navy, was during his boyhood for several years a pupil of the late Wm. C. Harris of this city—one of the most faithful and successful instructors the city ever had—young Breese's father, himself an eminent naval officer, and an aide to Commodore Perry on the flag-ship Lawrence in the battle of Lake Erie, being at the time stationed at this navy yard.

The team which was wrecked by a collision with a train at Salmon Falls on the 10th inst., as previously reported, was owned by H. R. Stoddard of this city, and the carriage at the time of the accident contained Clement W. Waterhouse and a lady. The carriage was badly shattered, but the occupants and horse escaped serious harm.

About forty barrels of herring were taken in the Mitchell weir at the mouth of the harbor, on the 14th inst.

The handsome span of gray horses owned by the city, with a heavy team attached, went overboard into the dock near Short street on Tuesday afternoon, 13th inst., while at work there.—Times.

That clever Irish comedian, Joseph Murphy, began a brief engagement last evening at the Grand Opera house, before a large and delighted audience, who came to witness his rendition of Dan O'Hara, in Fred Marsden's purest of all Irish dramas, entitled "Kerry Gow." It is a story of every-day life in Ireland, and is full of fun as well as touching pathos. His songs, which are all new and original, and the dances he indulged in, were enthusiastically received and redemanded. The horseshoeing scene, the race horse, and the carrier pigeons in their flight with the news of the race, were very interesting.—New York Telegram.

At Music hall next Monday evening.

The steamer Allentown, Swasey master, arrived on the 14th inst. from Philadelphia with 1668 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker.

Charles E. Clark, who was arrested in this city on Tuesday, charged with being a deserter from Fort Preble, Portland, not being the man wanted was released the same evening.

The old sheers at the navy yard, which have long been unsafe to trust heavy weights upon, were taken down on Wednesday of this week, or rather were tumbled down, for the supports were detached and the sheers allowed to fall overboard, without ceremony.

The gas-pipes on Atkinson street are being overhauled. In digging to get at the pipes, the workmen in many places come upon stonework, probably the foundations of houses which were destroyed by the great fire of 1813.

The steamer Gen. Bartlett made an excursion from Haverhill and Newburyport to the Shoals on Wednesday, the 14th inst., and had quite a good party. This probably ends the excursions to that point for this year.

The foundations for a new safe for the National Mechanics & Traders' bank are being put in, under the direction of Mr. Joseph R. Holmes. The granite used comes by rail from Biddeford, Me.

Mr. E. B. Goodall, who was formerly connected with the Faith Mission work in Portsmouth, is expected to conduct services at the People's Free church in this city next Sunday. Mr. Goodall has many friends in this city who will be greatly pleased to hear his frank and earnest manner of speaking.—Mirror.

A neat summer house has been built over the old hay scales in front of the residence of J. S. H. Frink, Esq., at Greenland parade.

Some of the French residents in town got up a ball last Friday evening at the town hall, and doubtless had other parties let them alone would have had a pleasant, quiet time. But as the ball was public, of course those having money to pay for their tickets were admitted. The result was a free fight, and several persons of both factions got pretty well bruised up. While the row was in full blast the lights were extinguished, and the crowd driven into the street, where the fight was continued, and we learn that revolvers were brought into use, although no one was injured by the shooting. In view of the present ill feeling against the French by nearly all classes, we think it would be well in the future not to allow them the use of the town hall, as it seems a pity for the building to be used for free fights after so soon being repaired, as such actions cannot fail to injure it.—Newmarket Advertiser.

Flashes of Fashion.

[From Erich's Fashion Quarterly.]

White toilets will be worn until frost.

Crinolets are bustles, with a new name.

Dolmans will be the leading fall wraps.

Basques and jackets are still fashionable.

Shoulder capes and fichus will be much worn.

Loose-wristed long gloves will be worn more than ever.

Ombre plushes will be used as trimmings on costumes.

Flowers are used on evening toilets to an unlimited extent.

All costumes and suits are composed of two or several fabrics.

There will be a rapid demand for dolmans and dolman-sacques this fall.

Dolmans in the sacque-visite shape, and dolman manties will lead the styles for early fall.

Some of the new plush goods have immensely long pile cut in irregular depths to form the figures.

Horse-hair cloth, mohair, steel and whalebone-stiffened crinolets, will be worn until cold weather.

Low quartered buttoned half boots will be worn, until the middle of September or first of October.

Lawn tennis suiting in gay stripes will be worn as skirts for fatigue suits until the middle of November.

The popular out-door sports for the months of September, October, and November, will be archery and lawn tennis.

Sleeves are long, demi-long, or three-quarter lengths, according to fancy; shirred, or puffed, as the wearer prefers.

The hair is most fashionable when dressed low and close, but women with large necks and flat faces should wear it high or off the neck.

White and cream-colored mull scarfs, with the ends edged with fine cream-colored (imitation) Mechlin, Valenciennes, and Breton laces, trim English straws for early fall wear.

Plush chenille fringes, with each small strand tipped with one fine cut jet bead, are brought out to be used with the plush bands, shirrings, and pleatings that trim cloaks and costumes.

White Surah, combined with white satin merveilleux, and trimmed with white Spanish lace, white satin bows, and Rhine-crystal ornaments, makes the handsomest of all white evening toilets.

Flowers of the fall season, particularly ox-eye daisies, small sunflowers, golden-rod and yellow roses, will trim many of the rough-and-ready straw hats and bonnets for September and October.

Kissing in all Ages.

When William, the stout Duke of Burgundy, saw his fair and haughty cousin, the Princess Matilda, riding by, he was instantly smitten with the pangs of love. But Matilda, like a true woman, refused to accept the homage of the eye. When the bold wooer rushed forward and kissed her before the whole train—she was won. History is full of instances of the conquering prowess of the kiss. When Walter Raleigh received back his soiled jacket from the capacious queen, the kiss implanted on the spot where her foot rested gained him the favor that years of sighing and devotion had not won the handsome, proud Leicester. When the poor student in Nuremburg fell on his knees and avowed to the royal princess that he had wagered with his companions that she would kiss him in the public place, the guerdon of his temerity was the presentation of this royal Gretchen's rosy lips, and the smack resounded in the ears of the whole corps of stupefied young reprobates. It is depriving womanhood of half its joy and all its mastery to remit the kiss. It should be taught to boys with their first pistol, and be made the subject of prizes at schools. Mothers should encourage it, daughters should practice it—on their brothers—and no man should be considered eligible who cannot kiss in all the moods and tenses. The poetic side of the question has been merely touched here. The practical opens up a field too exhaustive for present treatment, but it need only be suggested that kissing properly encouraged would be a means of enforcing temperance, since neither coffee, beans nor peppermint could disguise from a well-grounded maiden the flavor of such tipple as might have defiled the masculine lips.—Philadelphia Times.

Greek Brigands.

As brigandage is a regular business, a little capital for the purchase of arms is required. Papers are drawn up, in which the shares of the captain and the men are specified. Sometimes routes are let by one band to another for a percentage. It proving exceptionally good in one case, the parties came very near bringing the affair into court on a lawsuit. Death to the captive is almost certain if the ransom is not paid. A ransom which was on its way from Constantinople was stolen from the messenger by another band, but the captive was killed all the same. A farmer having two children captured could send the money only for one, and the boy was returned. He begged a delay, but the band was on the move and could not wait. The little girl was found with a stab in her heart and wild flowers in her hand. And yet, strange to say, these robbers profess an odd sort of piety. They never drink wine, never neglect their religious duties, always cross themselves before eating, and never omit the numerous fast days the Greek church insists upon. Some are well read; one leading scoundrel always travels about with a small library.

—A Boston man really and truly saw the sea serpent the other day, but he wouldn't for the world own up to it, as folks would certainly set him down as a drunkard.

—A little girl joyfully assured her mother the other day that she had found out where they made horses; she had seen a man finishing one; "He was nailing on his last foot."

Skill in the Workshop.

To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If long hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before some organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and his whole constitution be built up to a better working condition.

—An Illinois paper asserted that "there is one jackass in our state legislature," and before noon of the day on which the item was published, the editor received a note from every member of the house, including the speaker, telling him to retract or look out for a libel suit, each member regarding it as a personal hit. The man alluded to was in the senate.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses Sold everywhere.

—It was Franklin who said: "A handsome or a rich widow is the only second-hand article that brings a first-class price."

Castoria.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—Two friends were exchanging confidences, and one of them remarked: "Nellie's a queer girl. At night she lets me hold her hand as long as I want to, but in the daytime she won't allow me even to touch it." "I can't account for it," said the other, who was not an esthete, "unless it is that she has discovered that you never wash your hands until after supper."

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Third.

Fourth.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Duties on Mineral Waters.

The appraiser of customs at the port of New York is investigating all "suspected" foreign mineral waters imported under the exemptions of the free list. The questions involves large interests and is of considerable importance to the general government, as the annual importations amount to nearly 5,000,000 bottles, and the import tax, if levied, would amount to $250,000, or probably $300,000, the present fiscal year. Consumers are also concerned, because the levy of duties would advance the price five cents a bottle. Since the enactment of the law now in force there has been a large increase in the importations of mineral waters, while at the same time the revenues from the source have fallen off to an insignificant amount, although it is alleged that at least eighty per cent of the importations are artificial, within the meaning and intent of the law, if not actually so, and are therefore subject to a duty of three cents a quart bottle and twenty-five per cent ad valorem, and in large jugs thirty per cent ad valorem. Dealers in indigenous natural waters and manufacturers of mineral waters in the United States complain "that artificial mineral waters are now being imported as natural waters to such an extent as to impair and almost destroy the trade of American citizens in natural and manufactured mineral waters in this country.

Effervescent waters, highly charged with carbonic acid gas, are suspected of artificial treatment. Apollinaris water has been examined by the official chemists of the custom house, and Kronthal, Belthal, Hartzer and others are under investigation. It appears from high chemical authority in Europe as well as in America that Apollinaris water is natural, but because it is charged with the natural gas of the spring by the employment of machinery during the bottling process the appraiser has classified it as a manufactured article, and has assessed the tax provided in such cases. The collector of customs and the attorney general of the United States have sustained the action of the appraiser. The Apollinaris company of London has appealed to the secretary of the treasury, and has retained Roscoe Conkling to present its interests.

It was found by the official chemists that the imported water does not agree in chemical analysis with the water taken from the Apollinaris spring, at Ahrweiler, Rhenish Prussia. The United States appraiser, James Q. Howard, himself a lawyer and for many years dealing with such questions during his residence abroad as United States consul, holds that the imported article has undergone at least three distinct processes of treatment, which materially affects its character—the charging, under pressure, of the natural water with carbonic acid gas, the addition of chloride of sodium, and the separation of oxide of iron during the storing of the water in reservoirs previous to bottling. The importers deny that there is any artificial treatment whatever, and claim that the additions referred to are for preserving the water, and that the separation of a certain amount of the iron from the water is purely accidental and unavoidable, it being lost in the tanks during the bottling process. The corks are saturated with a strong brine for the purpose of preserving the water, and this accounts for the presence of chloride of sodium. A former investigation by the treasury department through the secretary of state resulted in "finding no machinery at the spring for the manufacture of carbonic acid gas, the spring itself supplying more gas than is necessary for bottling the water and preserving the same amount of gas as is contained in the water while in the spring." On this report importations were permitted to come free until a few weeks ago, when the appraiser after reviewing the matter, decided that these waters are nevertheless subject to duty. Admitting that everything entering into the water is introduced just as it comes from nature, it is yet held to be the result of a process of manufacture.

The arguments turn upon the question of what is the meaning of the words of the law, "not artificial."

It is contended in behalf of the dealers in and manufacturers of domestic mineral waters that in the case of Apollinaris water certain ingredients are added, and others taken away in the process of bottling, for the purpose of giving it sparkle, improving its flavor and adding to its commercial value. The Vichy, Ems, Nassau, Seltzers, Kissingen, Fachingen, Pyrmont and Schwalbach waters are admitted to be natural because, like the water of the Saratoga springs, they are drawn directly from the springs into the bottles. It is also argued that there is a difference between the Apollinaris water which is imported in bottles and that which comes in jugs, the latter being less highly charged with carbonic acid gas than the former, for the reason that jugs would not stand the same pressure as bottles.

To this the Apollinaris company answers that the water in its spring fifty feet below the surface of the pit, from which point it is pumped, contains the same amount of carbonic acid gas as the bottled water, and that the gas which is used in charging the bottles is the natural gas which flows from the spring. This the objectors meet by saying that only the gas retained by the water as it reaches the surface can be considered an integral part of it, and the addition of any more, from whatever source it is obtained, is an artificial admixture. They also deny that saturating the corks with brine and adding a small percentage of salt, which the Apollinaris company admits it puts into the water, in any manner preserves the water, but insist that they are done in order that the salt, which amounts to one part in 10,000, shall add to the sparkle and palatableness of the water.

They also allege that Apollinaris water when taken from the spring contains iron in such quantity that it would affect its character and injure its appearance in case it should oxydize in the bottles, and that to remove the iron from the water the latter is pumped into tanks and left there until the iron has become oxydized and settled. The Apollinaris company claims that this change is unavoidable, and that the storing of the water in tanks is necessary in order that a sufficient supply of water may always be on hand in the busy season. Among the affidavits submitted in the case is that of Carl H. Schultz, who, in discussing the change made in the water by the addition of salt, says that at the spring of Neuenahr, near the Apollinaris spring, the patients are informed by pamphlet that a dose of cooking salt added to the Neuenahr water, which is much like Apollinaris, will yield Ems, a dose of soda Vichy, and a dose of Glauber salt Carlsbad water.

The case will probably come before the courts for final adjudication, as the attorney-general, in his report to the secretary of the treasury, suggested that the collector impose the tax and thus enable the importer, after paying the duty, to begin a suit for its recovery.

Delicate Ladies!

Who have that tired and all gone feeling, and don't like to be disturbed, will continue to be troubled with this complaint until they renew their impure blood. Sulphur Bitters will cause new and rich blood to course through every artery and vein in the human system. See another column.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 13th, George Murray, aged sixteen years, grandson of J. F. Murray, caterer at Lake Maranocook, Me., went out upon the lake alone in a small boat. About fifty feet from the shore he accidentally fell overboard, and was drowned. The body was recovered.

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

John Lane of Readfield, Me., a farmer of moderate means, had his pocket picked of nearly $200, on the train, while returning from the Maine state fair, Tuesday, Sept. 13th.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! se ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I nevare see before." all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 15, 1881.

The President.

The President's condition did not materially change on the 15th, so far as the ordinary reader could make out from the contradictory reports from Long Branch. He sat up three-quarters of an hour, and took some solid food. The lung trouble was apparently decreasing.

The Maine Election.

Dingley, republican, 11,091; Gilbert, greenbacker, 5,554; Reed, democrat, 1214; Eustis, prohibitionist, 66. Dingley's majority, 5173.

News and Notes.

Further details from Michigan do not lessen the magnitude of the fiery calamity. Whole families in the burnt district have been left entirely naked. A newspaper correspondent saw people on the road from Port Austin to Cass City digging for potatoes and corn that had been roasted by the fires. It was all they had left. Within thirty miles of Cass City, one hundred and twenty-five families were sleeping in the fields with no covering whatever, some being so stripped that they were ashamed to show themselves, and had sent in one or two persons to obtain supplies for three or four naked families, huddled together. The number of persons made absolutely destitute by the fires is placed at not less than 10,000.

Mr. Frye's former district having given such a bouncing majority for Ex-Gov. Dingley, Mr. Blaine feels as if he would enjoy a brief visit to Maine. Gov. Dingley, by the way, will make an excellent representative, and the delegation in the house of representatives from Maine has doubtless the ablest successor to Mr. Frye that could be selected in the district.

The Providence, R. I., police have just hunted down John McCarty, a negro, who has been a systematic burglar for years. His house was packed with stolen goods, from jewelry and silk dresses down to sheets and towels. McCarty was arrested for breaking into an Olneyville store six years ago, and when he was a boy served a term in the reform school.

Wm. Hollister, fifteen years old, son of John Hollister, was drowned at Lighthouse point, East Haven, Conn., while bathing, Thursday.

It is rumored that Vanderbilt has offered $150,000 for a piece of land in Greenville, Conn., known as Field point, and embracing 200 acres. It is directly opposite the old American Club house of Tweed fame, and has a commanding view of the sound.

A number of human skulls found at Lake Quinsigamond, Worcester, Mass., in a barrel, on the 10th inst., were claimed by Frank Farwell, a medical student, on the 12th. He said that he brought them from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York.

The annual reunion of the Poore family was held at Newburyport on the 13th inst. There were between 200 and 300 present, members of the family coming from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C., and all the New England states. Maj. Ben. Perley Poore delivered an address.

Political controversy in France is conducted much more vigorously, not to say brutally, than in England. M. Rochefort, after doing his best to ridicule M. Gambetta, in an article headed "Les Deux Christs," now abuses him as "the poisoned rat." M. Sick's name affords the malicious wit a multitude of puns, the latest of which is the identification of the supporters of M. Sick, that is to say, "les Sickaires," with "les sicaires"—that is to say, the assassins.

Herr Niemark, the German consul at Leghorn, who was recently assaulted in the carriage of a railway train going from Paris to Turin, and thrown from the carriage widdow while the train was passing through a tunnel, was not much injured. He managed to walk out of the tunnel, and has since proceeded to Turin. The guards of the train were arrested. One of them, who, when questioned, replied evasively, was marked with blood.

A great sensation has been caused at Bristol, Eng., by the discovery that a cargo of 300 tons of human bones is being discharged there to the order of a local firm engaged in the manufacture of manure. The bones were shipped from Rodesto at Constantinople, and are supposed to be the remains principally of the brave defenders of Plevna. There are complete limbs among the horrible cargo, and in some cases the hair still adheres to the skulls.

Advices from the west coast of Africa state that the king of Dahomey, with his army of Amazons, had raided and destroyed the towns of Ignano and Okepo, northwest of Abekouta. They had populations of many thousands. All who were unable to escape were brought to Abomey, the capital of Dahomey, for sacrifice at a great annual "custom."

In a hurricane on the 8th inst., off Cape Hatteras, the schooner William Whitehead, Hustis master, from Boston for Galveston, was dismasted, and schooner E. C. Evans, from Fernandina for New York, lost her sails and had two men killed by a broken spar.

The suffering in Michigan by reason of the vast conflagration in that state is most intense. Boston has organized a committee for relief. The secretary of the New York committee has visited the burnt district and reports the suffering as beyond description.

Schooner George H. Pierson of this port has been leaking badly lately, and on investigation by H. N. Andrews & Co. on Saturday, 10th inst., it was found that a swordfish had left his sword imbedded in her side. The sword had pierced a two-inch plank and six inches of solid oak rib. Capt. William Thompson, of the firm of Cunningham & Thompson, has the sword in his possession.—Gloucester Bulletin.

New Hampshire Items.

Hill's block in Tilton was damaged to the amount of $5000 by fire and water on the 14th inst.

The New Hampshire club, with ladies, went on a special train to the mountains, Sept. 14th. They stayed at Fabyan's that night, where they had a ball, and dined at Jefferson next day. The party, including invited guests, numbered about two hundred.

The old state prison property at Concord has been sold to the Construction company of Boston. It will be immediately got ready for the manufacture of railroad supplies, and will employ about two hundred men.

The State Convention of Congregationalists opened in Concord on the morning of the 14th inst.

Regarding the alleged poisoning cases at Lancaster, evidence has been found that is thought to show that Dr. Bugbee, Mr. Towne and Mrs. Towne died from the use as a medicine of whiskey in which arsenic had been placed. The officers are convinced as to the guilty party.

The benefits of thorough and judicious advertising are once more illustrated. Mr. J. G. Clark of Bangor, Me., had a homestead and other property at Wells beach, which he wished to sell at auction. The homestead was appraised at $4,000. Mr. Clark accordingly occupied large space in the Bangor Whig and the Commercial, and set forth the beauties of his estate and its surroundings in glowing colors. As a result, the homestead was sold for $10,000 to President Nathaniel G. White of the Boston & Maine railroad, and the entire estate brought $17,000.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Sept. 15th, Alderman Call in the chair:

The records of the last meeting were read. On motion of Ald. Martin, the records were so amended as to provide for the employment of Mr. Hatch as assistant of the city solicitor in all cases which have arisen or may arise against the city in connection with the Short street job. As amended, the records were approved.

A petition was received from C. E. Simpson and a large number of other business men, asking that the fountain lately placed in front of the post-office be removed to "a less conspicuous place." Laid on the table.

A petition was received from Newton Johnston and other residents on Middle street, asking the placing of a naphtha light between the houses of Mr. Mendum and Mr. Johnston. Referred to committee on street lights, to report.

David Flynn, in a communication, complained that he had been seriously inconvenienced through having no step at the front door of his house, compelling people to step up or down eighteen inches; and he asked leave to put on the sidewalk one step nine inches high. After discussion a vote was taken on the question of granting the request, and resulted as follows: Yeas—Stavers, Call, Hartshorn and Green, four; nays—Noyes, Slater, Martin, Vaughan and Caswell, five.

Voted that water be introduced into the State street and School street schoolhouses.

The city clerk gave notice that the appropriation for school houses was expended.

JOHN EDWARD HAM.

Mr. John E. Ham, whose death is recorded in another column, was of the well known firm of J. E. Ham & Co., for upwards of twenty-five years among the leading merchant tailors of our city, and advertisers in the columns of the CHRONICLE from its initial number. Mr. Ham was an exemplary citizen, an honest man, and an unflinching advocate of republican principles. He was a thorough believer in his country, first, last and always. As we have watched him for the past two years in his walk to and from his store, his step has been seen to grow feebler and his gait less steady, until last spring when physical exhaustion compelled him to take his room, from which his friends feared he would never come forth alive. But through the force of a strong will, the flickering embers of life were again rallied and he appeared among us once more, and resumed his accustomed place at the shop-board with new hopes of a lengthened lease of life. But it was only the flashing of the candle in the socket, soon to go out forever. He again became too feeble to walk to and fro, and after riding back and forth a few times, gave up to the demands of an utterly exhausted nature, that finally resulted in death. Mr. Ham was an Odd Fellow, being a member of Piscataqua Lodge, No. 6, of this city, and also a member of the Rockingham Odd Fellows' Mutual Relief Association.

TRUANT OFFICERS.

Mr. Editor: Among the laws enacted by the General Court at its last meeting, was one relating to the appointment of officers for the special duty of enforcing the laws against truancy, from which I take the following:

SECTION 1. The superintending school committee and boards of education in the several towns and cities of the state are hereby authorized to elect truant officers for said towns and cities and to fix their compensation at a reasonable rate, which compensation shall be paid by the respective towns and cities.

SECTION 3. It shall be the duty of said truant officers, under the direction of said committees, to enforce the laws of the state and the ordinances of said towns and cities, and the regulations of said committees not repugnant to law, in regard to truants and children between the ages of six and sixteen not attending school and without any regular and lawful occupation, and to compel the attendance of such children at school in obedience to law and to the regulations of said committees.

Any person who will take a walk around the city during the hours of school, avoiding the quarters where the well-to-do and wealthy live, will see abundant evidence of the need of an energetic and faithful truant officer in Portsmouth. Around the wharves, and in the back streets where poverty and children appear to be the most prominent features, he will see dozens of boys running wild, neglected by worse than worthless parents, dirty and ragged, proficient in profanity and the slang of the slums, ever ready to steal whatever can be stolen, but never attending school or doing any work—in short, making the most effective preparations for a life of crime.

Many of these boys could no doubt be developed into respectable members of society by proper training, but proper training is what they never will get in their so-called homes. The sending to the Industrial (late "Reform") school of all the boys who should be sent there, and would probably be benefitted by being sent there, would entail a very large expense on the city; for (thanks to the narrow-mindedness of the country legislators, who seem unable to grasp the fact that whatever tends to prevent crime is of equal benefit to the whole body politic,) the city or town sending young persons to the school has to pay their expenses, instead of the state at large bearing it. Yet it seems to me, looking at the question as a mere matter of dollars and cents, that it would be cheaper in the end to reform the young candidate for state prison, rather than to let him run loose until he is irretrievably ruined and his crimes have brought him before a jury. Decidedly, I hope our board of instruction will appoint a truant officer who will thin out the swarm of "Arabs" that now infest our streets. GUARD.

AROUND HOME.

Capt. Charles E. Beck, of the steamship Carondelet, running between New York and Matanzas, Mexico, has been in the city for several days, on a brief visit to the scenes of his boyhood. Like most of the other wanderers, Capt. Beck has a hearty appreciation of the merits of Old Strawberry Bank as a place of rest—a good place to come back to when circumstances allow.

The directors' car of the Eastern railroad passed to the eastward through this city on Thursday, conveying President Phillips and some of the directors to attend a meeting of the directors of the Maine Central railroad at Portland. On the return the car stopped long enough to organize the board of directors of the proprietors of Portsmouth bridge chosen at the annual meeting some time since; Ex-Gov. Goodwin was re-elected president, and Wallace Hackett clerk.

Thomas Wheeler, who shot himself after an attempt to kill Mrs. Frank Cate at Kittery, is rapidly recovering from his injuries. The prisoner still continues to assert his regret that he did not kill her.

Mr. John Dudley of Kittery, who died on the 15th inst. at the ripe old age of seventy-six years, was with one exception the last surviving member of the crew of the once famous schooner Pacific, which made the only sealing voyage to the south Atlantic ever made by a Portsmouth vessel, and was two years over it, her crew having "a mighty good sail" though they made no money on the cruise. The only survivor of the Pacific's crew is Mr. Jas. M. Locke of this city, who is still active and vigorous, and carries on the business of a painter.

The directors' car of the Eastern railroad was used to convey Secretary Hunt and Postmaster-General James to the Fabyan house this week. These gentlemen will return and stop in Portsmouth on Saturday, on the way from the mountains.

The John Downing estate on the corner of North and Northwest streets, Christian Shore, was sold at auction by Morse & Ilsley on Tuesday of this week for $1220, Mr. Hanson Hoyt being the purchaser. On Thursday the same auctioneers sold the Herbert C. Taft place at Greenland depot, Mr. Walter Littlefield buying it for $1500.

Joseph Murphy's "Kerry Gow," which so highly pleased a Portsmouth audience last season, is to be presented on Monday evening next at Music hall.

An epidemic of colds, or something of the kind, is going around just now, and many persons in this city are annoyed with it. The trouble comes on with a continued fit of sneezing, soon followed by a "tickling in the nose," bunged-up head, sore throat, cough, and ill temper.

The steamer Lookout, belonging to the United States fish commission, came into this harbor on Thursday last, and made fast to a buoy off the navy yard.

Capt. J. S. Lowry, who ran the Wentworth house steamer Gypsey during the season just ended, takes command of the steamer James Sampson on Monday, Capt. Wm. Locke, who has for some time been in charge of the Sampson, having resigned.

The steamer Mystic, from the 1st of January to the 1st of September, carried 37,210 passengers, as per returns made to the customs officers. This number includes the regular passengers of the boat to and from the navy yard, and her transient patronage, but does not profess to be anything more than an approximation to the actual number of persons carried; and knowing the method of calculation, we think at least 10,000 should be added to the grand total.

Mr. Van Laer's studio will reopen Wednesday, Sept. 21st. As the class is to be quite large, those wishing to join will please do so as soon as convenient.

The legislature at the late session extended the jurisdiction of the police court by providing that "Police courts may render final judgment and sentence in any criminal case where the fine does not exceed two hundred dollars and the term of imprisonment does not exceed six months, if the accused pleads guilty, or nolo contendere." This law is now in force, the act having taken effect upon its passage.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

The suit of Knights vs. the town of Epson, a suit to recover damages for injuries caused by a defective highway, resulted at Dover on the 14th inst. in a verdict of $2,794 for the plaintiff. At a previous trial the plaintiff was awarded $1,200, from which judgment the town appealed.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. tu28

French Defeat in Tun's.

Paris despatches of Sept. 14th admit a defeat in Tunis, and one which may result in serious disaster. The French troops met the Arabs near the town of Zaghoun, and were beaten in battle, and the Arab cavalry succeeded in temporarily cutting off the communications of the French detachment. The latter were obliged to fall back as rapidly as possible, the Arabs meanwhile worrying their flanks and cutting off stragglers. This gave the African cavalry opportunity for successful depredatory movements, and they took advantage of it to such an extent that they were able nearly to destroy the canal which furnishes Tunis with water, placing the city, pressed for water supply as it is by an unusual influx of strangers, in a position of at least temporary danger. A despatch from Tunis to the London Times says: "The Arabs have partially destroyed the aqueduct between Tunis and Zaghoun. The quantity of water now entering the town is very trifling, and it is decreasing every moment; it is probable that the supply will be entirely cut off. This will be most serious, as there are no other means of procuring drinking water."

David M. Barnes, who was Rose Eytinge's first husband, is a brother of Surgeon Gen. Barnes, who has been one of the president's physicians. David Barnes once managed a theatre in Albany, N. Y., where he married Miss Rose Eytinge. When she had metropolitan ambitions he went to New York with her. He was editor of the Times under Henry J. Raymond. Shortly thereafter he was divorced, and went to Washington. Miss Eytinge—Mrs. Barnes—married George H. Butler and went with him to Egypt. Barnes is now in New York looking up work. Miss Eytinge is off starring. Butler is writing for a Washington paper.

A duel was fought in Arkansas on the 13th inst. at sunrise, between Hon. Leland L. Leatherman, mayor of Kansas City, and James Rucker, a prominent attorney of the same city. The difficulty grew out of rulings made by Leatherman in a case in which Rucker was counsel. Both men were wounded, Rucker it is supposed fatally.

Messrs. Joseph Hanley and Samuel Hanley, prominent planters of Logan county, Ark., were shot and killed near Booneville on the 13th inst. by a party of negroes. Bad blood has existed for some time between the blacks and whites in that vicinity, and a serious riot is feared.

—At a recent examination in a girls' school the question was put to a class of the little ones: "Who makes the laws of our government?" "Congress," was the ready reply. "How is Congress divided?" was the next question. A little girl in the class raised her hand. "Well," said the examiner, "Miss Sallie, what do you think the answer is?" Instantly, with an air of confidence as well as triumph, the answer came: "Civilized, half-civilized and savage."

—Editors in the outlying districts of South Africa contend with great difficulties. We are now glad to state that no more such disappointments will follow. We have at last the services of a compositor."

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

G. H. RICHARDSON,

PADUCAH, KY., May 10th, 1867.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

F. T. GILLILAND, Late Lieut. U. S. A.

—A young viscount the other day barely escaped drowning in the surf. Being congratulated on his happy escape, he said: "Well, it isn't that I care to live forever, you know, but it's very much like being in company. You don't want to leave before the others, because they will blackguard you so."

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

A Wonderful Business Growth.

The history of the widely known house of Joseph Burnett & Co., of Boston, shows a large and flourishing industry, which has grown from small beginnings. The extensive business of this house, which has extended to nearly every civilized country in the world, had its origin in what might be called an incident, or an accident, some thirty years ago. At that time Mr. Joseph Burnett, the founder of the house, was doing a large apothecary business on Tremont street, opposite Boston Museum.

A lady who had lived in France and become accustomed to French methods of cookery, came into Mr. Burnett's store one day and asked him if he could not make a decent flavoring extract for her, as she found those in common use abominable. She wanted an extract of vanilla. This was made, which pleased the lady very much, and from this simple beginning has grown a business, one single branch of which now consumes one-fourth the entire Mexican product, which is the only recognized best quality of vanilla in the world.

It may be here remarked that an extract of the tonka or "snuff bean," is largely made and sold for vanilla extract, though the flavor of the tonka is no more to be compared with the vanilla than a burdock is to a rose. Some fifty persons are now directly employed by this concern in the varied work of bottling, labelling, packing and boxing their various flavoring extracts and toilet preparations, all of which are of an altogether superior nature.

Burnett's Cocoaine is a remarkably fine preparation in liquid form of deodorized cocoanut oil, for promoting the growth of the hair and beautifying it, and it is generally acknowledged to produce a finer effect than any other hair dressing.

Burnett's Kalliston as a wash for the complexion, to allay irritation of the skin and scalp, and for the bites of insects, stands unrivalled among the preparations of the day. Lately and by accident it was discovered to be an almost sovereign remedy for itching piles.

Burnett's Cologne is really cologne. The oil of lavender commonly used to make cologne water with costs about $1.75 a pound, while the Mitcham oil of lavender, used by the Burnetts, is imported at a cost of $26 a pound. Everything used in the Burnett preparations are of the very best. The spirits used are made specially for their use, and are the purest product of the still that can be produced. It is Mr. Burnett's pride to feel that he is giving no inferior article to the confiding public who patronize him. He has associated with him in his business two of his sons, whom he has brought up in the way of fair dealing, and the spirit of pride in the production of superior goods which he has made the system of his life, and they will no doubt continue the business in that way when he shall have retired from its active pursuit, which will not be in a few years, for Mr. Burnett is a hale, young looking man at the present time.

The effects after taking Adamson's Botanic Balsam are a soothing and controlling influence over any cough or cold, promoting rest, allaying the tickling sensation in the throat, and causing a healthy expectoration.

The expenditure of brain power too early or too severely in children often results in physical debility; the use of Fellows' Hypophosphites exerts a singularly happy effect in such cases.

Gents—I have been very low, and have tried everything, to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many, I concluded to give them a trial. I did, and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLER.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I never see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

The President.

The despatches from Long Branch on the 16th reported "grave apprehension" existing as to the President's condition, and confidence in his recovery very much shaken. There was no particular ill symptom alarmingly developed, but the doctors have at last acknowledged that he is suffering from blood poisoning, and he does not appear to gain strength.

Too Many Dime Novels.

Charles A. Elwell, fifteen years of age, who has for the last six months been employed by Frederick Jones & Co., of No. 100 Pearl street, Boston, was on the 13th inst. arrested on a complaint charging him with the forgery of the name of his employers to a check for $250, on which he obtained the money at the Hide and Leather bank in Boston. The arrest was made at the passenger station of the Fitchburg railroad, and his trunk was found to be stocked with rifles, bullets, bowie knives, powder, revolvers, clothing, and a lot of dime novels, and in his pocket were found two through tickets to Omaha. A companion whom Elwell had persuaded to go with him was not arrested. Elwell appeared in the juvenile court Thursday morning, the 15th, and was held in $500 for trial in the upper court.

Naval Affairs.

Passed Asst. Engr. G. M. L. MacCarthy is ordered to the Wyoming; Lieutenant Wm. H. Jacques to the New York navy yard; Passed Asst. Engineer John Lowe to the Washington navy yard.

The U. S. S. Trenton sailed from Gibraltar on the 15th inst., for the United States. Rear Admr. Howell has left the ship, and will come home by way of Havre.

Commander C. M. Schoonmaker is detached from command of the Nipsic, on the European station, on the reporting of his relief, and ordered home. Commander Henry B. Seeley is detached from charge of the naval rendezvous at New York, and ordered to command the Nipsic. Commander Charles L. Huntington is ordered to assume charge of the naval rendezvous in New York.

Midshipman Frank J. Sprague is detached from the Minnesota, and ordered to temporary duty on board the Lancaster, and on the latter vessel's arrival at Nice, France, to regard himself as detached, and granted leave of absence for three months.

News and Notes.

In the superior court at Newburyport, on the 14th inst., in the case of Calkins vs. E. P. Dodge & Co. for $10,000 damages for causing the death of Calkins' son by a boiler explosion last December, the jury, after twenty minutes' deliberation, returned a verdict for the defendants.

Morris B. Steathelmer, a young man of twenty-six years, in the employ of J. & W. Seligman, bankers, of New York city, was taken back on the 15th inst. by detectives from Michigan, and locked up on the charge of embezzlement from his employers. He confesses to have stolen coupons entrusted to his care amounting to $43,500. The firm place their loss at over $50,000. He has been gambling and living in high style. He left New York a week ago, accompanied by a woman, with whom he was arrested in Michigan.

Levi Parker of Thetford, Vt., aged eighty years, was drowned on the 13th inst. while attempting to ford the Pompanoosuc river.

Diphtheria is causing terrible desolation in Russia. In certain communes and parishes all the children under fifteen years of age have died. In Pultowa, a province of considerably less than two million inhabitants, there have been 45,543 cases, of which 18,765 were fatal.

The dory Little Western, said to be the smallest boat that ever crossed the Atlantic ocean, and the only dory that ever crossed both ways, arrived at Gloucester, Mass., the port from which she started, on the 15th inst.

There has been all summer a small yacht with a black hull, anchored off various points on Lake Champlain in midwater between New York and Vermont, which has been selling liquor, probably smuggled from Canada. By anchoring in the middle of the lake, she claims to be exempt from the action of the laws of either state. She is called the Pirate, and denizens along the shores in the two states allege that she has sold over $5000 worth of liquor during the summer.

Thirteen thousand persons, about equally divided between the sexes, were last year arrested in London for "simple drunkenness." Over 16,000 other persons, two-thirds of them men, were arrested in the same time for "fancy drunks," which is only another name for "drunk and disorderly." The total number of arrests for all offences was 70,000.

Lord Clandeboye, the eldest son of Lord Dufferin, recently swam across the Bosphorous, from Therapia to Belcos, in a little more than an hour—a swim considerably longer than that from Sestos to Abydos, accomplished by Leander and Lord Byron.

U. S. Grant, Jr., has purchased 186 acres of land in North Salem, Westchester county, N. Y., known as the Libby farm, from the executors of Hannah Libby. The price paid was $27,500 cash.

Gen. W. T. Tucker was assassinated on the night of the 14th inst. at Okoloona, Miss. He was called to the door of his residence and shot down by an unknown party, death resulting almost instantly. Circumstances point to Houston Parish, a negro boy of eighteen, with whom Gen. Tucker had some trouble a few days previously. Parish has been arrested. Deceased was a prominent citizen, and commanded a brigade during the war.

Henry King, serving a life sentence in Clinton, N. Y., prison for a murder in New York city, was on the 14th inst. sentenced at Plattsburg to be hanged Nov. 4th, for murdering a fellow convict in a quarrel over the shooting of the president. The dispute was whether Garfield or Arthur was the better man.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

Messrs. Lee & Shepard of Boston have from time to time published one of a series of illustrated hymns and poems, the last of which was "Home, sweet home." The coming volume has the poem "He giveth his beloved sleep," by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, richly illustrated, and in style uniform with the preceding volumes of the series. The same firm will publish "Hannah Jane" by D. R. Locke (P. V. Nasby,) a quaint and amusing dialect poem. This originally appeared in Harpers' Magazine, and is brought out by the publishers with a richness of embellishment truly attractive. Lee & Shepard will also publish Ben. P. Shillaber's new book, "Cruises with Capt. Bob around the kitchen fire," which we presume will be a reproduction of the yarns to which Ben in childhood's happy hours listened around the kitchen fire in "Rock pasture."

"Ehrichs' Fashion Quarterly" for the fall season of 1881 is before us, and merits a word of commendation. The number is the largest ever issued, containing 120 large quarto pages of original and interesting matter, illustrated with hundreds of engravings. The magazine is divided into two departments, both interesting to ladies; either of which, alone, is worth the trifling subscription price. Of these, the first is devoted to literature, pure and simple, and contains an agreeable melange of interesting, amusing, and instructive articles. A special department, entitled "Our Easy Chair," is conducted by Hope Ledyard, who discusses home topics in her well known chatty style. An illustrated "Lesson in Dressmaking" is another useful feature; and tales, sketches and essays, original and selected, abound. The second edition of the magazine is devoted to the illustration and description of the current fashions; and so far as we are competent to judge, the work is faithfully performed. Every article needful to the dress of ladies or children is illustrated and described under its appropriate heading; and the current retail price in New York is given for every article described. With this magazine as a guide, it is difficult to see how a lady can fail to do her shopping in the most thorough and economical manner; since it tells her, not only what to buy, but also what price to pay for it. Even to those who never propose to buy outside their own town or village, it must be of immense value, as enabling them to plan their shopping systematically, and execute it economically. The subscription to the magazine is only fifty cents a year, or fifteen cents a copy. The publishers are Ehrich Bros., Eighth avenue and Twenty-fourth street, New York city.

New Hampshire Items.

Jonathan Dore and wife, of Ossipee, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Aug. 27th, their children with their families, and a large company of relatives and friends, being present. Rev. S. G. Norcross, pastor of the Congregational church in Conway, and his wife, celebrated the 20th anniversary of their wedding day Aug. 27th.

W. N. Abel of Lowell, Mass., has entered a suit to recover the reward offered for the apprehension of the murderer of Josie A. Langmaid, whose case excited such intense excitement several years ago. The case is to be tried before the present term of the supreme court, now in session at Nashua.

Meander Pierce of Sandwich, a breeder of pure Jersey stock, recently lost several heifers from some unknown ailment. The matter was submitted to members of the state board of agriculture, who pronounced the disease pneumonia, giving it as their opinion that the Jerseys are more susceptible to climatic influences than any other breed.

The important suits at law and in equity in favor of Ex-Judge E. D. Rand and Wm. H. Cummings, Esq., president of the National Bank of Newbury, vs. Messrs. Parker and Young, large lumber manufacturers of Lisbon, have just been decided by the supreme court in favor of the plaintiffs. The suits have been pending several years, and have been very sharply contested. The question involved was, whether Rand and Cummings or Parker and Young were the owners of the valuable water power on the Ammonoosuc river in that village. The facts in dispute were tried before Hon. Wm. S. Ladd of Lancaster as referee, who reported to the court in March, 1879. Since then the cases have been before the full bench upon the legal questions raised by the referee's report. They were decided a year ago in favor of the defendants, whereupon the plaintiffs moved for a rehearing, which was granted, and the court has now reversed its former decision. The question of the title to the property was a very complicated one, and involved the construction of various deeds running back nearly to the beginning of the present century.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Quite a number of citizens, including Ex-Gov. Goodwin and other well-known personages, repaired to the Eastern railroad station on Friday afternoon to welcome the members of the Cabinet who were expected to make a short visit in Portsmouth The party came in a special car attached to the White Mountain express train, and arrived at the station at three o'clock. The company consisted of Secretary and Mrs. Windom, Secretary and Mrs. Hunt, Postmaster-Gen. James and Mrs. James, Mr. Frank James, Mr. Dinsmore, president, and John Hoey, vice president of the Adams Express Co., Mr. Spooner, general manager of the company in New England, Mr. Babcock, treasurer of the Adams Express Co., Ex-Gov. English of Connecticut, and Col. Thomas P. Cheney, superintendent of mail service in New England.

The Cabinet officers having alighted were presented by Collectors Howard and Young to Gov. Goodwin and other gentlemen present, and ten minutes were spent in social chat. Secretary Hunt was urged by Gov. Goodwin, Col. Hackett and other gentlemen to remain and visit the navy yard, and witness the facilities for work which are at hand at this station. The secretary thanked the gentlemen, and said that he hoped before long to visit Portsmouth and examine for himself the navy yard, but he felt it his duty to be at Long Branch on Sunday. He was to dine at the Revere house in Boston shortly after five o'clock, and push on to New York at once.

The gentlemen present expressed the hope that the secretary would inspect the Lancaster before she went abroad, and the secretary said that he had heard much concerning the superior character of this ship, and should probably visit her in New York.

Secretary Windom was delighted to meet our noble War Governor, and appeared to enjoy the short stay; while Postmaster General James, who had a former intimate acquaintance with Station Master Perkins, when that gentleman was attached to the New York custom house, recognized a few other friends with whom he conversed pleasantly.

The ladies remained in the parlor car. A representative of one of the leading New York papers was the only man of the craft we saw. It was expected that Secretary Windom would stop here and go to Boston in the revenue cutter Dexter, and that Secretary Hunt would also remain and visit the navy yard, and a dispatch received by Col. Kent at two o'clock was the first intimation of the change of programme. Secretary Windom will remain for a few days in the vicinity of Boston, and we yet may have the honor of a visit from him before the season is over. These men have had a severe strain upon them for the last two months, and need rest and recuperation.

U. S. S. "LANCASTER."

Capt. R. B. Forbes, who has just inspected this vessel at Portsmouth, N. H., says she carries ten guns of the same calibre, eight on the main deck and two on the spar deck. The whole with their carriages and fittings weigh 200 tons. Those on the main deck can be housed fore-and-aft, and all are worked by crank machinery and have no breechings. Four have a hydraulic reservoir to check recoil, which is also used to run them out and in. Although the ship seemed complete in all her details, Capt. Forbes says one big modern shell between wind and water would sink her. He thinks she is too heavily rigged, and probably so does every experienced naval officer; but no one in our navy seems to have the power to rig our ships of war say differently from what they have been for at least fifty years. Some mighty force must have been set in motion to induce the navy department to introduce chain cables, iron trusses, and a few other improvements copied from the merchant service.—Boston Traveller.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Sept. 16; Bufford, J.

The court was occupied two and a half hours in the trial of Patrick Mahoney for assaults upon Mrs. Emmanuel Charlesworth and her son, John T. Charlesworth. The complaints were the result of a drunken fracas which occurred in the saloon at the corner of Congress and Bridge streets, on Tuesday afternoon. Mahoney was convicted on both complaints, and sentenced to pay fines and costs amounting to $27.22. He claimed an appeal, but finally thought better of it and paid up. Mahoney brought counter complaints against Emmanuel and John T. Charlesworth, but the court did not consider them sustained, and defendants were discharged.

Robert Colbert, who was on the 14th fined for drunkenness and assault on Officer Shannon, was sent to jail.

Edward H. Goodwin will go to Brentwood to-day if he does not pay up his fines for drunkenness and profanity.

AROUND HOME.

The City Guards arrived home from Concord on Friday evening.

The steamer Mystic will make a trip to Dover to-morrow, if fair weather, starting from the navy yard landing in this city at 9:30 o'clock.

The earnings of the Eastern railroad for July increased $24,000, and for August $30,000, over those of the corresponding months last year.

C. E. Walker & Co. are receiving from up-river towns one hundred cords of wood, brought down by gondolas. One gondola load of fifteen cords arrived on Friday from South Berwick, Me.

Messrs. George Herbert & Co., wholesale fish dealers of this city, on Friday sent to Boston eighteen handsome swordfish, brought in by the schooners Carrie L. Payson and Elnora of Portland, and the Lady Leavitt of Saco.

The fifty-third annual meeting of the Portsmouth Baptist Association will be held with the Middle street Baptist church in this city on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 21st and 22d. The annual sermon will be preached by Rev. D. H. Stoddard of Great Falls.

A race for a purse of $100 is announced to take place on Monday, the 26th inst., between Mr. Stephen Decatur's yacht "Qui Vive" and the yacht owned by Rear Admiral Craven, the course to be from a boat on the river to Duck island, Isles of Shoals, and return.

The docket of the October term of the supreme court, Judge Smith presiding, which will commence in this city October 18th, is the smallest of any for more than ten years. It contains 240 cases, of which 173 are civil actions, fifty-one equity cases, twelve state actions and appeals, and five cases in sessions.

During the discussion in the board of aldermen last Thursday evening relative to allowing David Flynn to put a doorstep upon the sidewalk at his residence, one of the aldermen remarked that several steps had been similarly placed within a short time at other houses, the owners of which had not troubled themselves to ask permission for their action. In another case a set of steps, to place which permission was asked and refused, has been put in position, extending half-way or more across the sidewalk.

The powerful pump at the deep well of the Eastern railroad, near the station in this city, keeps at work every week-day right along, lifting about 1500 barrels of water a day without any apparent diminution in the supply. The quality of the water, however, is not such as is desired, it being unfit for steaming purposes in locomotives. But it would do very nicely to squirt on a fire, and after the well is abandoned as a source of supply for the railroad, which we fear will have to be done in the end, and the tubing is removed from the bore, the old well will be a valuable reservoir for fire-department purposes.

Thomas W. Pierce, the railroad king of Houston, Texas, formerly of Dover, offers to build a memorial church edifice for the Universalist society there on condition that the society shall never allow the pulpit to be without a first-class preacher, and that services shall be conducted regularly in the church edifice every Sunday.

At a meeting of directors of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad, held on the 15th inst., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, E. B. Phillips; treasurer, N. G. Chapin; clerk, Wallace Hackett.

The Journal of the 17th inst. says: "On Thursday of last week two little children of Augustus Littlefield of York were poisoned from eating cucumbers, on which, by some means, there was Paris green. One child died immediately, and the other was in a critical condition at the last report."

The "White family" gave a concert in Patch's hall, Kittery Point, on the evening of the 10th inst., to an audience of about one hundred persons.

The schooner yacht Una has gone into winter quarters on the north side of Noble's island. The steam launch Gypsey has been hauled out at the Raynes shipyard, and a house built over her, to keep her from the weather until the opening of another season of summer travel.

The oyster beds in Great Bay will be inspected by a submarine diver next week.

A bonita, a genuine deep-water "skipjack," was taken in one of the weirs at the mouth of the harbor Friday morning. We never before heard of a bonita being taken or seen in such shoal water.

A persevering but unavailing search has been made by the diver in the employ of the contractors for the removal of Gangway rock, to find the new steam drilling machine which went adrift at the time the U. S. S. Lancaster knocked over the "band-stand." The track which it made along the bottom was followed a distance of several hundred feet from the ledge, the stick of timber to which it was bolted having evidently not been quite able to float it. The timber was found some days ago above the Portsmouth bridge, and it is quite likely the drilling machine was torn from its fastenings when the timber went through the bridge.

A sunflower may be seen growing high up in the fork of a tree on Middle street, in front of the former residence of Joseph B. Upham, Esq.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. —It isn't because a woman is exactly afraid of a cow that she runs away and screams. It is because gored dresses are not fashionable.

—It happened on a railroad train in Nova Scotia which was going—well, it wasn't exactly a lightning express. The engineer whistled "down brakes." "What's the trouble, conductor?" excitedly asked a passenger. "Cow on the track," coolly responded the conductor. The man was satisfied. Shortly afterward "down brakes" was again whistled. "What's the trouble now?" cried the same passenger. "Cow on the track," was the reply. "Great heavens," cried the man, "haven't we caught up with that cow yet?"

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to-this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. ta29

The "Old Mechanics' Fair."

The opening of the Mechanics' fair in the new building of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association on Huntington avenue, Boston, last Tuesday, was an interesting event to every New Englander. The structure just completed by the association has been built with a view to affording the best and most ample accommodations for its triennial displays of the manufactures of New England, together with generous convenience for illustrating the advance made in all the arts and sciences. It may be described as three great buildings forming one group, but separated by brick walls and fire-proof doors. The whole has a frontage of 598 feet on Huntington avenue, and of about 317 on West Newton and Gloucester streets. There two sides are those of a right-angled triangle, the hypothenuse being the northerly side, bordering upon the Boston & Albany railroad yards, a 15 feet passageway being reserved for light and air. The building is of red brick, laid in dark mortar, with slated roofs and lanterns, and dormers of iron. The walls are built vaulted, and very thick, nowhere less than two feet, and from that thickness to four and five feet, thus giving great depth of window opening and projection of piers. The style of the building is "Renaissance" in character, freely treated to accommodate itself to a building of plain and moulded brick and terra cotta. Fine detail has been avoided, but the desired effect and variety are obtained by large and marked features of construction at various points. It has two vast halls, an amply lighted basement, under the entire structure and numerous smaller apartments, making a floor surface in all over six and two-fifths acres. One of the leading features of the building is the great hall, fitted to accommodate an audience of from 800 to 10,000, and this vast auditorium will be a perfect museum of the manufactures of the day in all the finer lines of goods during the coming exhibition. The mechanical exhibits include fully as large a number of novelties as usual, and the practical working of new contrivances and devices will be more generally illustrated than in former years. The ample space afforded in the new building, and the substantial character of the structure, have had a noble influence upon the class of exhibits offered, and the display of fine goods will be more like that at the centennial than at the last fair of the association. While there is this encouraging prospect for the general exhibition, it is gratifying to know that the art department has been so wisely delegated that the art gallaries will rival those of the European cities, and present a feature which can but elevate and instruct the vast crowds of visitors to the exhibition. The special committee intrusted with selecting pictures for exhibition from the artists in the American colony of Paris have forwarded a half hundred specimens, which include many notable works. The artists of New York city have contributed as many more, Philadelphia has sent a score or more of representative paintings, Baltimore has contributed generously, and, while the artists of New England will add about 100 specimens, the local studios will supply between two and three times that number. Maj. Ben: Perley Poore promises a surprise to all visitors interested in the military history of America, as he has arranged an exhibition of the weapons, implements, clothing and uniforms used by the warriors of this country from the stone age to the present time. All who desire to attend the exhibition will find ample lavatories, where the dust of travel can be removed, as well as bundle rooms, where all parcels, overcoats, wraps and other annoying hindrances to indoor comfort can be deposited and cared for. Aspacious restaurant is also located in the building, and here the best food will be promptly served at the most reasonable rates. Direct communication can be had with every railroad station in Boston, the lines of horse cars landing passengers at the main entrance on Huntington avenue.

Skill in the Workshop.

To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If long hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before some organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and his whole constitution be built up to a better working condition.

—Business is business, and every man, woman and child is on the high road to respectability if not prosperity, when they have learned to mind their own.

Centaur Liniment.

Invaluable to families, and owners of horses. Sold everywhere.

—Red used on a railway signifies danger, and says, "Stop!" It is the same thing displayed on a man's nose.

Castoria.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—An exchange acknowledges itself connered, and in a dilemma, and appeals for a solution to its neighbors. The following is the situation: "And now they say that cider will produce insanity. Let us see: Tobacco—paralysis; tomatoes—cancer; onions—social ostracism and drowsiness; whiskey—jimjams; cucumbers—colic; what may a man safely enjoy?"

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Third.

Fourth.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

The President.

The President appears to be slowly but surely sinking, and unless a favorable change—of which there seems little hope at present—soon takes place, the sad end cannot be very far off.

The following was the official bulletin of the physicians at six o'clock in the evening of the 16th:

At the examination of the President at noon to-day the temperature was 99.8, pulse 116, respiration 21. At the evening dressing at 5:30 P. M the temperature was 98.6, pulse 104, respiration 22. A slight febrile rise occurred at eleven A. M. and had entirely subsided at two P. M. The condition of the wound remains unchanged. The cough has not been so frequent or persistent, but the sputa still remains purulent. Nourishment and stimulants have been given in increased quantities, without discomfort. Altogether his general condition cannot be said to be improved.

There has been no marked change in the president's condition, but it is not at this hour (10:30 P. M.) reassuring. The different symptoms are almost all slightly aggravated. The temperature and the pulse have fluctuated more than usual, and the respiration is rather more frequent, while the character of the discharges continues to be unsatisfactory. There is therefore a sensible increase of anxiety.

The midnight despatch on the 16th said "The President's condition causes a feeling of despondency, and the general situation cannot be denied as warranting grave apprehension, and the probabilities are that some time will elapse before the patient will show any substantial improvement. During the past forty-eight hours he has made no progress towards recovery, and for the past twenty-four hours there has been a slight, but perceptible, loss of strength. His attacks of coughing are still severe and exhausting. He expectorates considerable quantities of pus. There is without doubt a fresh access to the lung trouble. The amount of lung tissue involved is considerably greater than it was forty-eight hours ago. To-night the pulse for a time reached about 130. His condition is such as to put in question his ability to rally from his present state of lung trouble and exhaustion. Atty. Gen. MacVeagh to-night notified the members of the cabinet of the President's condition. His telegram was substantially the same as that sent to Lowell."

Saturday was the worst day with the President since he was shot. The official bulletin said:

At the morning examination and dressing of the President the temperature was 99.8, pulse 108 and respiration 21. The fluctuations of the pulse at night varied from 116 to 130, the temperature during this time not deviating much from normal. He slept quite well, taking nourishment at proper intervals. His cough was not troublesome, and the expectoration moderate. The discharge from the wound is more healthy, and the color of the granulations slightly improved.

At the examination of the President at twelve M. today, the temperature was 102, pulse 120, respiration 24. At 11:30 A. M., he had a severe chill, lasting half an hour followed by perspiration.

Six P. M. Since the noon examination there has been a gradual fall of temperature, with diminished frequency of pulse and respiration, so that, at the evening examination, the temperature was 98, pulse 102, respiration 18. He has slept most of the time during the afternoon and has taken his nourishment at proper intervals. The cough has been less frequent than usual.

Secretary MacVeagh's despatch to Minister Lowell was as follows:

The President had a severe chill this forenoon, lasting for half an hour, and followed by considerable fever and perspiration. Since then there has been a gradual decrease in pulse, temperature and respiration, and he has slept most of the time. There has been no gain in strength nor any evidence of repair, and the situation is now probably more grave and critical than at any time heretofore.

News and Notes.

The court martial on Sergeant Mason, the man who very reprehensibly shot at Guiteau and missed him, is to be promptly tried by court martial in Washington, on two charges, as follows: First, conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline; second, attempting to shoot a prisoner without orders from a superior officer.

Ex-Senator J. P. Christiancy on the 15th inst. received a challenge from Dr. Fench Lugenbeel, brother of Mrs. Christiancy, to fight a duel. The ex-senator declined the invitation.

An extraordinary divorce case was begun in the superior court at Chicago, Sept. 15th. Mrs. Elizabeth Falvy asks a divorce from two husbands. In 1868 she married Dennis Falvy at Lynn, Mass., but in 1872 he deserted her. Two years later Edward Hines told her Falvy was dead, and she married him. Subsequently she learned that Falvy was living in Quincy, Mass., and was married to another woman, and Mrs. Falvy therefore asks to be released from Falvy because of his violation of the marriage vows, and from Hines because she could not legally contract a marriage at the time she married him.

Henry W. Fiske of Enfield, Me., is missing, and it is feared he has suicided or met with foul play.

Gen. William P. Robeson, brother of Ex-Secretary Robeson, died in Camden, N. J., Sept. 15th, aged forty-four years. He was badly wounded at the battle of Five Forks.

David Mooney, alias Hill, was last week convicted of the murder of Edmund Lavoie, alias Marshall, in a boarding house on Florence street, Boston, some years ago. Mooney and Lavoie were notorious thieves, and Mooney murdered his pal in order to steal from the latter his share of the plunder obtained in several burglaries.

Jane Campbell, a colored woman living near Dyke's Mill, Ark., last week murdered her two children, aged respectively ten and twelve years, by beating out their brains for some trifling act of disobedience. Next day she was dragged from her cabin by a mob of blacks and whites, tied to a stake, and literally roasted to death.

Andrew Phillips, formerly of Boston, twenty-three years old, was killed by the bite of a rattlesnake, near Miller's ranche, California, the latter part of August.

Miss Lillian B. Norton, who has created such a furore in musical circles in Italy, and who is to sing five months in St. Petersburgh this winter, was, while in Boston before she went abroad, under the musical direction of Prof. John O'Neill, to whose able instruction she unhesitatingly attributes much of her success. This gentleman, who has been for many years a favorite teacher in Boston, has decided to devote much of his time this winter to private pupils, for which purpose he has fitted up a pleasant music room at 146 Tremont street, where he may be found at any time after this date.

Naval Gazette.

The naval court of inquiry at Newport, R. I., which has been investigating the cause of the torpedo explosion by which Commander Edes and Lieut. Spalding lost their lives, finished its labors Friday, having been in session two weeks. Several witnesses were minutely examined, all the questions and answers being written out in full. The report will be forwarded to the department for further consideration, and it will be some time before a verdict or official report will be rendered.

Another trial of Weeks' racket torpedo was had on Friday at the torpedo station at Newport, R. I., with satisfactory results, the missile performing what was expected of it in every particular. It made 1200 yards in less than fifty seconds, and reached its goal, though as expected by the inventor, it deviated a trifle toward the end. This arose from the fact that some fifty pounds of ballast is discharged by evaporation during the passage of the torpedo, thus throwing the stern and rudder partly out of water and reducing the steering capacity.

An appropriation of three thousand dollars has been made for repairing the old Congregational church at York.

Another considerable addition is to be made to the Marshall house at York harbor, this fall or early next spring.

Mr. George W. Patch of Kittery is digging the cellar for a new house on Sea point, Gerrish's island, where he already has several buildings which he rents to summer visitors, and which find ready tenants.

A. B. Webb of Wells, Me., a man with only one arm but having a lot of liquor concealed about his person, attempted to cross the Boston & Maine railroad track in Dover on the 15th inst. in front of a moving train, which struck him and knocked him about twenty feet, doing him no great harm. A sober man would most likely have been killed.

The cotton manufacturing companies in Biddeford and Saco have contracted with the owners of all the brickyards in those cities for all the products of their kilns for two years to come.

Magloire Gilbert, while blasting on a ledge at Biddeford, Friday, was blown up, being badly burned about the head and shoulders. Both eyes are probably destroyed, and his recovery is doubtful.

A boatman of Durham last week took a party of five persons from that town on a fishing trip outside the harbor. They went as far out as the Shoals, and remained out two nights. On arriving in Durham the party of reckless spendthrifts "chipped in" and made up a purse of $1, which they offered the boatman for his services and the use of his boat for two nights and the best portion of three days!

THE "KERRY GOW."

This evening, at Music hall, the Joseph Murphy combination will present the "Kerry Gow," with Mr. Murphy in the title role. This play gave great satisfaction when performed here last season; probably neither play nor company has deteriorated since then. The Philadelphia News says of the entertainment:

Mr. Joseph Murphy has played "Kerry Gow" many times in this city, and he will have to play it a great many times more before he shall wear out his welcome. He has never had a more attractive, a more delighted audience than greeted him last night at the Arch, and followed him in perfect sympathy through all his trials and adventures, his manly wooing with Norah, his blundering approaches to Norah's father to reveal the state of his heart, his arrest, imprisonment, escape, his horseshoeing business, and so on till the end. The play is full of the keenest repartee, which kept the people in a roar of laughter. As most readers know, it has some telling situations, and Mr. Murphy, while he shines in comedy, does ample justice to the pathetic scenes, and likewise sings several tender old songs in a tuneful tenor voice.

"MARM FREEMAN'S."

One of our most respected former residents, now on a visit to the city in which he passed several years as minister of a religious society, said recently in speaking of the apparently prosperous condition of Portsmouth, and its many attractions, "What I seem to miss most is the drive to Ma'am Freeman's at Cape Neddick, and the enjoyments of that spot."

Great changes have occurred at this former popular resort of Portsmouth people. The Cape Neddick house was once the place where the Portland Stage Co.'s horses were changed, and as a way-side inn did in the olden times, as of late years, quite a business. Here in a quiet and modest way families from Portsmouth boarded in the summer months. Here on a summer's Sunday would be found persons of all ages who had come for a day's rest. Some visitors ascended Agamenticus, and admired the view from its summit; others wended their way to Bald Head cliff, and came back to the Freeman hostelrie for dinner.

The guest who skirmishes around at some of the "watering-place" hotels of the present day would be astonished at the ample spread of the table at the Cape Neddick, set out in that somewhat sombre room where hung the map with the scene of the crucifixion, and other cheerful views, upon the walls. But the fresh butter and real spring chickens, the early vegetables, the home-like pies, the incomparable cup-cakes, the inevitable doughnuts and cheese—how these recollections come back to the visitor of thirty years since, when the boys took care of the horses and the landlady took care of the table, while in those comfortable rooms up stairs were beds of the olden kind. We remember on one occasion, in a hot summer's night, finding sleep only after discarding the couch of feathers for a harder though cooler means of repose.

When the Freemans held the place it did a good business, but this was before any hotel at Bald Head cliff, and before the Marshall house or Sea Cottage, tempted guests to rest by the sea. The estate afterward passed to other hands, and recently the large house, stables, barn and shed were consumed by fire, so that nothing remains to mark the spot where so many pleasant occasions have been enjoyed save the cracked stone foundations of the building, and like evidences of a conflagration. The remorseless insurance adjuster sees nothing here save the opportunity to get something off the sum which the companies should pay as indemnity, and the feature of Cape Neddick which so long gave consequence to the village, and furnished an all-aliveness to the spot, has passed into history.

PRESENTATION.

On Saturday evening Capt. James E. Ford, of Co. C, N. H. N. G., was called upon at his residence by a number of members of the company, who transported into the house a fine black walnut extension table of the largest size, and then handed to the captain the following document:

CAPT. FORD—Dear Sir:—We present you this table as a slight token of our esteem for the manner in which you commanded our company at the late muster at Concord, and the interest manifested by you for the welfare of the company; and we hope that you will continue in the future as in the past.

WM. Y. EVANS, for the Company.

Capt. Ford was taken entirely by surprise, and was hardly able to return his thanks and invite the company to refreshments, after which the captain was presented with a bottle of wine with which to christen the table.

This company is now one of the best in the state, and the colonel commanding complimented it on its proficiency of drill and general excellence. We are sorry it was not one of the companies detailed to represent our state at the Yorktown celebration, and hope it is not too late to change the programme, as the company selected from the 1st Regiment appeared at the muster without the captain or 1st lieutenant, and mustered only twenty-two men while our company had forty-four, including officers.

CARD OF THANKS.

The subscriber hereby tenders her thanks to Messrs. Joseph Taylor, Samuel Horton, Charles W. Roberts, and others, for their kindness and assistance at the time of the sad and fatal accident which befell her husband.

MRS. ABBY DWYER.

Portsmouth, Sept. 17th.

MATTERS IN RYE.

Col. Cyrus Eastman is the only gentleman who has been able to boast of a private wreck in front of his sea-side home, this season.

Said one of our subscribers last week, in answer to our inquiry as to summer business, "I had a less number of my former visitors than usual, but still had a good company, though perhaps not as many as last season. Rye this year has been fuller than ever of summer guests. The most marked increase was at the Farragut, which filled early in July, and had a good run of business to the first of September." We suggested that perhaps the novel attraction of the "Farmers' Club" had something to do with this increased and extended patronage. "Yes," said he, "that or something of the sort has given the Farragut the most successful season it has ever had."

Hon. N. G. White, president of the Boston & Maine railroad, and family, will leave Little Boar's Head for Lawrence this week.

SOME OLD-TIME MINISTERS.

There was formerly a bright array of clerical gentlemen in the river towns, and it would be most amusing to collect the anecdotes which the old people of the last generation delighted to tell of them. Not to speak of the well-known Portsmouth divines, and of Dr. Stephens, of Kittery Point, there was the Reverend Mr. Litchfield, of Kittery, who was called the fisher parson, and his neighbor, Parson Chandler, who might have been called the farmer parson, for he was a celebrated tiller of the soil, and his example was a great blessing to the members of his Eliot parish.

The fields there slope to the south and west, and the grass grows green sooner than anywhere else in the region, and the fruits of the earth grow and ripen quickly. He taught his neighbors to improve upon the old fashions of architecture. An old friend of mine told me that once he was driving from Portsmouth to Berwick, in his early manhood, with Daniel Webster for company, and when they passed this clergyman's house Mr. Webster said that he should be perfectly satisfied if he could be as great a man as Parson Chandler; and judging from the stories of his wisdom and eloquence, the young lawyer's was no mean ambition.

Mr. Litchfield, of Kittery, spent much of his time on week days in the apostolic business of catching fish; and he was a man of rare wit and drollery, with a sailor-like serenity and confidence in everything's coming out right at last, and a true mariner's readiness and intentness when there was work to be done. Once, at a conference in Portsmouth, the preacher failed to come, and some one had to furnish a sermon in his place. It fell to Mr. Litchfield's share; and old Dr. Buckminister said, when the discourse was ended,—it being extemporaneous and very eloquent,—"My friends, the fisher parson beats us all!"

It is interesting to find that many of the clerymen of that day seem to have been uncommonly practical men. One fancies that they all preached the better because much of their time was spent in a way that brought them in close contact with people's every-day lives. It was no ideal human nature, studied from sermons and theological works, and classified and doomed at the recommendation of the old divines. One can believe it was not abstract generalities of a state of sinfulness so much as particular weaknesses and short-comings that they condemned from their pulpits. Parson Litchfield could preach gallantly at some offender who stole from and lied about his lobster-pots when he took his text from Ananias and Sapphira, and Parson Chandler could be most impressive and ready with illustration when he chose the parable of the sower for the subject of his discourse.—SARAH ORNE JEWETT, in October Atlantic.

AROUND HOME.

The stench from the north pond was overpowering, Saturday night. Persons living a mile away from it were nauseated, and obliged to shut doors and windows as close as possible. Something will have to be done about abating this nuisance before long, or the nuisance will abate the population of the city.

During the continuance of the New Hampshire state fair at Laconia, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, the Concord railroad will sell tickets from this city to Laconia and return at $3.50 each, including a ticket of admission to the fair grounds. Tickets good from now until (and including) the 23d; to be procured only at the ticket office.

Dr. J. L. Cabell of Virginia, president of the National Board of Health, and Dr. Stephen Smith of Bellevue hospital, New York, a member of the board, were in this city last week, examining the hospital at the United States quarantine station. An inspection of these stations between Newport, R. I., and Portland, with a view to the establishment of a uniform system of quarantine regulations throughout the ports of the country, has been made by these eminent professional gentlemen. They were accompanied on their visit by Dr. M. F. Wentworth, the physician of the marine hospital in this city.

The fish commission steamer Lookout cast off from the mooring buoy off the navy yard at nine o'clock Saturday morning, and steamed away for Cape Ann.

Mr. Thomas S. Gay has taken passage on the ship Grandee, Jacobs master, for Yokohama, Japan. Mr. Gay has been ill for some time, and hopes by the aid of sea air and change of scene to repair his health. He intends to come home by way of California.

The big stone trough and iron "fountain" which drew forth the uncomplimentary comments of so many people last week, were carted away from in front of the post-office on Saturday, and deposited in the court house yard. When first put in position, the fountain was so low that a man of ordinary height would have had to kneel or lie down to get a drink; then it was elevated on a brick pedestal about two feet high, and was knocked over twice inside of two days,—once by an alderman who undertook to show a citizen how nicely the thing would work, and once by another high city official. Then the whole lot of gear was carted off, as above related, to the great delight of a large number of people.

W. F. Nason's gondola, the Sturgeon, was on Saturday discharging at Sise's wharf a load of 7000 bricks for A. B. Trefethen, from Sturgeon creek, Eliot. At the same time a gundola from Mathes' brick-yard in Durham was landing 15,000 bricks in the rear of Plaisted's store, this finishing a contract of 200,000 bricks for the new church.

The schooner Nettie Adams was at Tredick's salt warehouse on Saturday, taking in salt for Elvin Newton's use at Lunging island, Isles of Shoals.

Gilman Colby, M. D., who for two seasons past has edited the Bar Harbor Tourist, a paper published at Bar Harbor, Mt. Desert, Me., during the season of summer travel, was in town on Saturday. He predicts a great future for Mt. Desert.

It is stated in Kittery that Mr. A. Stevenson, owner of the steamer James Sampson, has leased or is in some way to take the Gerrish house at Kittery Point, and that he will have it kept as of yore as an attractive summer boarding-place. We hope the rumor is true, and that with ferry connections the place will be filled another season with summer visitors.

Mr. Thaxter, of Gerrish's island, Kittery, has purchased a lot of timber with which to rebuild the old wharf at Bra' Boat Harbor.

Chief Constructor John W. Easby, U. S. N., will go on the retired list on December 18, 1881. He has therefore just three months more of active service before him. The officer who is believed to have the best chance of succeeding him is Naval Constructor Theodore D. Wilson, now stationed at the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard. Mr. Wilson will be promoted to the rank of commander on the retirement of Mr. Easby, the official register which gives him that at present being in error. Mr. Wilson is a vigorous and efficient officer, and his selection as a member of the naval advisory board shows that he stands well at the navy department.—Army and Navy Register.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, new Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. 1239

Farmington comes to the front this month in the matter of inventions. Lester Allen takes a patent for trimming attachment for sewing machines, and Geo. A. Jones has one for a railway tie.

The church at Centre Ossipee has undergone important repairs and improvements, having been newly furnished and placed in thorough order.

Michael Call, a married man thirty-five years old, living in Great Falls, attempted to commit suicide on the 16th inst. by hanging himself with his suspenders, while suffering from delirium tremens. His wife spoiled his plan and the suspenders by cutting him down before life was extinct.

Amiel Wentworth, aged forty-one years, fell fifteen feet from a beam in his barn at East Lancaster, Sept. 16th, and was instantly killed.

Contributions in money received for the Michigan sufferers by the relief committee at Concord, up to Friday noon, amounted to $552. The number of packages of clothing sent in to the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association up to the same time numbered twenty-five.

Executive Meeting.

At a meeting of the governor and council, Sept. 16th, the following nominations were made: State prison—Frank S. Dodge, warden; A. K. Crosby, physician; S. Holman, chaplain. Bank commissioners—John D. Lyman of Exeter and Buel C. Carter of Dover. Board of health—Dr. C. H. Harsch of Dover and Dr. Irving A. Watson of Northumberland, for two years; Dr. Granville P. Conn of Concord and Hon. James A. Weston of Manchester, four years each. Commissioners on county insane paupers—Hon. Jeremiah Smith of Dover, Dr. F. A. Stellings of Concord. The following resolution was passed.

Resolved, by the governor and council duly assembled, That friends and relatives of representatives of this state who have served in the congress of the United States, be cordially invited to present to the state portraits or busts of such deceased persons, that the same may be preserved in the state capitol, or in any suitable building that may hereafter be erected for that purpose.

Fall Pasturing.

The dairyman who pastures ordinary meadows in the fall rob his next crop to an extent that he does not realize. The writer was conversant with a case where seventy-five acres averaged, regularly, about 130 tons of excellent hay when no pasturing was allowed; and the owner having a tenant who had been rather unfortunate, allowed him to pasture some twenty-five cows upon the aftermath of these meadows for a single fall; and the consequence was a reduction of the yield from 130 tons down to sixty tons, the next season, and the yield was never recovered until reseeding. It was estimated that the whole value of the twenty-five cows in the fall was not equal to the injury of the next crop on the seventy-five acres of meadow. This practise of pasturing meadows is one of the most ruinous of the mistakes among dairymen, and causes them often to be so short of hay as to injure the yield of their herds in the spring. Good feeding through the winter lays the foundation for a good yield of milk the following season, with good cows. Good meadows are very essential to success in dairying, and therefore this question should be most carefully considered.—Live Stock Journal.

GUILFORD, CT., May 15th, 1868.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

THE END.

President Garfield Dead.

THE VICE PRESIDENT SUMMONED.

Secretaries Windom and Hunt, and Postmaster General James, arrived at Long Branch late on Saturday night. Lincoln was expected to arrive on Monday, and Blaine on Tuesday.

Sunday, the 18th, was an uneventful day with the President, but there was little encouragement to be gained. Dr. Boynton in the evening said to a reporter: "I do not think the low pulse and temperature of last night and this morning favorable indications; the low pulse and temperature, the sound sleep and the freedom from cough and expectoration, were indications of a very low state of vitality, and cannot be considered as favorable symptoms. If he grows stronger there will be a rise in the pulse and temperature, and his cough and expectoration will return. He has had fever to-day. At about eleven o'clock there was a rise in temperature and the pulse reached 120; the cough returned, and he expectorated considerable quantities of pus. He also had a heavy perspiration to-night. At about six o'clock he had a chill lasting ten minutes. His pulse reached 140; it is now 122. As to the cause of the chills, it is possible they are merely a reflex of the President's low state of vitality; but in all probability they are a result of suppuration process going on in some part of the body. Probably there is an extension of the lung trouble." Secretary Mac Veagh's despatch to Minister Lowell, at a late hour at night, said:

The President passed a comparatively quiet and comfortable day, but this evening he had another chill of less duration than that of yesterday, but sufficient to increase the very great anxiety already existing. He has also been slowly growing weaker, and his present condition excites the gravest apprehensions.

On Monday morning at 8:20 o'clock the President had another rigor, and all hope was given up. At 9:20 his pulse had risen to 143, and his mind was wavering. At ten o'clock Dr. Agnew said there was no hope, and Secretary MacVeagh telegraphed to Vice President Arthur as follows:

It is impossible to conceal from ourselves that the President is rapidly growing worse. The two chills occurring within fourteen hours warn us to be prepared for any affliction with which God in His mercy may afflict us.

At three o'clock it was announced that "The President has passed the greater part of the day since the chill very quietly, and without material change. The family and all others have practically abandoned hope, and are devoting themselves to making his last hours as comfortable as possible." The end of the long struggle was announced at 10:50 in the evening, by the following official bulletin:

LONG BRANCH, 10:50 P. M., 19th.

LONG BRANCH, Midnight, 19th.

The death of the President was a great shock. Everybody, even those who had abandoned all hope, were unprepared for the sudden event of his death at the time. He was resting quietly at ten o'clock, and Attorney General MacVeagh sent a despatch to Minister Lowell dated ten P. M., and said that no imminent change was anticipated. At 10:15 the suffering President awoke, and complained of his cough and pain in his head. Dr. Bliss was quickly summoned, but when he arrived the President was almost gone, and breathed his last at 10:35. Vice President Arthur was officially notified, and requested to take the oath of office as early on the 20th as possible.

The brig Clara J. Adams, well remembered here having been wrecked on both sides of the Beacon ledge in this harbor some years ago, was totally lost two miles from the Highland light-station, Cape Cod, Sunday night, while on the trip from Portland to Philadelphia with a cargo of ice. All hands saved. She registered 416 tons, and was owned in Lubec, Me.

One of the attractions of the York County Agricultural society's annual cattle show and fair, to be held at Saco and Biddeford on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, will be a baby show in Saco city hall. A prize of $5 gold piece will be given "to the most beautiful child in respect to form, features, complexion and intelligence," under six months old, and similar prizes to the winners in the classes between six and twelve months; and twelve months and twenty. A $2.50 gold piece will be given to the handsomest and best-developed twins under three years of age, and another to the baby with the reddest natural hair.

Mrs. Ellen Freeman, wife of Capt. Freeman of the schooner D. K. Ham, died at her home in Cape Neddick on Sunday.

Six men who happened to meet in a store on Market street one day last week took a notion to see how much they weighed, and found the total to be 1862 pounds, an average of 217 lbs. per man. The lightest of the party weighed 170 pounds, and the heaviest one 260.

The York County Baptist Association held its annual meeting in Kennebunk on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Rev. E. Worth was elected moderator, Rev. H. M. Sawtelle, of Lebanon, clerk, and Deacon Wm. Emery, of North Berwick, treasurer. The introductory sermon was by Rev. G. Robbins of Cape Neddick; other sermons were by Rev. Messrs. Chandler of Saco, Hill of Springvale, and Newcombe of South Berwick. Reports and discussions were had on the various religious objects. The woman's missionary meeting was conducted by Miss Parks of South Berwick.

A private clam-bake was had on one of the latest of the warm days, at Morrill's point, Sturgeon creek, Eliot; about forty ladies and gentlemen participated, several of the ladies being from Boston. Mr. John Roberts was master of ceremonies; the cooking of the "bake," which included the regulation green corn, lobsters, crabs, etc., was attended to by W. F. Nason, and Misses Mary Ann and Henrietta Morrill assisted in preparing the tables.

The Portsmouth savings bank is the second bank of the kind in the state as to the amount of deposits. The Manchester savings bank had $3,484,896, and the Portsmouth bank $2,602,849, at the date of the last return. The savings banks in the state have over thirty-two millions of dollars on deposit, and are likely to increase rapidly as to deposits, unless they reduce their rate of interest. Some of the banks now require new depositors to pay the state tax on the amounts now put in the banks.

—A mercenary little boy overheard a conversation between his parents concerning a wedding that was soon to come off, and recalled the subject at the breakfast table the next morning by asking the following questions: "Papa, what do you want to give the bride away for? Can't you sell her?"

Dr. George A. Ewell of Salem, Mass., was on Saturday afternoon arrested in Topsfield on a complaint charging him with the larceny of $150 worth of dental tools from Dr. A. S. Dudley of Salem, formerly of this city, with whom Ewell was formerly in partnership. A portion of the stolen property was found on Ewell and identified by Dr. Dudly, by his private marks. Ewell was taken to Salem and held to answer in $300.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

THE SEASON AT THE SEA-SHORE.

Very many of our readers have a lively interest in the success of the hotels and boarding houses in places adjacent to Portsmouth. The company of summer sojourners in our vicinity, in their visits to town on their afternoon drives and morning calls, are patrons of our stores, and welcomed customers to many kinds of business which would be seriously diminished by their absence. For this reason,—that we might inform our patrons, who appreciate this important adjunct to our trade, as to the extent of the summer business after what was considered, as far as weather may be reckoned, a hard season,—a representative of our paper called upon Capt. Frank W. Hilton of the Rockingham and Wentworth with a view of eliciting information in this regard. [We call him "Captain" because, as many of our readers know, he commanded a company in the 16th regiment of Massachusetts volunteers in the war of the rebellion.] Our reporter found the captain at the Rockingham, and congratulating him upon the relief he must feel after the severe labors of the past few months, enquired if he was disposed to give him a few facts concerning the summer business at his famous seaside hotel.

Capt. Hilton, while decidedly averse to giving any statistics which would seem like intruding his business affairs upon the public, was quite willing to afford in a general way such information as was proper under the circumstances, and readily answered the reporter's inquiries, as will be seen by the falling conversation.

Rep. "What sort of a season has that of '81 been for business at the sea shore?"

Capt. H. "Considering the uncommonly bad weather continuing almost through the entire season, and the assassination of President Garfield, it has been on the whole far ahead of anything I had expected. The number of engaged rooms for this season was three times greater than at last year's opening. In nearly every case, these guests remained longer than was their intention when the rooms were engaged. In many instances, however, the bad weather caused engagements of rooms for brief periods (made by telegraph or mail after we had opened) to be cancelled."

Rep. "Have the larger number of the guests at the Wentworth been those who have been accustomed to visit this coast in the summer season in years past?"

Capt. H. "My impression is that a large majority of them are persons who have never been on this coast before. The annual patrons of the other hotels in this vicinity have been in the habit of sojourning at the places of their choice from year to year, and for various reasons are likely to continue so to do, but our patrons are new people to this region. Our guests have come from nearly every state in the Union, as well as from the Canadas. Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, and Louisville, Kentucky, have been more largely represented than any other cities of the west and south. Very many of these visitors have seen New England for the first time, this season."

Rep. "I should like to enquire in regard to your patrons of former seasons, returning during the past summer."

Capt. H. "With very few exceptions, all of our season boarders of '80 were at the Wentworth for the past summer."

Rep. "Do persons who come here from the west for the summer, in your opinion seemed to be benefitted by their sojourn at the Wentworth, and to feel satified that a sea-side stay is of service in a sanitary point?"

Capt. H. "Most of the heads of families of our patrons from the leading cities of the west are prominent business men, who come here with a strong desire to breathe sea air at our house. They are not inclined to leave, but remain to get, as they term it, a season of rest, and to prepare for the business demands upon their systems in the winter. Their entire families seem to appreciate the atmosphere at the Wentworth, and leave it with regret. These are men of wealth and refinement. They want the best service, and are willing to pay for it; and they are of course the most liberal patrons of the house in the duration of their visits, etc., and at their departure, remark frequently upon the improved condition of their health and strength."

Rep. "Are guests inclined to evince their appreciation of the efforts exerted by the management of the Wentworth for the enjoyment and comfort of its patrons?"

Capt. H. "Yes, I should think so, decidedly. I attribute the success of the Wentworth to the liberal manner in which these have been put forth. My experience has long ago convinced me that very few people fail to appreciate a liberal outlay made for their benefit in matters of this kind."

Rep. "How about the manner in which they have been entertained?"

Capt. H. "Well, in regard to that, perhaps the best indication would be the manner in which the engagements for next season are already arranged."

Rep. "What is the present outlook for the next season?"

Capt. H. "Remarkably good. From the large number of rooms already engaged, I have no doubt we shall have all the guests we can accomodate."

Rep. "To what special causes do you attribute the success of the Wentworth under its present management?"

Capt. H. "First, to a judicious system of advertising, with advantages of location certainly unexcelled, and then, to our determination to keep the best house on the coast, such as the patrons of the Wentworth have the right to expect."

Rep. "I suppose it requires a great outlay to gratify the tastes of such a large number of guests as were entertained by you this season?"

Capt. H. "Yes. You would think so if you had to pay the bills. For instance, our beef bill alone amounts to over four thousand dollars, while we paid over sixteen hundred dollars for the single article of butter. The pay-roll of help in the house, including boatmen, was over ten thousand dollars. Yes, it takes a trifle of money to run a hotel of this character, but I am happy to say that every bill is paid, and we have enough left to put in our ice for next year!"

Rep. "Well, I am glad you have had such a successful season, as all of our readers will be glad to know, and I am obliged for your courtesy in answering my enquiries."

As our reporter was about to take his departure the captain said, "have a glass of wine?"

Rep. "Thank you. None of us on the CHRONICLE ever take wine when on duty—except when asked. By the way, you import some of your wines, I am told?"

Capt. H. "Yes. We import in the wood all of our clarets. We are able to furnish our guests a better article at less price by this means. The kind we served the past summer we purchased at Bordeaux, and it was bottled upon our premises. It has been pronounced by good judges to be of superior quality."

The interview here closed.

AROUND HOME.

Mayor Sise on Monday arranged to keep the telegraph office open all night, in order that if President Garfield should die at a late hour the mournful intelligence might be promptly communicated to the citizens by the tolling of the bells for an hour. Shortly before midnight the first strokes were sounded, telling that the bullet of the assassin had at last finished its work.

The steamer Popham, Dinkley master, of and for Bath, Me., from Boston, put into this port on Monday on account of the fog and heavy sea outside, and moored at the steamboat wharf.

A new and elegant lithographic view of the buildings of the Portsmouth Brewing Co., taken from a sketch made by Prof. Goldstone of Boston from Badger's island, opposite the city, represents the water side of the brewery and river front, with the Piscataqua in the foreground and the steamer Appledore on her way to the Isles of Shoals. The tun-room and coopers' shop facing the river are given with great accuracy, the whole making a fine picture. This lithograph, on iron sheets, is furnished by the Wells & Hope Co. of Vine street, Philadelphia. The company have sent a thousand of them to their customers throughout New England. The Portsmouth Brewing company's ales and porter have a good run in the market, and there is a steady demand for all the brewery can produce.

"The Kerry Gow" was given at Music hall on Monday evening, to an audience which though fair in point of number was far less than was merited. Joseph Murphy is a superior actor, the support is strong, and the piece is full of fun.

The schooner Maud B. Wetherell, Hontvet master, arrived on Sunday from the banks with 190,000 lbs. of cod. She wet her salt after leaving this port, and had to get more in the provinces. The schooner Mary S. Hontvet arrived on Monday with 140,000 lbs. of cod. She lost a man eight days before her arrival, the last day's fishing on the banks, through the swamping of a dory containing two men. One of the men was saved, but the other, who belonged in Liverpool, Nova Scotia, was drowned.

The schooner Nettie Adams, Captain James Burke, leaves for Lunging island, Isles of Shoals, this morning, with salt for Mr. Elvin Newton, also taking out the gang of twelve men who will fish from that island until about Dec. 1st.

On Monday forenoon, as Mrs. Samuel Trefethen and Miss Emily Webster were coming from Rye in a wagon with a load of oats, when near the premises of Jos. R. Holmes on Sagamore road the breeching of the harness broke, and the horse ran away, striking the wagon against the fence at Josiah Grover's, breaking both shafts and clearing himself from the vehicle, afterward keeping on as far as the Hall place, where he was stopped. Miss Webster was considerably injured; she and Mrs. Trefethen were taken home by Mr. Holmes.

By the advertisement in another column it will be seen that Victoria Loftus' British Blondes and variety show will appear at Franklin theatre on Wednesday evening. This is said to be a first-class variety entertainment, meeting with the most liberal patronage.

Eleven sword-fish were purchased by George Herbert & Co. on Monday, most of them for shipment.

The schooner Hattie Lewis, Garland master, was in the lower harbor on Monday, bound from an eastern port to Malden, Mass., with a cargo of quartz to be used in the manufacture of sand-paper.

Mrs. E. B. Goodall having been invited by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to give an entertainment under the auspices and for the benefit of the society, has consented, and the entertainment will be given some time in October.

The schooner Albert Woodbury of this port, Downs master, arrived in Boston Friday last with fifty-five barrels of mackerel, stocking $414. The schooner Addie & Hattie arrived Thursday, and sold her sword-fish at $8.60 per hundred pounds.

Three large sticks of red oak were last week brought down from South Berwick by gondola, and landed on the Appledore steamboat wharf, where they are to be sided out ready for placing in position as sills of the wharf at Appledore island, Isles of Shoals.

The pump at the Eastern railroad well, which for several weeks had been lifting water from a depth of 270 feet, all flowing into the bore from above 240 feet having been shut off, had the gear changed on Saturday, and on Monday commenced pumping from a higher level, the water above the 240-foot point being allowed to flow in freely, and all below that point being cut off. Judging from the smell of the water lifted on Monday, passers-by were of the opinion that the well tapped the north mill-pond, and the hope was earnestly expressed that not only all the water in the pond, but ten or twelve feet in depth of the pond's bottom, might be pumped out and sent off to sea.

Probably the greatest fall in real estate ever seen in Portsmouth was witnessed on Monday forenoon, when a workman cleared the gutter of the building in Exchange block, near the CHRONICLE office, which is soon to be occupied in the first story by the Portsmouth Trust & Guarantee Co. as a banking room. The accumulation of leaves and dust had formed a rich mould, upon which grew a crop of tall grass which from its high character ought to take a premium at any ordinary county fair, and it filled the sidewalk to a great extent as the carpenter sent it in solid chunks to the pavement below, where it shew the solidity of its formation by the heavy thud it gave as it struck the brick walk.

There were more boats sailing about in the lower harbor on Sunday last than on any previous day for many weeks; some of them ran outside, but soon ran in again, the sea being rather too heavy for comfort. The numerous flags which for some months have been visible all along the coast had dwindled greatly in number, only two being in sight—at Pocahontas point and on "the lookout" at the Burnham farm, Gerrish's island. During the latter half of the afternoon there was a steady stream of coasters and fishermen in by Whalesback, the heavy sea and thick fog inducing them to make a safe harbor for the night; most of them came to anchor in Pepperell's cove.

The Exeter Gazette of the 15th inst. says: "The crew of the Big Casino, consisting of four Exeter men, who have been stopping at Weeks' grove, Greenland, for the past three days, have slaughtered seventy-five grey squirrels, one fox, and a large lot of marsh birds."

The President's Wound!
In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.
While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. 1629

The detectives who are still hunting for the highwayman who robbed Frank W. Andrews near the Glen house, report favorable progress. Several important clews were discovered, which may lead to the arrest of the highwayman. This is the first highway robbery ever committed in the White mountains.

A despatch of the 18th inst., from Plymouth, says: "Myron Pressy of Plymouth, while returning from Compton at three o'clock this morning, was attacked by highwaymen at Palmer hill, Compton. They fired several shots, which passed through the dasher, whizzing by Pressy's ear. One robber struck at him with a dagger, cutting a long slit in his overcoat, dress coat and shirts. Pressy, however, whipped up his horse and succeeded in escaping. It is supposed to be the same gang that committed the robbery at the Glen house a few days ago. Officers are in pursuit."

Gov. Gen. Lorne is just now, the butt of any number of jests at the hands of Canadian editors. One of the Dominion journals speaks of him as a "sweet soul who signs his name a few dozen times a year for the paltry sum of $50,000."

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

TO THE SUPREME COURT.

ETTA L. CLARK of Portsmouth in said county of Rockingham respectfully represents that on the eleventh day of April, 1875, at Alton, in the State of Maine, she was lawfully married by the Rev. Abner Hall, a minister of the Gospel, to Melvin J. Clark, then of Pembroke, in said State, and now in parts unknown; that she and her said husband resided together as husband and wife at said Alton, from the date of their marriage until the month of November, 1877, when, without sufficient cause, and without the consent of this libellant, said Melvin J. Clark abandoned her, and for more than the last three years together next preceding the filing of this libel, has refused to cohabit with her.

And your libellant further represents that said Melvin J. And she further says that she is the mother by the said Melvin J. Clark of one child, now living with her, and of the age of five years, namely, Roy M. Clark.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I nevare see before." all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 21, 1881.

The Late President.

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 20, 1:15 A. M.

The following official bulletin has just been issued: "Elberon, N. J., Sept. 19, 11:30 P. M.—The President died at 10:35 P. M." After the bulletin was issued at 5:30 this evening the President continued in much the same condition as during the afternoon, the pulse varying from 102 to 106, with rather increased force and volume. After taking nourishment he fell into a quiet sleep, about thirty-five minutes before his death, and while asleep his pulse rose to 120, and was somewhat more feeble. At ten minutes after ten o'clock he awoke, complaining of severe pain over the region of the heart, and almost immediately became unconscious, and ceased to breathe at 10:35.

The following despatch to Vice President Arthur, announcing his succession to the presidency, was signed by Secretaries Windom of the treasury, Hunt of the navy and Kirkwood of the interior, Attorney General MacVeagh and Postmaster General James:

It becomes our painful duty to inform you of the death of President Garfield, and to advise you to take the oath of office as President of the United States without delay. If it concurs with your judgment, will be glad if you will come here on the earliest train to-morrow.

The arrangements for the funeral were so far completed on the 20th that it was decided for the train with the body, the family of the deceased, the cabinet ministers and their families, and the surgeons, to leave Long Branch at ten o'clock A. M. on the 21st, and run directly to Washington.

Messages of condolence were received by Mrs. Garfield from Queen Victoria, the Prince of Wales, the Lord Mayor of London and other English notables, on the 20th.

President Garfield's death took place on the anniversary of the battle of Chickamauga, in which he, as General Garfield, took a distinguished part under Gen. Thomas.

President Arthur.

Chester A. Arthur took the oath of office as President of the United States at 2:15 o'clock A. M. on the 20th inst., in the parlor of his house on Lexington avenue, New York, before Judges Brady and Donohue of the supreme court, and a few witnesses.

Secretaries Blaine and Lincoln arrived in New York from the eastward in the morning, and without waiting for breakfast immediately called on President Arthur. The President and secretaries started for Long Branch at eleven o'clock in a special train, and arrived at Elberon at 1:20 P. M.

Jest and Jests.

David Mooney has been sent to the Massachusetts state prison for life, for murdering his companion thief, Edward Lavoie, in Boston about two years ago.

On Sunday night last George Stone of Salem, Mass., narrowly escaped being robbed by three men, while driving from Lynn over the Forest river road. Mr. Stone had been to Lynn visiting some of his relatives, and started home about eight o'clock. While he was driving through a piece of woods, two men sprang into the road and tried to catch hold of his horse's head, but he saw them in time to avoid them, and striking the animal with the whip escaped from their clutches. Mr. Stone says that he saw a third man just after he had passed the two, who was evidently an accomplice. A carriage containing a lady and gentleman was treated in much the same way as Mr. Stone's, but escaped by the swiftness of the horse.

During the vacation season the library of Yale college has received a collection of 17,000 German pamphlets, many of them old and rare, and most of them treating of points of law or politics. A curious volume has been loaned to the library. It is a bound volume of 147 manuscript sermons of Rev. Solomon Stoddard, written and delivered in the middle of the seventeenth century. Mr. Stoddard was the grandfather of Jonathan Edwards, and was, like his illustrious grandson, a minister at Northampton, Mass. These 147 sermons are written in so fine and close a hand that they cannot be decipbered without the use of a magnifying glass.

ON THE PISCATAQUA.

But to most people one tree, or flower, or river is as good as another, and trees and flowers and rivers are to be found without trouble, while there are some who would never know who has lived beside my river unless it were told here. That says at once that their fame at best is provincial, except for peppery little Captain John Paul Jones, who gathered the ship's company of the the Ranger from these neighboring farms. Old people, who died not many years ago, remembered him as he walked on the wharves at Portsmouth, with his sword point scratching the ground; a little wasp of a fellow, with a temper like a blaze of the gunpowder whose smoke he loved. One can imagine him scrambling up the shore here to one of the old farmhouses, as short as a boy, but as tall as a grenadier in his pride and dignity, and marching into the best room, in all the vainglory and persuasiveness of his uniform, to make sure of a good fellow whose looks he liked, and whom he promised to send home a gallant hero, with his sea-chest full of prize-money. And afterward he would land again at one of the stately old colonial mansions that used to stand beside the river, at the Wallingford house, by Madam's Cove, or at the Hamilton house, and be received with befitting ceremony.

There were many fine houses in this region in old times, but only one still lingers,—this same Hamilton house,—which seems to me unrivalled for the beauty of its situation, and for a certain grand air which I have found it hard to match in any house I have ever seen. It is square and gray, with four great chimneys, and many dormer windows in its high-peaked roof; it stands on a point below which the river is at its widest. The rows of poplars and its terraced garden have fallen and been spoiled by time, but a company of great elms stand guard over it, and the sunset reddens its windows, and the days of the past seem to have come back, when one is near it, its whole aspect is so remote from the spirit of the present. Inside there are great halls and square rooms with carved woodwork, arched windows and mahogany window-seats, and fire-places that are wide enough almost for a seat in the chimney-corner. In the country about I have heard many a tradition of the way this house was kept, of the fine ladies and gentlemen, and the great dinner-parties, and the guests who used to come up the river from Portsmouth, and go home late in the moonlight evening at the turn of the tide. In those days the wharves that are fast being washed away were strong enough, and there were warehouses and storehouses and piles of timber all along the river. The builder of the house was a successful man, who made a great fortune in the lucky West India trade of his time; he was poor to begin with, but everything prospered steadily with his business interests, and one owes him a debt of gratitude for leaving so fine a house to delight our eyes.—SARAH ORNE JEWETT, in October Atlantic.

Right to the Point.

The impression largely prevails that what is given to a minister for performing the marriage ceremony is given by courtesy—and generally the officiating gentlemen themselves are shy of fixing their fees, and calling them "wages." But now and then one is found who is less delicate and more definite. A minister out west, who has been troubled a good deal over marriage fees, issues the following circular and price list:

"One marriage, plain, two dollars. Ditto, trimmed with one groomsman and one bridesmaid, four dollars; fifty cents extra for each additional groomsman or bridesmaid. Bachelors past forty will be charged extra. Maids of same age, ten per cent off. Mileage will be charged in long distance matches. Liberal reduction to clubs. Payments in cash; no notes or securities accepted. No money refunded, or rebates made for poor goods. Come early and come often."

Important.

European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. tap15,92

A Tale of Chicago.

An editor in Chicago recently ordered a pair of new trowsers from the tailor. On trying them on they proved to be several inches too long. It being late on Saturday night, the tailor's shop was closed, and the editor took the trowsers to his wife, and asked her to cut them off and hem them over. The good lady, whose cucumbers or onion had perhaps disagreed with her, brusquely refused. The same result followed an application to the wife's sister, and the eldest daughter. But before bed time the wife, relenting, took the pants, and cutting off six inches from the legs hemmed them together nicely and restored them to the closet. Half an hour later the daughter, taken with compunction for her unfilial conduct, took the trowsers, and cutting off six inches hemmed and replaced them. Finally, the sister-in-law felt the pangs of conscience, and she too performed an additional surgical operation on the garment. When the editor appeared at breakfast on Sunday, the family thought a highland chieftain had arrived, for the trowsers reached only to the middle of his thigh.

—If a man's aim in this world be good, the chances are that he will miss fire in the next.

—William Penn was a very honest man. He would not rob the Indians of their lands. Not a bit of it. He honorably gave them several pounds of bread and some jack-knives for the territory of Pennsylvania. Such honesty cannot but be admired.

Irritation of the Scalp.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

TUESDAY, Sept. 20th; Clark, J.

The court came in at the United States court house, Tuesday forenoon.

Hon. Charles H. Burns, United States district attorney, soon after the opening of the court rose, and in a feeling manner communicated to the court the sad intelligence of the death of the President of the United States, and in this announcement paid a brief but eloquent tribute to the worth of the deceased, and moved that the court adjourn as a token of respect to his memory.

Judge Clark replied that when the President of the country lies dead it is meet that the departments of the government should stop, and proper respect be shown on the occasion. The court had a personal acquaintance with the deceased President, and a feeling and sympathetic reply was made to the remarks of the district attorney; and in concluding, the judge ordered the court to be adjourned without day.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

TUESDAY, Sept. 20th; Clark, J.

This is an equity suit wherein demurrers are filed, and the case is in order for hearing at Concord, Oct. 12th. The complainant is a lawyer of extensive practice in Detroit. The defendants reside at Plymouth, and the controversy relates to the disposition of certain claims of the estate of the father of the plaintiff, and his brothers the defendants Russell, etc. The bill is a lengthy one, and while in course of printing, after being sworn to and filed, the pltf. sought to amend certain sections of the bill by inserting additional statements therein, and to have it printed as if originally so placed when the bill was filed. The allowance was objected to by Hon. A. R. Hatch, one of the counsel for the defendants, and the question was argued by J. D. Bryant, Esq., of Boston, in support of, and by Mr. Hatch in opposition to, the allowance. The court said that the amendments might be filed, and that at the time of the hearing the question of their allowance could be decided by Judge Lowell, when he came to hear the bill. Bryant and Sweetser for compltt.; A. R. Hatch and Joseph Burrows for defts.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, special meeting, Tuesday evening, Sept. 20th, Mayor Sise in the chair:

The mayor stated that a special meeting of the city councils had been called to take action regarding the death of the President of the United States, and addressed the aldermen as follows:

The long agony of the past three months is over. Our President is dead. For the second time in the history of our country the hand of an assassin has removed its chief magistrate. Words at this time are of no avail; nothing can bring back to life our President; but the lesson of the hour will profit the nation much, if taken to heart; the death of President Garfield will not be in vain. Guiteau, in firing that fatal shot on the 2d of July last, did more to unite our country from north to south, from ocean to ocean, than all that has been done since the war closed; the heart of a mighty nation is now weeping in unison over the death-bed of our beloved President; but though the head of the government has fallen by the hand of a foul assassin, the Nation, one and indivisable, still lives.

The standing rules were then suspended in order to permit of the adoption of the following resolutions:

Whereas, Our city has been overwhelmed with grief by the murder of our beloved fellow-countryman and chief magistrate, James A. Garfield; and

Whereas, We desire to record an expression of our appreciation of his eminent public services and private virtues, and to manifest our sympathy in this great bereavement of our whole land—therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of our President we have lost a ruler in whom the country placed the firmest reliance, and in whose integrity, ability and honesty of purpose were recognized in a pre-eminent degree the scholar, the patriot and the statesman.

Resolved, That we deplore the murderous assault which resulted in his death, and while we apprehend that the violent deed was the act of an unbalanced mind, its consequences are thereby rendered none the less severe, and the violence that the cowardly assassin visited upon the President has through him reached the entire people of this republic.

Resolved, That we pledge our cordial support to the Hon. Chester A. Arthur, who in this trying emergency has been suddenly called to assume the duties of the executive, and that we entertain full confidence that his administration will be marked by a desire to carry into execution the designs of government adopted by his eminent and lamented predecessor.

Resolved, That in our present sorrow and bereavement we turn with hope to the Infinite Ruler of events for the consolation and encouragement we at this time so humbly need, and beseech Him that we may be filled with the same confidence in divine wisdom, and reliance upon human discretion, that inspired the eloquent subject of these resolutions to say, "God reigns, and the government at Washington still lives."

It was voted that the resolutions be sent to the common council for concurrence; and the latter-named body passed them under suspension of the rules.

It was requested that citizens keep their flags at half-mast until after the funeral of the late President; also that on the day of the funeral, of which notice will be given through the papers, that stores and places of business be closed; and that vessels which are in the harbor, or may be previous to or on the day of the funeral, be requested to half-mast their flags.

Adjourned.

AROUND HOME.

The Jay Rial Humpty Dumpty Troupe are to be at Music hall Thursday evening. See advertisement.

At an early hour on Tuesday morning the national ensign was displayed at half-mast from staffs on the premises of Capt. J. G. Moses, James F. Jenness, Alonzo K. W. Green and many others who during the last presidential campaign kept the motto "Hancock & English" flying; indeed, with but one or two insignificant exceptions, all the campaign flags of either party which could be hoisted, thus recognized the Nation's loss. The flags on the city building, the custom house, the Rockingham bank and other buildings, and the pole at Liberty bridge, were also half-masted; and the flag of the Knights Templar, of which order the deceased President was a member, was displayed from the asylum, draped in mourning. The city building and the armory of the Grand Army of the Republic were draped in black and white, as were the office of C. M. Gignoux in National block, D. F. Borthwick's dry goods store, the drug store of Andrew P. Preston, E. S. Fay's clothing store, and Butler & Laighton's grocery store. The vessels in port all had their flags at half-mast during the day.

Mr. Isaac Nelson, of Boston, was in this city last week. He is now seventy-four years of age, and still smart and active. Forty-five years or so ago he was a prominent democratic politician in Portsmouth. Mr. Henry Vennard of New Orleans, formerly a well known merchant of this city, has recently been paying a visit to his native place. Mr. C. C. Whittemore, formerly in the custom house here, and at one time keeper of a millinery store, was in the city on Saturday.

The house on the corner of Gates and Manning streets, known as the Peirce house and owned by Wm. Marvin, is being repaired and fitted for two tenements by Mr. Charles W. Norton. The house on Vaughan street recently purchased of Mr. Andrew H. Jones by Sewell W. Webber, has been raised several feet and had a wing put on, and will be practically a new house before it is through with. The house on the corner of Fleet and Hanover streets, partially burned some time ago, has also been raised and repaired, and is now a much better building than it was before the fire.

All work was suspended at the navy yard on Tuesday, on account of President Garfield's death.

On Monday evening, as Mr. Daniel E. Leavitt and wife were out riding, the horse took fright at a load of hay, and ran away. Mrs. Leavitt was thrown from the team and considerably cut and bruised, and the horse had a leg broken and had to be killed.

Work on the navy yard will be resumed this morning, to be continued until further orders.

Miss Martha Dow of this city was thrown from a carriage in Newington on Tuesday through the running away of the horse, and was almost instantly killed.

The mountain travel over the Eastern railroad and Conway branch is quite heavy. On Tuesday one of the longest passenger trains which ever passed this station arrived at 10:30 A. M., en route to Conway and places above; it consisted of seventeen cars, and two locomotives. September is the time to visit the mountains for comfort; October to gratify the eye.

The schooner Helen F. Tredick arrived on Tuesday afternoon with seventy-five barrels of mackerel. She reports the fish as very scarce.

Charles Peel, of Sawyers' mill, Dover, a short time ago caught a bass weighing thirty-three pounds at Piscataqua bridge, and on Sunday last took one weighing forty-five and three-quarters pounds.

Over forty vessels, a large part of them being coasters, on Tuesday sailed from the lower harbor, where they had put in for shelter.

A brakeman named Peaslee was killed on the Eastern railroad, near Hampton, on Saturday evening last. He was acting as fireman on the locomotive of a freight train, and while leaning out of the cab to look back at the train, was struck by the bridge and knocked overboard. The train was stopped, and the body searched for but not found. On Sunday morning it was recovered from a sand bar near where it fell. Deceased was twenty-five years old, and belonged in Brockton, Mass.

The revenue cutter U. S. Grant arrived at this port on Friday night of last week, under orders received from Secretary Windom. On arriving here other orders were found awaiting her, and she ran over to Gloucester, Mass., Saturday, to remain over Sunday. On arriving at Gloucester, Capt. Fengar found the schooner Admiral hung up on a ledge outside the harbor, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to pull her off, Saturday night. Sunday night the attempt was renewed, and after a prolonged trial the schooner was gotten afloat; had she remained on the ledge she would have gone to pieces before Monday morning.

The Newburyport Herald of Tuesday says: "The H. P. Macintosh steam fire association yesterday received an invitation from the Moses H. Goodrich steam fire association, No. 4, of Portsmouth, N. H., to visit that city. A meeting of the company will be held this evening to take action on the acceptance of the invitation. The Goodrich company were the guests of the Macintoshes last year in this city."

—Mrs. Homespun, who had heard somebody remark upon hunting in the English preserves, said that was just what her little Johnny did in hers.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the capital terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. 1829

Cutting Corn.

The season for cutting up corn will soon be upon us, for we already have the blade and the ear; therefore, those who have cultivated the crop carefully will soon look for the "full corn in the ear," in spite of the unfavorableness of much of the weather during the growth of the crop.

While a small proportion of farmers, so far as our observation extends, top their corn, or, in other words, cut the stalks; a much larger number cut it up by the roots when it is glazed, and put it in shocks. There are several methods of proceeding with the work, which may properly vary according to the weight of the crop and size of the stover, or fodder, as it is most commonly called.

One method is to cut about sixteen hills, setting it around one of the hills uncut, and putting a band of the same or a birch withe around it. We have never put it up in this manner, but have employed help who have done so in other places, and they have made objections to the plan.

Another plan of cutting, and one, we think, in more general use, is to cut and place immediately around a shocking horse, which is made as follows: Take a light, straight pole, about twelve feet long and three inches in diameter at the large end; near this end put in two hard wood legs about three feet long, boring so that they may spread enough at the ground to keep it upright; then bore two or three-inch auger holes, in such manner as to admit a long cross-pin at such height from the ground as to accommodate for the setting of corn of different heights. When corn is of fair size or undersized two hands can set up quite a piece in a day; one hand binding the shocks, while the other removes the cross-pin around which the corn is set, and dragging the horse along into position with pin inserted, ready to receive the next shock. Four rows may be carried along at a time, which makes a row of shocks of sixteen hills each. This is a rapid method; but there are two objections to the plan. One is, that if the corn does not stand upright at the time of cutting, and much care is not exercised in setting it up, some of the corn is liable to tip over on one side during the first storm, and each succeeding one, causing wet that does not dry off well, and the fodder is damaged in consequence. This might not be so much of an objection if the corn could be got in and husked as early as could be, safely, after the cutting; as the fodder secured before storms is much more valuable. The other objection to this method of setting up is, that where corn is well cared a shock of sixteen hills is a larger weight than a man ought to pitch into a cart at one forkful.

For good-sized corn we like the following method, which we have practiced several years, although it requires more binding than the others. This matter requires the corn to be cut and laid in bundles of four or more hills, according to the amount of fodder; these are to be bound, after drying a little, and shocked and bound again, with or without a horse, if the corn is to be husked soon, or if not they may be carried into large shocks of twenty bundles or more, and bound with flags or fodder corn, at the top; two hands first passing an inch rope or long halter around the shock, crossing ends and drawing tight before binding. Corn put up properly after this manner will stand, and keep till snow comes.—Cor. N. H. Patriot.

Nothing is so certain to produce torpid liver as continual dosing with quinine. It temporarily excites but finally deranges and impairs the functionary powers of this important organ. The effect of mercury and arsenic is to induce dropsical tendency. Do be persuaded to stop dosing and drugging, and use Dr. Holman's Pad. It is a precious boon to suffering humanity.

—The Pope can't run a newspaper and make it pay. He recently lost 90,000 lire in an attempt at the business. One liar to a paper is all that is required, and the Pope ought to have known better.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. The first dose of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure helped me, and, to-day, I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

G. H. RICHARDSON.

PADUCAH, KY., May 10th, 1867.

During a confinement of eleven months in Libby prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia in its worst form. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk one square. After taking two doses of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure I ate of everything on the table, felt no distress afterward, and have an excellent appetite.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

Daily Chronicle.

The "Æsthetic" Boston Girl's Costume and Gait.

The dress and manner of the intense young woman of Boston, writes a Hub correspondent to the Chicago Times, are worth a few words of description. She is wont to wear her hair combed straight back from her forehead, throwing into prominence her "bumps" of thought, ideality and reason. She wears a wide-trimmed hat, fixed firmly upon the back of her head, which accents the expression of her face as caused by the arrangement of her hair. She also wears a broad collar, sometimes made of lace, and again of linen, or a material to match her dress; affects a sort of loose blouse secured by a belt at the waist and wears a straight-cut or kilted skirt, which hangs sufficiently above the ground to show her trim buttoned boots, which are usually, if the truth be stated boldly, of a somewhat generous size. Her walk is of a most extraordinary and indescribable sort. To accomplish it, on stepping from a horse-car or a carriage, a peculiar and unvarying series of manœuvres is executed, which I look upon daily with a new and unfailing delight. Before getting under way the figure is erect and graceful enough, but immediately there comes a change. The knees appear to bend a little; at the same moment the body seems to sink slightly into the hips, and one perceives by the movement that the lady's form owes something to the bustle. The shoulders are then thrown forward and the elbows back, the forearm, meanwhile, being horizontal and the hands dangling like the forepaws of those singular animals, the kangaroos. The head is then tossed back in such wise that the chin attains a prominence evidently not intended by nature; the eyes are opened to a painful extent, thus giving a set and earnest expression to the face; a fixed and lightly-indicated smile just moves the corners of the mouth and displays whatever dimples may lie in the cheeks, and the young woman is ready for her promenade. The transformation above described is almost instantaneous, but its various steps are clearly marked and easily observed as they succeed each other. This result achieved, a decided movement animates the form: It rises slowly upon the toes of the French boots, teeters lightly thrice, and moves down the street in a series of wobbly, serpentine undulations, which set the head to bobbing backward and forward and to right and left, like one of those ingenious dolls which the Chinese delight to manufacture. The spine bends, shakes and shivers, and the arms flap irregularly in and out, much after the fashion of a chicken whose wings are wet. Words are feeble things with which to describe this phenomenon, which is, nevertheless, familiar to every observing Bostonian. It must require an immense amount of persistence to master the intricacies of this gait, and there is no doubt that physically it is very injurious, with its jarring of the spinal column, and its unequal and sudden strain upon the muscles. It is rarely seen in its perfection, although most of our young women of "ton" are assiduously practicing it, and displaying it upon the streets in all degrees of incompleteness. I have seen this gait nowhere else, and it may be taken as the exclusive accomplishment at present of the Boston young woman of culture and true intellectual tastes.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

—New York papers disclose that mussels are destroying the oysters. The muscles most destructive to oysters, however, are attached to the New York jaw.

Gents—I have been very low, and have tried everything, to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many, I concluded to give them a trial. I did; and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLER.

—Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines says she tried for ten years to find a flaw in her husband's character, but was unsuccessful. Happy woman! But such husbands always die very young.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

Portsmouth Chronicle.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 22, 1881.

The Late President.

The following official bulletin was prepared at eleven o'clock on the night of the 20th inst., by the surgeons who attended President Garfield:

By previous arrangement, a post mortem examination of the body of President Garfield was made this afternoon in the presence and with the assistance of Drs. Hamilton, Agnew, Bliss, Barnes, Woodward, Reyburn, Andrew H. Smith of Elberon, and acting Assistant Surgeon D. S. Lamb of the Army Medical museum at Washington. The operation was performed by Dr. Lamb. It was found that the ball after fracturing the right eleventh rib, had passed through the spinal column in front of the spinal canal, fracturing the body of the fifth lumbar vertebræ, driving a number of small fragments of bone into the adjacent soft parts, and lodging just below the pancreas, about two inches and a half to the left of the spine and behind the peritoneum, where it had become completely encysted. The immediate cause of death was secondary hemorrhage from one of the mesentric arteries adjoining the track of the ball, the blood rupturing the peritonium, and nearly a pint escaping into the abdominal cavity. This hemorrhage is believed to have been the cause of the severe pain in the lower part of the chest, complained on just before death. An abscess cavity, six inches by four in dimensions, was found in the vicinity of the gall bladder, between the liver and the transverse colon, which were strongly inter-adhered. It did not involve the substance of the liver, and no communication was found between it and the wound. A long suppurating channel extended from the external wound between the loin muscles and the right kidney, almost to the right groin. This channel, now known to be due to the burrowing of pus from the wound, was supposed during life to have been the track of the ball. On an examination of the organs of the chest, evidences of severe bronchitis were found on both sides, with broncho-pneumonia of the lower portions of the right lung, and—though to much less extent—of the left. The lungs contained no abscesses, and the heart no clots. The liver was enlarged and fatty, but free from abscesses. Nor were any found in any other organ except the left kidney, which contained near its surface a small abscess about one third of an inch in diameter. In reviewing the history of the case in connection with the autopsy, it is quite evident that the different suppurating surfaces, and especially the fractured spongy tissue of the vertebræ, furnish a sufficient explanation of the septic condition which existed.

President Garfield's Obsequies.

The following arrangements for the funeral services have been ordered by the Cabinet, and are given to the press for the information to the public: The remains of the late President of the United States will be removed to Washington by special train on Wednesday, Sept. 21st, leaving Elberon at ten A. M., and reaching Washington at four P. M. Detachments from the United States army, and from the marines of the navy will be in attendance on arrival at Washington to perform escort duty. The remains will lie in state in the rotunda of the Capitol on Thursday and Friday, and will be guarded by deputations from the executive departments, and by officers of the Senate and House of Representatives. Religious ceremonies will be observed in the rotunda at three o'clock on Friday afternoon. At five o'clock the remains will be transferred to the funeral car and be removed to Cleveland, Ohio, via the Pennsylvania railroad, arriving there on Saturday at five o'clock P. M. In Cleveland the remains will lie in state until Monday at two P. M., and be then interred in Lake View cemetery. No ceremonies are expected in the cities and towns along the route of the funeral train beyond the tolling of the bells. Detailed arrangements for final sepulture are committed to the municipal authorities of Cleveland under the direction of the executive of the state of Ohio.

JAMES G. BLAINE,
Secretary of State.

The body arrived in Washington on the afternoon of the 21st, and was carried to the rotunda of the capitol in accordance with the above arrangements.

When President Garfield's aged mother was informed by her daughter, Mrs. Larrabee, that he was dead, she said, "Then the Lord help me; for if he is dead what shall I do?" A little later, on reading a paper, she said, "It cannot be that James is dead. I cannot understand it. I have no further wish to live, and I cannot live if it is so."

A Day of Prayer.

Gov. Ordway of Dakota on the 20th telegraphed Gov. Foster of Ohio suggesting that a day be agreed upon by all the governors for memorial services throughout the country.

Gov. Smith of Wisconsin issued a proclamation naming the funeral hour of the late President as an occasion for general public service throughout Wisconsin.

Gov. Hagood of South Carolina recommended the people of the state on the day of the funeral of the President to implore the mercy of God upon our stricken country.

Gov. Jerome of Michigan recommended the people of Michigan on the day of the President's funeral to assemble in their churches and implore God's continued kindness upon the country.

The state officers of Kansas on the 20th adopted resolutions expressive of their deep sorrow for the death of the President; ordering all state offices closed for that day and the day of burial, and that the state house be draped in mourning for thirty days.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Sabrina Conant of North Auburn, Me., had an old lady's party, Saturday, Sept. 17th. There were present seven handsome girls whose united age was 547 years—an average of seventy-eight years each. Two of them were eighty-six years old, all of them had a jolly time, and none of them were afraid to tell their age.

Roland E. Burbank of Pittsfield, Mass., manager of the Burbank house, was accidentally shot through the leg by a friend, while out gunning Monday afternoon, Sept. 19th, at Onoto lake. The limb was amputated on the 20th.

Gen. Peyton Wise and Mr. L. L. Lewis fought a duel in the woods about eight miles from Warrenton, Va., on the 20th inst., pistols being the weapons. The result brings to mind the celebrated "Battle of Squirt—nobody killed and nobody hurt."

The republican state convention of Massachusetts on the 21st inst. unanimously renominated Gov. Long and the rest of the state ticket.

Marvin, the Richmond, Va., confidence man and bigamist, was on the 20th inst. indicted by the grand jury in the city named for forgery, bigamy and larceny.

Sixty thousand acres of land, much of it covered with valuable timber, have been burned over in Marion county, Cal., and the fire is still spreading.

At Lisbon, Me., Sept. 18th, Mrs. Henry Leisner, a widow about seventy years old, committed suicide by drowning herself in a well.

Charles B. Leavitt of Hingham, Mass., was sentenced to three months in the local house of correction in the district court at Abington, Monday, for the theft of 100 ears of corn. He has recently served a term for a similar offence. Leavitt was formerly cashier at E. H. White's store in Boston, and was major in a Massachusetts regiment during the rebellion.

The Ossipee valley fair, at Cornish this week, had a fine show of neat stock and sheep. Limerick had the best town team, Parsonsfield the best yoke of oxen, Limerick the best matched oxen, Cornish the fattest oxen, and Hiram the best pulling oxen.

The September term of the supreme judicial court convened at Alfred on the 19th inst., Judge Danforth presiding. There was a full attendance of the bar. There are three murder cases to come before the court at this term, and an unusual number of lesser crimes.

New Hampshire Items.

Six Pullman car conductors, running upon trains through Concord, have been discharged for passing people without any authority to do so.

Henry E. Richardson, eight years old, son of Francis Richardson of Sunapee, was drowned in Sugar river on Sunday, the 18th inst.

St. Paul's school, at Concord, where President Garfield's sons were at school last year, is heavily draped in mourning.

At a full meeting of the stockholders of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company, held Monday, Sept. 19th, it was unanimously voted to increase the capital stock from $250,000 to $500,000, owing to the enlarged and increasing business of the company. An amended charter was obtained from the last legislature permitting the above increase.

The opening day of the New Hampshire state and Belknap county fairs, on the 20th inst., was in every respect a success, except in the attendance, which was small. The display of cattle, sheep and horses was exceptionally fine, while the exhibits of the fine arts and agricultural implements were abundant.

—An American lawyer made a speech at a London dinner and took occasion to extol English hospitality. Monsignor Capel, the next speaker, rather pointedly said, "Are we New Zealanders, that our civilities should be referred to in such strains of astonished admiration?"

—The drum-major who ran away from Majuba Hill, when reproached with cowardice, replied, "I'd rather be a coward all my life than a corpse for fifteen minutes."

—"I declare I was never more impressed in my life with the foolishness of flies," exclaimed a boarder to his landlady, as a couple of winged voyagers embarked in his soup plate. "I do not understand you, sir," she said haughtily. "Well," he explained, "those poor creatures undoubtedly supposed that this stuff was thick enough to float 'em."

Irritation of the Scalp.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

A Serious Accident to a Railroad Conductor.

Travellers on railroads often pity the hard life of a conductor of the train. One of them has had his life brightened. George W. Barkdoll, of No. 625 Cherry st., Norristown, Pa., a passenger conductor on the Perkiomen Branch of the Philadelphia and Reading R. R., was asked by a friend to spend a dollar on him in the purchase of a half ticket in the 12th monthly drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery on August 9th, and he drew $15,000. He thinks of buying the road it is said. The 137th drawing comes on Oct. 11th, before which time M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., will be happy to reply to any inquiry made on the subject.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

At a meeting of the Grand Army post of this city, held Wednesday evening, a committee was appointed to confer with the city government, relative to holding a memorial service in Music hall or some church on the day of the funeral of President Garfield, when that day shall be definitely announced.

This committee will meet at G. A. R. hall this (Thursday) afternoon at four o'clock, to take action in the matter; and all members of the Grand Army are invited to be present.

POLICE COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 21; Batchelder, J.

John Wholley was complained of for an assault on James Hahr. The assault was so trivial that the respondent was discharged.

HUMPTY DUMPTY.

This evening at Music hall, Jay Rial's Humpty Dumpty company will appear. The Dubuque Times says of it:

Last evening Humpty Dumpty and his entire family made their appearance at the Opera House before a large crowd. He has often been here before, but never has he brought such an interesttng and funny family with him. From the very opening his audience felt highly pleased, and they laughed till their sides ached and their hearts thumped. Every actor and actress is up to his or her part, and not one movement was made which in any way interfered with the general smoothness of the play. A number of new features have also been added since Mr. Rial took the management of the company, which makes it still more interesting. The play will also be repeated this evening, and we advise all who desire to have a good laugh to attend and take their friends with them.

Tickets at Preston's. See advertisement.

AROUND HOME.

A dwelling house and barn at East Epping, owned by David F. Bartlett, were burned on the afternoon of the 20th inst. Loss $800; no insurance.

"Harper's Magazine" for October is a remarkable number for the beauty of its illustrations, and the interest and importance of its varied contents. There are upward of eighty finely-executed woodcuts, by ten different skilled engravers. Myers and Moses Brothers have it.

At a meeting of Steam Fire Association No. 1., of Newburyport, on the evening of the 20th inst., it was voted to accept an invitation from Portsmouth firemen to visit this city on Friday, the 30th.

A brakeman on the night freight train from Boston to Portland over the Boston & Maine railroad was struck by an overhead bridge two miles east of Dover on Tuesday night of this week, and killed. His name was Smith, and he belonged in Haverhill, Mass.

While Moses Gage was lying in bed awake at his residence at Dover Upper Neck, Friday night, he heard a noise and got up. In about a minute he saw a burglar on the premises, who made off when he heard Mr. Gage getting around. An examination discovered that the fellow forced his way into the cellar through a small open window. He succeeded in carrying off five lbs. of butter. A pail of milk was outside the cellar window, which it is supposed the thief forgot in his fright. Mr. Gage thinks the Pirate of the Piscataqua is around again.—Dover Democrat.

John McPherson, employed on the new church, while at work Wednesday forenoon, the 21st inst., fell from a staging to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet, striking on his back, injuring his spine, cutting open his upper lip, and badly cutting his head. He was attended by Dr. Whittier, but how serious his injuries are could not at once be told.

The fishing schooner Lady Leavitt arrived on the 21st inst. with nine swordfish, three of which were sold here to be retailed through the surrounding country, the remainder being sent to Boston. The wholesale price of sword-fish averages but about $2.50 per hundred pounds.

Fresh fish are very scarce in the market. Messrs. George Herbert & Co. on Wednesday of this week purchased 2000 lbs., brought in by small boats, and were glad to get even that small lot.

Between seven and eight cords of hard wood, and some nice spruce logs, drifted on shore at Lunging island, Isles of Shoals, the latter part of the week ending on the 17th inst.,—probably part of the deckload of some schooner, swept overboard by the heavy sea which prevailed that week. The logs will be used in making a new landing at the island. At the same time a quantity of hard wood was thrown on shore at Pocahontas point, and the shore of Gerrish's island to the eastward.

A Catholic convent and orphanage school is to be established at Dover, to be under the charge of ten Sisters of Charity.

Mechanics' block was very tastefully draped in mourning from the eaves to the ground, on Wednesday morning.

Mr. John E. Locke, the wharfinger of the Concord railroad wharf, in attending to the gates at the Market street crossing displays all possible care to guard the travelling public against accidents, and is never lacking in courteous civility.

Mr. Abram Bolin, a colored man representing the Zion Mission for the education of the colored people of the south, is in this city on business connected with the mission. This mission has in the south 1050 schools, to accommodate 350,000 children, the schools being under the general direction of Bishops Hood, Jones and Thompson of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Bolin has good credentials as a trustworthy agent of the mission.

The winter arrangement of working hours at the navy yard goes into effect today, the 22d, and until further orders the hours will be from 8:40 o'clock A. M. to 4:30 P. M., the dinner hour commencing at 11:30 A. M. and ending at 12:30 P. M.

The brig Clara J. Adams, ashore on Cape Cod, has gone entirely to pieces.

"Geraldine: A Souvenir of the St. Lawrence," a new poem, by a well-known American poet, has been published by Messrs. James R. Osgood & Co. It is a strange story of love, passion, and retribution. The great popularity of this form of literature, as exemplified by the metrical romances of Sir Water Scott, Owen Meredith, and Dr. Holland, gives reason to predict a wide circulation for "Geraldine." For sale by W. G. Myers.

A horse and wagon belonging to Mr. Patrick Quill, left standing in front of the store of George W. Stott on Hanover street, on Tuesday evening of this week, had disappeared when the person in charge went for it. The animal was a black mare, about thirteen years old, a little sprung in one of her knees. The harness was in fair condition, with a bridle having blinders. The wagon was a common market wagon, with red body and blue wheels, and both shafts spliced. Mr. Quill offers a reward of $25 for the return of his team, with evidence sufficient to convict the thief or thieves who took it.

The Opium Trade.

It is estimated that 225,000 pounds of opium are annually imported into the United States, of which 150,000 pounds are used illegitimately; that is to say, that quantity is consumed by opium-smokers and morphine injectors. The vice is about equally divided between the male and female victims, and once contracted is seldom cured. Unlike drunkenness, it can be carried on for years in secret and unsuspected; but it breaks down the system none the less surely than alcoholic stimulants. Nearly all the opium consumed in the United States is controlled by a New York syndicate.

Popular Mistakes in Farming.

As it is too wet to be at work among my field crops, I will try and do the next best thing in the interest of farming, by calling the attention of my brother farmers to mistakes that most of us are making in farming. I know I have been making them, and I observe that most progressive farmers are making them also. We are apt to think that because we highly manure a piece of land years back we can get a good crop of vegetables, such as potatoes, onions, etc., without dressing this year. This is a very common mistake. To succeed we must give a supply of good fresh plant food every year. This applies to fruit trees as well as everything we grow. One of my neighbors has raised potatoes successfully for nearly thirty years on the same spot, getting the highest price in the Bangor market for early potatoes, as high as $4 per bushel, realizing often $150 from half an acre. This land is heavily manured and a crop taken from it every year.

Another common mistake is that because our land is rich we can gain by crowding it with plants, particularly with garden vegetables, turnips, and often with potatoes. Turnips ought to be two feet apart each way; then if the land is rich the leaves will spread over the whole surface. We make mistakes in trying to get our milch cows through the winter too cheaply, or those coming into milking in the spring. I am now paying the penalty for this mistake in two heifers that came to the barn plump and handsome, but in raising calves have got poor, and would not now bring as much as they would last fall. I might go on enumerating farmers' mistakes, but as numerous as are our mistakes, perhaps our neglects are still more numerous.—Maine Farmer.

—Postmasters have been directed not to deliver scurrilous postal cards. They are also forbidden to read postal cards addressed to other parties. Therefore, when you drop a scurrilous postal card into the post-office you must acquaint the postmaster and his assistants of the fact, or they will be terribly perplexed.—Norristown Herald.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine.—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continue the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above.

The Blue Glass Theory Again.

Professor Schlager, director of a noted insane asylum at Vienna, announces the result of experiments made by him in relation to the blue glass healing theory, which at one time attracted so much attention in America as well as abroad. He had a room furnished with windows of blue glass, and had the walls painted of the same color. He then selected sixty persons who were more or less deranged mentally, and made them the subjects of experimentation for a period of three years, placing them at selected times in the blue room, and carefully noting the apparent effects upon them. He discovered that the abnormally aroused and excited temperament experienced a remarkably soothing and quieting influence in the blue light, and he expresses the conviction that with persons thus mentally deranged, with whom every other method of treatment has failed, this should be tried. He does not report any complete cures made by this means alone, but says that in most cases the treatment has proved beneficial, and he believes that if pursued systematically and persistently, the indications are that it will lead to complete restoration. In no case did it work injury. He expresses the intention to continue his experiments, and calls upon all associates and colleagues in the treatment of the insane to do the same, and make careful notes of their observations. Professor Schlager has also made valuable and interesting experiments in treating deranged persons of abnormally depressed or sluggish and apathetic temperaments, by exposing them in a similar manner to red light. His conclusions seem to be based upon careful and scrupulous study and observation, and are attracting attention.

Beggars.

In some instances begging is a profitable business. A California millionaire says that twenty years ago he and his wife came to New York. They had one hundred dollars. He was taken ill and had to be sent to a hospital. When he came out his funds were gone and he was a wreck, while his wife was but skin and bone. He walked the streets in search of work, but to no purpose. Utterly exhausted he sank to the pavement, and fell into a deep sleep. Suddenly waking he stretched his hand to his hat, which had fallen from his head. He was surprised to hear the rattle of coins. In it were twenty-seven pennies, which the public had thrown in while he slept. Overjoyed he went home, and with his wife had the first square meal of the week. "I determined then," said he, "that the public, which would not pay me for work, should give me a living for nothing." He disguised himself somewhat, and for three years followed, in different sections of the city, a system of begging. At the end of that time he had ten thousand dollars in bank, and had lived moderately all the time. He and his wife went to Chicago. Luck attended his adventures, and subsequently with twenty-five thousand dollars they went to California, where to-day they live happy, respected and rich. The story is true and carries its moral on its face. It's not probable that all beggars are well off, but it is probable that they are better off than they appear, while many are thorough shams and humbugs. —Exchange.

Flies and Mosquitoes.

A 15c box of "Rough on Rats" will keep a house free from flies, mosquitoes, rats and mice, the entire season. Druggists.

See Here.

You are sick; well, there is just one remedy that will cure you beyond a possibility of doubt. If it's liver or kidney trouble, consumption, dyspepsia, debility, Wells' Health Renewer is your hope. One dollar. Druggists. Depot Thacher's.

—Circumstances alter cases, says an exchange. A lady, in a ballroom, will wear a dress that would subject her to arrest, displayed upon the street. She will wear a bathing costume considerably curtailed at both ends, and stand the stare of a thousand eyes; but if by accident she should be seen in a robe de nuit, buttoned closely from thront to feet, she would raise the roof with her screams. O, fashion! thou art a great fraud.

To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If long hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before some organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and his whole constitution be built up to a better working condition.

—At a late meeting of the New York park commissioners Mr. Wales voted to dismiss a park laborer for smoking in the park during working hours, on the ground that the laborers who smoke sometimes set fire to the dry grass. Commissioner Lane observed that Mr. Wales was smoking, and said: "You wanted to dismiss a poor fellow for smoking a penny pipe in the park and you are smoking in the presence of the board; it is disrespectful to the board and the public."

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

—For some unknown reason, the Chinese government recently issued a decree commanding its subjects to abstain from shaving the head for a period of one hundred days. Detected in the act of disobeying this arbitrary injunction, nearly sixty persons in the city of Foochow alone were sentenced to receive a castigation with bamboo rods, and to pay a fine amounting to about $6.25 apiece. Before liberation the heads of the offenders were carefully painted and varnished, as a warning to other rebellionsly inclined citizens.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I nevare see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin disease, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 23, 1881.

The Late President.

Up to half-past ten o'clock A. M. on the 22d, over 25,000 persons had viewed the remains of the late President as they lay in the rotunda of the national capitol. A Washington despatch of that hour said: "During the entire night a steady stream of humanity poured through the capitol building to take a last look at the remains of the late President. A line of from five to eight thousand people now extends in two lines from the east front of the capitol for a long distance up East Capitol street, and are passing through the east door of the rotunda in two lines, one on either side of the remains, and out of the west door, at the rate of about four thousand per hour."

The acting governor of Colorado on the 22d designated the 26th as a day of mourning and prayer.

Gov. Long of Massachusetts on the 22d asked the people of that state to keep sacred the day of President Garfield's funeral.

Queen Victoria has ordered the court of St. James to wear mourning for a week in honor of the late President Garfield.

President Arthur.

Chester A. Arthur was born October 5th, 1830, in Franklin county, Vermont. He was placed at the age of fourteen years in Union college. Upon leaving college he engaged in school teaching, and took up the study of law, removing to New York city in 1850. He was very successful in his practice, gaining several slave cases of national importance. He early became the champion of the colored people. He was quartermaster-general of the state of New York under Governor Morgan during the rebellion. In 1871 he became collector of the port of New York, but was removed from that office in 1878 by President Hayes for civil service reasons. He is a widower. He is unquestionably a man of great ability and sterling integrity, no worse charge than that of being an ardent and successful politician having ever been brought against him. His conduct during the trying season included the murderous assault upon President Garfield and his death, was marked by a delicacy and a reticence under brutal and unprovoked newspaper attacks from his enemies, that go far to prove him the high-minded and honorable gentleman his intimate friends have always claimed him to be. There is at present no reason to doubt that his administration will be a wise and prudent one.

By the President of the United States of America,

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas in his inscrutable wisdom, it has pleased God to remove from us the illustrious head of the nation, James A. Garfield, late President of the United States, and whereas it is fitting the deep grief which fills all hearts should manifest itself with one accord toward the throne of Infinite Grace, and that we should bow before the Almighty and seek from Him that consolation in our affliction, and that sanctification of our loss which He is able and willing to vouchsafe. Now, therefore, in obedience to sacred duty, and in accordance with the desire of the people, I, Chester A. Arthur, President of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Monday next, the 26th day of September, on which day the remains of our honored and beloved dead will be consigned to their last resting-place on earth, to be observed throughout the United States as a day of humiliation and mourning, and I earnestly recommend all the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to render alike their tribute of sorrowful submission to the will of Almighty God and of reverence and love for the memory and character of our late Chief Magistrate.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington the 22d of September, in the year of our Lord 1881, and of the Independence of the United States the 106th.

CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

By the President.
JAMES G. BLAINE,

News and Notes.

Frederick Doe of Rockport, Mass., has been held in $7000 to answer to the charge of outrage upon Miss Alice Mason of Pigeon Cove, Gloucester, a respectable young girl seventeen years of age. The crime was committed on the night of June 17th, when Doe offered to convey the young lady to her home in his carriage from a ball at Pigeon Cove, and assaulted her on the way.

Fred W. Crowell of Boston, the young man who was accidentally shot at Livermore, Me., three months ago, died on the 19th inst.

The body of Henry W. Fiske, of Bangor, Me., who had been missing several days, was found on the 20th inst. in Cold Stream lake at Enfield, in five feet of water. A sack containing sixty-two pounds of rocks was tied around his neck. He attempted suicide a short time previous. He was fifty-four years of age, and leaves a widow and three children. No cause is known for the deed.

As the steamer Mt. Desert was leaving Sullivan, Me., on the 21st inst., the engineer, Erwin T. Johnson of Rockland, when in the act of rising from oiling the machinery was struck on the head by the valve rod, badly fracturing his skull and inflicting probably fatal injuries. He was taken to Rockland. His place has been filled, and the steamer makes her trips without interruption.

The Cape Ann Bulletin of Sept. 21st, under the heading of Rockport, says: "Schooner Lady Lincoln, Capt. Frank Coney, brought in 1150 lbs. of pollock on Saturday, which were taken to Boston on Sunday. On Monday, schooner Pamet, Capt. Joseph Coney, brought in 1500 lbs., and the Blanche Creamer, Capt. Wm. Smith, Jr., brought in 4672 lbs., of pollock. Fortunately for the fishermen, this year pollock have found a new name, that of 'Back Bay bluefish,' and where they used to bring fifty cents per hundred pounds, they now command two dollars and a half, the price paid for them on Monday."

Bring on Your Schooners.

The scarcity of tonnage this year has been without precedent in the annals of the port of Bangor, and is a source of much annoyance and material loss to shippers and all concerned in shipping. There is not at this writing over twenty-five sail in port, and these few are all engaged. So although $3 per 1,000 is offered on lumber to New York, $2.50 to Boston (and in one case $2.75 has been paid,) and proportionate rates to other places, business is almost at a standstill. From 150 to 200 vessels could find good business and quick despatch here, and the whole fall business depends upon their arrival.—Bangor Whig.

—There is a river of ink in Algiers. It is formed by the union of two tributaries, one from a ferruginous tract of soil, the other from a peat country, bringing gallic acid. Now if there were a few paste ponds and a scissors plantation in that neighborhood, what a grand place it would be for a newspaper office.

—America is ahead of the rest of the world even in the matter of pyramids. The great pyramid of Cheops, in Egypt, covers an area of fourteen acres. The pyramid of Pueblo, in Mexico, covers forty-four acres, and was originally 600 feet high. It is built of sun-dried bricks, and some very wise people think it is 7,000 years old.

—The Philadelphia authorities are experimenting with negro policemen. The first arrest made by one of them was that of an Irishman who was laboring under stress of whiskey. On the following morning, when his policeman appeared in court against the prisoner, the Irishman rubbed his eyes as though to clear his vision, and asked, in a tone indicating astonishment, "Did yez arrest me?" "Certainly I did," the policeman replied. "Great hivins!" exclaimed the prisoner, turning to the magistrate. "Here, shquire, take out your foine. To think that one of the Maloneys should ever hev come to this, to be arrested by a nayger!"

Notice to Mariners.

Washington, Sept. 18th—Notice is given by the lighthouse board that range lights will be exhibited for the first time on the evening of Saturday, October 1st, 1881, for the purpose of sailing vessels in passing through Horseshoe Bend, Delaware River.

The lights are in two groups, each group consisting of three lights—a rear light, fixed white, shown from a detached tower of open frame work, and two front lights, one fixed white and the other fixed red, shown from smaller frame structures, 16 feet high, corresponding in color to the color of the lights.

The first or lower of these groups is on Fort Mifflin reservation and about half a mile above the fort.

The second or upper group is in Howell's Cove about two miles below Gloucester, New Jersey. When the lights are exhibited the present Fort Mifflin light, as required by law, will be extinguished, and the fog bell at that structure will be removed about 60 yards from its present position, and directly opposite to the dock at Fort Mifflin.

Baltimore, Sept. 15th—The new lighthouse being erected in the Chesapeake Bay, off Cape Henry, is a gigantic structure, measuring from base to top 175 feet, with a diameter at the base of thirty feet and at the top of sixteen feet. There are six stories, above which are a service room, watch room, lantern room, and finally the roof. Its total weight is 1,700,000 pounds, 7,000 pounds of bolts alone being required to put it together. It nothing unforeseen occurs it will be ready for use in December. It is expected that when completed this will be the finest and strongest lighthouse in the world.

The fog signal on Seguin has been stopped. Due notice will be given when it is again put in operation.

On and after Oct. 15th, 1881, the characteristic of the fog signal at Block Island light-station, southeast end of Block Island, R I, will be changed to a blast of four seconds' duration, followed by intervals of thirty seconds, Thus: Blast four seconds; interval, thirty seconds; blast four seconds; interval, thirty seconds.

Washington, D C, Sept. 9th—On and after Oct. 1, 1881, a fixed red light of the fifth order will be exhibited from the lighthouse recently constructed at Borden's Flats, Mount Hope Bay, Mass. The apparatus lights 270 degrees of the horizon, and the focal plane is fifty feet above mean low water. The light should be seen in clear weather from the deck of a vessel fifteen feet above the sea, twelve and a half nautical miles. The structure is an iron tower standing on an iron pier filled with concrete. The pier and tower are red, the lantern black. Magnetic bearings of prominent objects: South wharf, Platville, South West one-half south; tower of lime mill, South East one-half South. A fog bell struck by machinery will be sounded during thick and foggy weather.

New York, Sept. 20th—The lighthouse board give notice that in Long Island sound the wreck of a schooner lies in the track of vessels one and one half miles NNE from Eaton's Neck lighthouse. Her topmast and part of her hull are out of the water.

Gustavus, crown prince of Sweden, and Victoria, only daughter of the grand duke of Baden, were married at Carlsruhe on the 20th inst. The king and queen of Sweden, the emperor and crown prince of Germany, the duchess of Saxony and the crown prince of Denmark were present.

Important.

When you visit or leave New York city, save Baggage Expressage and Carriage Hire, and stop at Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot; 450 rooms, fitted up at a cost of one million dollars, reduced to $1 and upwards per day. European plan. Elevator. Restaurant supplied with the best. Horse cars, stages and elevated railroad to all depots. Families can live better for less money at the Grand Union Hotel than at any other first-class hotel in the city. sep13,82

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

On Friday, 23d inst., the church bells of the city will be tolled at one minute intervals, from 3 to 4 P. M.

On Sunday, 25th inst., the bells will be tolled for one quarter of an hour, with intervals of one minute, previous to each service.

On Monday, 26th inst., the church bells will be tolled one hour, with intervals of one minute, at sunrise, noon and sunset; and I would respectfully request all of our citizens to close their places of business on that day.

At a regular meeting of Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., holden Sept. 21st, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Our beloved comrade and President, James Abram Garfield, has been removed from our midst by the act of the assassin, therefore be it

Resolved, That while mourning in common with the whole people the loss of the Chief Magistrate whose qualities of heart and brain had endeared him to all, we, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, are also called upon to mourn the loss of our beloved comrade and fellow soldier, whose bravery and ability in the field were only equalled by his qualities as an upright citizen, a wise statesman, and an affectionate son, husband and father.

Resolved, That the aged mother, faithful wife and loving children of our dead comrade have our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of great affliction, and that our greatest regret is our inability to lessen the measure of their sorrow.

Resolved, That in the heroic fortitude with which our comrade bore his long suffering and met death, we have seen an exemplification of those qualities that made the soldier dare and endure so much for his country. As a soldier he unflinchingly faced death; as a civilian he bravely met it, and when the assembly is sounded for the purpose of calling the long roll of the honored dead of the Republic, no name will appear with prouder honors than that of General James A. Garfield, its twentieth President.

Resolved, That G. A. R. Hall be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days as a slight testimony of our deep sorrow for our great loss.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

The committee appointed at the meeting of the post on Wednesday evening met on Thursday afternoon at the hall, and were called to order by Commander Smith. It was voted to hold a memorial service on Monday afternoon, Sept. 26th, at two o'clock, in Music hall, and that the clergy of the city be invited to briefly address the assemblage. A sub-committee of three members of the post, viz.: Comrades Smith, Nelson and Marston, was appointed to confer with a similar committee appointed by the city government, the joint committee being given full power to arrange all the details of the memorial meeting. It was announced that the proprietors of Music hall had generously tendered the use of the hall for the occasion.

It is hoped and urged that every member of the post who can possibly be present at the memorial service, will do so.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Sept. 22d, Mayor Sise in the chair:

The records of last regular meeting were read and approved.

The board appointed Ald. Vaughan and Caswell a committee to act with the committee of the G. A. R. in arranging the details of the memorial services at Music hall on Monday afternoon, the 26th.

Daniel L. Randall was granted permission to open street to repair drain. Messrs Hills and Haven were granted similar permission.

A communication from Lieut. N. J. Coffin was received, and referred to the committee on enrollment.

A communication was received from Dr. Fred E. Potter, asking that a fountan with circular trough be placed somewhere in the vicinity of Market square. Referred to the committee on streets, to report.

The mayor brought up the subject of the north millpoud, and said there could be no doubt that something must be done in regard to it. A long debate ensued, at the end of which Ald. Caswell moved the appointment of a committee to see what the pond can be bought for, and Ald. Caswell and Martin were appointed such committee.

A proposition in regard to the establishing of drinking fountains was referred to a committee to report.

The mayor reported that work at grading Short street had commenced; that some of the old cob-work needed repairing, and that several persons living on the street had asked for the extension of their drains; that earth in the rear of Mr. Shillaber's shop had been given to the city, for filling purposes; and that Messrs. Phillips and Hatch had offered to furnish gravel.

The city ordinance regarding steps was read, and there was a discussion concerning the step asked for by David Flynn. An alderman said that a rich man had built steps eighteen inches out on the street. The mayor said that the CHRONICLE stated that Dr. Hall's barn steps encroached on the street, but the city records showed nothing of the kind. [The CHRONICLE has never made any reference to the steps of Dr. Hall's barn.] The whole matter was finally referred to the committee on streets, to report.

A message was received announcing the Common Council in session.

The city treasurer appeared, and announced that it was necessary to raise $5000 on the credit of the city to meet a loan falling due in October next. He thought it could be raised at four per cent interest.

A discussion ensued in which Aldermen Stavers, Green and others took part. Stavers favored authorizing the treasurer to hire the money, to be paid by the next assessment; Green favored paying the bill at once.

A bill to enable the city to hire the funds needed was passed under suspension of the rules, and sent to the council, which body refused concurrence, and a committee of conference was appointed, but was unable to agree.

It was then suggested by the mayor that there was a sum of $3000 appropriated for an artesian well which could be transferred for the purpose of paying this debt, leaving but $2000 to be raised otherwise.

The question was at length postponed to the next meeting of the board.

A bill was received from the council, fixing the pay for caring for naphtha lights at eight dollars per light, in which the aldermen did not concur. Ald. Caswell said he should endeavor to look after the interests of the city as he would after his own private business, but he did not think $8 too much, as the work could not be properly done for less. A committee of conference was appointed, but no agreement was reached.

A communication from Dr. Potter was read, offering to present a circular granite fountain for watering horses and cattle, on Market square. Referred to Ald. Green.

There was some further talk, but no other business was done.

Adjourned for one week.

AROUND HOME.

The state convention of Baptists met in the Middle street church in this city on Wednesday of this week, the attendance being large and the exercises interesting. The session continued through Thursday.

The fish wharves were about the only ones that presented any signs of activity on Wednesday of this week. At Tredick's wharf a large gang of men were at work taking care of the Maud B. Wetherell's fare, and Watkins & Bailey were engaged in caulking the Flying Eagle, which has been lying up for some months but is now getting ready for a fishing trip. The Albert Woodbury, Downs master, was at Herbert's wharf, also fitting for another trip; on her last one she sold some of her catch of mackerel in Boston, at from three to twelve cents each. The Nettie Adams, Burke master, arrived in the morning from Lunging island, Isles of Shoals, having landed there Mr. Elvin Newton's salt and gang for fall fishing; she brought in most of the summer gang on her return trip.

Eastern railroad locomotive No. 83, Mr. James A. Corey engineer, running over the Portsmouth & Dover line, attracted much attention as it started from the station on Thursday morning last with the 9:50 train for Dover, on account of the neatness and excellent taste displayed in the arrangement of the mourning drapery.

On Thursday last Messrs. George Herbert & Co. bought seventeen sword-fish, brought in by the schooners Mist, Flying Cloud and Julia A., and 3000 pounds of haddock brought in by the schooner Charles Frederick of Boston; the largest of the sword-fish weighed 405 lbs., dressed. The schooner Rover's Bride arrived at Tredick's wharf the same day, with fourteen barrels of mackerel.

Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad bonds to the amount of $1000 sold at ninety-three in the Boston market this week. The brokers report that though they have orders for this investment, very little of it is to be found in the market.

Mr. Samuel W. Moses has at his store on Pleasant street a sunflower which measures thirteen inches in diameter, the leaves being seventeen inches across. It was raised by Mr. William Moses at his place on Rye road.

Mr. John E. Locke, had a fall at the coal pocket at eight o'clock Thursday evening, and was reported badly hurt.

The band of Jay Rial's Humpty Dumpty troupe paraded the streets at noon on Thursday last, followed by several carriages conveying the trained dogs of the combination and a lot of boys wearing enormous masks, and escorted by a big crowd of delighted boys and girls on foot. The band played again in front of Music hall just before the opening of the entertainment.

Schooner E. M. Cook, Ayland master, from Richmond, Va., with 464 tons of coal, and schooner from Rockland, Me., with a load of lime, arrived to J. Albert Walker on Thursday.

Hundreds of people have stopped in front of Andrew P. Preston's drug store in Congress block since Wednesday forenoon, to view with sad interest the very appropriate dressing of the windows in memory of the late President. In one window is a large framed portrait of President Garfield, and in the other a portrait of President Lincoln, both draped in black and white. In addition are displayed a copy of the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE of Jan. 1st, 1800, containing an obituary of George Washington; of the Portsmouth Journal of April 22d, 1865, containing an obituary of Abraham Lincoln; and of the Boston Globe of Sept. 20th, 1881, containing the account of the death of James A. Garfield. In the window of Frye & Co's express office, on the opposite side of the street, portraits of the late President and of Mrs. Garfield also attract much attention.

A fishing schooner whose name we did not learn arrived on Thursday evening about six o'clock with twenty sword-fish on board.

The suit of Marilla F. Ham vs. the city of Dover, for damages caused by a fall on a defective sidewalk in December, 1879, was amicably settled on the 21st inst., she accepting $1,000. She sued for $10,000.

The contractors' sloop, which was injured by being knocked adrift from her moorings at Gangway rock by the U. S. S. Lancaster at the time the latter vessel carried away the government moorings and smashed the "band-stand," is being thoroughly repaired on the marine railway at Kittery by Mr. Warren Keen.

The York County Association of Congregational Ministers met with Rev. D. S. Hubbard in the Eliot church, Sept. 19th and 20th. There were present Wilson of Biddeford, Gales of Kennebunkport, Morton of Wells, Freeman of York, Edwards of Newfield, Stone of Sanford, Lewis of South Berwick, Snow of Alfred, and Lapham, Methodist, of Eliot. Mr. Wilson gave a public sermon, excellent and highly appreciated, Monday evening, upon the subject of prayer, applying it specially to prayer for the President. The proper exercises of the association pointed largely in the same direction, and when, an hour before the time of adjournment, the death was announced, all else was laid aside, and the members spoke and prayed of that only.—Times.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, now Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

While Dr. Kennedy is engaged in the introduction of "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession at Rondout, N. Y., performs all the minor as well as capital operations of surgery. Address as above. 1e29

Campaign Slanders.

Perhaps, too, the flash of the assassin's pistol lit in many a heart a feeling of honest regret, before dormant and unconscious, that they had consented to see so good and so useful a man so pitilessly assailed in his private honor during periods of angry partisan contention, and a consequent wish to personally disavow this, and to make a part of it at least up to him in his dire misfortune.

Commenting upon this, the Providence Journal well says:

We may suppose that the expression of the Louisville Courier-Journal, of the regret which the political opponents of President Garfield must have been awakened to by the report of Guiteau's pistol, for the slander and detraction poured upon an honest man, represents the nearly-universal feeling among them. However insensible we may imagine that a man conscious of his own integrity and long used to the arrows of political warfare may have been, it could not be that a person of so warm and sensitive a nature as General Garfield should not have suffered from the wanton and vindictive slanders that were poured upon him in greater quantity and violence than in any previous campaign of modern history, even in the excitement and passion of the war, and which increased in violence and audacious criminality as his coming triumph became more apparent. He was thoroughly vindicated by the voice of the American people, and all detraction became as signally hushed as it was loud-voiced and virulent. Those who engaged in it were emphatically condemned, and their assaults were practically harmless. But it is none the less true that those who were responsible for the foul assaults upon the private honor of an honest man, must have felt a keen remorse, if they had a spark of honor and right-mindedness, when they found that reparation was no longer possible except in futile sympathy for a dying man. It is to be hoped that the lesson will be heeded, and that no future political campaign will be disgraced by slander and falsehood, as was that against General Garfield. Those of his opponents, like the Courier-Journal, who did not share in it, are to be congratulated, and have a special right to inculcate the lesson upon their party associates.

The first train over the Massachusetts Central railroad arrived at Hudson, Mass., Wednesday morning, Sept. 21st. The full board of railroad commissioners were officially present, and also President Boutwell, Treasurer Seymour, and Superintendent Allen of the road, Civil Engineer Hancock, H. D. Hyde, Esq., and Mark Seymour, bridge contractor. The commissioners made a thorough examination and inspection of the bridges and crossings, and expressed themselves highly satisfied with the condition of the road bed and structures. The approach of the train was an event at Hudson, large crowds being at the depot to welcome its arrival. With the approval of the commissioners, the road will be opened to the public at once.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I nevare see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 24, 1881.

The Late President.

Benjamin Dean, Grand Master of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States, on the 22d inst. issued the following general order "to all members of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar of the United States of America:" "You are hereby requested, as many of you as can without too great inconvenience, to attend the funeral of our brother, Sir Knight James A. Garfield, President of the United States, at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 26th instant. An escort at the funeral will be furnished by Oriental Commandery, No. 12, Cleveland."

By direction of Secretary Blaine, who acted under the request of Mrs. Garfield, the coffin was closed at about 6:30 o'clock on the 22d, the body having commenced to show signs of decomposition. At least 100,000 persons passed through the rotunda up to midnight on the 22d. During the day the British minister, by orders of Queen Victoria, sent a floral tribute which was placed at the bier of the President. It was accompanied by a card bearing the following inscription: "Queen Victoria to the memory of the late President Garfield, an expression of her sorrow and sympathy with Mrs. Garfield and the American nation."

On the 23d, at three o'clock P. M. the religious services at the capitol were held, at the close of which the body was removed to the Baltimore & Potomac railroad station, and started on its journey to its last resting place. An imposing procession accompanied the body from the capitol to the depot; and among the eminent persons who went on the train were Ex-Presidents Grant and Hayes.

President Arthur.

President Arthur on the 22d inst. a second time took the oath of office, in the marble room of the capitol at Washington, in the presence of the members of the cabinet, the justices of the supreme court, a few senators and members of the house of representatives (all who could be notified in time to be present,) also Gen. Sherman, Gen. Grant, Rear Admiral Nichols, Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Gen. Beale and a few others. Forty people in all were present at the time the oath was taken. This step was taken after a conference held about an hour previous between the President, Secretary Blaine and the attorney general. Very few persons knew that the oath was to be administered until the ceremony was over. The President and the members of the cabinet assembled in the marble room shortly before twelve o'clock. A few minutes before twelve o'clock Chief Justice Waite, in his full robes of office, accompanied by the associate justices, proceeded from the supreme court room to the marble room. The doors were immediately closed, and without any formality President Arthur arose, and standing upon one side of the centre table, Chief Justice Waite on the other, took the oath of office. The President's manner was calm and composed, and his response, "So help me God," was in firm tones and without a tremor. The President then read from manuscript notes the following address:

"For the fourth time in the history of the republic its chief magistrate has been removed by death. All hearts are filled with grief and horror at the hideous crime which has darkened our land, and the memory of the murdered President, his protracted sufferings, his unyielding fortitude, the example and achievements of his life and pathos of his death, will forever illumine the pages of our history. For the fourth time the officer elected by the people and ordained by the constitution to fill a vacancy so created is called to assume the executive chair. The wisdom of our fathers, foreseeing even the most dire possibilities, made sure that the government should never be imperilled because of the uncertainty of human life. Men may die, but the fabric of our free institutions remain unshaken. No higher or more assuring proof could exist of the strength and permanence of popular government than the fact that though the chosen of the people be struck down his constitutional successor is peacefully installed without shock or strain, except the sorrow which mourns the bereavement. All the noble aspirations of my lamented predecessor, which found expression in his life, the measures devised and suggested during his brief administration to correct abuses and enforce economy, to advance prosperity and promote the general welfare, to insure domestic security and maintain friendly and honorable relations with the nations of the earth, will be gathered in the hearts of the people, and it will be my earnest endeavor to profit, and to see that the nation shall profit, by his example and experience. Prosperity blesses our country. Our fiscal policy is fixed by law, is well grounded and generally approved. No threatening issue mars our foreign intercourse, and the wisdom, integrity and thrift of our people may be trusted to continue undisturbed the present assured career of peace, tranquility and welfare. The gloom and anxiety which have enshrouded the country must make repose especially welcom, now. No demand for speedy legislation has been heard. No adequate occasion is apparent for an unusual session of Congress. The constitution defines the functions and powers of the executive as clearly as those of either of the other two departments of the government, and he must answer for the just exercise of the discretion it permits, and the performance of the duties it imposes. Summoned to these high duties and responsibilities, and profoundly conscious of their magnitude and gravity, I assume the trust imposed by the constitution, relying for aid on divine guidance and the virtue, patriotism and intelligence of the American people."

After the reading of the address by the President, Secretary Blaine stepped forward and grasped his hand, and after him the other members of the cabinet and others present shook hands with the President. Ex-President Hayes arrived at the capitol soon after the ceremony of taking the oath was concluded, and, in company with Gen. Grant, shortly afterward left the capitol.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures, or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

AN APPENDIX.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 23d.

Mr. Editor: In your report Friday morning, of the proceedings of the city councils, in one matter at least you do the common council an injustice.

It was announced to the common council two weeks ago that it was necessary to raise $5000, to meet a loan coming due Oct. 1st, and that body originated a bill (on the recommendation of the joint committee on finance) giving the city treasurer authority to request bids for a loan for that amount, redeemable in five years and payable in ten, at a rate of interest not exceeding four per cent. This bill was passed and sent to the aldermen for concurrence, which they refused, and instead sent to the council a substitute enabling the mayor to hire the money for a year, rate of interest not specified, in which measure the council refused to concur, and still adhered to their original bill, which they consider the more wise and proper way to raise the money.

From reading your report the impression might be given that the council refused to raise the money.

COMMON COUNCILMAN.

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

A representative of this paper called at Dr. Potter's office on Friday to ascertain the particulars of the doctor's generous offer as to the stone drinking trough for Market square. After awaiting his turn among the callers, the doctor came to the outer office and was asked if he could spare a few minutes for the purpose indicated, to which he gave assent.

"I never thought anything about the subject," remarked the proposed donor, "until I saw that queer-looking affair in front of the post-office, and it occurred to me that there should be something better, located at a proper place."

Rep. "Do you think, Doctor, that there is really a need of facilities on Market square for watering horses, etc.?"

Dr. P. "Certainly. People from other towns, all through the year, and summer visitors especially, want this."

Rep. "Have you ever heard complaints because we had no public drinking place like the one proposed?"

Dr. P. "Frequently. It is a common remark among people coming to town by their own conveyance, that we ought to provide such a means of refreshing horses and men, especially during the summer months."

Rep. "What kind of watering facilities do you propose?"

Dr. P. "I want to put a circular granite trough fifteen feet in circumference, a foot and a half broad and three feet in height, so that horses may drink without being unchecked. This will enable three double teams to be watered at once. The waste water will run off into the reservoir for use in case of fire."

Rep. "Such an addition would, not only in its utility, but as an ornament, be noticeable, would it not?"

Dr. P. "Yes. I think it would present a creditable appearance."

Rep. "Have you ascertained the best way to obtain such a fountain?"

Dr. P. "Yes. I was in Concord this week, and conferred with the Granite Railway Co., who gave me their terms for the stone, and it could promptly be set up in place."

Rep. "I presume it would cost something handsome to have it placed, and in the style you suggest?"

Dr. P. "Oh, it will not cost the city anything. The stone will cost between four and five hundred dollars. I do not know either the cost or the manner in which the the water may be introduced, but the cost of the stone basin will of course be defrayed by me."

The influx of other visitors warned the reporter that his time was up, and he retired.

AROUND HOME.

The vestibule of the post-office was very tastefully draped on Friday, Mr. D. Webster Barnabee, who is one of the best amateur decorators we ever knew, having charge of the work.

Schooner Rebecca N. Atwood arrived at Herbert's wharf on Friday with 2445 lbs. of small cod and haddock, 3205 lbs. of hake, cusk and pollock, and seventy large cod-fish. The fare was bought by George Herbert & Co., and shipped to Boston.

All the locomotives of the Eastern railroad were draped in mourning on Wednesday and Thursday last, the mourning emblems to be worn until after President Garfield's funeral. On Friday forenoon we noticed that locomotive No. 72, George Dolman engineer, drawing train No. 11, in addition to the black and white draping had on its front, over the place where the number is carried, a picture of Gen. Garfield, with the frame concealed by drapery—a simple but very effective addition to the insignia of sorrow common to all engines on the road.

Mr. William Jenkins, who died on Friday, was one of the old-style boat-fishermen; he filled well and worthily his place in life, was a good citizen, and always had the good will of his neighbors and associates. Three of the old fishermen of the south end have recently died —Messrs. Jenkins, Meloon and Hardy.

During a sharp thunder-storm some weeks ago, lightning struck a beech tree on the opposite side of the road from Mr. Woodbury Seavey's house in Rye, breaking about half the tree to pieces. Though the tree was about two hundred feet from the house, splinters of the wood were sent into the yard close up to the building; and lumps weighing fifty pounds or more each were driven deeply into the ground around the tree. The house is protected by rods, and was not injured.

Mackerel have taken a turn westward, and a fleet of from one to two hundred seiners was on the Jeffrey's on Thursday, in full chase after them.

Eight sword-fishing boats were lying at the wharves on Friday.

Four car-loads of No. 1 Brownville slate arrived from Bangor over the Eastern railroad on the 23d inst., consigned to John H. Broughton, and destined for the new Episcopal church at the west end.

Mr. Edward H. Leslie, janitor of the custom house building, informs us that at half-past six o'clock in the morning on the 22d inst. a fine gray eagle, soaring above the building, lit upon the top of the flag-staff, and seemed to be interested in the fact that the flag was hoisted at half-mast; and after a short survey of the surroundings flew away, and was soon lost to view.

The schooner Mary Willey, Williams master, arrived on the 23d inst. from Bangor with 80,000 feet of long lumber and 250,000 shingles, to John H. Broughton. She sailed the same day for Appledore island, Isles of Shoals, where her lumber is to be landed for the new house to be built by Laighton Bros. & Co.

The schooner Susan Stetson, Raynes master, arrived at C. E. Walker & Co.'s wharf on Friday, the 23d inst., from Brunswick, Ga., with 111,000 feet of hard pine lumber for the new coal-pockets there. In addition, above 100,000 feet of spruce lumber and 100,000 shingles will be required to complete the building, the erection of which will be commenced at once; the plans are fully prepared, all the latest improvements having been adopted, the arrangement for screening coal being, it is claimed, ahead of anything previously known.

Members of Old Oaken Bucket Div., No. 2, S. of T., are requested to attend the regular meeting next Monday evening, as business of importance is to come before the meeting.

W. N. MELOON, R. S.

We believe the first public intercessions made in this city in behalf of the afflicted family of the late President, and also in behalf of the new President, were offered at St. John's church on Wednesday, Sept. 21st, (St. Matthew's day.) In the "Order for Daily Morning and Evening Prayer," the prayer-book provides a special supplication for the "President and all others in authority," and in many places where the order for daily service can be, and is conformed to, this prayer is said. It is good to remember that every morning and evening, therefore, the Episcopal church in this country, like the mother church in England, does not fail to implore guidance and blessing for those who, burdened with great responsibilities, so constantly need the common, united supplications of the people.

"Dark day" literature has been quite popular since the "yellow day," Tuesday, 6th inst. Among other documents published, is a letter written in 1785 by Dr. Samuel Tenney of Rowley, Mass., in reference to the dark day, May 19th, 1780, in which he says "the darkness was most gross in the county of Essex, the lower part of the state of New Hampshire, and the old province of Maine;" "in Rhode Island and Connecticut it was not so great, and still less in New York;" further, that "through the whole extent the lower stratum had an uncommon brassy hue, while the earth and trees were adorned with so enchanting a verdure as could not escape notice even amidst the unusual gloom that surrounded the spectator." The Salem, Mass., Gazette, in looking back over its old files, finds that its issue of July 5th, 1836, records the fact that on the Friday previous "the atmosphere exhibited quite an unusual appearance," not so dark as May 19th, 1780, but "very similar to the appearance on that day." The atmosphere is described "as of a yellow or very pale red, looking through the windows from within the house," and the "grass had a deeper shade of green than usual." It will be seen that the descriptions of these dark days of the olden time would answer very well for our recent one, the yellow sky and peculiar color of the grass and trees having been particularly noticeable in each.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

At the Pearl street church a Garfield memorial sermon will be delivered by the pastor on Sunday.

The offerings at the morning service at St. John's church, Sunday, will be devoted to the relief of the sufferers by the terrible fires in Michigan.

Mrs. Dick, of Boston, will lecture on Sunday in Good Templars' hall at quarter before three, P. M.

"The National Bereavement" will be the subject of Rev. Dr. Alden's sermon on Sunday morning, in the Middle street church.

Services appropriate to the Nation's loss and sorrow will be held at the South Parish to-morrow morning and evening, to which all are welcome.

Special services in memory of President Garfield at St. John's church on Monday, at two o'clock P. M.

In accordance with the proclamation of the President setting apart Monday next as a national day of mourning, services will be held at the South Parish in "reverence and love for the memory and character of our late Chief Magistrate" on the morning of that day at half-past ten o'clock, to which all are welcome.

The President's Wound!

In the issue of the Philadelphia Record of the 27th of July was published an article relating to the case of Capt. William Palmer, new Quartermaster Second Brigade New Jersey State National Guard, who was wounded at the battle of Mossy Creek, East Tennessee, in the winter of 1863. In that article the striking resemblance of the case to that of President Garfield, in many particulars, was pointed out, the authority for the statement being the brave captain, himself. A still better authority is Dr. David Kennedy, then surgeon U. S. General Hospital, West Philadelphia, who had had charge of the case, and performed the operation of removing the detached bone, and finally extracted the bullet—Capt. Palmer is living to this day in the bloom of health. Dr. Kennedy does not hesitate to say that many of his patients both in military and civil practice owe their lives to the wonderful healing and strengthening powers of his medicine called "Favorite Remedy." The doctor is in possession of an autograph letter from Capt. Palmer, attesting his indebtedness for his present good health to this medicine—"Favorite Remedy"—which he says has doubled the obligation which he felt to the doctor for the treatment of the captain's terrible wound.

Bulldozing Witnesses.

A few years ago it was the custom of a good many New Hampshire lawyers—there were some exceptions among the more able attorneys—to browbeat and bulldoze witnesses, and blackguard them in their pleas. This custom, owing a good deal to the action of Chief Justice Doe and Associate Justice Stanley, had fallen into disuse, and one court in this county [Hillsborough,] at any rate, was as polite and respectable in this particular as a Sunday school. It was reserved for a Massachusetts criminal lawyer to trespass upon the proprieties and decency of the court by reintroducing the attempted torture of witnesses in their examination, and the wholesale blackguarding of them in his plea. We refer to the lawyer who was counsel for Moran, indicted for breaking and entering the dwelling house of Mr. Frank Hutchinson. His treatment of Mr. Hutchinson and the Manchester police was shameful, and unwarranted by the facts. It elicited the severest comment from the members of the bar, and was not relished by the spectators. It is a practice of long ago in the Hillsborough county court, and it is a dangerous experiment to attempt its revival when the judges mentioned are presiding.—Cor. Boston Journal.

There is no doubt that the outrageous bullying and insulting of witnesses by lawyers, which was once almost universal, is decidedly on the decrease; but there is still far too much of it to be seen. We were never able to understand why a lawyer should not be a gentleman in court as well as elsewhere, nor why the innocent citizen who happened to witness the commission of a crime should be treated far worse than the actual criminal, as was (and is) often the case. We hope to live to see the day when all judges will enforce upon bullying lawyers a knowledge of the fact that reputable people have some rights to be respected, as well as criminals.

Persecution.

During the 14th century, when the Hebrew race was undergoing one of those periodical persecutions which it has been subject to during the long reign of events as recorded by history, since the birth of Moses, there lived in Ispahan an opulent Jewish merchant. Persecution, which always seeks a vulnerable point and never dares assail strength, fixed upon the Jew as a victim. The Cadi of Ispahan, from motives of jealousy and class prejudice, had made matters so unpleasant for the Jew that in despair he went to him and said, "You will not allow me to live here; where shall I go?" "Go to Bagdad," replied the Mufti. "But," responded the Hebrew, "your brother rules there." "Go to Ispan, then." "But your uncle is chief magistrate there." "Go to Damascus, then." "But one of your nephews rules there." "Then, if my family will not allow you to live in this world, go to hell." "Ah! me," replied the Jew, "you forget your respected father is dead!"

Dr. Henry C. Cole, mayor of Kokomo, Ind., was shot and killed Tuesday night, Sept. 20th, by a sheriff's posse. For years Cole has been suspected of crooked ways, and he has been shadowed by detectives for a long time. The sheriff's posse was watching the Spring mills, having had an intimation that the doctor intended that night to rob the mill. He had an accomplice, and they had carried four sacks of flour from the mill when fire was opened, resulting in Cole's instant death.

Gents—I have been very low, and have tried everything to no advantage. I heard your Hop Bitters recommended by so many, I concluded to give them a trial. I did, and now am around, and constantly improving, and am nearly as strong as ever. W. H. WELLER.

In New York, Sept. 22d, Frederick Latham shot his wife and her father, Henry Muller, and then shot himself, inflicting fatal wounds all around.

However watched by loving care,

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! ze ladies, za are so beautiful, such clear complexion I never see before" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

A timely memorial volume of President Garfield will be published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., this week. Its title is "Garfield's Words: Suggestive passages from the public and private writings of James A. Garfield." The volume will be "Little Classic" size, exquisitely printed and bound, and enriched with an admirable portrait and a memoir. The selections will contain all the notable passages in President Garfield's speeches, orations, magazine articles and letters. The compiler is Mr. William Ralston Balch. The volume can be obtained through any bookseller, or direct from Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

Dr. "Bull Run" Russell is writing an account of his late visit to this country. He will call his book "Hesperothen: Notes from the Western World," the name being imitated from Mr. Kinglake's "Eothen."

Grove Barnes of Ashley Falls, Mass., while driving on the road near Clayton, between Sheffield and Mill river, Sept. 21st, was struck by a stone thrown by a blast a short distance away, and was instantly killed, his head being knocked off.

Two girls stopped a passenger train on the Fall River & Warren (Mass.) railroad, just to buy a newspaper. The conductor was mad clear through, as it was on an up grade and he had to take his train half a mile back to get a fresh start. The girls didn't mind it.

Mrs. Emiline Steele of Seymour, Conn., who tried to cut her throat a few months ago, stole out of the house early Tuesday morning, Sept. 20th, and drowned herself in a well.

Rescued from Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the city hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half a dollar. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I laughed at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy them, when to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and to-day I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs, will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness." Sold by all druggists.

The most violent thunder storm of the season, lasting over an hour, passed over Manchester last Friday evening, commencing at six o'clock. The lightning was incessant, high winds prevailed, and much damage to fruit trees was done. Large limbs of trees were torn from the trunks, and considerable local damage is reported. Lightning struck and consumed some farm buildings west of the city.

Nearly all the roof and a portion of the sides of the long covered bridge in Bridgewater, four miles from Plymouth, were blown into the river Friday afternoon during a terrific thunder storm. The railroad track was covered somewhat with the falling timbers, but was cleared in season to prevent much delay to trains.

Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites, by restoring strength to the nerves and muscles of the stomach, cures dyspepsia, which is but the result of loss of nervous strength, followed by muscular relaxation.

Adam McAfee, aged about sixty-four years, was found dead in the kitchen of his homestead at Bedford early Friday morning. He appeared to be in his usual health at the hour of rising. Heart disease was the probable cause. He was employed in the fire alarm service in Boston for about twenty-five years, and returned to Bedford, his native town, five years ago. He leaves a family.

Man's Ingratitude.

This is an ungrateful world to say the least. A man will act like a lunatic when he has the itching piles, and declares that he knows he can't live another day, yet he applies Swayne's Ointment, the intense itching is allayed at once, he gets cured, and goes down to the lodge without one whit of gratitude. When asked why he looks so cheerful, he dodges the question by an indifferent answer. Its just like a man though, isn't it?

Portsmouth Chronicle.

MONDAY, SEPT. 26, 1881.

The Late President.

The first section of the funeral train, bearing the body of President Garfield, Mrs. Garfield and party, Ex-Presidents Grant and Hayes, officers of the cabinet, and others, arrived at Cleveland, Ohio, at 1:30 o'clock P. M. on the 24th. The second section, bearing the congressional delegations, etc., arrived twenty minutes after the other.

A Bright Record.

Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald, democrat, of Indiana, says of the late President: "I watched his course in the hall of the house of representatives, and can truly say of him that with all of his great ability—and it was great—his goodness of heart went in hand in hand with his ambition. I do not believe, when he closed his career in the house of representatives, that he had one single enemy with whom he had come in contact in public life. This consideration, so far as Gen. Garfield himself is considered, will be regarded as one of the bright spots in this general gloom. If Gen. Garfield was striving for immortality, so far as there can be earthly immortality he has achieved it, for his name will be among the most highly honored as long as this government shall last."

Shocking Accident.

A special train which left Pittsburg, Pa., at seven o'clock Friday evening, carrying the Washington correspondents and Columbia Commandry of Knights Templar to Cleveland, when at Brady's Run, thirty miles from Pittsburg, while crossing a high trestle struck a hand-car containing seven men, instantly killing four, and mortally wounding a fifth. The disaster was the result of the men's own recklessness, as they were aware the train was coming at a high rate of speed, and had seen a pilot engine pass but a few minutes before to keep the track clear.

News and Notes.

President Arthur on the 23d inst. issued a proclamation convening the United States senate on the 10th of October.

Lieut. Comdr. Francis W. Dickens, executive officer of the training-ship Constitution, was terribly and it is feared fatally hurt last week by the fall of a yard from aloft, being struck on the head, and knocked down with such violence that his back was shockingly bruised. His head was terribly cut, and his skull probably fractured.

To those studying vocal culture the announcement that Mr. John O'Neill will this winter receive private pupils will be a welcome one. Mr. O'Neill has long been well known in Boston, where many successful singers bear strong testimony to his conscientious labor in the work of his art, and his new departure will meet with the success due so conscientious and able an instructor. His new room is at 146 Tremont street, where he can now be found.

Intelligence received from the Warner observatory, Rochester, N. Y., announces the discovery of a new comet located in the constellation of Virgo. It is a striking coincidence that this new and bright comet appeared at the same hour President Garfield was breathing his last. It was first seen by E. E. Barnard in Nashville, Tenn., who has made claim through Prof. Swift for the Warner prize of $200 in gold. This makes the fifth comet seen since May first, and of this number four have appeared from almost the same spot in the heavens.

Two women stopped a train near Waterbury, Conn., recently, by waving a red shawl, and told the engineer that a man who apparently wanted to kill himself, had just gone down the track. The train moved on slowly and found the man lying drunk across the rails.

Chronicle Correspondence.

ILLIOPOLIS, ILL., Sept. 17th.

This town is situated on the Great Wabash line of railroad which runs from Toledo to St. Louis. It is further located by saying it is on the line between Decatur and Springfield. It is 16 miles from the former and 23 from the latter. Decatur, outside of Chicago, is the most extensive railway centre in the state, and as is well known Springfield is the capital of the state. In this town a little south of the depot is the geographical centre of this state. It was once thought to locate the capital here, but it not being near enough to Sangamon river the idea was abandoned; a bee line from Chicago to St. Louis passes right through this town, and such a line of railroad has been surveyed. However, the project is not making much headway at this time. The first settler who came to this section of the country made his appearance in about 1829. This town did not begin to be settled until at the close of the war, and has made its growth since. This is entirely an agricultural country, and is excellent in that respect. The soil is of the finest prairie land. The people here during a severe drouth are more favored than during a wet season. While in other sections of the country the people are suffering from the drouth the farmers here have excellent crops, and as a consequence they are prospering greatly. This makes trade good, considerable building being done, and a well contented set of people. The reason of the good crops in this section of the country during the drouth is this. The rich prairie land extends all over this section of the country for the depth of 18 feet. Below this rich soil is a hard impervious clay. When it rains the rain sinks down through the soil to this layer, and there it accumulates. When the hot weather comes on the water commences to evaporate; as it grows hotter the evaporation increasing, the surplus water keeps coming to the surface and moistens the roots of the corn and keeps it in a fresh condition. The water supply is full enough to last through any dry season. In fact there is so much water in the ground here that there only few houses in this section of the country that have cellars, because as soon as one digs a few feet below the surface the water rises and fills the excavation. The water is of a hard, slimy character. Rain water has to be used for washing purposes. Illinois stands first in the states of the Union in the exportation of wheat and corn. This town helps furnish its quota in corn and wheat. There are two large grain elevators in the town, and they are kept busy nearly all the time. One day last week, 22 car-loads of grain was sent from this place, they being filled by the elevators in two days. Wheat is being sold here for $1.25 per bushel, and corn for 55 cents per bushel. Wheat averages 20 bushels to the acre and corn forty bushels per acre. The wheat is sold and exported mostly to St. Louis. One of the elevators ships all its corn to a grist mill, it having a standing order to that effect. A. B.

Hints for Mothers.

When your daughter performs a task in an ill-fashioned manner, always say, "There; I might as well done it myself in the first place," and then take the work out of her hand and do it yourself. This will encourage the girl not to try to do the thing right next time she is about it.

Never permit your son to have any amusement at home. This will induce him to seek it in places where you will not be annoyed by his noise.

There is no place like home. Impress this truth upon your children by making home as disagreeable and unlike any other place as possible.

Never neglect the lock on the pantry. Some boys have probably turned out first class housebreakers all on account of this judicious treatment in early childhood.

Never permit your children to contradict. Let them know that that is your peculiar prerogative.

In chiding your children's faults never forget to mention how much better the Jones children behave. This will cause your little ones everlastingly to love the Jones children.

Take frequent occasion to tell your children how much more favored their lot is than yours was when you were a girl. It is always pleasant to be constantly reminded of their obligations.

Don't let your sons indulge in any kind of outdoor games. Keep him to his books. It will make a great man of him some day, if he should happen to live.

Your girls should never be permitted to romp. Let them grow into interesting invalids, by all means.

Be gentle and courteous before company; but if you have a temper let your children have a taste of it as often as convenient. A mother should never practise deception upon her brood.

Talk slightingly of your husband to your boys and girls. This will make them respect their father.

Tell your child he shall not do a thing, and then let him tease you into giving your consent. This will teach him what to do on subsequent occasions.

Make promises to your children, and then neglect to keep them. This will lead your children not to place too much reliance upon your word, and shield them from disappointments.

When your boy gets comfortably seated in the easy-chair, take it from him. This will induce him to appreciate a good thing when he grows older, and stick to it—a seat in a crowded horse-car, for example.

Tell your children they are the worst you ever saw; and they will no doubt endeavor to merit your appreciation.—Boston Transcript.

English and American "Society Novels."

There is nothing definate in American society for the dramatist to get hold of. It is all but impossible for an American author to make his high-bred heroine commit a mesalliance, unless he marries her to her father's coachman, or to a railroad conductor, or to a policeman. Even this will not properly thrill the reader, for the conductor may possibly become president of the road, or the policeman may run for mayor, and get elected, or the coachman may turn up a millionaire through dabbling in Bell Telephone stock. If any of those things happen, the line which separated the reluctant father-in-law and the impecunious son-in-law instantly disappears.

It is not so in English society. A man or a woman who marries outside of his or her sphere does something really dramatic and permanently wretched. The difficulties which environ two lovers of different rank in life furnish the novelist with endless situations. The daughter of an earl falls in love with a son of a plain country gentleman, and there's a farce, or a comedy, or a tragedy ready made, with parks and practicable castles, and fashionable sea-side resorts with real water, for scenery. We have the scenery, to be sure, dropping the castles, but we haven't the dramatis personæ. A well-educated, gentlemanly young American, with a fair success in his profession or business,—let the business be something in the way of banking,—is a match for any American girl, whatever her surroundings. An English girl may wed just an admirable person, and in so doing commit a dreadful faux pas.

The condition of life in the Old World, the sharply drawn social distinctions, and all the rest of it, give the English story-teller an immense advantage over his American cousin. Where are our cathedral towns, with all the vast ecclesiastical machinery which turns out pompous bishops by the dozen and sentimental curates by the gross? Where are our penniless younger sons and opulent elder brothers? Where is our standing army to get red-breasted lovers from? Where are our picturesque marriage settlements and the old family notary, with all that sort of thing, don't you know? The English romancer has at his disposal a hundred types of men and women unknown among us. No wonder our novelists have to take their young women and their young men abroad in order to find background and opportunities for them! The heroes and heroines of American fiction ran across now as regularly every summer as any other class of fortunate beings.—October Atlantic.

Western Lamb Skins 60 to 85c each.

The trade for beef cattle was not much different from that of one week ago. Cattle ruled higher at the west, and prices for the best grades of cattle have advanced from 5 to 10c per 100 lbs over those of our last quotations. The demand for shipping cattle has been lighter, and quality of western beeves in market was not so good as those in one week ago. Shipping cattle sold at 6 3-4 to 7c per lb live weight; poor grades of cattle at $3 75 to $4 75 per 100 lbs live weight.

Working Oxen have been in fair demand of late and there has been a good supply brought in from Maine. We note sales of 1 pr, girth 6 11 4 in, live weight 2300 lbs, $190; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 6 in, live weight 2400 lbs, $190; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 8 in, live weight 2700 lbs, $190; 1 pr, girth 7 ft five weight 3000 lbs, $145; 1 pr, three year olds girth 6 ft, 5 in, live weight 2400 lbs, $160.

Store Cattle—Store yearlings $11 to $15; two year olds $16 to $27; three year olds $26 to $45. Prices depend much upon their value for beef. We quote sales of 14 store heifers at $14 each; 13 two year old heifers at $20 per head.

Milch Cows—Milch cows sell quick; common grades not so active. We quote sales of 4 milch cows at $24 to $30 each; 2 new milch cows for $470 the lot; 1 fine Ayrshire cow and calf, $50; 1 cow and calf $64 50.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were owned by butchers, and cost from 6 to 7c per lb landed at the Abattoir. Eastern sheep and lambs were taken by butchers to slaughter and market at a considerable profit.

Swine—Store Pigs—Trade slow, small pigs selling at $2 50 to $ 5 50 per head, or from 7 to 10c per lb live weight. Fat hogs 7 to 8c per lb live weight.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen.—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

A DAY OF MOURNING.

Gov. Charles H. Bell on the 22d inst. issued the following proclamation: "I recommend that the day on which the mortal remains of the late President of the United States are to be committed to the tomb, namely, Monday, the 26th day of September instant, be observed by the people of New Hampshire as a special day of mourning for the death of our honored and lamented Chief Magistrate; and that suitable religious and memorial services be held on that day in the several cities and towns throughout this state."

In accordance with the request of the chief magistrates of the state and nation, and as a mark of respect to the memory of James A. Garfield, no work will be done in this office to-day; hence no CHRONICLE will be issued to-morrow.

All the schools of the city will be closed for the day, and the bells will toll for an hour in the morning, at noon and at sunset.

The general delivery at the post-office will be open from eight o'clock to 10:30 this forenoon, and from six to 6:30 in the afternoon. Box office open all day.

A BEACH RAILROAD.

The Concord correspondent of the Boston Journal writes: "There has been for some time more or less discussion concerning the building of a beach railroad on the New Hampshire coast. One proposition, which has a considerable number of supporters, is for a narrow-guage line from Hampton to Rye. W. S. Hills of Windham and others advocate the construction of a road which should start from the Exeter depot on the Boston & Maine route, proceeding thence to Hampton station on the Eastern, and thence, two and a half miles, to Boar's Head; then turning along the coast to the Rye beaches and beyond, terminating at Portsmouth. There seems to be a general demand for more extensive railway facilities along New Hampshire's Atlantic line."

"FUN AT THE CAMP-FIRE."

On Thursday evening, the 29th inst., "Fun at the camp-fire" will be presented at Franklin theatre. Of this entertainment the Haverhill (Mass.) Gazette of Sept. 13th says: "The audience that gathered at City hall last night to witness the presentation of 'The camp-fire,' must have been happily disappointed. They certainly were not looking for such an entertaining programme of specialties as was presented. Soldiers know what a 'camp-fire' is; the social hour in which the old times are lived over again, particularly the attempt to interest and amuse each other, with jokes and games. This was the substance of the entertainment of last night. The company embraces fifteen good actors, each a specialist, and each in his specialty not often surpassed by artists who visit our city. Mr. John Byrne and Messrs. Holden, Pitts, Hankins and Church, the burnt cork artists, kept the audience delighted with their performances, calling down long continued applause. Mr. Byrne in his musical specialities was simply immense, and it will repay everyone the outlay of time and money to see him. Both the Dutch and Irish comedians, Messrs. Ellsworth and Wilson, sustained their solos in a very creditable manner. Mr. George W. Lakin's recitations are specially fine, his rendering of 'Rocked in the cradle of the deep,' commanding a hearty encore. Master Patsey Connor's Pat Rooney imitations' are good. But what will interest our 'City Guard' more than any other feature is the 'lightning Zouave drill' of Maj. Gorman, certainly as skillful a presentation of the 'manual of arms' as is often witnessed. His drum solos are another specialty."

AROUND HOME.

Miss Morgan's school re-opens on Wednesday next, the 28th inst.

Sunday was observed in this city as a day of mourning, for the late Chief Magistrate of the nation. Instead of the usual ringing of the church bells, they were tolled fifteen minutes before each service. All the churches in the city were appropriately draped, and discourses were delivered by the pastors, and music was rendered, fitting to the sad occasion. The attendance at the churches was large, and all seemed to feel the sad solemnity of the services. To-day memorial services will be held in the forenoon at the Unitarian and Catholic churches, and at Music hall in the afternoon, the latter under the auspices of the City Government and Storer Post G. A. R.

While Mr. Charles Foster was assisting in taking down the door of the old safe of the Mechanics & Traders' bank, Saturday evening, the door in some manner fell upon one of Mr. Foster's arms, causing a very bad fracture.

The schooner Velocipede is reported as having gone ashore on Saturday on the rocks just below the Narrows point. She had discharged a cargo of salt at Doane's wharf, and had started for Nova Scotia with spars for the schooner Governor Goodwin, and drifted ashore at the place named. The steamer James Sampson attempted to get her off on the high tide of Sunday, but after parting two lines gave up the attempt. The tug Naumkeag was to go to her aid on the high tide of this morning.

F. H. Marr, of Kittery, who has been engineer of steamers Mystic and James Sampson, and was formerly owner of the steamer Little May, took charge of the tug Naumkeag on Saturday last, in place of Capt. Amee, resigned. Capt. Marr is a young man of good ability, and has the best wishes of his friends for success in his new position. Mr. Harry Watson of Newmarket, a well-known up-river pilot, will take command of the boat when she goes above the Portsmouth bridge.

In accordance with the proclamation of the President setting apart Monday, 26th, as a national day of mourning, services will be held at the South Parish in "reverence and love for the memory and character of our late Chief Magistrate" this morning at half-past ten o'clock, to which all are welcome.

We have received from our former townsman D. Horace Holman, now of Lewiston, Me., adjutant general of the Grand Army of the Republic for the department of Maine, a very neat memorial circular containing the general orders of the department commander in regard to the death of Comrade James A. Garfield.

It it reported that the Boston Museum company will come to this city in October, and produce "Patience," the "aesthetic" comic opera by Sullivan and Gilbert, the authors of "Pinafore." The representations of Patience will be resumed at the Museum on Tuesday, the 27th inst.

The schooner Anna H. Mason, of Gloucester, arrived at this port on Saturday with sixty-three barrels of mackerel taken the afternoon previous. Many of the fish weighed two and a half pounds each.

The schooner Seventy-Six, Robinson master, from New York for this port, when off Cape Poge on the night of the 21st inst. was in collision with an unknown vessel, and lost her jib-boom and sustained other trifling damages. She put into Edgartown and made temporary repairs, and sailed for her destination on the 22d, arriving on the 24th.

Our esteemed friend, the Dover Democrat, is sure that if the democrats of New Hampshire had the chance, they would vote down that anti-bribery bill, ten to one. So sure of this is our esteemed friend, that it would bet $100 against a mint julep. Now what in the name of common sense is a mint julep? Something to drink, we'll bet a cent.—Boston Post.

The proposed race between the yachts Qui Vive and Unknown, previously announced to come off on the 26th inst., has been given up.

Nine large schooners were discharging at the two railroad wharves on Saturday. The schooner Mercy T. Trundy, of Calais, Me., was at steamboat wharf, discharging coal for Hon. Frank Jones.

The palace advertising car belonging to W. W. Cole's grand circus and menagerie combination arrived in this city on Friday, and stopped until five o'clock Saturday afternoon. The car is divided into three parts—a baggage-room, sleeping apartment and office—and is conveniently and comfortably fitted up. The walls of the office are hung with pictures of members of the circus company, and their friends. There are also numerous curiosities from Australia and the East Indies, where the company has been travelling for some time, arriving at San Francisco in May last. Mr. Campbell, the advertising agent, has made all the necessary arrangements for a really first-class show coming to this city on Oct. 11th.

The office of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in Pickering block, corner of Market and Daniel streets, was very tastefully draped on Saturday with appropriate emblems of mourning, significant of the society's high appreciation of the exalted character of the deceased President of the United States, as a statesman and philanthropist, which he was to an eminent degree.

It is stated that the schooner Cosmos, which was engaged in fresh fishing from this port last winter, in three weeks mackerel fishing this season cleared two hundred dollars to each of the crew.

Col. T. E. O. Marvin, late in command of the Portsmouth Light Artillery, received a dispatch from the secretary of the navy on Saturday granting him the use of two cannons from the navy yard, to fire minute guns to-day, in honor of the martyred President.

Paymaster I. Goodwin Hobbs, U. S. N., has been visiting at his home in North Berwick.

A derrick used in repairing a dam at North Berwick fell Friday, striking Thomas Allen upon the head, inflicting a deep wound. There is little hope of his recovery.

OUR LITERARY NEIGHBORS.

Under the head of "New Hampshire beaches," the Boston Herald in a recent article speaks regarding our neighbors in a manner which will doubtless be highly appreciated by our readers:

The fascination of the Shoals, however, has its witness in literature in the prose and poetry of one who has done more than any other American writer to blend the romance of the sea with the conceptions of a brilliant imagination. Celia Thaxter's poems always breathe the atmosphere of the sea, its sadness, its mystery, its grandeur, its glory, its resistless power. Perhaps no one since the old Greek poets sang of their life upon the Ægean sea has quite so truly breathed imaginative life into the intuitions thathe sea imparts to mind and soul. Her prose work, "Among the Isles of Shoals," is saturated with the same inspirations, and differs from poetry only by the absence of measured verse. Mrs. Thaxter is a woman of brilliant imagination, but the point which she significantly illustrates is the power of the sea to fill out and educate that imagination until it speaks in the language of creative power. Something of this mysterious fascination comes over every one attracted to the ocean, and my theory is that persons who feel those elemental forces cannot be mean, sordid, grasping, or devilish like the rest of the world. God speaks to men in many ways. The Master's favorite place of teaching was by the seaside. His illustrations of wisdom and power were often drawn from its mysteries. It may with truth be said that Celia Thaxter was educated by the sea. Just as truly it may be said that John Ruskin was nursed into imaginative life by the lakes and mountains of the north of England, and that Wordsworth drew the inspiration of his best passages from this source.

Not to argue this point too far, one of the brightest of New England writers, Mr. John Albee, an author by the publication of a volume entitled "Literary Art," but an author whose best things yet lie in his portfolio, is nestled in the oldest house in New Hampshire, within signal distance of Celia Thaxter's cottage at Appledore, and at the entrance to Portsmouth harbor. It was a famous house in the days of yore, and is famous now for its quaintness, its legends, and the fine celestial spirit which reigns within its walls. Mr. Albee is not a sensational writer. He belongs to the class of whom Walter Savage Landor and Arthur Helps are excellent types. His "Literary Art" is written in their style. He does not command the multitude; such writers never do; but his book, which takes the form of a conversation between a poet, a painter and a philosopher, is instructive and entaining to a rare degree, abounding in significant interpretations of life, thoroughly developing the method of the best literature, and written in that sympathetic mood by which writing is identified with thought, and related to the life of the world. It was written in one of the oldest of New England homes to the murmur of the splashing waves, the sea isolating and uplifting the author into inspirations which only come to men when they lose themselves in the life of the elements and of the God that controls them. Mr. Albee's next venture will probably be a volume of poems. He has not been compelled, like most authors, to urge his unfeathered younglings into print, and there is consequently a maturity and strength in his writing which will be widely recognized the more his thought appears in print.

It is delightful to find writers who burn everything penned in the raw period, and Celia Thaxter and John Albee seem to have had patience to do that before they began to speak through types. They are the characteristic authors of New Hampshire. But one should not exclude from the authors who live in the state Miss Harriet McEwen Kimball, who is the truest and best religious hymn-writer in America, touching the chords of religious feeling as the lamented Frederick W. Faber used to touch them, and yet whose life in its round of parish ministration is more beautiful than any poem. Portsmouth, where she resides, is the birthplace of Mr. Aldrich and of the late James T. Fields, and has sent out quite an unusual number of authors into the world.

Ancient Masonry.

"I have discovered the ruins of an ancient Masonic temple, where the priests and magicians used to gather in order to celebrate their mysteries. The Masonic lodge of those belonging to the first degree fronts toward the north; that of the Masons belonging to the second and third degrees points to the south. I have found a few of the mystical dice, a stone on which is carved an apron with a hand on it, and a cabalistic stone (the stone is of such a description that your correspondent is of opinion that he found a similar stone in the temple of Heliopolis.) I have taken copies in clay, and shall try to establish the relation between these discovered Masonic attributes and those found at Memphis and Thebes. I think I may not be mistaken if I suspect a relation as well with those attributes discovered by Gorringe on the pedestal of the Cleopatra obelisk at present in Central park, New York."

Circumstantial Evidence.

A well-known citizen of Albany had a lover's quarrel, known to her family, with the lady who has been his wife now for twenty years. One evening he called upon her, and a reconciliation took place. In the anxiety of restored love and confidence, she expressed the fear that he might be assaulted while passing through a disorderly part of the city on his way home, and to reassure her he took a pistol from his pocket, told her that he had always carried it, and was explaining its mechanism when it was discharged. The girl's parents rushed into the room expecting to discover a murder or a suicide, but fortunately no harm had been done, although the bullet grazed the girl's face. On the way home the lover threw his pistol into the river, and has never since carried one. Any jury would have found him guilty of murder if he had killed his sweetheart, for against his unsupported denial the strongest circumstantial evidence of a motive could have been brought.

Suit has been instituted by the revenue department against Frank Holt of Concord, for having emptied liquor barrels without having defaced and destroyed the stamps and bonds in accordance with the laws of the United States.

A tramp calling himself James Rogers was arrested at Gorham on the 22d inst., and committed to jail. Strenuous efforts will be made to clear the White mountain region of such characters.

Frank Carter of Boston, who has been stopping at the Goodnow house in Lisbon, committed suicide with a razor Thursday morning, the 22d inst. Hereditary insanity was the cause.

After considerable investigation it seems probable that the reported attempt at robbery of Myron Pressey, of Campton, is without foundation. He tells various conflicting stories, and has done so before. The knife cuts and pistol shots looks as though they were done by himself. No traces of anybody were found after a search by the officers. The people about Plymouth universally disbelieve the story.

Delicate Ladies!

Who have that tired and all gone feeling, and don't like to be disturbed, will continue to be troubled with this complaint until they renew their impure blood. Sulphur Bitters will cause new and rich blood to course through every artery and vein in the human system. See another column.

However watched by loving care,
Home has distempers lurking there,
And human power cannot defend
From ills that constantly impend;
But Sanford's Ginger bids pain cease,
And home restores to health and peace.

From B. Frank Swan, son of M. M. Swan, Jeweller, 154 Water st., Augusta, Maine.

I have been troubled with asthma for twelve years, and have employed skillful physicians of Boston, also two of the leading physicians of Augusta, without effect. I have felt nothing of this trouble since taking Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

By direction of Gen. Joseph M. Clough, commanding First Brigade New Hampshire National Guard, Col. D. S. Corser, assistant adjutant general, has issued an order directing all brigade, regimental and company headquarters throughout the state to be draped in mourning for ninety days in respect to the memory of President Garfield.

American Ladies.

The first impression Sara Bernhardt received of the American ladies manifested itself thusly: "Oh! so ladies, so are so beautiful, such clear complexion I never see before!" all of which is due to the universal use of Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases, which insures a clear and clean complexion, and a healthy color. This recalls to mind the divine precept, "cleanliness is next to godliness."

It is said that the hotel men in the White Mountain region will unite in efforts to clear the mountain passes of brigands. The Lancaster poisoning case excites much attention. The analysis proves beyond a doubt that the deceased persons were poisoned. It is also believed that the officers have discovered evidence that points conclusively to the guilty one. The supreme court convenes at Lancaster the second Tuesday in October, when the facts will probably be laid before the grand jury and an indictment asked for.

Health and Happiness.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

During the thunder shower of Friday night, Sept. 23d, the houses of Charles Whitney and Joseph Fairfield at Biddeford were struck by lightning and badly shattered. The house of James Hooper in Saco was struck and set on fire, and much injured. It was the heaviest thunder storm known there for years.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral: Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Charles Daniels of Kennebunkport, who was stopping in Gray, Cumberland county, entered the house of Henry Thayer and stole therefrom a silver watch and chain, a ring and a penknife. It is fair to presume that there are to be found but few intelligent persons in this country and in portions of Europe who have not heard of Dr. Holman's Ague and Liver Pad. WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 28, 1881.

The Late President.

On Monday, Sept. 26th, the mortal remains of President Garfield were laid in the tomb at Cleveland, amid imposing ceremonies. The city was thronged with people, and the funeral rites were witnessed by tens of thousands. The services in the pavalion began promptly at 10:30 o'clock, the Cleveland Vocal society singing the hymn commencing "Thou art gone to the grave, but we will not deplore thee." Bishop Bedell, of the Episcopal diocese of Ohio, then read selections of scripture; prayer was offered by Rev. Ross C. Houghton, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Cleveland, and Rev. Isaac Errett of Cincinnati delivered an eloquent address from the text, "And the archers shot King Josiah; and the King said to his servants, 'Have me away, for I am sore wounded.' His servants, therefore, took him out of that chariot and put him in the second chariot that he had, and they brought him to Jerusalem and he died, and was buried in one of the sepulchres of his fathers, and all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah," etc. At the close of the address, Rev. Jabez Hall read Garfield's favorite hymn, "Ho, reapers of life's harvest, Why stand with rusted blade," and it was sung by the vocal society; and the closing prayer and benediction were delivered by Rev. Dr. Charles S. Pomeroy. On the conclusion of the religious ceremonies the Washington Marine band played "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

The funeral procession moved from Monumental park at five minutes before noon. The time occupied in moving the casket from the pavalion to the funeral car was about fifteen minutes. A corps of United States marines, from the United States steamer Michigan, formed parallel lines from the east side of the pavilion to the east entrance of the park, through which the casket was borne on the shoulders of the United States artillerymen under command of Lieut. Weaver, second United States artillery, to the funeral car, followed by the mourners, who took seats in the carriages. The military spectacle was magnificent. The column was headed by the Boston Fusileers, who had travelled from Massachusetts to pay a last tribute to their deceased comrade. The Columbia Commandry of Knights Templar, of Washington, marched with the guard of honor and pall bearers in the division having charge of the funeral car. The six miles of Euclid avenue through which the procession passed were draped and decorated in a manner becoming the occasion; and the whole city was in mourning. The Ashtabula battery, which was stationed along the line of march, divided in two parts three miles apart, fired minute guns as the funeral procession passed. The first gun was placed near the starting point, and fired when the start was made. On arriving at the cemetery the procession formed in lines on either side, and for nearly three miles the funeral car passed through the military and civil organizations. The state militia were stationed at the entrance to the cemetery on either side of the driveways leading to the vault where, at Mrs. Garfield's request, it was decided to place the remains.

The Marine band entered the cemetery first; the came the Forest City troop of Cleveland, which was the escort of the President at his inauguration. Behind the troop came the funeral car with its escort of United States artillerymen, followed by a battalion of Knights Templar and the Cleveland Grays. The mourners' carriage and those containing the guard of honor comprised all of the procession that entered the grounds. The cavalry halted at the vault, and drew up in line facing it with sabres presented. The car drew up in front with the mourners' carriage, and those of the cabinet behind. The band played "Nearer, my God, to Thee" as the military escort lifted the coffin from the car and carried it into the vault; the local committee of reception, Secretary Blaine, Marshal Henry and one or two personal friends standing either side of the entrance. The exercises at the vault occupied less than a half hour; none of Garfield's family except two of the boys left the carriages. Rev. J. H. Jones, chaplain of the 42d Ohio regiment, which Garfield commanded, made an address; an ode by Horace, sung in Latin by the United German Singing society, was followed by "Ho, reapers of life's harvest," by the German vocal societies of Cleveland; and the benediction was pronounced by President Hinsdale of Hiram college.

The first section of the funeral train started on the return trip to Washington at six o'clock in the evening, with all the cabinet officers except Mr. Blaine on board. The congressional section of the train left for Washington at midnight.

At Mrs. Garfield's suggestion the casket containing the late President's remains will be enclosed in an iron cage; then a cement wall will be built around this of sufficient strength to resist all attempts to remove the body, and of such dimensions that it may form the foundation of the proposed monument. The mayor of Cleveland has detailed a police force to be on duty continually until the final interment.

All over the land there was a general suspension of business during the day. Bells were tolled, emblems of mourning displayed, and memorial services held in all the principal cities and towns; and in every hamlet in the land there was a sad observance of the day.

In London and all the other large cities of Great Britain, and in many of the smaller places, marked evidences of mourning were displayed. In London many of the carters and draymen had their whips draped with crape, many shops and the newspaper offices were partly closed, flags were displayed at half-mast on public buildings and hotels, the bells of the churches were tolled and special services held, the guards at St. James palace played dirges when relieving guard and all the royal palaces had their blinds closed, and nearly every store bore some emblem of mourning. From the tower of the old church of St. Martin's Lane in London, the royal standard of England waved at half-mast; this standard was not raised when the czar of Russia died, and it was never before raised at half-mast out of respect to a president or other officer of a republic. The London office of the government of New Zealand was closed all day, and most of the great city associations closed their premises at noon. At Manchester business was almost suspended, and there was a funeral service in the cathedral; the Manchester Guardian appeared in mourning. At Winsor the American flag was hoisted at half-mast on the town hall, many of the shops were closed, and the bells of the castle and parish church tolled for an hour. At Glasgow the markets closed for the afternoon, bells were tolled and flags half-masted; in Portsmouth similar observances were had, and most of the private residences kept their blinds closed. All the markets in Birmingham were shut, and in Liverpool the mayor and city officials attended the special service in the pro-cathedral. Similar reports came from the most remote towns of Scotland and Ireland; in the latter country most of the clergy made special reference to President Garfield on Sunday. Special services were held at the British chapel in St. Petersburg, Russia; and in Paris, France, President Grevy and the diplomatic body were represented at a memorial service.

President Arthur's Cabinet.

The New York Tribune of September 26th, under date of Washington, Sept. 25th, says:

Speaking of cabinet changes a gentleman who is in the confidence of Ex-President Grant and Senator Jones, said tonight that the present cabinet would not be retained by Mr. Arthur. He said the President would not be called upon on any principle of law or ethics to maintain the personal policy of his predecessor to the extent of retaining the present cabinet; and that as a responsible executive it was due to himself, as well as to the country, that he should select his own personal advisers.

Granted that President Arthur is to select new cabinet ministers, let us hope that in appointing a Secretary of the Navy he will select some gentleman from the seaboard states, who has some knowledge of naval matters to begin with. The service suffers while a "fresh" man is being educated to a proper knowledge of its wants and possibilities. If Mr. Blaine retires from the cabinet, President Arthur cannot do better than send to the banks of the Penobscot and invite Ex-Senator Hamlin to take a seat among his ministers.

Governor Hamlin, though ripe in years, possesses a wonderful vigor. His experience in politics, his honorable record and unsullied name, his immense stock of ingrain common sense and ready tact, added to his knowledge of the proper way to administer the affairs of our government, and the confidence which his appointment would inspire throughout not only New England but the country at large, ought to make him a desirable member of the cabinet. Mr. Hamlin is one of the kind of public servants who "can bring a good recommendation from his last employer."

THE MEMORIAL SERVICES.

On Monday the places of business were, with few exceptions, closed. Services were held in the forenoon at the Unitarian, Episcopal, and Catholic churches, all the services being attended by large numbers of people. The afternoon was occupied by the memorial exercises at Music hall, which had been arranged by a joint committee of the G. A. R. and the city government. Long before the time for the services to commence the hall was packed full, every available seat being taken and many obliged to stand. At half-past one o'clock Storer Post, headed by Betton & Hooper's drum corps, marched from their armory to the city building where the members of the city government fell into line and were escorted to Music hall.

Invocation.....Rev. J. Herbert Yeoman
Response.....G. A. R. Quartette
Rest, Spirit, Rest.....Middle Street Baptist Choir
(Mrs. Emma F. Williams, Miss Nellie Taylor, Mr. Thomas Chase, Dr. R. C. Grant, Mr. S. W. Cole, Director.)
Address.....Rev. E. M. Grant
Abide with me.....Middle Street Baptist Choir
Address.....Rev. W. W. Smith
Address.....Rev. W. A. McGinley
I heard a voice.....Middle Street Baptist Choir
Address.....Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D.
Nearer my God to Thee. Middle St. Baptist Choir
Benediction.

Fellow Citizens: We have come together this afternoon to manifest in an appropriate way our sympathy with our country in the death of its Chief Magistrate; dead, after long weeks of patient suffering, from a wound dealt by a foul assassin.

James A. Garfield, by his life and death, has set an example of virtue and patriotism that the whole world might follow and to-day by such gatherings as this the whole country is commemorating his worthy life. To that cemetery in the West where the body of our beloved President is now being placed in its last resting place, our sympathies go, and may the sacrifice of the noble life tend to unite us as one nation and one people.

Ex-Gov. Goodwin opened the meeting by saying:

Ladies and Gentlemen: We are assembled to offer our prayers in commemoration of the sad, and to mortal ken, untimely death of our lamented President. The awful assassination of one so dear to our nation and so important to its welfare, is one of the many unexplained decrees of Providence. Yet let us fully believe that God orders all things for our good, though we cannot now understand his purposes. Never has there been a death that has so filled the hearts of all the Christian world with grief and sympathy as has the death of President Garfield. Let us hope that it will be the means of firmly uniting our whole country, North and South, in bonds of brotherhood as one strong and happy nation.

It gives me great gratification to see so many interested faces here to-day, joined together as we are in deepest sorrow for the national affliction and in full sympathy with the bleeding hearts of his grief stricken family.

He also read the following letter from Rev. James DeNormandie, who could not be present;

Ex-Gov. Goodwin, Chairman: I am just summoned to attend the funeral of one of this city's honorable and good sons, Mr. George Wendell, and must leave for Boston at three o'clock. Please accept my full sympathy with your meeting, in my necessary absence. I have spoken frequently already, on this common subject, which turns all hearts to that grave by Lake Erie's shore; but the heart can keep on feeling when the lips have nothing more to say. Affectionately yours,

JAMES DENORMANDIE.

The addresses by the several pastors, as announced upon the programme followed. They were listened to with interest by the audience, and were very appropriate to the occasion, but it is entirely impossible for us to speak of them except in this general way.

BURGLARY AND THEFT.

Burglars entered the residence of Rev. James Pike at South Newmarket on Sunday night, the 25th inst. They also reached into the open window of a Mr. Hamlin's house, and took from his pants pockets a small amount of money. The door of the Shute house was also opened, but nothing disturbed. An unsuccessful attempt was made at the house of William Paul; and an effort to raise one of the depot windows with a small pinch bar was also unsuccessful. At Mr. Pike's a lady of the household was sick, and Dr. Alex. Ewins of Hyde Park, Mass., occupied the lower front room, and had left a lamp burning to facilitate calls upon the patient; notwithstanding this, while he was asleep the thieves entered his room and took $8 from his pocket, and also his gold watch; then passed across the hall into the parlor, (where they dropped a bunch of keys taken from Dr. Ewins' room,) and thence to the dining room, upon the table of which was solid silver ware, which was left undisturbed; and finally departed through a rear door, evidently having been hurried away. At Mr. Paul's a cane had been run through the handle of the key, to prevent its being turned from the outside; and in their efforts to open the door by turning the key with "nippers," the cane dropped to the floor, and scared them away.

Sheriff Kent, who has a telephone in his house, was early notified, and by telephone called Deputy Smart of Newmarket to his aid, and he with Officer J. E. Simpson of South Newmarket occupied Monday in the investigation of the case and pursuit of the offenders, but as yet no clue has been found. Several suspicious parties were "run down," but proved themselves innocent. The sheriff is of the opinion that the parties who committed the crimes are strangers; the trick is what is called the "nipper racket," and is not performed by amateurs.

GEORGE BLUNT WENDELL.

Intelligence was received in this city on Monday of the death of George Blunt Wendell, at his residence in Quincy, Mass. Capt. Wendell was the youngest son of the late Jacob Wendell, and after receiving his education at the Portsmouth academy, entered the counting-room of Goodwin & Coues. After remaining there long enough to obtain a good mercantile training he went to sea, and soon rose to the command of some of the finest clipper ships of New England, in the employ of leading ship owners of Boston, including Wm. S. Bullard & Co., and Wm. F. Weld & Co., winning the respect and confidence of both owners and underwriters by his successful voyages and close application to the business entrusted to his care.

On the return of Captain Wendell from one of his long voyages, he found that his only child had died in his absence. This decided him to leave the sea, and remain with his family. Some years ago he became connected with the Quincy Granite Works, of which he held control at the time of his death, and being guided by principle, he won for himself in the community in which he lived an enviable reputation.

Capt. Wendell inherited from his father systematic and methodical business traits, and from his mother—a most exemplary woman, widely beloved and respected in our city,—other qualities which endeared him to all who knew him. He became an industrious and capable business man, as he had previously shown himself an energetic and successful ship-master.

In 1861 he married Mary Elizabeth Thompson, the youngest daughter of the late Capt. Jacob W. Thompson of this city, and at the time of his decease had four children, who with his widow, survive him.

He was buried in the south cemetery in this city on Tuesday afternoon.

EXCURSION RATES TO BOSTON.

Tickets to Boston and back over the Eastern railroad, and including admission to either the "Old Mechanics' Fair" or the "Institute Fair," good to go to Boston on any trains Thursday, the 29th inst., and to return either Thursday or Friday, will be sold at the station in this city throughout the day Thursday, at the very low price of $2.20 each. From Greenland the fare (including admission to either fair) will be $2.10, from North Hampton $2.00, from Hampton $1.90, and from Hampton Falls $1.85. See advertisement.

ESCAPED.

"Tom" Wiggin, a young fellow of South Newmarket, accused of larceny, was arrested some time since, and while in the hands of the officer escaped. Last Sunday he was arrested again, in Amesbury, Mass., and returned to South Newmarket, and on Monday made his second escape. Having a little field for operation, he made the most of it. The best of officers say they have to loose a man once in their lifetime. The officer will make it warm for Tom yet.

CONUNDRUMS.

Where, O! Common Council,—where is that artesian well for which an appropriation was made in lieu of one for your pet reservoir on Court place? The artesian well was to be built on Market square; or, better speaking, the Parade. But there is not the least iota of a sign of an artesian well on Market square, nor is there likely to be, judging from present appearances. There is being pumped from the artesian well at the Eastern depot an abundant supply of water; there are several strata of it, and some people think all of it sufficiently good for drinking, even if not fit for use in the boilers of locomotives. There is another artesian well at the "Wentworth," Newcastle, the waters of which are said to be good for any domestic purpose. But no movements has been made toward boring the well on Market square. O! ambitious youths of the Common Council, what is the use of your sitting up nights to make appropriations for the "Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen" to expend regardless of your intentions? Why did you waste your energies in getting yourselves nominated at the primary meetings, and your labors in getting yourselves elected? Several of the municipal departments have already exhausted their appropriations, and are spending money yet. And "what are you going to do about it?"

ONEOFEM.

"FUN AT THE CAMP-FIRE."

Of the "Camp-fire," which is to be given at Franklin theatre Thursday evening, the 29th, the Haverhill Bulletin says:

The piece is full of funny situations, brilliant dialogue, scintillating wit and repartee;—in fact there is a vein of humor running through it that keeps the audience in uproarious laughter from the rise until the fall of the curtain. The company includes John H Byrne, a droll comedian, who plays a negro cook in an irresistible manner and displayed his proficiency as a musician by executing solos on a dozen different musical instruments. * * Geo. W. Lakin, as Sergt. Follensbee, played his part very naturally, displaying a magnificent "basso profundo" voice in the solo "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." * * The quartette of jubilee singers, Holden, Pitts, Hankins and Church are by far the best we have ever seen. They are possessed of sweet, melodious voices that blend beautifully in their jubilee songs, while as dancers they are all fine. Pitts' jig, and Holden's song, "My Neighborhood," created a great deal of merriment. * * The piece in its entirety is one of the cleverest of comedy efforts, designed as it is for the purpose of illustrating camp life. It displays the bright side of it, and also the fun-loving character of the negro, Irishman and Dutchman, a trio of fun-producers and laughter-creators, that no one should fail to go and see and laugh at.

AROUND HOME.

The collection at St. John's church on Sunday in aid of the Michigan sufferers amounted to $80.

The Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. E. D. Coffin commanding, went into camp at Greenland on Tuesday. Their camp-out will last four days.

John L. Amazeen, formerly of Co. C, 13th New Hampshire Volunteers, who enlisted in August, 1862, at Newcastle, and was wounded in a fight at Suffolk, Va., by a bullet which took off a part of one of his fingers, has been granted a pension. Mr. Amazeen is now in Florida.

Boat "Spray," Capt. Nat. Yeaton, arrived from Durham on Tuesday morning with five passengers, four women and a boy. The distance from Durham to this city is not far-from twenty miles by the river, and the fare is twenty-five cents each way.

Services were held in the town hall at Rye on Monday afternoon at two o'clock, the hall being well filled; the room was draped, and floral offerings and two portraits of the late President Garfield were also there. Appropriate remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Kingsbury, Rev. Mr. Furber, Hon. T. J. Parsons, Hon. E. B. Philbrick, and G. H. Jenness, Esq.; and there was singing by the combined choirs of the Christian and Congregational churches.

Hon. Frank Jones intends to leave Liverpool on his return by the Cunard steamer Parthia, on the 10th of October. The steamer will sail for New York. It is announced that Mr. Jones has quite regained his good health.

Mr. John G. Tompson and wife of Newtonville, Mass., formerly of this city, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage on Saturday, the 24th inst. A very large party of relatives and friends attended, including a number from this city.

One hundred and twenty-five cords of pine wood, from Greenland and towns up the river, is being received at C. E. Walker & Co.'s wharf by teams and gondolas, and piled up in two tiers each twenty-five feet high.

Neil Burgess will appear at Music hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 4th, as the "Widow Bedott" in George W. Stoddart's dramatization, supported by Mr. Stoddart and a carefully selected comedy company.

The Congregational church at Kittery Point was neatly draped in mourning on Sunday, a large portrait of President Garfield occupying the front panel of the pulpit, Rev. Mr. Plumer, of the lower parish preached. A union service of the several churches was held on Monday afternoon in the Baptist church, which also was draped; and the bells were tolled three times during the day.

The grand army post in this city recently presented handsome army badges of gold, appropriately engraved, to comrades Charles A. C. Gray, Thomas Entwistle and J. Horace Kent, in recognition of efficient services rendered the post in the past.

Five teams from Kittery Point drove through this city on Wednesday of last week, having on board a picnic party bound for Jenness' woods, Rye beach, the members being as follows: Messrs. Hiram Grace, Benjamin Grace, Warren H. Riley and Porter R. Emery, with their wives; Mrs. Carrie Frisbee and son, Mrs. Richard Seavey, Georgie Grace, Hattie Grace, Charles S. Grace, Frederick Grace, and Albert T. Fernald. Everything at the beach passed off nicely, and the picnic was a genuine pleasure to all concerned.

An Authentic Testimony.

TO THE SUPREME COURT.

ETTA L. CLARK of Portsmouth in said county of Rockingham respectfully represents that on the eleventh day of April, 1874, at Kittery in the state of Maine, she was lawfully married by the Rev. Abner Hall, a minister of the Gospel, at said Kittery, to Melvin J. Clark, then of Portsmouth, in said State, and now in parts unknown; that she and her said husband resided together as husband and wife at said Kittery, from the date of their marriage until the month of November, 1877, when, without sufficient cause, and without the consent of this libellant, said Melvin J. Clark abandoned her, and for more than the last three years together next preceding the filing of this libel, has refused to cohabit with her.

And your libellant further represents that said Melvin J. Clark has willingly absented himself from her ever since the month of November, 1877, and up to the time of the filing of this libel, without making any provision for her support and maintenance; that in the month of December, 1877, she removed to Portsmouth aforesaid, where she has resided ever since, and now resides; and that said causes for divorce exist at the time of the filing of this libel.

And she further says that she is the mother by the said Melvin J. Clark of one child, now living with her, and of the age of five years, namely, Roy M. Clark.

Wherefore, she prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony between her and the said Melvin J. Clark be decreed, and that she be entitled to the care and custody of said child.

In Haverhill, Mass., late Saturday night, the 24th inst., Officer Wellington B. Webster attempted to stop a drunken row in Nat. F. Perkins' bar-room, in which a fellow named John Kelleher was brutally handled. Fifteen of the gang, including Kelleher, turned on the officer, knocked him down, and commenced beating him, when after warning them he opened fire with his revolver, and sent two bullets into Kelleher, who died on Sunday. Deceased arrived in this country last June. Webster was held in $5000 for examination.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Symptoms—Moisture, like perspiration, at night; intense itching, as if pricked with pins; the rectum; the parts become fissured and bleeding. A mild, economical and positive cure. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT is superior to any article in the market. Sold by druggists, or send 50 cts. to Dr. C. Swayne, 3 Years, $1.25. Address, Dr. Swayne & Son, Phila. Pa.

New Hampshire as a Bondholding State.

New Hampshire people hold 4.02 per cent of all the registered United States bonds. It is the sixth state in the number of holders; 0.69 of the population hold these bonds, which amount to $4,658,150; and we are the twelfth state in proportion to the amount held, New York taking the lead. The number of private bond holders in each 100,000 of the population in this state is 850, exceeded only by Massachusetts with 950, and the District of Columbia with 1,320. Vermont stands next to New Hampshire in this respect. Manchester has thirty-four males and thirty-four females who hold $91,250 of Uncle Sam's promises to pay.

The Pintsch Light, for Buoys.

The New York Banker and Broker of Sept. 24th says: "Capt. George Brown, U. S. N., reports to Mr. St. John, agent for the Pintsch Lighting company, that though the sea broke violently over the lighted buoy near the Scotland lightship for forty-eight hours during the recent storm the light was not extinguished, nor did any salt remain on the glass to interfere with the light. The captains and pilots desire to have the light placed outside Sandy Hook, where all the steamers come in."

A sensational story of a plot to murder President Arthur was sent out from Washington on the 28th.

The residence of Wm. Gibbons, in the outskirts of the town of Sedalia, Mo., was burned on Tuesday morning, Sept. 27th, and four children, aged from three to ten years, who were sleeping up stairs, perished in the flames.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

THE CRUELTY QUESTION.

Mr. Editor: One of the most cruel sights that I ever witnessed either in city or country, was a large number of sheep piled into a hay-rack, with their legs tied together, riding through the streets last Friday, probably on the way to some slaughter pen at the south end.

The person who had them in charge seemed to drive with utter disregard of the distress the wretched, suffering creatures endured. The slats of the cart were so far apart that the poor beasts were likely to fall out through the open sides, and get crushed beneath the wheels, at any moment. The heads of several protruded through the sides. One poor creature's head was out just where it came in contact with the rapidly revolving spokes of the wheel, and would have been ground off but for the humane action of a gentleman who sprang into the street and ordered the driver to stop. The protruding head and limbs were roughly thrust back, and the team again started; it did not go far, however, before it halted to pick up a sheep that fell from the miserable vehicle upon the hard road. As soon as the driver was aware of the mishap he returned for the lost sheep, and poured out upon its head a torrent of profanity, which did not seem to add a pang to the sufferings of the bleeding creature; the savage kick administered by the brutal caricature of humanity, however, produced expressions of anguish which seemed to delight the fiendish spirit of the contemptible wretch. The bruised and bleeding animal was thrown roughly in upon its fellow sufferers, and the load of misery wended its way toward the shambles.

Can the fever heated, bruised and inflamed flesh of tortured animals be fit for human food? One exhibition of the sufferings that sheep have to endure while on the way to slaughter was sufficient to banish mutton forever from my table.

The question seems to be, how shall the people who deal in cattle, sheep and swine be taught to refrain from the horrible cruelties of which the poor beasts are the victims? Legislation on the subject does not seem to accomplish its purpose. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty seems to be unable to cope successfully with the wide-spread evil. They prosecute one case out of a probable hundred. It seems as if they might be more active in the long-wished-for reform, and bring the "ninety and nine" instead of the "one" to repentance before the criminal courts. Wake up, Messrs. S. P. C. A., and push your reform a little more sharply.

HUMANITY.

George N. Johnson, school teacher of district one of York, was arraigned Sept. 22d at South Berwick before Abner Oakes, trial justice, for cruelly whipping Joseph A. Webber, a sickly pupil eleven years old. He was fined five dollars and costs, the whole it is said amounting to between forty and fifty dollars. The boy is alleged to have been injured about the spine and kidneys. Defendant appealed to a higher court.

Two cargoes of lumber are on the way from Bangor to York harbor, to be used in building an addition to the Marshall house at that place. Charles Seaward of Long Branch, York, is making an extensive addition to his house, with the intention of taking boarders next season. Charles A. Grant, landlord of the Sea Cottage, has six boarders still remaining at his house—and they are having the best time of the year there, too; Samuel Donnell, proprietor of the Donnell house, has two boarders, one of them being an insane lady sent there from an asylum in hope of benefit to her physical and mental health.

Hon. E. C. Moody of York has sold 300 bushels of potatoes to Staples and others of Eliot, at sixty cents a bushel, and now has 620 bushels of superior tubers—Early Rose and later varieties—in his cellar, in excellent condition.

The schooner Christie Campbell arrived on Wednesday, Sept. 28th, with a small fare of fish. On her last trip to Boston she carried in twenty-one thousand pounds of fresh fish, and shared thirty dollars to a man.

Capt. Nason, of the "Sturgeon" gondola, took to the navy yard on Wednesday, September 28th, from Mason's mill in this city, 6000 feet of two-inch and four-inch plank for the department of yards and docks, on the contract of George A. Hammond of Eliot to furnish pine lumber. A few days previous the same gondola carried from Mason's mills to Staples' wharf in Eliot 3000 feet of planed and matched boards, for Howard Staples of that town, who is building a house; and she is under contract to take a load of bricks from the yard of E. W. Rose, at Sturgeon creek, Eliot, to the same place for the same person. She will load today at Call's wharf with shingles to E. W. Rose, whose son is building a house.

Looking over a Portsmouth directory of 1821—sixty years ago—we notice the names of seven persons now living, six of whom reside in this city and have their names in the directory of 1881. They are: Robert W. Annable, (now in Newington,) William A. Vaughan, Peter Emery, Joseph Grace, Walter B. Hill, Nathaniel J. Ham and Ichabod Goodwin.

The steamer Mystic is to be overhauled in the near future, an elliptic stern put on, and be otherwise improved. Mr. Warren Keen will have charge of the work.

Newport, RI, Sept. 23d.—Sch Jane Emson, Haines, from Georgetown, DC, for Somerset, came into the West Bay, Wednesday, and in passing through between Halfway rock and the south end of Prudence Island struck a rock which is not laid down on the chart. Capt. Haines says he was three-quarters of a mile northeast from Halfway rock. The Jane Emson is the fourth vessel that has struck this rock. Hundreds of vessels pass through there every year, and it is a wonder that there are not more accidents from this dangerous obstruction.

An Authentic Testimony.

Gentlemen,—For five years I have been greatly troubled with dandruff, with a severe itching of the scalp, and my hair falling out. I have tried almost every known remedy, all proving worthless. Seeing Burnett's Cocoaine and Burnett's Kalliston advertised, I procured a bottle of each, and am happy to state that the dandruff is completely removed, and no itching whatever remains.

A RAILROAD TO YORK.

Mr. Editor: I noticed the statement in your paper that "there seems to be a demand for more extensive railway facilities along the New Hampshire coast." There is also a great want of facilities in order that the large number of visitors to the most attractive beach on the coast, York, may be better accommodated. A railroad from Kittery to York would do an immense business in the summer, and to no small extent make up for the present loss of the trade in Portsmouth during the entire year. The long drive to York from Portsmouth and the longer one from Dover may be well enough once in a while, when one has plenty of time for such enjoyment, but it is better to spend this time at the sea-side. York has all the attractions of Old Orchard, without being liable to have the incursions of large crowds coming between the sea-line and the houses of summer residents. At Old Orchard, too, there have been planted on the beach so many dwellings with no attempt even at proper drainage, that it is to be feared that ere long some frightful epidemic will be the result of the neglect to take proper precautions in this respect, and one day there will be seen at Old Orchard the consequences of this oversight. York has many beautiful spots where could be located hundreds of summer residents. To-day it is not only the wealthy citizen of the large city who with his family visits the sea-shore, but persons of moderate means come for sanitary reasons from all parts of the country. The west, as it extends its area of population will more and more send its residents for summer rest to the New England coast, where the bracing air acts as a tonic, and affords to the residents of the west, and especially to those of them born in the east, a means of recuperation like a sea voyage, or any such process of enforced rest and inhalation of sea air. The demand therefore for accomodations both for reaching and enjoying sea-side resorts in Maine and New Hampshire must be met, and perhaps no better mode can thus be accomplished than by a railroad to the York sea-coast.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE
SOJOURNER AT YORK BEACH.

A HAPPY FAMILY.

Sheriff Kent keeps a couple of pigs on the premises of the county retreat on Islington street. It is needless to say that these pigs are well fed and well cared for; they are tame and good-tempered, have a well-bedded house to sleep in and a good yard to root in, and their premises are kept cleaner than many human habitations. The sheriff also has a favorite Angora cat, and ever since the pigs were procured pussy has been on the best of terms with them, frequently visiting their quarters at feeding time, watching them with evident interest while they ate, and not rarely pouncing on some marauding rat which would attempt to "divvy" on the swill. Recently the cat disappeared for a day or more, and when she returned, clamorous for food, suspicion was at once awakened that there was a nest of kittens hidden away somewhere about the place, and search was made therefor; but though the cat regularly made her appearance to be fed, and was always watched when she left, no trace of her nest could be found for three days, when somebody thought of looking into the pigs' retreat, and there were the pigs, the cat and three kittens, all cuddled up on the straw in one corner. Pussy and her family were removed to the house, but in a short time were all back with the pigs, the old cat having carried the kittens out through an open window. As the kittens were necessarily left to the tender mercies of the pigs during the repeated absences of the mother, it seems remarkable that they were not devoured nor even stepped on by the blundering and voracious creatures.

AN OLD NEWSPAPER.

In overhauling and remodelling the old Peirce house, on the corner of Gates and Manning streets, the workmen on the 28th inst. found under the plastering an old newspaper, which had evidently been painted on one side and then placed with the painted side against the furring, and afterward plastered over. The paper was torn to bits in tearing off the plastering, but enough was saved to show that it was a copy of the "Boston Weekly Post-Boy," and dated some time in 1745. From the appearance of some fragments shown us it would seem that the old-time printers used a dredging-box with which to sift in the capital letters, and a shovel to put in the Italics with.

MEMORIAL--A. L. H.

The following resolutions were adopted at a special meeting of Riverside Council, No. 441, American Legion of Honor, held in their hall September 28th, and Past Commander F. E. Dearborn was appointed a committee of one to present them to the bereaved family:

Whereas, The hand of Divine Providence has been laid heavily upon one of our number since last we met, dealing one of its severest blows to our brother John P. Sweetser:

Resolved, That the members of Riverside Council, No. 441, A. L. of H., hereby extend to our brother in his affliction their warmest sympathy as individuals and as a body.

Resolved, That our hearts go out to his children left motherless at their tender age, in pity and love. That we grieve with the parents, brothers and sisters of the deceased in this their hour of trial, and that our prayers and best wishes are offered that in their darkness they may see light, in their sorrow may find consolation in the hope of a future meeting "where sorrow and sighing shall be done away."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to our brother, and that they be spread upon the records of the council.

O. M. KNIGHT, Commander.
Attest: FLORON BARRI, Secretary.

"WIDOW BEDOIT."

Neil Burgess will appear at Music hall next Tuesday evening as the "Widow Bedott," well supported. The piece has been played here more than once, and our theatre-goers are aware that Burgess' personation of the garrulous, opinionated, quaint old Yankee widow is nearly perfect, and is as much a creation of genius as Dan. Thompson's "Josh Whitcomb." We have had stage Yankees innumerable; but never before a genuine old Yankee woman that could be recognized as a type by persons familiar with the country life of New England. George Stoddart's "Elder Sniffles" is a very refreshing improvement on the conventional stage parson. He has avoided the exaggerated whine and rolling of the eyes that have wearied audiences and congregations from time immemorial, and gives instead an amusing portrait of the simple-minded, verbose and foolish old country parson who falls an easy prey to the wily artifices of the husband-hunting widow. Mrs. Stoddart could hardly be improved upon as Melissa Bedott. She is bright, natural and spirited. The advertisement will be found in another column.

COCHECO MANUFACTURING CO.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Cocheco Manufacturing company was held at the company's counting-room in Dover on Wednesday, the 28th inst. Amos A. Lawrence, Esq., of Boston, president of the corporation, presided. The report of the treasurer shew that the company had during the past fiscal year purchased 12,425 bales of cotton, and had used 11,116; had manufactured 29,510,000 yards of printing cloths; had printed 39,135,020 yards, and had purchased for this purpose 9,856,916 yards. The details of the cost of manufacturing shew that cloth in the new mill was made 47-100ths of a cent a yard cheaper than in their old mills. Of the balance to the credit of profit and loss one-half had been paid in dividends, and one-half expended in the erection of the new mills. The resignation of Mr. John T. Bracewell as superintendent of the printery was referred to, and the satisfactory manner in which the duties of this office was now discharged by his successor, Mr. Anderton, was alluded to. The following officers were unanimously elected:

AROUND HOME.

The fish appear to have "stuck in" on the coast again. The small boats fishing out of this port did well Monday night, one or two them bringing in as high as 1000 lbs. each. Several hundred large mackerel were taken in the weirs at the mouth of the harbor on Tuesday morning. The boats also report plenty of herring for bait to be taken by drag-nets.

The floating stage and brow from the Appledore were towed in on Tuesday by the steamer Clara Batemen, and placed in winter quarters at Noble's island.

The Army and Navy Register says that the U. S. S. Lancaster, on her trip from this port to New York, "developed a speed of ten knots under steam and sail, and a speed of seven knots with the wind on her beam. She is regarded as an eight-knot vessel."

The City Guards are to have a street drill this evening.

The H. P. Mackintosh fire engine company of Newburyport will arrive in this city by the 9:50 o'clock A. M. train on Friday, and will be received by the Moses H. Goodrich company of this city. After a short parade the companies will take barges for Wallis' sands, Rye beach, where a chowder will be served. In the evening a dance complimentary to the visitors will be given in Franklin hall, at which the best of order will be maintained; a limited number of tickets, at fifty cents each, will be disposed of at the door.

The schooner Velocipede came off the rocks on the east side of the narrows on the high water of Wednesday, the 28th inst, being but little injured.

The New England Temperance Reform Association will hold an anniversary meeting in Music hall, Boston, on Monday, Oct 3d, day and evening. John B. Gough, Mrs. Livermore, John T. Coles, and other leading temperance orators will address the assemblage in the evening. Col. J. Horace Kent was formerly president of this association, and it is said to be composed of those who know from sad personal experience what a terrible blight upon society and what an unrelenting tyrant to the individual is rum. The testimonies that are heard at these meetings from those who know whereof they affirm are more potent than all the addresses from what are called "ramrod temperance men," that ever were or may be uttered in all coming time, simply because they know what they are talking about, and the others don't.

Mr. "Ashe" Randall of Newcastle, a veteran fisherman, on Wednesday of this week brought in forty mackerel, very large and fat, taken with the hook off Branscome's rock. He says that never within his memory have mackerel been so plenty, so large and so fat near this harbor as at present.

The erection of the new building on Vaughan street for Jos. Haven Thacher, which was framed at Noble's island, was begun this week. Mr Luther E. Martin is the contractor.

Schooner Breeze arrived on the 28th inst. with 7000 lbs. of fish; her fare was bought by George Herbert & Co., who also purchased 1500 lbs. brought in by the schooner Christie Campbell.

The pastor of the Universalist church, Rev. E. M. Grant, who will soon close his pastorate in this city, gave notice to his congregation last Sunday that himself and wife would be at home to receive their parishioners and friends on Thursday evening, Sept. 29th. Mr. and Mrs. Grant have made hosts of friends in Portsmouth during their five years' residence here, and many will avail themselves of the invitation, which is extended to all friends, to be present this evening at the parsonage on Daniel street.

Charles H. Wallace, John Harvey, Oliver Adams, Wm. Holmes, David Burke, Henry Hunnefield and others, boat fishermen, brought in on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week fares ranging from 500 to 1200 lbs. each per trip. Randall & Caswell purchased most of the catch.

News and Notes.

The Summerside Journal of Sept. 22d, published at Summerside, Prince Edward's Island, had the column containing the account of President Garfield's death dressed in mourning.

Mrs. Esther Ashe died at Central Falls, R. I., Sept. 24th, at the age of 104 years, six months and twenty-three days. She was born in the parish of Cady, county of Armagh, Ireland, the record of her birth having been found in the parish church, and fully authenticated. She came to this country over fifty years ago. She was the mother of thirteen children, including three pairs of twins; five of her children are still living, and all but one of them have grandchildren. One of her grandchildren is Rev. Archibald McCord, of the Methodist Episcopal church at Central Falls. Mrs. Ashe was all her life a religious woman, having been at first a Presbyterian, but in early life transferred her connection to the Wesleyan denomination. She was unusually intelligent and well informed, and her mental faculties suffered but little up to the last.

On Tuesday morning, Sept. 27th, the boat which transports the cars on the Canada Southern railroad across the river below Detroit, Mich., struck the slip on Grand island so hard that a Pullman car ran over the end of the boat and plunged into the water, when it turned over on its side, rose to the surface, and the passengers were got out by breaking the windows, some falling into the water. It is believed that all were saved. The end of the next car dropped from the boat, but held to the third car, and rested at an angle of forty-five degrees, and the passengers clambered out upon the boat. It was a narrow escape for those in the submerged car.

Ship Alice Buck, 1425 tons register, owned in Belfast, Me., was wrecked Sept. 27th near San Francisco, and became a total loss with her cargo of railroad iron. Nine lives were lost.

The Philadelphia American opines that Mr. Arthur's ideas as to politics are entirely different from the late President's; that he will have his own way throughout a stormy administration; that he believes Mr. Conkling was right and Mr. Garfield wrong. He believes in everything Mr. Garfield repudiated, says the American, and if there be a republican party in 1884, in the sense and extent which that word now bears, it will be owing to the coherence given it by the memory of Mr. Garfield, rather than to the services rendered it by the administration of Mr. Arthur.

The Mutual Union Telegraphic company having effected an arrangement with the Eastern railroad by which telegraphic lines will be run from Boston to Portland along the Eastern track, workmen are engaged in placing poles and wires between Boston and Lynn. One gang of men began at the Charlestown end and the other at Lynn, and are working toward each other.

With a single exception, the whole force of Pullman car conductors on the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads have been discharged, and their places filled with new men.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2d, 1880.

I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

Mayor Cole of Kokomo, Ind., who was recently shot and killed while attempting to rob a mill, was an old offender against the laws. He once shot and killed a man, but was acquitted; had been convicted of crimes more than once, and had been regarded as in league with counterfeiters. He held his office through a coalition of the democrats with the roughs and criminals of the place.

David Graham Drummond Ogilvy, earl of Airlie, representative peer of Scotland, and member of her Britannic majesty's household, died suddenly of congestive chills at the Windsor hotel, in Denver, Col., Sept. 25th.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Daily Chronicle.

A car loaded with gunpowder blew up in the yard of the Rock Island railroad at Council Bluffs, Iowa, Sept. 26th, and damaged the railroad's property to the amount of $500,000. The scene presented on the grounds is beyond description. The round-house was totally demolished, car repair shops completely leveled, the freight house made a total wreck, and fifty box cars blown to pieces. Four engines were buried in the ruins; four or five small frame residences, 600 rods south of the spot, were demolished, and one occupant fatally injured; a rock weighing 400 pounds was blown from the foundation of the round house three-quarters of a mile, and in falling sunk almost out of sight in the earth. Reports received from towns twenty miles away state the shock was very plainly felt, and in many places the people thought it was an earthquake. Windows were broken in houses twelve miles from the city.

Three cow boys, named Mills, Carter and Chaslain, rode in the main street in Hunnewell, Kan., on the afternoon of Sept. 27th, shooting at people and into houses. Mayor Hughes opened on them with a shot-gun, shooting Chaslain in the face, wounding Mills in the back, and killing Mills' horse. Chaslain killed a Miss Calder, who was passing, took Mills on his horse, and fled to the prairie. Mills was left on the prairie. A posse of citizens pursued and captured Chaslain and Carter, and they were lodged in jail. Mills will die.

Two roughs named McDonald, cousins, who brutally murdered two brothers named Wilson near Menominee, Mich., a few days ago, were taken from jail and lynched on the night of Sept. 27th.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptoms indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

Benjamin Graham, of Springfield, Mass., was killed by a train near New London, Conn., Sept. 28th, while asleep on the track.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Pleasant Message.

LONDON, Sept. 27. To Blaine, Secretary, Washington—I have received the following telegram from the queen: "Would you express my sincere condolence to the late President's mother and enquire after her health, as well as after Mrs. Garfield." Her majesty adds, "I should be thankful if you would procure me a good photograph of Gen. Garfield." LOWELL, Minister.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—To Lowell, Minister, London: Your telegram expressing the compassion of the queen for the mother of the late President was duly forwarded to Mrs. Garfield at Mentor, Ohio. I have just received the following reply:

"Please request Mr. Lowell to express to her majesty the queen the grateful acknowledgements of the mother of Gen. Garfield and my own for the tenderly, womanly sympathy she has been pleased to send. Also that her majesty's wish will be complied with at an early day.
LUCRETIA R. GARFIELD."

You will please make fitting communication of this reply to her majesty.
HITT, Acting Secretary.

A Grand Steal.

It is announced from St. Petersburg that a most important discovery has just been made of enormous thefts from the Russian imperial treasury. Immediately after Baron Kuster had been relieved from his functions as court steward, a special commission was appointed to look into his accounts. After working five or six hours daily for twelve consecutive days, the commission ascertained that, roundly estimated, 60,000,000 of rubles once in the imperial safes had been stolen. Nearly 600,000 gold pieces in florins and half imperials were taken, besides about 400,000 paper rubles. The remainder of the sum was represented by state bonds and railway securities. The examination of the imperial assets took place in the cellars by gaslight.

News and Notes.

All the ship-carpenters in Newburyport are at work, and it is said that plenty of others could find employment were they there.

At Independence, Mo., Sept. 28th, Wm. Ryan, one of the Chicago & Alton railroad train robbers, was found guilty, and his punishment fixed at twenty-five years in the penitentiary.

An attempt has been made to blow up the residence of Capt. Thomas Lloyd at Pallasgreen, County Limerick, Ireland. The residence was occupied at the time by Capt. Lloyd and seventeen emergency men and police. One side of the building was shattered, it is believed by dynamite, but nobody was injured.

President Arthur went to New York on Thursday accompanied by Secretaries Lincoln and Hunt and Postmaster-General James. The President is expected to remain in New York five days.

It is thought at the Indian office at Washington, that the Apache trouble is now ended, as the last of the hostile White Mountain Indians who were engaged in the recent outbreak have surrendered.

At Lowell, Mass., Wednesday morning, Sept. 28th, while John Rutledge, aged thirty years, was working on the foundation of the round house of the Boston & Lowell railroad, he was struck by a fragment from a blast and killed.

Lobster fishing in Gloucester, N. B., this season, is reported as having been fairly good. Mackerel fishing has been a total failure, and the herring fishery not much better.

By the sinking of a ferry boat between Hope and Skidaway islands, near Savannah, Ga., Sept. 28th, twelve colored people were drowned, ten of them being women. They were bound to Savannah, marketing.

Mrs. Susan Bromley of New York on Sept. 27th refused Thomas Saunders' offer of marriage, and was fatally stabbed by him, dying next day. Saunders also cut his own throat, but may live long enough to be hung.

A party of masked men hung Guiteau in effigy from the top of a Bridgeport, Conn., telegraph pole Saturday night, and greased the pole so that the effigy could not be taken down till Sunday night.

Six descendants of Baron Steuben, all officers in the Prussian army, sailed from Hamburg on the 27th of September to attend the celebration at Yorktown.

The present remarkable year may witness still another celestial wonder. The Scientific American says that a mysterious star called the Pilgrim, which was observed in 945, 1264 and 1572, is expected by astronomers to appear before long. It was described in 1572 as brighter than Jupiter, and "such was its brilliancy that persons were able to detect it at noon in a clear sky, and at night when the sky was so overcast as to hide all other stars." If it appears it will probably be visible for several weeks in the constellation of Cassiopeia.

The third annual meeting of the Danforth family in America will be held in Jackson hall, Lowell, Mass., on Tuesday, Oct. 11th. All the Danforths, and all in any way connected with them, either by blood or marriage, are invited to be present. The gathering last year was a highly successful and interesting one. E. Danforth Curtis, Esq., of Andover, Mass., has accepted an invitation to give an address on the occasion, and a paper prepared by Mrs. A. F. Danforth Raymond, of Syracuse, N. Y., embodying many interesting statistics of the family, will be read. A poem may also be expected on the occasion, and an original ode to be sung by the family.

The London Standard says the "revised interest in the Confederate sterling loan" was taken to a large amount at two pounds ten shillings, Sept. 27th.

John H. Verity and Alanson K. Hoff of Seaford, L. I., went out on the Great South bay to shoot game. As Hoff was drawning his gun toward him by the muzzle, the hammer caught in a rib of the boat and the gun exploded. Hoff's right arm was completly blown off, and he bled to death. He was fourteen years of age.

Frederick Tucker of Hampden, Conn., seventeen years old, was accidentally shot and killed at Westville, Conn., Sept. 26th. He tried to take a gun from a wagon, holding the muzzle toward him, and both barrels were discharged into his abdomen.

James Burnsted, foreman of a squad of railroad surveying engineers at Red Bank, N. J., shot himself accidentally at Fairview, while trying to extract the charge from a loaded revolver. The ballet pierced his heart, causing instant death.

The "International Review" for October contains several able articles. As the publishers disclaim all responsibility for the opinions of the contributors of course the writers are untrammelled, as for instance when Mr. F. W. Whitridge of New York fearlessly maintains that Mr. R. Conkling is neither a great man nor a great lawyer as Gen. Grant, and many others have supposed, and then goes on to prove his assertion. The other articles are "The treasury and the banks," by H. W. Richardson of Portland; "The southern educational problem;" "John Wesley;" "Mr. Atkinson on 'the solid south,'" by Wm. E. Boggs; "Immanuel Kant," by Edwin D. Mead of Boston. The International is edited in Boston and published in New York, and its articles are not all alike for their breadth as well as depth, with not a line in the monthly review which is not worth reading.

Wars of the Humming-Birds.

Whenever it happens that two of the species meet among my flowers, they signal the encounter with a shrill warcry, and dash at each other in fierce antagonism. The spirit of Bellona inflames their souls. For an instant they close together, then give each other chase, and with the speed of meteors are lost to my view. Shortly after, the return of one alone announces that the victory has been quick and decisive. Diminutive as are these puny sprites, they are heavily charged with combativeness. The entire race are pugnacious and quarrelsome to an extraordinary degree, impudently assaulting each other, and birds of much greater size which venture into their neighborhood or occasion them a fancied annoyance. Even the hawk is not safe from their attacks, and has been seen worried and whipped by them. Mr. Bates remarks, in delineating their truculent disposition, and the perpetual battles occurring in every flowery nook in the tropics where they congregate, "One will knock another off its perch, and the two will go fighting and screaming away at a pace hardly to be followed by the eye."

—The season has arrived when the orator who does not know a side-hill plough from a potato bug, will deliver beautiful discourses on agriculture on the fair grounds.

Commander Howison and Lieutenant Very have returned to Washington after visiting Portsmouth, N. H., and conferring with the sub-committee on construction of the naval advisory board. They are now engaged in working out the problem of an armament for the types of vessels which the board will at its meeting in October recommend to be built. For the largest type of iron cruiser, which is to have a speed of fifteen knots, and to carry coal for a cruise of 4,500 miles, it is probable that an armament of twenty-two six-inch, and two eight-inch guns will be recommended. It was at first proposed to provide a larger number of eight-inch guns, but to obtain the required speed and coaling capacity it is necessary to make the weights of armament lighter than that of foreign war ships of a singular type. But since six-inch steel guns now penetrate eleven inches of iron armor, and since speed and coaling capacity are more important in the iron cruiser that we need than weight of metal to be thrown, the reduction of the number of eight-inch guns to two may be permissible.—Army and Navy Register.

An Authentic Testimony.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Sept. 29th, Mayor Sise in the chair:

Pay-roll of fire department for last quarter, amounting to $1414.36, was ordered paid.

Invitation of Moses H. Goodrich fire engine company for the board to participate in a clambake at Rye beach on Friday, was accepted.

Committee on streets gave notice that they would report at next meeting in regard to fountain on Market square.

Ald. Caswell said the appropriations for streets, school-houses and sewers had given out already, and he would like to know what was going to be done about it. Nobody told him. In answer to a question by Mr. Caswell, the mayor said ten teams could be put on the street extension, and Mr. Phillips would put twenty cars on the railroad to transport gravel.

Met the common council in convention, for discussion.

On resuming, the board adjourned without transacting further business.

In Common Council, President Clark in the chair:

Conference committee on the compensation for looking after naphtha lights received one week more time in which to report.

President Clark stated why the council approved the provisions of the bill prepared by the joint committee on finance, (to authorize the treasurer to advertise for bids for a loan for five years, at interest not exceeding four per cent,) as passed by the council at a previous meeting, instead of voting to hire the money until it can be raised by taxation next year, as follows: Besides the $5000 due Oct. 1st, 1881, another $5000 falls due next year; then the new street will cost $5000 or more, (he might have said $10,000,) and a large expenditure must be made to abate the north pond nuisance; in addition, the expenditures last year were over $6500 more than the receipts and no provision has yet been made for this deficiency. All this will cause a great increase of taxation, or a large loan, next year; but in 1886, when the bonds provided for in the bill passed by the council would fall due, no other bonds will mature.

Several informal votes were taken by the convention, one of them being on the suggestion to make up the needed $5000 by taking the $3000 appropriated for an artesian well, and $2000 from the contingent fund; but all the votes simply indicated that each board would "stick."

The convention then rose, and the council immediately adjourned for one week.

Edward Foster and Edward Lowd, drunks, were sent to Brentwood for thirty days, and ordered to pay costs amounting to $6.90 each.

Mrs. Aaron N. Smith, for an assault on Josephine Cousins, was fined $2, costs $7.67. Paid.

THE "CALCUTTA."

A letter received in Boston from Charles Freeman, late mate of the ship "Calcutta," gives the particulars of the loss of that vessel on the 27th of July two hundred miles east of East London, on the southeast coast of Africa. Out of sixteen persons on board, only the mate, carpenter and one seaman were saved. The ship was on the way from the East Indies to Boston with a cargo of sugar; she had for a fortnight had fearful weather, and no observation had been possible; she was also leaking considerably. At the time of the wreck, which occurred about a half-hour after midnight, a heavy gale was blowing and a high sea running, the weather being thick, with copious rain. On sighting the breakers all hands attempted to ware ship, but she took a sea over the quarter, carried away the wheel, skylight and one boat on top of the house, and then the sea threw her into the breakers; the crew hung on to the ship for an hour or two, the sea making a clean breach over her, and smashing her up like matchwood. The bodies of the captain, second mate, steward and two of the foremast hands were recovered. The survivors were well treated. The Calcutta was built at this port in 1867 by Wm. F. Fernald, for Capt. John G. Moses and others of this city; she registered 843.22 tons, and was considered a very superior vessel.

A REMINISCENCE OF THE LATE WAR.

At the first meeting for the season of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in Boston this month, (in our brief report of which we made mention of the remarks of Messrs. Woodbury and Hackett, eulogistic of the late Charles Wesley Tuttle, a native of Dover point, and a celebrated historical scholar,) Judge Cowley of Lowell, in referring to the many recognitions of courage on the Union side which he had heard from survivors of the lost cause, said:

For example, I have been asked at least fifty times, "Who was it that rode a cream-colored horse at the battle of Secessionville? Whoever he was he bore a charmed life. More than a hundred of our sharpshooters cracked their rifles in vain." It was Colonel John H. Jackson of the Third New Hampshire Infantry, and he it was who, when General Strong was mortally wounded in the battle of Wagner, caught the general in his arms and saved him from falling to the ground.

Colonel Jackson of the Third New Hampshire Regiment, whose bravery in a certain battle had led his former foes to inquire of Mr. Cowley about him, being present, was called upon, and confirmed what had been said by that gentleman. Thanks were voted to Mr. Cowley.

Col. Jackson, whose father was a soldier in the war of 1812, and whose grandfather fought in the revolutionary war, was a native of this city, and his military experience began as a member of the Rockingham Guards.

Wm. Holmes, one of the boat-fishermen of this port, took three barrels of herring in his net on the night of Sept. 28th, off the harbor. The schooner Flying Dart, (drag-boat,) S. H. Robinson master, took one hundred and fifty "bloater" mackerel on the same night near the Triangles, in a mackerel net, and sold her fare next day to Randall & Caswell at eight cents each. Schooner Wm. B. Keen, Becker master, arrived on the 29th with about 8000 mackerel, taken close to this port; the large ones, averaging two pounds in weight, were sold to C. Sullivan & Co., for the local retail market, bringing about eight cents; the medium sized ones were sold to George Herbert & Co., at five cents; and the small ones were taken by peddlers for sale in the neighboring country towns. The schooner Grace Choate arrived at Tredick's wharf on the 29th, with twenty barrels of salt mackerel. William Lear, who fishes in a small wherry, on the 29th brought in three hundred pounds of nice cod-fish, taken off Little Harbor; he sold his fare to John J. Fletcher, who keeps a fish market on Water street. Mr. James Sanborn, who keeps a fish market on the same street, purchased a considerable quantity of fish the same day from boat-fishermen belonging in Newcastle.

Miss Georgia E. Cayvan, well known as a reader, who the past year has made a great success as a member of the Madison Square theatre company of New York, has been especially engaged by them to appear in this city shortly with the Madison Square company, in her original part of "Hazel Kirke."

Capt. Joseph C. Muchmore is overhauling the rigging of the schooner Maud B. Wetherell, preparatory to her making a trip to Prince Edward's island for a cargo of potatoes. After finishing with the Wetherell, Capt. Muchmore will overhaul the rigging of the schooner Mary S. Hontvet, to put the latter vessel in good case for winter fishing.

The gondola "Alice," Capt. Fernald, of Exeter, was on Thursday loaded with stove coal for Exeter from the schooner Fleetwing.

Two very handsome pairs of cattle belonging to the city farm have been for several days engaged in discharging the cargo of hard pine timber brought from Brunswick, Ga., by the schooner Susan Stetson, for the coal-pockets to be put up by C. E. Walker & Co. on their wharf. The price paid for the services of the team and driver is $5 per day.

The schooner Velocipede, which came off the shore of Seavey's island below the narrows on Wednesday of this week, after having stuck there about four days, though not materially injured was found to leak some, owing to the oakum having worked out of some of her seams. Messrs. Bailey and Adams on Thursday commenced to calk her as she laid at Doane's wharf.

The prevalence of mutilated silver coins (the mutilation generally consisting of a hole punched or drilled through) in many parts of the country has resulted in a department order fixing the values at which such coins will be received at the several post-offices. Dollars will be accepted at a valuation of seventy-five cents each; half-dollars, thirty-five cents; quarters, fifteen cents; dimes, five cents. Three-cent and five-cent pieces with holes in them or otherwise mutilated will not be taken at any price. Thus the person who accepts a dollar with a hole in it runs the risk of losing a quarter. Once the people refuse to take such coins, except at their government valuation, the swindlers who make a living by boring coins will have to invent some other scheme.

Several of the Portsmouth boys who were in the U. S. S. Ticonderoga on her recent trip have arrived home, and speak in favorable terms of their voyage and the ship's officers.

New Hampshire Items.

Charles K. Colony of Keene has completed a silo twenty feet wide by thirty-four feet long and fifteen feet high. The walls are fifteen inches thick, and are made of concrete. One hundred and forty-one barrels of cement, nine hundred bushels of sand, and one hundred and fifty tons of stone were used in its construction.

A few weeks since, when Abdul Hassan Dey, secretary of legation from the court of Egypt, was the guest of Mr. C. H. Merrill of Andover, on his departure he presented Mr. Merrill with a mummy of an Egyptian Princess of the house of Rameses II., and sent instructions to his government to forward it the present autumn. It is expected to reach America some time in December. The Princess was nearly contemporary with the Abraham of the Bible. Mr. Merrill is building a tower adjoining his house, the second story of which is to be finished for the reception of the mummy and other curiosities. Abdul Hassan Dey wrote his name in Mrs. Merrill's autograph album in eight different languages, employing as many different kinds of alphabet, one of which was the hieroglyphic writing of ancient Egypt.

J. Warren Stearns of this state has passed an examination as candidate for cadet midshipman at Annapolis naval academy.

The New Hampshire Episcopal state convention organized at Manchester, Sept. 28th, and after the usual religious services Bishop Nealey delivered an interesting address, giving an account of diocesan work during the past year. The bishop then conducted communion services, after which a considerable amount of routine business was disposed of. In the afternoon, prior to the final adjournment, a short session was held to dispose of unfinished business.

Charles F. Bridgman of Brooklyn, N. Y., a brother of Sheriff Nathan C. Bridgman of Lebanon, was knocked from a freight train and killed, Sept. 28th, between Franklin and Boscawen, his head coming in contact with a bridge. His age was fifty-five years.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"The United Service" for October is an especially interesting number, among the most notable articles being "Yorktown and its heroes," "On the necessity for divers in our navy," "The artillery of Russia," "The occupation of Fort Sumter, and hoisting the old flag thereon," and "The command of the British army." In addition there are a number of other contributions of greater or less interest, and the usual editorial notes and reviews of "service literature." L. R. Hamersly & Co., Philadelphia, publishers; $5 per year; single numbers fifty cents each.

"The Granite Monthly" for September contains a sketch of Hon. H. W. Parker, of Clarenont, a member of the 42d Congress, and a well known lawyer. The sketch is written by H. H. Metcalf, Esq., and does the handsome thing for Hosea, as does a fine engraving claimed to be a likeness. Hon. Thos. L. Tullock tells of his ancestry. There is a very good sketch of Wm. Henry Haile, son of the late Ex-Gov. Haile, and an excellent subject for any one to write about. There is also a sketch of Louis Cass, by Mary M. Culver, and other miscellaneous matter.

"A Manual of Trade-mark Cases, comprising Sebastian's digest of trade-mark cases, covering all cases reported up to 1879, with those of a leading character since decided, with notes and references by Rowland Cox." Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

In this compilation Mr. Cox has attempted, as he says, only to supplement the original text of the English work and to adapt it to the wants of the American reader.

The use of trade-marks in this country has increased extensively of late, and the law upon this subject is here presented in such a conveniently practical manner that the manufacturer and merchant, with the work before them, hardly need to consent their legal advisers in order to know the law upon this subject. The cited cases are numbered, and in the table of cases are referred to by numbers. Among the cases is the celebrated case of the Amoskeag company of Manchester, which in 1849 protected the company in the trade-mark of the A. C. A. tickings. The work is not a treatise, but a statement of the law in 675 cases, all concerning the use of, and the infringement upon trade-marks, and of course involving a great variety of questions as to what is an infringement.

The volume contains cases decided in the courts of all the English-speaking countries. The principles by which the decisions of the courts of France, Germany, etc., are governed are independent of those recognized in the courts of this country and Great Britain.

Several cases as yet unreported elsewhere appear in this volume, which contains nearly five hundred pages. The cases are succinctly stated and the results are seen without going through long details of facts or reasoning, the gist of decisions being what is given in nearly every instance.

Doctors!

Of all the different schools in the country, have thousands die every year of Bright's disease of the kidneys, who could be living to-day if they had used Sulphur Bitters. They are unequalled in the world for all diseases of the kidneys. —New Haven Union.

The receipts from internal revenue on Thursday were $401,299.14; customs, $698,365.41.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

Terrible Loss of Life.

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Frederick Wagner, a saloon keeper of New York city, on the night of Sept. 27th after a quarrel with his wife shot her in a room and set a bloodhound upon her, who tore her terribly. The police finally interfered and shot the dog. Wagner was fined $5 for this horrible offence, by Judge Flammer.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

As a pleasant, economical and positive cure, SWAYNE'S OINTMENT is superior to any article in the market. Sold by druggists, or send 50 cts. in 5-ct. stamps, 3 boxes, $1.25. Address, DR. —It is so cold in Penobscot county that the editors wear overcoats for nightgowns. At any rate the Dexter Gazette man says, "The nights are now so cool that overcoats are pronounced to be about the correct thing."

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

The Minister's Institute.

A few years ago the Unitarian clergy formed a Ministers' Institute to meet upon the alternate years of the National Conference at Saratoga, for the discussion, in a scholarly method, of theological and social questions, bearing upon the present religious condition and life. It has been their aim to select persons to write who have had a special interest in some subject, and then devote a part of the day to the discussion of that paper. The two sessions held hitherto have been successful far beyond any expectation. The next meeting is to be held at Princeton, Mass., and the order of papers and subjects will be as follows:

Monday, October 3d, at 8 P. M., an address, introductory to the work of the Institute, by Rev. Henry W. Bellows, D. D., of New York.

Tuesday, October 4th, from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M., essays by Prof. William James, upon "Reflex Action and Theism," and Mr. John Fiske, upon "The True Lesson of Protestantism." At 7:30 P. M., a paper by Rev. James T. Bixby, upon the "Non-Christian Religions."

Wednesday, October 5th, from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M., essays by Prof. C. A. Toy, upon "The Prophet Ezekiel," and Prof. George L. Cary, upon "Criticism and the Scriptures." At 7:30 P. M., a statement by Prof Ezra Abbot with regard to the work of the Bible revision committee.

Thursday, October 6th, from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M., essays by Rev. Frederick H Hedge, D. D., upon "Christianity in Conflict with Hellenism," and Rev. Rufus Ellis, D. D., upon "Paul, his Theology and his Religion." At 7 P. M., an essay upon some theme of ecclesiastical history, by Rev. Joseph H. Allen.

Friday, October 7th, from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M., essays by Rev. R. H. Newton, D. D., of New York, upon "Communism and Republicanism," and by Mr. Edward Atkinson, upon "The Identity of Private Wealth and Public Welfare."

The afternoons will be set apart for discussions of the morning papers, by the members of the Institute.

Princeton is upon the Boston, Barre & Gardner railroad. It can be reached from any of the railroad lines terminating in Worcester, from which it is distant about an hour's ride. Free return tickets will be given to passengers over the Barre & Gardner and the Fitchburg roads; and, if fifty passengers are guaranteed from Boston, the Boston & Albany road will sell round trip tickets, including all railroad and stage conveyances, for $2.75. In order to be able to give this guarantee, the secretary should have the names of persons, laymen or clergy, in the vicinity of Boston, who intend to go to the Institute.

Trains leave the Boston & Albany station at 5 A. M. and 1:30 and 4:30 P. M.

Leave Worcester at 8 A. M. and 3:45 and 6:30 P. M.

Reach Princeton at 9:02 A. M. and 4:35 and 7:22 P. M.

Hotel accommodations will be found at Princeton at the Warhusett and the Prospect houses, at $1.50 per day. It will be a convenience, if rooms are engaged beforehand.

While the Institute is primarily designed for ministers, all persons who are interested in the scientific study of theology are cordially welcomed to its public meetings.

News and Notes.

A difficulty occurred on Sept. 28th at the magistrates' court, Burke county, Ga. Chas. J. Walker wounded Mike Smith, who then killed Walker, shooting him through the head; and Edward Palmer shot and instantly killed Arthur Smith. The difficulty grew out of a horse trade.

Mr. Scoville, Guiteau's brother-in-law, has formally accepted the assassin's defence. In accordance with Guiteau's expressed wish, Mr. Scoville has invited Emory Storrs of Chicago to aid in the defence, but the latter has declined.

The three ruffians who robbed a train on the Iron Mountain railroad in Missouri have all been lodged in jail at Hope, Mo., and fully identified. One of them was caught in Texas, and the others in the Indian Nation.

There is always some consolation in considering and recording the acts of true heroism by which every great catastrophe is illustrated. It would be hard to conceive a nobler example of self-sacrifice and fidelity than is described in the following letter from the postmaster at Marietta, Mich., received by the post-office department at Washington: "Mr. Ira Humphrey, mail-carrier on route No. 24,313, from Marietta to Argyle, perished in the fire between Elmer and Argyle, on Monday, Sept. 5th. When surrounded by the fire he cut his horse loose from the buggy, helped an old lame man on to it, who was a passenger with him, and told him to flee for his life. Mr. Humphrey was true to his trust. When found, the charred remains of the mail-bag lay by his side."

Secretary of War Lincoln has directed the commanding officer at Fort Wayne, Detroit, Mich., to send one company of the tenth infantry to Cleveland to do guard duty over the remains of the late President. The soldiers will remain until other arrangements are completed.

Horses are dying in Chicago by the hundred from a disease called the "pink-eye." The contractor who removes the bodies of dead animals complained to the mayor on Thursday that he couldn't get enough teams to bury the horses which had died of the disease. The express companies, omnibus lines and street-car companies are the chief sufferers.

Charles Seymour of Brooklyn, N. Y., was married at Richmond, Sept. 28th, to Miss Clara Stevens, his father officiating. Ten minutes afterward he was arrested for breach of promise, claiming $5,000 damages, and preferred by Miss Allie Mansfield of Hawley, Mass., to whom for some time he was engaged. Seymour gave bail in $5,000 for trial at the superior court of Franklin county. The affair created a sensation, Seymour being the son of a well known Congregational clergyman. His bride fainted when the sheriff made known his errand.

Paul Boyton is to swim from Glendive, Montana, down the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers to St. Louis. He will be eight weeks on the journey.

Mrs. Samuel Colt, Hartford's wealthy lady, whose late husband's name became famous in connection with the manufacture of revolvers, is about to visit Europe for a year's absence. She has already sold her Newport lot.

George W. Rogers, employed at Cunningham & Co.'s bicycle manufactory in Boston, contemplates a journey on one of those graceful vehicles from the Hub to Bangor, where he will spend his vacation. He will go on the line of the Eastern and Maine Central roads, something over 200 miles.

Hanlan has agreed to row against Wallace Ross for $1000 a side, the race to come off on the 15th of November, on some course to be agreed on.

In Aurora, Ill., Sept. 28th, A. P. Regers found his wife walking out in the evening with another man; he shot her dead, and then killed himself.

An excursion train collided with a freight train at Orwell, Ontario, Sept. 29th. Five passenger cars were wrecked, five persons killed and twenty or more badly wounded. Several others were reported as missing, and were supposed to be buried under the wreck.

The schooner Guy Cunningham sailed from Gloucester, Mass., July 30th, on a fishing trip to the Grand banks, and has not since been heard of; she is now given up for lost, with all hands, numbering fourteen men. She was a first-class vessel, built in 1877, registered eighty-eight tons, and was insured in the Gloucester Mutual company $4391 on the schooner and $1000 on outfit.

—Young Spurgeon was expected to die within twenty-four hours at Crestline, Ohio, and under the circumstances Miss Gray consented to marry him, though she had never reciprocated his affections, and had chosen another man to become her husband. Her amiability got her into a dilemma, for Spurgeon has recovered and wishes to hold her to the compact. To that she will not agree, and she begs him to get a divorce so that she may marry his favored rival. In this unsatisfactory condition the matter rests.

—A southern negro, an ex-slave, hired a field from his old master to cultivate, he to receive one-third and the master two-thirds of the crop. The old negro was honest, but not up in arithmatic. The field yielded two loads, both of which he put in his master's crib, and reported to the astonished landlord: "Dar is no third, sah; de land am too poor to produce de third, sah."

—A colored witness was asked if he knew and used the Bible. He replied in the affirmative. It afterward appeared that the man couldn't read. "Now, sir," thundered the attorney on the other side, "didn't you swear that you used your Bible?" "Yes, yes, sah," faltered the witness, "I done strapped my razor on it." The court decided that this was equal to the general knowledge of the Bible, and was sufficient.

—"Can I see the lady of the house?" inquired the peddler. "Well, yes, you can if you ain't blind!" snapped the woman who had answered the bell. "Oh, beg pardon, madam; you are the lady of the house, then?" "Yes, I am! What d'yer take me for? Did yer think I was the gentleman of the house, or the the next-door neighbor, or the farm hands or the cat, or the ice-chest?"

—When a Kansas editor takes his affidavit that he saw a grasshopper light down on the back of a robin and lift him two feet high in an effort to carry him off it is simply one solitary instance of the wonderful richness of the soil of that state. Next year they are going to tame the grasshopper and use him to aunt rats.

—An inquisitive old gent poked his head in a printing office and asked, "Who is dead?" The man at the wheel answered, "Nobody that I have heard of." The old gent then asked, "What is the crape on the door for?" The boss then went out and found that the "devil" had hung the office towel on the door knob while he chased a lame pigeon up an alley.

—All bachelors would like to shake hands with the man named Morse who recently got married, and four weeks later applied to the legislature and had his name changed to Re-Morse.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a "quid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

After numerous experiments Mr. Fellows succeeded in producing this combination of Hypophosphites, which has not only restored him to health, but has since been found so successful in the treatment of disease emanating from loss of nerve power, and consequently muscular relaxation, viz:

Aphonia (loss of voice), Neuralgia, Anæmia, Nervous debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Whooping Cough, Dyspepsia, Congestion of the Lungs, Fever and Ague, Palpitation of the Heart, Leucorrhœa, Melancholy, Malaria, Mental Depression, Nervousness.

MALARIA.

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

FIREMEN'S VISIT.

The H. P. Macintosh fire engine company of Newburyport, accompanied by invited guests and the Georgetown cornet band, arrived in this city at ten o'clock Friday morning, and were received by the Moses H. Goodrich engine company of this city, with the drum corps. The visitors were escorted on a march about the city, ending at the engine house of the local company, where light refreshments were furnished; and at noon the line of march was again taken up for Richards avenue, where the party embarked in barges and went to Wallis' sands, Rye, at which place a clam-bake was prepared. Mayor Sise, Alderman Vaughan and other prominent citizens called on the party at the sands during the afternoon. In the evening a band-concert complimentary to the citizens was given on Market square by the visitors, and later there was a social dance in Franklin hall, complimentary to the visiting company.

The Newburyport company paraded with sixteen men and a big dog, the latter wearing a handsomely-lettered red blanket. The officers are: Foreman, George A. Peavey; asst. foreman, E. P. Allen; clerk, J. W. Sargent. With them as guests came L. C. Reed, C. Kennard and A. Knight, assistant engineers, and A. Hardy, hook and ladder foreman, of Newburyport. The Georgetown band numbers twenty-two pieces, has been organized about eleven months, and is composed of very respectable-appearing young men; E. A. Chaplin is the leader.

The Macintoshes will return home this afternoon.

Mrs. Dick, of Boston, will again address the Society of Spiritualists on Sunday afternoon and evening in Good Templars' Hall, over Morse & Tisley's. A collection will be taken to meet expenses. All are welcome.

At the Vesper Service next Sunday Rev. Mr. DeNormandie will give the last sermon upon the various Christian denominations, and their saints or founders; subject, "Channing."

Rev. J. S. White of Boston will preach in the Advent church.

Rev. G. T. Flanders, D. D., of Lowell, Mass., will preach in the Universalist church; the pastor will be present.

The subject of the lecture Sunday evening at the North church, by Rev. Mr. McGinley, will be "Lessons to young men from the life and death of Garfield." Services commence at half-past seven o'clock.

COLE'S CIRCUS.

Concerning W. W. Cole's circus and menagerie, which has but recently returned to this country from a prolonged tour in the southern hemisphere, the Star of Auckland, New Zealand, said:

This is far and away the ne plus ultra of everything of the kind that has ever visited these colonies. Mr. Cole possesses the Aaron's rod of all the great caterers for public amusement and instruction. He has swallowed up in his circus, menagerie, and congress of living wonders, the great rarities, beauties, skill, daring and graces of a hundred other rival shows. This extraordinary combination of wonders, collected at infinite pains and enormous expense from every quarter of the globe, is a grand example of the enterprise, daring and grasp which are the prominent characteristics of Americans. The business capacity which can combine into one homogeneous whole such a heterogeneous collection of elements, transport it over wide seas and continents, and control the infinite minutæ without a hitch, must be of a very high order, in fact, nearly allied to that genius which enabled Stanley to overcome the difficulties and surmount the obstacles of the terra incognita of Central Africa, and which more or less distinguishes all the great commercial undertakings and amusements of the American people. Cole's circus and menagerie is a modern revival of the splendors and marvels of the Roman Circus Maximus of the elder Tarquin, Julius Cæsar, and Augustus, without their barbarities, but transcending them in elegance, variety and perfection of training. There is nothing whatever in the whole exhibition and performance to offend the most fastidious taste, and there is enough to satisfy and astonish the most exacting. The menagerie alone is worth a hundred books of natural history for purposes of education; the performances of the animals are remarkable proofs of man's supremacy over the brute creation; while the feats performed in the arena display to perfection the adaptibility of the human frame, and the triumphs of physical training. We might write a volume of this exhibition, but it would fail to convey anything like an adequate idea of its merits. It must be seen to be appreciated as it deserves.

AROUND HOME.

The ladies of the Portsmouth Humane society will hold their first meeting on Monday, Oct. 3d, at Mrs. Lyman's, No. 2 Austin street.

On the evening of Sept. 29th, at Newmarket, Sheriff Kent arrested on the Concord train two women giving the names of Rose Scott and Alice Scott, (mother and daughter,) for stealing from the Biddeford hotel at Biddeford, Me., ladies' dresses and other articles to the value of $100, the stolen goods being found in their possession. The women said they had lived in Williamstown, Mass., and Franklin, N. H. The city marshal of Biddeford says they have been east plying their vocation as hotel thieves. They were lodged in Exeter jail.

It was reported on Friday that a case of small-pox had been discovered on board a schooner at Concord railroad wharf, one of the crew being sick with the disease, and that the stevedore's gang knocked off work with great promptness on learning of the fact.

The Portsmouth Cavalry, Capt. E. D. Coffin commanding, which went into camp at Greenland on Tuesday, Sept. 27th, broke camp on Friday. The company passed a satisfactory inspection Thursday afternoon, Inspector General Wheeler, Adjutant General Ayling and other prominent military men being present. Thursday evening the company gave a ball in the Greenland town hall.

At a meeting of the governor and council, Sept. 29th, Col. Wm. H. Sise of this city was appointed a committee to oversee the completion of the repairs upon the state arsenal on South street.

Far the largest, fairest and richest-colored peaches we have seen this year were handed in by Mr. Charles T. Wiggin "for the editor to eat—not for a puff—don't want any puff—all sold already." Best of all, the promise to the eye was kept to the taste, for the peaches were as good as they looked—simply delicious—in which they were an exception to the general rule this year, most of the peaches and pears offered in the market this season having been so insipid in flavor that so far as taste was concerned peaches and pears could hardly be told apart.

The Boston papers which were due here by the morning mail on Wednesday, Sept. 28th, did not arrive until Friday, when they came in from eastward. Where they had been roving to for two days no one seemed able to tell.

We are requested to give notice that the Seaman's Home will be closed for a short time, to enable the Seaman's Aid Society to make suitable arrangements for the coming winter. As soon as the home is prepared for its numerous patrons, prompt notice will be given.

Mr. B. P. Shillaber has nearly completed his new book, the third of the series of "Ike and His Friends." The title will be "The Double-Runner Club, or the Lively Boys of Rivertown." Lee and Shepard are the publishers, and they will have this work ready for the general array of holiday candidates for favor, of which, we venture to predict, it will not be one of the least.

Stand-pipes are to be put up at each end of the Eastern railroad station in Newburyport, for the engineers on the road to fill their tanks from as they pass through.

The Newburyport fire company, who marched past the north pond Friday forenoon on their way to and from Christian Shore, must have an exalted idea of the reckless courage of our local firemen as exemplified in their continued existence in such a pestilential atmosphere. How the Georgetown cornet band, which accompanied the visiting firemen, could make so good music as they did by blowing such infernal odors through their instruments, is incomprehensible. It is reported that the members of the band announced their intention to boil their instruments for a week after getting home, for fear that if they were to go to any other place and there blow out some of the horrible smells absorbed here, the whole band would be arrested as one gigantic nuisance.

The committee of naval constructors having charge of the designing of new vessels for the navy, in connection with the advisory board—said committee consisting of Ex-Chief Constructor John Lenthall, Constructor T. D. Wilson of the Portsmouth navy yard, and Constructor Philip Hichborn of the League island yard—completed their labors Sept. 28th at this yard, where they had been in session for several weeks. The full advisory board will convene in Washington in the forenoon on Oct. 4th, the full report having to be in the hands of the secretary of the navy by Nov. 10th. Constructor Hichborn left this city for Philadelphia Sept. 27th, to meet the other members in Washington Oct. 3d; Constructor Wilson left on the afternoon of Sept. 29th with the plans approved by the committee of construction. The committee have had at their disposal while here the services of draughtsmen Simonds and Cassidy of the Boston yard, Southard of Norfolk and Jackson of the New York yard, and Emery, Pettigrew and Grogan of the Portsmouth yard.

Furbish Brothers and Horace McIntire are the contractors for the construction of the new road to Raynes' neck, York, as located by the county comissioners. The price is three dollars and a half to three dollars and seventy-five cents per rod.

Among those lost by the wreck of the ship Calcutta was Anthony Francis, whose mother, eighty-seven years of age, lives in Newburyport. Mr. Francis also left a wife and child.

—A curious cast-iron coffin, made in the shape of a man and carefully sealed, was recently found by a person removing bodies from the Holmead Cemetery, at Washington, D. C. It was unmarked, and no one knows when and by whom it was placed there. The body of a man was found in it, but the remains rapidly turned to dust when exposed to the air.

—Frank and Willie were discussing which were the most economical, men or women; Frank seemed to be getting the best of the argument, when Willie suddenly brought the debate to a close by saying; "One thing I know, father can make a piece of butter go over more'n twice as large a piece of bread than mother can."

—The practice of duelling continues to an alarming extent in the German army. Baron Geyso, an officer from whom much was expected, has just been killed in an encounter with another officer. Duelling of a serious character is also becoming common among students. Not content with their regular weapon, the rapier, two students of Gottingen agreed to settle their slight quarrel with pistols. One of them fell mortally wounded.

Ex-Confederate Reunion.

A large reunion of the ex-confederate soldiers was held at Moberly, Mo., Sept. 28th and 29th. On the evening of the 29th they adopted resolutions expressing themselves in full sympathy with the nation's grief for the untimely death of President Garfield, and offering heartfelt condolence and prayers for the stricken family; denying that any ex-confederate soldier desires a pension from the federal government or any state, and reaffirmig their acceptance of the issue of the late war.

The "Old Mechanics' Fair" at Boston.

The fourteenth exhibition of the old Mechanics' Association, on Huntington avenue, Boston, opposite old Coliseum grounds, is now in perfect running order, and daily receiving thousands of visitors. Its building is of its own erection, and is elegant, architecturally considered. It has twenty-two rooms, all of which are filled with the choicest results of New England industry, skill and art, including a full machinery hall; all the electrical appliances; a superb art-gallery; a military and colonial museum; a cataract and floral pyramid; an immense camera-obscura; a large department of ladies' embroidery and needle-work; vocal and instrumental music; and, in short, a thousand attractive novelties. A visit to this spacious and convenient building, with all its inner accommodations free, may well be considered an event of a lifetime.

The "Star Route" Ring.

The supreme court of the District of Columbia on Friday issued orders for the arrest of Thomas J. Brady, formerly second assistant postmaster general, John L. French, formerly chief clerk, Wm. H. Turner, an ex-clerk in Brady's office, George L. Macdonough, one of the star route contractors, and Samuel P. Brown, a general agent of the ring, "for conspiracy to defraud the United States" by the star route trickery. The warrants were issued under an "information" and not under an indictment.

David Hawkins, the colored coachman who has driven the white house carriage for Presidents Grant, Hayes and Garfield, expects to be selected by President Arthur as his coachman. The pair of horses which were purchased by President Garfield for the family carriage will be sent to Ohio in a few days. The carriage will also be sent, as also the harness, livery, etc. The horse used on several occasions by the president for riding and frequently afterwards by his son Harry, will also be sent to Mentor.

King Kalakaua arrived at Fortress Monroe, Va., last Thursday. The battalion paraded on the wharf to receive him. He visited the soldiers' home, where a salute was fired in his honor.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Romance in Real Life.

Lady Ellenborough, who, since her divorce fifty-one years ago, passed under the name of "Lady Digby," and led a life of strange romance in the east, has just died in Syria. When married to Lord Ellenborough, who was regarded as the most classic and Ciceronian orator of the day, and who ran a career of memorable notoriety as governor general of India, she was of singular beauty and accomplishments. Very shortly after her marriage she formed an attachment for a Russian diplomat, then serving on the English embassy, and a divorce was the result. Resuming her family name on this, she led a wild life for some years on the continent, and was repeatedly married. At the age of fifty, however, she abandoned such courses, and settled down to a peaceful and happy life with a wealthy sheik of Damascus, whose tribe she joined and became a good wife and a devotee to works of charity and kindness. Travellers who met her in the east spoke in glowing terms of those virtues in later life which redeemed the frailties of her youth.

Doctors!

Of all the different schools in the country, have thousands die every year of Bright's disease of the kidneys, who could be living to-day if they had used Sulphur Bitters. They are unequalled in the world for all diseases of the kidneys. —New Haven Union.

A tornado destroyed over twenty buildings in Emporia, Kansas, Sept. 29th, and killed four persons, many others being injured. On the same day the village of Madison, in Nebraska, was wrecked by a tornado, and two persons killed.

At Dunkirk, Ohio, Sept. 30th, City Marshal E. P. Shuey attempted to arrest three men who were suspected of having committed a murder at Findley in that state, but was shot dead by the gang, who after robbing his body made good their escape.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

Antoinette Lawton was arrested at San Francisco, Friday, for passing counterfeit eagles. Several of the spurious coins were found on her person. They are very dangerous counterfeits, and San Francisco and Sacramento within the past year have been flooded with them.

Ananias Fowler of Seabrook died a few days ago, leaving ninety descendants, all his children having large families. He was for many years a noted fisherman, and for a long time kept a fish house at Salisbury beach.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

News and Notes.

The New York Sun is very anxious to be informed "Who is this U. S. Grant?" He is the man who, as President of the United States, refused to make Charles A. Dana collector of the port of New York, and has been yelped at by Dana ever since. "That's what's the matter with" Dana.

Christian Kiefer, the collector of arrears of taxes of Union Hill, N. J., has gone away, taking with him $4000 of the township's money. This makes the fourth collector of taxes of Union Hill who has embezzled the township's funds.

Mrs. Valentine Dooley of Salem, Mass., on Thursday evening last week attempted to fill a kerosene stove while it was burning, and was fatally burned by its explosion. Her mother and a man named William Crouse were badly burned in extinguishing the flames. The house was set on fire, and slightly injured.

Ex-Congressman Voorhis of New Jersey was last week tried at Trenton on one charge of embezzlement from the Hackensack bank, and acquitted by the jury. Other charges against him were either quashed, or not sustained by the grand jury.

In Philadelphia, Sept. 30th, John McGinniss killed his wife, from whom he had some time been separated, and then killed her mother. He also attempted to kill the officer who arrested him.

B. W. Hicks, a white man, was hanged at Spartansburg, S. C., Friday, for the murder of his wife last May. He made a full confession.

A daughter of Edward Johnson of Merrimacport, Mass., fell into a tub of water on Wednesday of last week, and was drowned. The child was eighteen months old.

The Iron Mountain train robbers were in court at Hope, Mo., Sept. 30th; their identity was proved by fourteen witnesses, and they were held for trial in $8,000 each.

At the fair in Rochester, New York, Sept. 30th, twenty thousand people were present to witness a horse-race (running) between Belle Cook of California and Emma Jewett of Minnesota, for a purse of $2,000. The contest was one of the most exciting ever seen on that driving park. Each rider had eight horses, and the changes were made with wonderful rapidity. Cook led for the first five miles when she was passed by Jewett, who kept in front for the remainder of the race, and won in forty-five minutes and fifty-five seconds, the fastest time ever made in a twenty-mile race.

The schooner Herman Babson arrived at Gloucester, Mass., on the 30th ult., from Greenland, with 150,000 lbs. of fish. On Sept. 9th, when two days on her passage home, August Johnson was swept overboard while reefing the forsail, and drowned.

The schooner Gertie Freeman, Thurlow master, on Friday last took into Newburyport 1000 mackerel, the largest and fattest landed there this season. No other fishing boat arrived at that port that day.

The lobster fishermen of Swampscott, Mass., have been making some good hauls lately. One of them took in 650 lbs. on Monday of last week.

HUMANITY.

Editor Chronicle: The communication signed "Humanity," in Thursday's issue of your paper, was rather interesting to the confiding, innocent souls who take their mutton, beef, and veal from the well-scraped blocks of the provision dealers, without a question as to how the creatures whose flesh they live upon came to death, or how death came to the creatures.

The bland countenance, white frock, and polished metal scales of the smiling vender of chops, roasts and sirloins, like charity covers a multitude of sins, and blinds the eyes of the unthinking multitude to the fact that great quantities of meat are sold in the market, and eaten by the public, which is wholly unfit for human food. Cattle, sheep and swine suffer the anguish of a hundred deaths while being conveyed on cars, in carts and wagons, or driven on foot along the highway. Hunger, thirst, disease, torture and mutilation, without any attempt at alleviation or mitigation at the hands of the brutal drivers, while in transit, vitiate and poison their blood and destroy the nourishing quality of the flesh.

The cruel spectacle which "Humanity" witnessed, and which so shocked him (or her?) is only a mild instance of the cruelty which is perpetrated daily in this country, and I am glad that he has, himself, so far aroused to the need of a reform that he calls upon the S. P. C. A. to work more vigorously in the cause, although the motive which actuates him seems to be a narrow and selfish one, namely, that he may be enabled to enjoy his "mutton" without being tortured with the suspicion that it died a lingering death, and is liable to plant the seeds of dissolution in his own body.

But when men are actuated by the higher motive of preventing cruelty because it is devilish and inhuman in its very nature, and repugnant to every sentiment of their being, "the long-wished-for reform" will appear as suddenly as though wrought by magic.

The land is full of half-fledged humanitarians, who stand with hands uplifted in holy horror, contemplating the cruelty perpetrated everywhere against innocent and unoffending dumb creatures. It would be a move in a right direction if some of those uplifted hands should fall and buffet the heads of the brutal actors in the cruel scences, and thus illustrate the beauty and efficacy of the faith that shows itself by works (i. e. blows.) However, writing complaints to the papers is better than mere inactivity.

A little reflection on the part of our friend and adviser would show him that the officers of the S. P. C. A. cannot see and remedy every act of cruelty, however gross; the officers are less in number than the legally appointed officers of the law, (viz., sheriffs, police officers and constables,) in Portsmouth, whose duty it is to enforce the law of the state against cruelty to animals. And yet, few in number as they are, and endowed with no legal authority to make arrests of offenders, they have since their organization caused more prosecutions than the whole constabulary force of the state. Humanity can apply the same legal remedy in cases of cruelty that are accessible to any member of the society. And if unwilling to take upon himself the odium of being a prosecutor of a man for cruelty to a cat, or any other creature, he has only to inform an officer of the S. P. C. A. of the facts in the case, and prosecution will follow as surely and almost as speedily as death follows decapitation.

If "Humanity," or any one else, will communicate the name and place of residence of the man who drove the load of sheep through our city in the cruel manner described in Thursday's CHRONICLE to any officer of the S. P. C. A., he will be paid five dollars, instantly, for that amount of information. S. P. C. A.

Late transfers of real estate in this vicinity are as follows: Herbert C. Taft of Greenland to Daniel F. Littlefield and Walter S. Littlefield of Saco, Me., land for $1500. Martha Folsom of Newmarket to Channing Folsom of Somerville, Mass., land for $800. Joseph D. Jenness of Rye to Gerard B. Allen of St. Louis, Mo., land for $2000; Richard Jenness of Rye to George A. Lougee of Chicago, Ill., land for $2500. Jonathan E. Colby of South Newmarket to H. Jenness Paul, land and buildings for $2500. Laura J. Fitts of Kingston to Rebecca N. True of Salisbury, Mass., land and buildings in South Hampton for $125.

In the supreme court at Dover, on Thursday forenoon last, eight persons who had been indicted for selling or keeping for sale intoxicating liquors, and had pleaded nolo contendere, were called into court for sentence, when each of them made a statement, the substance being that the defendants had long before the term of court commenced paid the fines and costs in the cases against them to William H. Dodge, attorney at law, and settled with him in full. He had taken the money ostensibly to pay the county in fines and costs, and why they were afterward indicted in the same identical cases they did not know. The defendants produced receipts from Dodge for the money, and notes which some of them gave him for the fines and costs claimed, which notes they had afterward paid to him. The court deferred sentence in all the cases, requiring the defendants to give bonds in $200 each to appear in February. In the afternoon another indicted rumseller entered the court, and told the same story, alleging that he paid Dodge $25, making a total of $460.97 scooped in by the lawyer, according to the statements of the liquor dealers. Mr. Dodge was not in court at the time, and his side of the story was consequently not presented.

The Boston Traveller says: "Rev. E. A. Rand, the author of a series of juvenile works and sketch writer, received a call from the Episcopal church, Hyde Park, nearly a year ago, to become their rector. Mr. Rand consented to take charge for a year, which expires in November, and has had the call renewed."

Mr. George Fernald, an assistant engineer of the Boston fire department, is on a short visit to his friends in Kittery.

Fire on Monday night of last week destroyed the school house, furniture and books of district No. 9 in Kennebunk. Loss $2,000; insured $1,200 on house, $300 on furniture. Cause, incendiary.

No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

AROUND HOME.

It is reported that Wm. B. Newton on Saturday entered suit against the board of inspectors of checklists for omitting his name from the list at the late municipal election.

A Norwegian sailor named Oscar Wilson was fished out of the water at Noble's island bridge at about half-past one o'clock Sunday morning, by Officers Besselievre and Abbott, assisted by a Mr. Wendell.

Mr. Isaac Littlefield, tenor in the choir of the Unitarian church, will in a few weeks join a company of singers to start from Boston and travel through Canada and the west, and he will terminate his engagement here.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, Neil Burgess will give his inimitable personation of the "Widow Bedott," supported by Mr. George Stoddart as Elder Sniffles. See advertisement.

Capt. John Handy Robinson came in from Lunging island, Isles of Shoals, on Saturday, in the whaleboat Swan. He reports three whaleboats fishing from the island, and cod, haddock and hake plentiful; they took forty quintals in two nights last week. The dog-fish are extremely annoying, and no mackerel at all had been around the island for days.

"Tom" Wiggin of South Newmarket, after twice escaping from custody, was on Saturday lodged in Exeter jail. Deputy Sheriff Hoyt of Exeter caught him, and on Saturday forenoon took him before the police court in Exeter on a charge of stealing $40; he pleaded guilty, and was committed to jail in default of bail for his appearance at the October term of the supreme court. He is a noted young scoundrel.

The house, distillery and store of Wm. Ward & Sons are being connected by telephone with the central office.

The vessel with gas coal for the Concord Gas Co., on which the case of smallpox was discovered last Friday, has been thoroughly fumigated, and her cargo is being discharged and forwarded to Concord.

A dory lost by James Crosby of Badger's island on the 23d ult., was picked up off Whalesback by the schooner C. E. Morris, and taken into Gloucester, Mass., where it was recognized by one of the crew of the schooner Addie & Hattie of this port, who now has the boat in his charge.

Jesse Wilson was last week engaged in calking the deck of the schooner Celia. This schooner has lately been overhauled on the marine railway at Kittery, and it is reported that she is to be used in the pilot service.

Nell Burgess' impersonation of the "Widow Bedott" is as clear-cut a piece of characterization as Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle," or Owens' "Solon Shingle." It is a marvelous creation, and one that will last.—Grand Rapids Democrat.

The Portsmouth Shoe Factory company will pay a dividend of three per cent on and after Oct. 10th, at the Mechanics & Traders' bank.

A certain law of the state of New Hampshire, that says no person shall mar or injure property belonging to other persons or parties, if strictly enforced would prohibit the boys of this city, when playing "hare and hounds," from using charcoal or lime to indicate their route. No doubt numbers of persons have seen the indications on sidewalks and fences; it is no improvement to the streets of the city.

The small-pox case reported on Friday was discovered on the schooner Albert W. Smith, a seaman named Williams being sick with it. He was removed to the pest house, and the vessel disinfected.

Parties sailing in the lower harbor Thursday afternoon noticed a valuable raft of mast pieces in tow of the steamer French, on her way from Boston to Bath. In the raft were sixty-seven sticks, each about ninety feet long. The raft was made up of several sections placed one after another, ten sticks chained together making a section. These sticks were probably worth from $150 to $200 each, and if destroyed would be considered a serious loss.—Times.

President Anderson of the common council still retains that position, although the CHRONICLE says President Clark occupied the chair last evening.—Times, 30th ult.

Correct. The fact is that we were so astounded at seeing a common council that presumed to attempt having a voice in conducting the affairs of the city, instead of submissively "concurring" in whatever was sent down for concurrence by the board of mayor and aldermen, that we wholly forgot that Mr. Clark had ceased to be a member of the council, and that Mr. Anderson had for some time been president of that body.

The H P. Macintosh engine company, with their band, left for Newburyport by the five o'clock train Saturday afternoon. During the day the Moses H. Goodrich company shew their guests the other engine houses, Col. Sise company serving a collation at their engine house, and Kearsarge company providing a fine dinner. The visiting firemen and band expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the courtesies and attentions shown them during their stay.

Last autumn no wild geese were killed on the coast in this vicinity.—at least we did not see one in the market, nor hear of one being killed,—and no flocks were heard or seen on their southward flight by people on shore, though fishermen reported seeing large numbers of them far at sea. This year the geese have started on their semi-annual trip unusually early, several flocks passing over this city last Friday night; according to popular opinion, this indicates an early setting-in of winter in the high northern latitudes.

THE NORTH BURYING-GROUND.

In the North Burying-Ground of Portsmouth lie the remains of many revolutionary patriots, as well as those of noted citizens, some of whom I wish now to notice.

Gov. John Langdon planned the expedition and furnished the money for Gen. Stark's command, which fought the battle of Bennington, defeating Burgoyne, and causing as a result the defeat of Cornwallis at Yorktown, and the consequent acknowledgment by England of the independence of the United States. Notwithstanding the boasts of Massachusetts historians, and as worthy as the patriots of that state undoubtedly were, there appears on the list no worthier name than that of John Langdon. When Washington, after his accession to the presidency, met Langdon he said: "What can I do for you, Governor; what can I do for you?" "Nothing at all, General, nothing at all," answered Langdon. Washington rejoined: "Anything in this world, Governor, which lies in my power, I am willing to do for you."

William Whipple, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, July 4th, 1776, was with Washington and LaFayette in many of the great battles of the war. He resigned his military office, June 20th, 1782.

Judge Woodbury Langdon, so prominent a citizen of the town, and noted patriot, whose name appears on the tablet in the front of the Rockingham house, here lies interred,

Judge John S. Sherburne was a colonel in the revolution, and lost a leg in an engagement during the war. He lived many years afterward; and from the circumstance of his wearing an artificial limb was familiarly called "Cork-leg Sherburne."

Col. Moses Wood had command of the home guard, and marched the tories of that day to Exeter jail for safe keeping, until governor Langdon proceeded there and bailed them out, after receiving their promises of good behavior during the war.

Major Bass served under Washington.

Capt. Nathaniel Kennard served as lieutenant on board the U. S. S. "Alliance," commanded by the famous John Paul Jones, and is said to have been present when the "Stars and Stripes" were first raised on ship board. He was afterward an officer of the customs, when it was an honor to be such. The last revenue cutter stationed in Portmouth harbor was commanded by him. According to an article in the Portsmouth Journal a few years ago, written by a local historian, he captured a British man-of-war off this harbor.

His son, Captain Nathaniel Kennard, was taken to sea by his father at a very early age, and was afterward a lieutenant on board the "Harlequin" privateer, was captured in the early part of the war of 1812, was detained a prisoner at Dartmoor, England, being present at the infamous massacre there after the war had already been finished. He died at sea while on a voyage from Martinique to Newburyport, of the yellow fever, contracted in taking care of his men.

Thomas Harvey enlisted at the beginning of the war. His first act was to assist Colonel Woodward in marching the tories to Exeter jail. He was in General Stark's army at the battle of Bennington, and present at the surrender of Burgoyne. He was with Washington and LaFayette at the battle of Yorktown. He and his brother William walked home from Virginia, nearly barefooted, and like all the soldiers in destitute circumstances. When LaFayette visited the town of Portsmouth in 1824, Mr. Harvey was presented to him by Capt. (or Hon.) George Long, another revolutionary patriot. The general remembered Harvey as assisting in carrying him off the field of battle when wounded. The Harveys are the only Portsmouth persons positively known to have been at the battle of Yorktown. A well known citizen of Portsmouth, a resident of Washington, who is interested in archæology, writes as follows:

"As you propose writing an article on Thomas Harvey, who served six years or more in the continental army during the Revolutionary War, I have a few items concerning him which may aid you in the preparation of the sketch. He learned the trade of blockmaker, but did not follow his profession after leaving the army in 1783. At an early period in the revolutionary war Thomas Harvey served as a soldier with Massachusetts troops one year at Cambridge. He afterwards enlisted in a company commanded by Tobias Fernald, in the regiment of Colonel Brewer of the Massachusetts line. After a service of three years, the full term of enlistment, he was honorably discharged, and enlisted again at Exeter, New Hampshire, March 18th, 1780, as a private in Captain Samuel Cherry's company of the 3d N. H. Regiment, commanded by Col. George Reed, to serve during the war; and in June, 1783, he was honorably discharged by General Washington at a place called Snake Hill on the Hudson river, New York.

Thomas Harvey was a citizen of the United States and a resident of Portsmouth. His Pension Certificate, No. 7568, was issued March 11th, 1819, and he received pay from April 3d, 1818, at the rate of $8 per month. In June, 1820, his age was about sixty-two. His wife, Mary, at the same time about fifty. He had then three children,—two were married. He was employed in a private family as a laborer. His wife, occasionally as a charwoman (worked in families by the day.)

P. S. General Henry Dearborn was at Yorktown. Upon the death of Scammel he took command of the regiment at Yorktown.

General Whipple resigned his military office June 20th, 1782. I find no record of his being at Yorktown. I have not had time to consult reliable authorities only to examine books in my own library."

The humble grave of Prince Whipple is plainly to be recognized in the old burying ground. He was the body servant of General Whipple, and remained with him during the war. In Trumbull's painting of Washington crossing the Delaware there is a representation of a colored man in the bows of the boat, clearing away the ice, which was intended for a likeness of Prince. He derived his name from the fact of his having been the son of an African chieftain in Africa, where he was kidnapped and brought here. One day Gen. Whipple perceiving him looking very thoughtful, said: "Why are you so sad, Prince? Why are you so cast down?" "Because I know," said Prince, "that you are fighting for your liberty, and I am not fighting for mine." "Never mind," said the general, "when I obtain my liberty, you shall have yours." The general was true to his word; when the general obtained his own liberty, Prince obtained his, and afterward carried on an extensive business in Portsmouth. There used to be a great many representatives of the old-fashioned colored stock of this old town, perched up in the gallery of the old "North church," but now of them there are only left the few descendants of Prince, although there are at times quite a number of colored people forming a society on the site of the "Old South." A female descendant of Prince returned, some years ago, to the country of her ancestors, which now constitutes the Republic of Liberia, settled by American negroes, where she lives in plenty upon her own estate.

At the epoch of the American revolution, Portsmouth was a courtly and wealthy seaport town, the centre of an extensive region, as she still remains, but relatively then of course, of much more importance than at present; yet she had but few literary men to describe the virtues of the renowned citizens of the state. The few came generally from Massachusetts, and were only interested for Massachusetts. The Mason & Gorges colony, which settled York county in Maine, and Rockingham county in New Hampshire, came here to "fish and trade." They were successful, but they had not had time to apply themselves to other matters.

In some of the "Old Thirteen", monuments have been erected to the memory of such people as are described above; but in the old Granite State nothing of the sort has ever been attempted, except in the case of Meshech Weare, at Hampton.

The above remarks are suggested by an elderly citizen of Portsmouth from his reminiscences while strolling through the old "yard;" may the old heroes rest in peace, and "cursed be he who moves their bones."

It is suggested that on the anniversary of the battle of Yorktown the American flag be raised in their memory, and flowers be strown over the graves of these heroes.

Secretary Lincoln and Mrs. Lincoln have arrived at Rye where it is the intention of Mr. Lincoln to remain until the opening of the extra session of the Senate, when he will return to Washington. To a Tribune reporter whom he conversed with before he left New York, he said he did not care to talk politics as he was now on his vacation, and intended to be a private citizen. It was his intention to go to Rye beach to escape from everybody, as he felt worn out. When asked whether the report was true that he would succeed Senator Davis, he replied that he was surprised that such nonsense had been published.

At the same hotel Secretary Hunt was registered. He seemed careworn and looked several years older than when on his first visit to that city just prior to the shooting of President Garfield. His cordial manner had not forsaken him, however. In speaking of his plans he said that on Tuesday next he should begin to inspect the Brooklyn navy yard, and then go to the Charlestown yard, returning to Washington in time for the opening of the Senate. He was reluctant to speak about Cabinet matters. He said there would undoubtedly be changes made, but he would not give names.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching accompanying the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

ELDREDGE'S LAGER, and REFINED CIDER.

Of the different summer beverages manufactured at this establishment it is hardly necessary to say a single word. They have become popular "on their own merits," and can be found in many private families and on sale in every hotel, saloon and restaurant in this locality.

The Lagers bottled by me are from the best breweries in the country, and it is safe to say that there is no better in the world.

Gentlemen:—For the past few years we have sold various brands of Porous Plasters. Physicians and the Public prefer Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to all others. Benson's Capcine Plaster is a genuine Parmaceutical product, of the highest order of merit, and so recognised by physicians and druggists.

Guiteau's Fatal Shot.

The official report of the autopsy of President Garfield, prepared by the surgeons in charge, is published in full in the Medical Journal. A synopsis of the report was published immediately after the autopsy, which contained all the facts in which the general public are interested. The Philadelphia Medical News says, with regard to the official autopsy, that "We know now beyond the possibility of a doubt that no human skill could have averted the fatal result; but we find, moreover, that, even in the searching light of the careful and thorough post mortem examination, it is difficult, if not impossible, to suggest any modification of the treatment even in minor points which would have made it better adapted to the exigencies of the case."

The husband was arrested, and says his wife took poison voluntarily. She was but sixteen years old.

Ash-Tonic;

A perfected purifyer of the system. In 1-2lb. bottles; 75 cents. For dyspepsia, the many forms of liver complaint, impure and impoverished blood, and functional derangements attendant upon debility. For symptons indicated by indigestion, loss of appetite, nausea, sick headache, sour stomach, furred tongue, drowsiness, blanched lips, sallow complexion, pain in the side or back, eruptions, depression of spirits, nervous irritability and hysteria, and for building up the system, ash-tonic is unquestionably the most prompt and energetic remedy yet devised.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 2d, 1880. I know Hop Bitters will bear recommendation honestly. All who use them confer upon them the highest encomiums, and give them credit for making cures—all the proprietors claim for them. I have kept them since they were first offered to the public. They took high rank from the first, and maintained it, and are more called for than all others combined. So long as they keep up their high reputation for purity and usefulness, I shall continue to recommend them—something I have never before done with any other patent medicine. J. J. BABCOCK, M. D.

It is estimated that 600,000 sticks, or 40,000,000 feet of lumber, have been driven down the Kennebec river this summer. Lumbermen anticipate a long winter in the woods. Sawmills are unable to keep apace with their orders, and Maine is shipping an enormous amount of lumber to other states.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

TUESDAY, OCT. 4, 1881.

"Inside Influence."

A practice has of late grown up among a certain class of pension attorneys, of professing to have peculiar advantages for the prosecution of claims—"inside influence," as some of them term it in their circulars. Commissioner Dudley has caused the preparation of a circular, which is designed for general distribution. In it he says:

No person, agent or attorney, in or out of Washington, possesses any sort of advantage over any other except in official standing, and no one can expedite a claim by influence. Nothing can expedite the settlement of claims so much as a prompt compliance with the requirements of the office.

News and Notes.

The new lighthouse on Borden flats, Fall River, Mass., was lighted Saturday night for the first time since its completion.

Mrs. Maria Jefferson Eppstine called at the white house recently and was shown all the courtesies of the place. She is the granddaughter of Thomas Jefferson. Her son and daughter and one or two other persons accompanied her. She had with her the medal which was awarded Thomas Jefferson by the continental congress for drawing up the declaration of independence. The medal is a little larger than the standard dollar of to-day, and is appropriately inscribed.

A despatch from Gray's Mill, Miss., says: Mr. James Freeman's grandson, aged nine, being offended at the little daughter of Mr. Allen Harris, aged two, Friday, blindfolded the child and threw her into a well 100 feet deep, where she was found dead.

Henry Metzgar was executed at Titusville, Fla., Saturday for the murder of an inoffensive old man named Moore. The condemned confessed the crime, and said he had killed seven men in his lifetime. He was unrepentant to the last. The execution was quiet.

A rural dance on a farm near Louisville, Ky., Saturday, wound up in the murder of David Stowers and Feula Walter. One of these men had insulted Dick Carico, who, on meeting them, asked which was the man. There was a grasping of revolvers at once, in which Carico did the quickest and most effective work.

A despatch from Wantonia, Wis., says that a terrible tornado swept a valley, a short distance west of that town, on Thursday of last week, completely devastating a space eighty rods wide, and five or six miles in length. Many houses, barns and outbuildings, and one grist mill were demolished. About a dozen persons were seriously injured, but none killed. The damage to property exceeded $50,000.

Trouble is in the Pentucket Navigation Co., of which Gen. Butler and Hon. E. Moody Boynton are the principals. It is said that there is a serious deficit in the funds of the company, caused by the lax management of Boynton. Butler abd Boynton are at loggerheads.

Another Indian outbreak is reported in Arizona; many whites are said to have been murdered, and all the troops at camps Grant and Thomas have been put in motion.

The Tribune insists that Mr. Conkling will be a minus quantity in the New York state convention on Wednesday.

It has been decided in the supreme court of the United States for the district of Florida, that a demijohn is not a jug. The question arose upon the construction of the clause in the revenue law as to importation of spirituous liquors, and though otherwise unimportant, in this respect became of consequence.

A convict named Pierce killed Jailor Franks at Bloomington, Ill., Saturday. A mob broke into the jail and hanged Pierce.

Senator Blair was interviewed last week in New York concerning the organization of the Senate. The senator thought there was a very conciliatory feeling among all factions and parties. This being the case, he did not anticipate a prolonged extra session of the senate. "The president pro tem belongs justly and clearly to the Republican party as a matter of equity, and in my opinion the party should insist it. The reported agreement between certain senators in regard to the reorganization is entirely unfounded. There is nothing in the story of the Edmunds-Garland arrangement whereby the republicans are to have president pro tem, while the democrats are to have the secretary and other officers. For the democrats to elect a president pro tem, in my opinion, would injure their party, especially in the face of recent events. I believe the democratic leaders will take this view of it, and concede to the republicans their undoubted rights. At all events the republicans will certainly concede nothing of real substance which they ought to claim, although they will give up everything else for the sake of peace."

George Dougherty, second pilot of the steamer John Brooks, died of heart disease at Portland, Me., Sunday morning. He was found dead in his chair.

Justice Bradley and Senator Don Cameron have a joint grandson, aged two weeks, the parents being Judge Bradley's son and Senator Cameron's daughter.

Frank N. Richards, a horse-car driver at South Boston, was on Saturday arrested upon a charge of polygamy, the complaint being preferred by Rose Richards of Worcester, Mass., who claims that Richards married her at Worcester about seven years ago, and is the father of her little girl, now five years of age. Some five months ago she claims that he abandoned her, and going to Springfield married a woman there named Lizzie Pettinger. Richards, who is about twenty-nine years old, and belonged in Springfield originally, was turned over to Springfield officers.

During a recent thunder shower, Robert Craige and his two grandsons were driving in Danville, Vt., when the horse was struck by lightning and killed, but the occupants of the wagon were unhurt.

Chas. Parmenter, foreman of the painting department at the national armory in Springfield, Mass., was crushed Friday forenoon while attemping to step through the large wheel between the spokes while painting the wheel. He had just ordered it started when he undertook to step through. He lived only five minutes. Parmenter was about fifty-five years old, and had been employed at the armory twenty-four years. He leaves a wife and two sons.

Rear Admiral Wyman writes to the secretary of the navy from New York that Lieutenant Commander H. C. White has been detailed as naval officer at York river. He also says he will meet the French visitors to the Yorktown centennial at quarantine, and escort them, according to the wishes of the New York committee on reception; and that he will afterwards take the visitors on the Kearsarge and Vandalia to West Point. The North Atlantic squadron will go to Yorktown on Oct. 12th.

"Damon's Ghost." This is one of the "Round Robin Series" of books published by Messrs. James R. Osgood & Co. of Boston. The author manages to depict more uncomfortable and unenjoyable characters than one commonly finds in one novel. The low type of New York lawyer, and the judge who is a simply a party pensioner, are sought to be shown up, as well as the patent medicine process. The characters are of the kind of people whom we have no patient with. But the best are properly married in the last chapter, and out of much tribulation the reader reaches the inevitable finale which is sooner or later found in all well arranged stories. Price $1.00; for sale by Mr. Myers.

—A clergyman who married a couple recently, and was cheated out of his fee, the bridegroom promising to call the next day and pay him, advertised the wedding in a city paper, and added: "No cards, no cake, no cash, no certificate."

Grant's Horses.

Lucy Hooper is responsible for a good story of the Arabian horses given to General Grant by the sultan. The representative of the general authorized to receive the horses found that one of them was a poor, lame and unsound creature, that somebody had undoubtedly substituted for a better horse. It would have been folly to take such a beast to America, but the gift horse could not be looked directly in the mouth. Fortunately he was black, and Grant's agent sent for a high and mighty Turkish official who had the matter in charge, and regretfully informed him that, though General Grant was enchanted with the two noble steeds that were accorded him by the munificence of the sultan, he would, unfortunately, be unable to use the black one, as horses of that color were only employed for funerals in America, and to offer and accept one as a gift was held to be an exceedingly bad omen in that country. The courteous Turk was profuse in civilities and apologies, and the black horse was taken away, and a sound and handsome animal of another color, sent in its stead.

Burnett's Cocoaine.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

Lt. Col. C. D. Hebb, U. S. M. C., is at the Rockingham.

James I. Christie, Esq., of the United States senate, was in town on Monday.

Hon. E. R. Mudge died at his summer residence in Swampscott, Mass., Oct. 1st, leaving a large fortune, amassed during a long and generally properous business career. His father was one of the early Methodist preachers in New England, and was settled in Portsmouth, for two years during the boyhood of his son, a part of whose education was obtained in the public schools of this town.

Mrs. Sarah L. Dick, of Boston, whose inspirational lectures have excited quite an interest here, has yielded to the solicitation of the Society of Spiritualists, and will speak again on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 9th, in Good Templars' hall, over Morse & Ilsley's.

A chance for a very cheap excursion to the mountains—and proably the last one of the season, is offered by the Eastern railroad to-day. Tickets for North Conway and back at $2 each, or to Fabyan's and back for $2.50, good to go on either regular train to-day, and to return on for ten days, can be procured at the ticket office of the road in this city.

The H. P. Macintosh steamer company came down State street, Saturday, on their return from their trip to Portsmouth. They were headed by the Georgetown band, which performed first-class music. The company speak in the highest terms of their visit and of the courtesy extended to them by the Portsmouth firemen.—Newburyport Herald.

Coal freights from New York to Dover last week were quoted at $1.55 net, the consignee paying towing charges and for discharging.

Boat-sailers cruising about outside the harbor on Sunday report great numbers of birds of the duck kind flying about, and that a good deal of firing could be heard during the day in the direction of the Nubble. ("Knubble" is the way the lighthouse department spells it) at York.

A gentleman of this city while walking past the residence of Mr. C. L. Brown on the Little Harbor road, Sunday, noticed a large apple tree, one side of which bore a fair crop of apples while the other half was covered with blossoms.

The baby show at the York county fair in Saco and Biddeford last week was a success, and the judges were evidently persons of most excellent judgment—they gave every baby a prize! As a consequence of this discreet conduct, the judges are all alive yet. The merits of seventeen babies were passed upon; there were eighteen entries, but one young mother was obliged to take her darling home, for the reason, as she said, that he "screamed all the time, and acted like Sancho." That obstreperous baby should have received the first prize.

A naval court of inquiry was ordered September 29th, to convene Oct. 3d at the Portsmouth navy yard, to inquire into certain reports by enlisted men against Captain Louis E. Fagan, U. S. M. C. Detail: Commanders Arthur R. Yates and M. L. Johnson, Portsmouth, and Lieutenant-Colonel Clement D. Hebb, U. S. M. C., Boston, members, with First-Lieutenant George C. Reid, U. S. M. C., Portsmouth, as judge-advocate.

As a young man belonging in Eliot was driving leisurely along the highway in Kittery, near the house of Mr. Augustus Spinney, a few evenings since, on his way home from Portsmouth, the night being intensely dark, a man jumped out of the bushes by the side of the road and demanded his money. The young fellow instantly put the whip on his horse, and drove home the rest of the distance at a breakneck rate, regardless of the fact that he could not see the track for an inch of the way.

Messrs. James and Sylvester Bartlett, of Eliot, have this season picked from their vines two hundred and fifty barrels of cucumbers for pickling.

Why does not the city keep a dipper at the pump on Noble's island, so that thirsty human beings can get a drink there? Also, why is not the cattle trough there cleaned out once in a while? The well has never failed in the dryest times, so far as we are aware, the water is of good quality, and the number of teams using it daily is very large. A little care would be well bestowed upon this watering-place.

See advertisement of the Corinne opera company, in "The Mascot" and "Olivette," at Music hall on Friday and Saturday evenings next.

It is rumored that Mr. Boutwell of Massachusetts has been tendered the secretaryship of the treasury, and declined it. It is also stated that he is likely to be secretary of the navy in place of Judge Hunt. It is well for any new man who is to be secretary of the navy to learn early that he should not permit Admiral Porter to run his office. If any new secretary commits that blunder, he will soon find himself on a lee shore, with no means of clawing off the rocks.

Jonathan L. Spurling of Dover, for fifty-three years an employe of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co., and for forty-five years of that time a watchman, on Friday last received from Hon. Amos A. Lawrence, president of the corporation, five twenty-dollar gold pieces, in recognition of his long and faithful services.

The supreme court for the county of Strafford last week ordered an investigation to be made into the charges brought by a number of Dover liquor dealers against Wm. H. Dodge of Dover, a member of the Strafford county bar; the county solicitor was directed to cause the attendance of witnesses, and to notify Mr. Dodge to be present. The enquiry was set for Monday, the 3d inst.

The amount of suffering by reason of the fires in Michigan is almost incredible. Are the people of Portsmouth doing all that should be done for the relief of the sufferers?

Mink and Rat.

Last evening about four o'clock a novel scene was witnessed on the corner of Second and Chestnut streets, the likes of which never before occurred, and is not likely soon the occur again. A mink who had wandered from his home on the banks of the peaceful Cocheco, met in the middle of the street a huge rat, and at once a most savage battle ensued, in which both animals displayed intense ferocity. They would close with each other, clinch, fall and roll over and over in the dirt until they were for a moment tatally obscured from sight by the clouds of dust which enveloped them. The tight was an exciting one, for the animals were pretty closely matched, and both were fighting for life. Now the mink would seem to have the better of his antagonist, when suddenly his ratship would rally, and by sharp fighting for a time gain advantage of his adversary, the mink, and then the tables would turn and the mink's victory seemed assured. And so the struggle continued.

Meantime a large crowd had gathered, and the highest excitement prevailed. No one seemed disposed to check hostilities, and the warfare was waxing hotter and hotter. Suddenly a man named Elmer Staples, who was in the crowd, threw a rock which hit the mink. The enraged creature paused a second, lifted his head, and surveyed the faces which surrounded him, evidently looking for the man who struck "Billy Patterson," and again resumed the fight with increased vigor.

About this time Charles Hooper, flagman on the Boston & Maine crossing, drew near, and with his flag stick aimed a blow at the infuriated and struggling animals, which, in its results, sent a murmur of surprise through the crowd. Hooper's aim was true, the force of the blow irresistable, and both mink and rat dropped dead without a struggle. The arena soon emptied itself of spectators; the animals were carried away by Hooper as trophies, which he has since exhibited with considerable pride to many persons who did not witness the fight and rather doubted the story.—Dover Republican, Oct. 1st.

Anti-Monopoly.

The Brooklyn Eagle in a recent editorial said:

"There is a pretty general feeling that the continent of America was not discovered by Columbus, and civil liberty established by the fathers of the republic, to the end that fifty millions of people might be made tributary to a band of railroad magnates, or that farmers, artisans and merchants might, by hard work and keen competition, raise up a dozen Vanderbilts, with each several hundred millions of dollars. Those who entertain this feeling have become persuaded that the time has arrived for the industrious masses of this country to protect themselves, if they ever intend to do so. It will certainly not be easier after the adversary has grown stronger. In this contest every delay is to the disadvantage of the people. Let the issue be deferred for a few years, and nothing but a miracle or a revolution as violent as that of France will overthrow the oppression. Of all misleading delusions, there is none more mischievous than the notion that popular suffrage and popular power are synonymous. Given the means of bribing multitudes, of intimidating others, of wrecking opponents, coupled with actual possession of the government, and adverse sentiment must be paralyzed. If the suffrage is to be our salvation, it must be applied sharply while there are still odds on the side of unbought and unterrorized manhood."

Persons living in Malarious districts may protect themselves from attacks of fever by the use of Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. Its effects in toning up the system enables us to ward off contagious disorders, and successfully combat disease.

The soluble phosphites and the other life-sustaining principles composing Fellows' Hypophosphites are so carefully proportioned and so judiciously mingled, that their action upon the nerves, muscles and membranes in imparting vitality, strength and healthy action is generally apparent within twenty four hours, and the good effects experienced are of a permanent character.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. A Down-East Summer Resort.

Mr. John Stott and family of this city have recently returned from a sojourn of three weeks at Lincolnville, Me., four or five miles from Camden. They report the country in that region to be elevated and rough, and a delightful place for summer residence, the hills being from two hundred feet high to six or seven hundred. The hunting and fishing are good, but trout are not plentiful; at one time the party caught eighty perch, and at another 120. Pickerel of large size were also taken in good numbers, and some cat-fish. Grey squirrels abounded, and considerable numbers of hedgehogs were seen; one of the latter, weighing thirty-five pounds, was killed. A few years ago a young lady lost her life by falling from the highest cliff in the township, the place where she fell being now marked by a cross erected by summer visitors. The sun does not shine in the turnpike road from Camden to Lincolnville, in summer, until ten o'clock in the forenoon. The country is covered with a genuine forest of pine and spruce, mixed with some hard wood. The region is finely watered, numerous streams flowing down the hillsides from springs; there is one pond three miles long, and dotted with small islands. Many summer visitors have been there this season, and some few have commenced building what they call "cottages." The potato crop, on which the people of the place large by depend, is this year poor, owing to the rust, and considerable privation may result. Camden, the nearest seaport to Lincolnville, has a sardine factory, anchor works, woollen mill and oakum mill. The people formerly had considerable business dealings with Portsmouth, and still cherish kindly feelings toward the old city, expressing much interest to know how the place progresses.

Health and Happiness.

It seems strange that anyone will suffer from the many derangements brought on by an impure condition of the blood, when Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health to the physical organization. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier ever discovered, effectually curing scrofula, syphilitic disorders, weakness of the kidneys, all nervous disorders and debility. It corrects indigestion. It makes the old feel young, and the young feel gay; and will invariably drive out of the system the many ills that the human flesh is heir to. It acts like a charm, especially when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

Using mourning portraits of the late President was the dodge of Boston rum-sellers to avoid the screen law, but the commissioners would not allow such mourning.

Have you kidney troubles? The case is very far gone that does not yield unto a permanent cure, and in a rapid manner, under the use of Dr. Holman's Renal or Kidney Pad and Absorptive Plasters.

Have you rash, itch, or any species of skin diseases? Why not remove the cause — blood poison — by absorption through the use of the only common-sense remedy, Dr. Holman's Liver and Stomach Pad?

Governor Crittenden of Missouri suggests as a way to stop the train robbers, that the counties where they operate shall be held liable for their depredations.

A Remarkable Coincidence.

It is a matter of journalistic record, that some years since a schooner set sail from Baltimore, having on board a crew of thirteen men. By a most singular freak of nature, the entire force was attacked by a skin disease, which manifested itself in large ulcerated sores on the arms and hands, wholly incapacitating the men from duty. The result was that the vessel was towed back to the city where the men were placed in the hospital. Moral! Had Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases been used in the first place, the crew would have recovered in from twelve to forty-eight hours.

The Boston marketmen's noon prayer meeting, which was established five years ago, during the Moody and Sankey revival, has been discontinued.

Doctors!

Of all the different schools in the country, have thousands die every year of Bright's disease of the kidneys, who could be living to-day if they had used Sulphur Bitters. They are unequalled in the world for all diseases of the kidneys. —New Haven Union.

The October term of the circuit court of the United States will commence at Concord on Saturday, on which day the clerk will be present at the city hall to enter new actions, etc. Judge Lowell, now on his way from Europe, is expected to be present on Wednesday, the 12th inst., on which day jurors are notified to appear.

H. S. Hall and wife have filed a claim for $10,000 against the town of Lebanon for damages sustained by being thrown from a wagon in that town.

On Sunday last a fourteen-years-old French boy by the name of Joseph Brassean sat down upon an abutment of the Jackson company's dam at Nashua, and smoked a pipe until he became dizzy and fell to the pool below, a distance of twenty feet, and was drowned. The body was recovered about three hours after the accident.

Charles W. Hancock, proprietor of the Hancock summer boarding house at Canterbury, stepped on a nail Sept. 26th, and died from lockjaw Saturday night, the 1st inst.

AROUND HOME.

The reform club will hold their quarterly meeting for the election of officers at Good Templars' hall this (Wednesday) evening.

The schooner Grace Choate arrived at Tredick's wharf on Tuesday forenoon, with two hundred and ten barrels of mackerel, of superior quality. The fare was taken within forty miles of this port, in an east-southeast direction. The schooner Helen F. Tredick was reported to be in below, with a small fare; mackerel scarce.

Tuesday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, as Jere. Cole and Oscar Clark, two young men, were off Pier wharf on their way in from a gunning trip outside the harbor, their boat was capsized by a flaw, owing it is said to the sheet being belayed. A fisherman named Green, employed on Tredick's wharf, and the captain of the steamer Naumkeag, jumped into a dory and picked up the men, and what of their gear did not sink.

Several of the shore-fishing boats arrived on Tuesday, having had varying luck. Chris. Killenbeck brought in 580 lbs., Hunnefeld 110 lbs., Jotham Emery 250 lbs., Daniel Ricker 70 lbs., and E. B. Amazeen 95 lbs. Gerge Herbert & Co. purchased the lot, for the local trade.

George Dow, who stole a valuable gold watch from Thomas Thalon at South Newmarket, on Sunday night, was arrested at Northwood on Monday. The watch was found in his possession.

A strange malady has broken out at Newmarket among the French Canadian residents, which they call black fever. Several cases have proved fatal, and some twenty cases are reported. The disease is malignant, with symptoms similar to typhoid fever. The patient assumes a dark hue, which increases rapidly after death.

The schooner Daniel C. Baker, of Eliot, Fernald master, while leaving the lower harbor on Tuesday morning, bound on a fishing trip, was run into by a Boston vessel and badly damaged, and had to put back for repairs, which will probably take four or five days to complete.

The schooner Velocipede, which went on the rocks east of the narrows on Saturday, September 24th, and hung there several days before getting off, was not much harmed by that experience. She came off the marine railway at Kittery on Monday night last, was towed to the navy yard on Tuesday morning and took in the spars for the schooner Gov. Goodwin, now at Cape Breton, and went to sea at noon in tow of the steamer Mystic.

The schooner Georgie, of Portland, Willard master, was in the lower harbor on Tuesday with one hundred and eighty-five salt-barrels of mackerel on board, taken at one sweep late on Monday evening just outside of Whalesback.

We regret to lose the firm of C. N. Shaw & Co. from our Market street neighborhood. Their tasteful displays have always been commended. But we are glad to know that the establishment is not to be closed, but is to be managed by J. M. Tibbetts, who will now have a store on either side of Market street. Mr. Tibbetts and wife are now in New York, taking observations of the fall styles, and selecting from the stocks of importers of Parisian goods the most fashionable materials to be found in the market, so that the customers of their two stores will be able to shine in anything as stylish as can be seen this fall or during the coming winter on Broadway or Fifth avenue.

The largest and best arranged store for the sale of clothing, boots, shoes, etc., in the state, is kept by Edw. S. Fay at No. 3 Congress street in this city. The goods here offered are fresh, recent in style and make, and of a quality, and sold at prices, that enable Dr. Fay to retain his custom. This is owing in a great degree to the fact that Fay is one of the best buyers in the market. He knows what will sell at his counters, and his experience in buying for his extensive stores here and in other cities, and his manner of doing business, enable him to offer goods at prices lower than can be found in Boston, a fact which not only our own citizens but customers all over Rockingham and York counties have long since discovered. Mr. Fay has but one price. It does not take much time to be satisfied as to price or commodity, when a store is conducted upon the business basis which characterizes the establishment at No. 3 Congress street.

This is a recital of the eventful life of a man who lived from childhood to old age in the forests, villages and growing cities of the west. It is in a great degree a personal narrative; but in the narration, events, reforms and efforts in the cause of religion are brought to notice, while the experience of the author as a preacher of the gospel and editor of a pioneer religious journal are of interest. The author at a ripe old age gives us a long retrospection from the period of the printer's apprentice up to his senatorial honors. Like all such books the story is about the writer, who frankly admits the egotism in the preface.

Mr. John O'Neill, for many years one of Boston's most successful voice teachers, now receives pupils at his new music room, 146 Tremont street. Those who desire to make the most of their voice will not be disappointed under Mr. O'Neill's tuition, as he is a thorough, conscientious and talented teacher, and many of his pupils have already made their mark.

Unlike all other hair dressings, is the best for promoting the growth of and beautifying the hair, and rendering dark and glossy. The Cocoaine holds, in a liquid form, a large proportion of deodorized Cocoanut Oil, prepared expressly for this purpose. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair.

A Lucky Pair.

The Chicago Times says that "at the last drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery (August 9th) ticket No. 35,318 drew $10,000. One-half was held by William W. Shaw, a bookkeeper in the Lakeside Foundry of that city. In March last a proprietor of the foundry drew $1200 on a half ticket ($1). Mr. Shaw said they would continue to buy a half ticket collectively, as he was satisfied the drawing was conducted honorably. He wanted to see other needy persons get some of the prizes." The 15th drawing will take place October 11th, the full particulars which can be had by address-ing M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

The New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals held its regular monthly meeting in the office of the society on Monday evening, the usual number being present.

Reports from the agents showed an aggregate of sixty cases of cruelty investigated during the month. Some of the investigations resulted in the prosecution and conviction of the offenders. Other persons arrested were let off on probation, they promising better behavior in future.

Mrs. Mary D. Aiken of Franklin Falls was made a life member of the society.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Peter Marcy of New Orleans, La., for a generous contribution to the funds of the society.

Other contributions, to an encouraging amount, were likewise received.

A resolution of thanks was also offered, adopted, and ordered to be forwarded to the superintendent of the Maine Central railroad for an order issued by him to the employes of the road regulating the transportation of cattle, and providing for their comfort in a humane and decent manner, in sharp contrast with the methods employed by many other railroads, the order reading as follows:

In loading cattle you will be particular to see that the following instructions are strictly observed: There must be no larger number of cattle loaded in one car than can be so loaded as not to be crowded. The shipment of calves and their mothers among other cattle must not be permitted. If loaded in the same car with other cattle, shipper must pen off the calves, together with their mothers, from the other cattle. Calves and their mothers must not be separated. Calves shipped with their mothers must not be muzzled. All cars in which cows and young calves are loaded must be bedded by the shipper with straw or hay.

Hon. Thomas E. O. Marvin, Mrs. Alfred W. Haven and Mrs. John J. Pickering of this city, Mrs. M. Sunderland Cooper of Lake Village, and Mrs. B. B. Toby of Franklin, were chosen delegates to the American Humane Association which meets in Boston on the 19th and 20th of this month.

SAILORS' TRIBUTES.

The Nautical Gazette of Oct. 1st, in a notice of the death of George Blunt Wendell, says:

We first met Capt. Wendell at Cork, Ireland, when he was in command of the clipper ship "Benares," nearly twenty-five years ago, and formed a friendship which has lasted till death has separated us. He was a man of marked abilities, of sterling worth and integrity, and beloved by all who knew him. Capt. Shackford of the Pacific mail service was one of his boys, and Capt. F. Hinckley, our Boston agent, was his chief officer in the "Benares." Farewell, our old friend; we will join you ere long. Capt. Frederick Hinckley, writing to us under date Boston, Sept. 27th, says:

The notice of Captain Wendell's death doubtless will be as much of a surprise to you as it was to me. * * So they go. "One by one the roses fade." Bring out the log-book! and call our watch to muster, and how few who started on the voyage with us can now respond to the call. The active list is a short one, for by far the greater number "have gone over to the silent majority," and down the record column too frequently stand the ominous symbols, "D. D." Not one among the number that I loved better or shall miss more than Captain Wendell. Every inch a sailor, in every instinct and act a gentleman, a warm-hearted, generous friend, and a Christian. No one I think who had the privilege of his acquaintance but will join me in saying they are better for having known him.

The death of Captain Wendell is another link gone in the chain of old friends and shipmates who with us followed the sea in the "fifties," and these reminders of the uncertainties of life are becoming more and more frequent, and teach us that it may be our turn next. One thing is certain, none of us will appear before the Great Captain with such a clean record as our late friend, Captain George Blunt Wendell. To his bereaved family and friends we extend our deepest sympathy in this hour of their grief.

THE MILL-POND NUISANCE.

The committee appointed to investigate the matter of abating the north mill-pond nuisance were met to-day in this city by Phillips of the Eastern road and Sanborn of the Conway branch, and had a conference relating to the plans for the future, of the Eastern road, in regard to the pond, and to see what might be done by the city, in conjunction with the railroad company, to do away with the stench that arises from the flats. In the course of the conversation, the railroad authorities stated that within ten years, or fifteen at the most, they should have the pond entirely filled, and that they were to commence next week to fill in for three tracks. If this is the case, the city need not trouble itself about buying the pond or any part of it; for to fill up the entire pond in ten, or even fifteen years, the railroad will have to fill considerable of it each year. If the pond is filled up, the way out of the present difficulty seems to us to be an easy one. In filling up the pond the corporation will be obliged to make a channel for the running stream of water which empties into the pond near Eldredge's brewery, which will probably be in the shape of a sewer. The city can, if this is done, undoubtedly make arrangements with the company to connect the city sewers with it, and thus get rid of the sewerage, stench, etc., at a comparatively small cost. Certainly, all those who have experienced the terrible smells which have come from this great pool of filth will wish that the Eastern road will not be slow in carrying out their proposed plan.—Times, Oct. 3d.

Mr. Editor: From the foregoing, it appears that the beautiful-looking and ill-smelling sheet of water, the north pond, is to be obliterated; the Eastern railroad company propose to "fill up the entire pond." While as eager as any one can be who has for years breathed the pestilential emanations from the pond, to have the nuisance abated, I cannot but ask by what authority the Eastern railroad assumes to abate it by destroying the pond and claiming the land thus made? True, the road some time ago "bought the pond;" but it only bought the right to the flowage, which was all that any previous owner ever had any claim to, and all that the railroad to-day owns. That the road will go on and fill the pond I have no doubt; the railroads already to a great extent control the legislature and the courts; and when they once get a general railroad law passed, placing the power of eminent domain in their hands, they will also own the people in fee simple. Suppose one of the former private owners of the pond had undertaken "to fill it up entirely" for his own private purposes, and to thus make land which should be his own private property—how far would he have been allowed to go? But that which would be an illegal aggression on the part of the individual, and opposed tooth and nail by the public, is all right and commendable when performed by a powerful and wealthy corporation. The costly new street which the railroad has forced the city to build, may yet be of use.

BINOCULAR.

A HARD CASE.

A Norwegian calling himself Oscar Wilson, a seaman belonging to one of the schooners in the port, was before the police court on Monday for drunkenness, and paid therefor $9.90, fine and costs. But he was before the court again on Tuesday on a similar complaint, and not being able to muster the $11.90 demanded, (for, contrary to the usual custom in trade, the more frequent a customer is in patronizing the court the higher he is charged,) he went to the county farm at Brentwood to work it out. This Wilson was the man referred to in Monday's CHRONICLE as having been fished out of the water at Noble's island bridge late on Saturday night, and the circumstances of his rescue were as follows:

About an hour after midnight, Saturday, Mr. John Perkins, gatekeeper on the Noble's island bridge for the Eastern railroad, found the fellow on the track, very drunk and determined to walk across the railroad's part of the bridge. Mr. Perkins drove him off, but having to look after the switches a few minutes later, the drunken man attempted to cross the bridge, and on coming to the draw walked off, going down with a grand splash into thirteen feet of water. Being averse to water he set up a tremendous swearing, and officers Besselievre and Abbot hearing the noise, hastened to the rescue. A rope kept at the bridge-house was procured, and lowered to the fellow in the darkness, he having caught hold of a pile; but though there is a hook on the end of the rope, so that when passed around the body and hooked over the standing part it would be secure, he was so drunk the officers could not get him to do more than clutch the rope with his hands. Accordingly they commenced to pull him up, and had got him almost within reach when he let go of the rope, and souse he went into the water once more and on coming to the surface again caught a pile, and poured out another torrent of profanity and abuse upon his imaginary enemies. But the second souse apparently sobered him a little, for he was then induced to pass the hook-rope around his body; then the officers found they could not raise him at all, and a light having arrived it was discovered that he had not only put the rope twice around himself, but also around the pile! The rope was made fast at the upper end, a boat procured, and after some further trouble the drunken fellow was safely landed and locked up. It might have been supposed that such a narrow escape on Sunday morning, and a fine on Monday, would have sufficed to keep him sober at least until Tuesday; but such was not the case, for he was found in a condition of helpless drunkenness on Monday night. He will have a chance to get sober before he again appears in public.

THE CORINNE OPERA TROUPE.

The Corinne Opera company, with Little Corinne, the wonderful child actress and singer, in the leading parts, and a strong support of adult performers, will appear at Music hall on Friday and Saturday evening of this week, in "The Mascot" and "Olivette." The latter piece has had a representation in this city, by another company; but the Mascot will be presented in Portsmouth for the first time on Friday evening, and a brief sketch of it may not be unacceptable to our theatre-going readers.

The opera is founded on an old Italian superstition, in effect that there exist certain persons who are "Mascot," or hearth-fairies. Good fortune follows the "Mascot" wherever he or she may be, and the possession of one of those remarkable beings is, of course, highly desirable. The "Mascot" in this instance is Bettina, a turkey-keeper, who is sent by a rich and prosperous farmer to his unfortunate brother. Lorenzo XVII, Prince of Piombino, discovers the value of the girl as a conjurer of good luck, and first making her the Countess of Panada, takes her to the palace, the poor farmer being made high chamberlain. As the "Mascot's" power disappears on her marriage, the prince is kept constantly employed in preventing any such contingency. The girl already loves Pippo, a shepherd boy, and the methods taken to thwart the wishes of the young people, and the circumstance that Prince Lorenzo's daughter, the Princess Fiametta, also falls in love with Pippo, lead to a great number of ludicrous situations. Pippo and Bettina are finally wedded, but not until the prince, his daughter, and the lord chamberlain are all reduced to the necessity of becoming street minstrels.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING.

Of late there has been more or less controversy as to who is the greatest amusement caterer in the world, and the result has been to point out W. W. Cole as certainly one of the greatest—if not the greatest—in his line; and his recent successful tour in foreign lands, and triumphant return to America, after a journey of over 38,000 miles by land and sea, seems to be sufficient to warrant this verdict. Mr. Cole has recently added to his mammoth circus, menagerie of trained animals and great congress of wonders, all the strange and striking features possible to discover during his recent tour of the world, and now over $2,000,000 is represented in his gigantic combination, which is replete in all its appointments, using the recently perfected electric light to illuminate its canvas, while every recent improvement that might add to the general interest of the concern has been made available. A costly troupe of trick stallions is one of the novelties. These animal actors have been trained to a degree of excellence which dwarfs to insignificance all previous displays of equine education. A performing Spanish bull is also introduced into the arena, and executes a number of feats that are truly remarkable. A troupe of Maori war-dancers and real Arabian athletes will be seen. Not less than one hundred famous artists will vie with each other for public honors, and none but bare-back equestrians are employed. One of the most thrilling sensations is a troupe of aerial bicycle riders, who perform upon a single wire stretched from end to end of the vast canvas, and this they traverse with a bicycle while they perform a number of daring feats. Among the many artists engaged is Mdlle Linde Jesl, the fearless female hurdle-rider whose flights through hoops of fire excel all previous equestrian feats. In the menagerie will be seen what is claimed to be the largest and best collection of rare animals ever owned or transported by any organization. The show will visit this city on the 11th inst.

Editor Chronicle: A writer in your paper of Monday, over the initials "S. P. C. A.," says "the land is full of half-fledged humanitarians, who stand with hands uplifted in holy horror," and so forth. He evidently misunderstood the meaning of the word "humanitarian." Webster defines it thus: "One who denies the divinity of Christ and believes him to be a mere man;" a definition which fails to express the meaning that the writer probably intended to convey. The spirit of the article wherein the error occurs is good. Let us have the letter in keeping with it. The word especially alluded to cannot be used except in reference to a sect or to a believer in the doctrine that denies the divinity of Christ. Scire facias, as the lawyers say.

TO THE SUPREME COURT.

ETTA L. CLARK of Portsmouth in said county of Rockingham respectfully represents that on the eleventh day of April, 1874, at Kittery in the State of Maine, she was lawfully married by the Rev. Abner Hall, a minister of the Gospel, at said Kittery, to Melvin J. Clark, then of Pembroke, in said State, and now in parts unknown; that she and her said husband resided together as husband and wife at said Kittery, from the date of their marriage until the month of November, 1877, when, without sufficient cause, and without the consent of this libellant, said Melvin J. Clark abandoned her, and for more than the last three years together next preceding the filing of this libel, has refused to cohabit with her.

And your libellant further represents that said Melvin J. Clark has willfully absented himself from her ever since the month of November, 1877, and up to the time of the filing of this libel, without making any provision for her support and maintenance; that in the month of December, 1877, she removed to Portsmouth aforesaid, where she has resided ever since, and now resides; and that said causes for divorce exist at the time of the filing of this libel.

And she further says that she is the mother by the said Melvin J. Clark of one child, now living with her, and of the age of five years, namely, Roy M. Clark.

Wherefore, she prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony between her and the said Melvin J. Clark be decreed, and that she be entitled to the care and custody of said child.

Benjamin Chadbourne and his son Wallace were on Oct. 3d convicted of the murder of Alvin T. Watson, before the court at Dover, Me. Watson was suspected of being unduly intimate with Wallace Chadbourne's wife, and was found dead on the morning of June 26th, pierced with fifty-two wounds, of which any one of more than twenty would have proved fatal. The murderers attempted to fasten the crime on Wallace Chadbourne's brother, Samuel Byron Chadbourne, a deaf mute eighteen years old, who confessed the crime; but the jury brought Wallace and his father in guilty.

An Interesting Fact.

In France, all patent medicines must be endorsed by an official board of physicians before they can be sold. In lieu of such a law in America, the people have resolved themselves into a national committee which has endorsed Swayne's Ointment for allaying the itching, scaling, paining, the piles, as the only reliable remedy in the market. It's a positive cure that won't work both ways.
